Red-leaf Congous: Siftings show no improvement in price. Broken-leaf kinds have sold $\frac{1}{2}$ d. to $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per lb. lower. Fair to good common have been rather firmer, owing to purchases for export, and may be quoted $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per lb. higher. Common to fair Kaisow kinds show no alteration; good to fine have been in moderate demand; finest show no change. Pak Lin kinds in boxes have sold rather dearer. Black-leaf kinds: Low to common qualities remain much depressed, and prices have again receded $\frac{1}{2}$ d. to $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per lb.; good common has been rather firmer at the decline last quoted; fair to good medium kinds have been sold at about previous rates; good to fine have been firmly held, but the demand has been only limited; finest remain steady at full prices. Amoy kinds have been sold to a fair extent from 8d. to 10d. per lb. for low to fair kinds. New-make Canton kinds have been saleable at an advance of about $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per lb. Oolongs: A parcel of 1,700 half-chests from America, sold with all faults, at public auction, from 1s. $\frac{1}{2}$ d. to 1s. 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ d., being lower prices. Privately there has been less demand, and prices show a further reduction, owing to large arrivals. Souchongs: Common to fair kinds have sold at former prices; in good to fine there has been but little doing. Flowery Pekoes have sold at fully former prices. Scented Teas: Common to fair Canton Capers have sold to some extent, but latterly at a decline of fully 1d. per lb.; good to fine show no material change. Foochow kinds: Common kinds have sold from 1s. 2d. to 1s. 3d. per lb., being $\frac{1}{2}$ d. to 1d. per lb. lower. Canton Orange Pekoes have sold at about previous prices. Foochow kinds: Some common kinds have sold from 1s. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. to 1s. 3d. per lb., being $\frac{1}{2}$ d. to 1d. per lb. lower; good to fine show no alteration. In Uncoloured Japans there has been little doing. A few purchases of finest Monings for export have been effected at 2s. 6d. Green: The market continues over-supplied at the moment, the arrivals continuing on a large scale. Several invoices of Moyune and Ping Sacy kinds have been sold at public auction without reserve, the finer kinds realising comparatively full prices, but common to medium selling at very low rates. Privately, the sales made show a further decline of 1d. per lb.

The following is from Messrs. Shepard, Harrison, and Rehden's Circular:—A quiet tone has prevailed during the past fortnight, and chief transactions have been in the grades up to medium quality Congou, mostly of red-leaf, which have been pressed for sale, and lower prices have been accepted. The latest telegrams from China are, via Singapore, to 22nd February, received 28th ult., and mention the season for 1870-71 closed; export 128,000,000 lbs., or a deficiency, as compared with 1869-70, of 12,000,000 lbs. For export to the Continent there has been but little passing; to Canada only a few orders have come forward, but we look for more inquiry shortly. Deliveries show a great increase, as follows:—

Home consumption for London from 1st Jan. to 28th Feb.	15,509,000	10,811,000
Export do.	3,300,000	3,000,000
Sent coastwise do.	5,800,000	7,010,000
Total	24,609,000	20,821,000

There has been little passing in dust and siftings, but leafy to superior flavoury, brisk burnt Amoy and Kaisow kinds, have afforded a large selection, selling at low prices, ranging from 9d. to 1s. 1d. per lb.; medium at 1s. 2d. to 1s. 6d. per lb. has been in request, but the market is bare; good medium to fine at 1s. 7d. to 2s. per lb. is saleable in small parcels. Pakling kinds: There have been a few sales in finest at 1s. 8d. to 1s. 10d. per lb. Taysan leaf: A limited business, at no change in value. Black-leaf: The demand continues slack for good common to fair, but importers have given support to prices by not forcing sales, looking shortly for a favourable change; fair to medium grades at 1s. to 1s. 3d. per lb. show good value; Pekoe flavoured kinds at 1s. 4d. to 1s. 7d. per lb. are scarce, and those ex J. Wishart have sold quickly; fine and finest at 1s. 9d. to 2s. 2d. per lb. are taken in small quantities. Souchong: Supplies have been chiefly of the good common to fair Amoy kinds at 1s. to 1s. 2d. per lb. Oolong: at public sale 1,700 packages from New York sold at 1s. $\frac{1}{2}$ d. to 1s. 6d. per lb., being lower rates. Scented Tea.—Canton kinds: There has been less doing in the absence of further supplies. Orange Pekoe at 1s. 2d. to 1s. 4d. per lb. is scarce, but fine and finest at 1s. 5d. to 1s. 8d. per lb. have seldom been sold lower, the quality of late imports being desirable, most parcels well made in leaf, and strongly scented. Caper: The very large delivery (nearly 1,000,000 lbs. for the past two months) accounts for the satisfactory business from time to time advised, but late sales have been made at a slight decline, with a view to close invoices, and we believe there are very few parcels of the Tames's cargo, the last arrival, now unsold. Foochow Orange Pekoe: The steamer Achilles brought a supply of medium, and, being much wanted, sold readily at 1s. 4d. to 1s. 5d. per lb. Green: There have been frequent sales by public auction without reserve, and the low prices current appear at last to have drawn attention, leading to more competition and resulting on the whole in slightly improved prices; good Twankays at 7d. to 8d., Young Hyson and Imperial, of common to fair quality at 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. to 10d. per lb. can still be bought in quantity, and offer a good risk. The Achilles brought a few Moyunes, which have sold well, No. 1 Gunpowder at 3s. to 3s. 6d., No. 1 Imperial at 1s. 10d. to 2s., and No. 1 Young Hyson at 2s. 4d. to 2s. 6d. per lb. Japan leaf no change.

SILK.

There is little if any real change to report in the market, business has been steady and prices have been everywhere firm, with a slight improvement in the case of Japans, so long neglected. The return of peace has failed to stimulate the market, the trade appear to prefer steady operations for consuming wants, while the difficulties of forwarding Silk to the Continent sufficiently explain the absence of improved demand from some distant markets; this improvement will no doubt come in good time—meanwhile there is a strong tendency towards stiffening rates for many classes of Silk. Deliveries are good, and although stocks are comparatively heavy, still there is no silk pressed on the market. China silk continues to be in chief request; Cantons also in good demand, selling at 17s. to 18s. 6d. for ordinary to good Tsatlee reel. Japans more enquired for, and prices better. Bengals in fair request, but without much general demand. Deliveries from 1st to 8th March were 751 China, 276 Canton, 109 Japan, and 153 Bengal. Total, 1,289 bales.

COFFEE.

Although only small quantities of Ceylon have been placed on offer at the public sales, only a small portion has been disposed of, and the prices realised show a decline of from 1s. to 1s. 6d. upon last week's rates; the business has been confined to Plantation, no supplies of Native having been brought forward; the prices realised have been—middling, 69s.; bold, 73s.; triage, 48s. to 49s.; small, 59s.; peaberry, 80s. 6d. In other East India, of 752 bags Singapore offered at auction, about 250 bags sold, pale Bonthyme at 53s., the remainder being bought in, Bonthyme at 60s., mixed pale Manila sort at 55s.; privately a sale has been effected of 500 bags good Bonthyme Singapore, terms not reported.

The deliveries for the week, although not equal to those in the previous week, are again very large, exceeding those of the previous year by 1,560 tons; the landings are also heavier by 630 tons, and the surplus in the stock is therefore lessened to a much smaller amount than for some time past, being now only 900 tons. The quantity of Ceylon Coffee afloat for Great Britain is estimated as follows:—Plantation, 226,792 cwt., against 230,468 cwt. at the corresponding date of 1870; Native, 23,711 cwt., against 22,310 cwt. The quantity afloat for the Continent is nil. The quantity of Coffee landed in the nine weeks ended March 4, 1871, was, of Ceylon, 3,227 tons, against 2,730 tons during the corresponding period of 1870; of all descriptions, 6,930 tons, against 3,534 tons. The quantity entered for home consumption was, of Ceylon, 1,739 tons, against 1,595 tons; of all descriptions, 3,416 tons, against 2,824 tons. The quantity exported was, of Ceylon, 3,891 tons, against 3,426 tons; of all descriptions, 8,429 tons, against 6,161 tons. The stock on March 4, was, of Ceylon, 11,202 tons, against 11,573 tons; of all descriptions, 19,633 tons, against 18,768 tons.

CINNAMON.

The quarterly sales were held on the 27th ult.; we take the following from Messrs. Brookes and Faith's Circular:—The sales comprised a total of about 2,890 bales, chiefly of recent import. The attendance of buyers was very good, and demand strong. Finest qualities sold with spirit at 3d. per lb. advance. Good quill was competed for at 2d. per lb. advance, ASGP mark selling at 3s. 5d. per lb. for 1sts, 3s. 4d. for 2nds, 3s. 2d. for 3rds, 2s. 9d. for 4ths; ASD Kaderane Plantation mark selling at 3s. 1d. to 3s. 2d. per lb. for 1sts, 2s. 11d. to 3s. for 2nds, 2s. 10d. for 3rds, 2s. 5d. for 4ths; Adar and Kaderane Plantation mark selling at 3s. 4d. for 1sts superior, 3s. 2d. for 1sts, 3s. for 2nds, 2s. 9d. to 2s. 10d. for 3rds, 2s. 5d. for 4ths.

Fair shipping, middling, and especially ordinary qualities with flavour sold readily at 1d., occasionally 2d. per lb. advance, but the low flavourless and bastard kinds met no demand, and were all bought in. Prices hardened considerably as the sales progressed, and nearly everything sold that was genuine Cinnamon. The qualities ran as a rule in an exceptionally regular manner. Good and fair kinds were very abundant; really fine a little scarce, and the lower descriptions with flavour very scarce indeed. Jungle sold at 2s. 1d. to 2s. 3d. for long and short. Broken was in excellent demand at 1s. 8d. to 1s. 11d. for fair to good, and fine at 2s. to 2s. 2d. per lb. Chips met a very limited demand (not at all in proportion to quill), and were nearly all retired. About 2,630 packages offered, and only 200 bales sold, really fine at 6d. to 6½d per lb.; good at 4½d. to 5d. Low bark held for 2½d., with 1½d. bid. Cinnamon of fair 1st quality realised 2s. 11d. per lb.; 2nd, 2s. 9d. to 2s. 10d.; 3rds, 2s. 7d. to 2s. 8d.; 4ths, 2s. 3d. to 2s. 6d.; mixed 1sts realised 2s. 3d. to 2s. 8d. per lb.; 2nds ditto, 1s. 8d. to 2s. 2d.; 3rds ditto, 1s. 4d. to 1s. 10d.; 4ths ditto, 9d. to 1s. 2d.; other kinds in proportion. The next Quarterly Sales are fixed for the 22nd of May.

SUGAR.

There has been somewhat more enquiry than during the past few weeks, and holders having accepted a reduction of about 6d. per cwt. from the prices for which they lately held some business has been effected, but as yet only to a limited extent. Of East India private sales have transpired, of 10,000 bags unclayed Ilo Ilo at 21s. 6d. and 1,600 baskets low date Penang at 19s.; no business has been done at public sale.

The deliveries for the week, which include 950 tons Manila, show some recovery, and are about 1,600 tons more than at this time last year; the landings consist chiefly of Beetroot, West India, and Mauritius, and are 1,000 tons in excess of 1870: the deficiency in the stock is now 11,300 tons. Stock, Feb. 25. 56,982 tons, against 67,645 tons; March 4, 56,376 tons, against 67,649 tons. The quantity of Sugar landed in the nine weeks ended March 4, 1871, was, of Penang, 11 tons, against 269 tons in the corresponding period of 1870; of Manila, Java, and China, 3,122 tons, against 3,469 tons; the quantity entered for home consumption was, of Penang, 645 tons, against 637 tons; of Manila, Java, and China, 5,536 tons, against 5,276 tons. The quantity exported was, of Penang, 86 tons, against 24 tons; of Manila, Java, and China, 583 tons, against 332 tons. The stock on March 4 was, of Penang, 2,256 tons, against 1,933 tons; of Manila, Java, and China, 21,797 tons, against 33,651 tons.

CANES.—At auction 264,625 Tonking chiefly sold at ½d. to ¾d.; of 86,775 Partridge 29,275 sold, mouldy ½d., one lot ¼d., 19,950 Whanghee sold at 1½d. to 1¾d., and 29,925 Doghead at ½d.; 30,000 Black Bamboo withdrawn; 2,225 Yellow Bamboo sold at 2½d. and Pimento Stick at 3½d. to 4½d.

CAMPOR.—Shortly after our report of the 24th ult. 300 cases China were reported placed at 75s., and 30 tubs Japan at 80s., being dearer; at public sale 115 cases per Diomed were retired at 80s.; 50 tubs fine Japan at 80s. (77s. 6d. being bid); also 671 tubs per Diomed at 75s., 10 tubs being sold thereat, quality fair white rather wet; 600 tubs afterwards sold at 72s. 6d. Since the above auctions 300 cases China are reported sold at 72s. 6d.

CHINA PRESERVED GINGER.—The price for casks is considerably lower; of 49 casks offered at sale only half sold; very good quality at 5½d. per lb.; 200 cases Chyloong were offered and withdrawn with 6½d. bid.

CHINA MATTING.—An offer of 193 bales was bought in at £30.

CHINA GRASS.—The demand is inactive, at £52 to £56 per ton.

COCOA NUT OIL.—There is a steady demand, and a fair business doing; at public sale 423 casks Ceylon were offered, and 352 casks sold, viz., of 298 pipes Ceylon, 227 pipes sold, middling to very fine, £40 to £40 10s.; low, £33; 30 puncheons found buyers at £40 to £40 5s., and 95 hogsheds fine at £42, good fair at £41 10s., and fair rather weak at £41.

COIR GOODS.—The public sales have been small, consisting chiefly of low and coarse qualities, which were mostly bought in. Of yarn 35 tons Ceylon sold, fair common £24 10s. to £25. Of Fibre 2,814 ballots Ceylon sold at £16 10s. to £18 15s., low coarse £11 5s., and 100 ballots brush at £31.

CUTCH.—The market is quiet, but prices are well maintained; at auction 127 boxes from Singapore were bought in at 29s. 6d., and 242 boxes Penang sold at 21s. 3d. to 21s. 6d. per cwt.; there is no private business to report.

EBONY.—Fine qualities are still quoted extremely high; 40 tons at auction were held for an extreme figure, and were bought in.

ESSENTIAL OILS.—Cinnamon: Very scarce and wanted; 2 cases leaf at auction retired. Citronelle: Firm; 90 cases at auction mostly sold at 2d. to 2½d. per oz. Lemon Grass: Steady; no auctions; private trade at 3d. to 3½d. per oz. Anniseed has been taken on speculation at 8s. 7½d. to 8s. 9d., some 60 cases being sold on the spot and afloat, and but little now offering. Cassia: Firm; 10 cases sold at 4s. 7d. Nutmeg: Quiet; 7 cases at auction retired at 7d. per oz.

GALLS.—The market is steady; there have been no public sales, but privately 450 cases China sold at 47s.

GAMBIER.—The market has been quiet, but is firmer at the close, with a good enquiry; some 200 tons having been sold at 15s. 3d. to 15s. 9d., large parcels are expected to arrive; only 812 baskets Cubes at auction, and those retired.

GUTTA-PERCHA.—Less doing, and at easier prices. Public sales have embraced 5,031 packages, including baskets, bales, blocks, pieces, &c., a small proportion only of which was sold at 1s. to 2s. 3½d. per lb. for inferior rebolled to very good genuine.

GUMS.—Benjamin: Sumatra, steady; good and fine seconds scarce, and wanted, thirds dull; in auction, of 81 cases offered, a few only sold at £8 17s. 6d. to £9 7s. 6d. per cwt. for good to fine 2nds, and 60s. Palembang; Siam is neglected, and stocks large; Manila Copal offers more freely, especially common qualities of Singapore and Batavia, which are difficult to sell; of 1,130 cases at auction, barely one-fourth sold at 37s. per cwt. for good, part rather coated, hard; 27s. to 28s. 6d. good soft; and 16s. to 17s. inferior drossy and dark block soft. Damar again higher, and privately fine Batavia has sold at 60s.; auctions have embraced 157 cases, the bulk being quitted at 58s. to 59s. 6d. per cwt. for fine Singapore. Gamboge higher, and of 10 cases in auction, a few sold at £15 per cwt. for fine pipe.

HEMP.—The market for Manila continues very dull, and at public sale no transactions have been effected, an offer of 200 bales being bought in at £50 10s. to £51; privately there have been small sales of Boluan at £53.

HIDES.—At the fortnightly sales held yesterday a good supply of East India Kips was offered, consisting chiefly of commoner descriptions, which met less competition, and prices declined ¼d. per lb.; good qualities, however, brought previous rates. Of the whole three-fourths found buyers. Buffalo brought fully previous rates. 8,555 Singapore and Penang, chiefly sold—light, 11 to 17½ lb., at 6½d. to 6¾d.; heavy, 22½ to 42½ lbs., at 4½d. to 5½d.; one lot, 45½ lbs., at 7½d.

INDIA-RUBBER.—Fine East India continues scarce, and would sell readily. Privately fair ball Singapore has sold at 1s. 9d. per lb.; Borneo higher, and large sales at 1s. 6½d. to 1s. 7d.; 115 baskets at public sale retired.

JAPAN WAX.—There has been a continued fair enquiry, but at public sale easier prices have been accepted, and 274 cases were quitted at 67s. to 70s. 6d. per cwt. for middling slightly yellowish to very good ditto; 110 cases Japan good saucer sold at 70s. 6d., and 20 cases Canaba at 60s.

MUSK.—The market is firm, with a scarcity of supply; the business has been unimportant, the only sale reported being of 6 tins fine at £2 15s. 6d.

PEPPER.—Black: The market shows considerable weakness, and prices have further declined ¼d. per lb. The sales on the spot amount to about 4,000 bags, Penang at 5½d. to 5¾d., and Singapore 5½d. to 6d.; for arrival, about 300 tons Singapore, distant shipment, have been sold at 5½d. to 5¾d. In White a good business has been done, about 1,500 bags selling on the spot at 7½d. to 7¾d. for Penang, and 7½d. for Singapore.

PLUMBAGO.—There is a fair demand, but it runs chiefly upon good quality; at public sale 1,074 barrels Ceylon partly sold, dull to good bold bright lump 16s. 6d. to 25s. 6d., low to good Chips 4s. to 13s. 6d., fair to good dust 8s. 6d. to 11s. per cwt.

ROOTS.—Colombo: There is no business doing; value nominally unchanged. China: Private sales of good quality have been effected at 18s.

RHUBARB.—The auctions have gone off steadily, and of 106 cases offered, nearly all sold; fairly trimmed root, a little dark pale and fair pinky fracture at 2s. 2d. to 2s. 5d.; smaller and grey 1s. 8d. to 1s. 9d.; high dried, fair colour, 1s. 8d. to 1s. 9d., inferior dark 5d. to 9d.

RICE.—The market still exhibits a dull tone, but prices continue to be well supported; at auction, 4,318 bags ordinary Rangoon were bought in at 9s. 6d. to 9s. 9d., except 500 bags sea damaged, which sold at 9s. to 9s. 3d.; 2,064 bags sea-damaged Rangoon from the Cape sold at 9s. to 9s. 9d., inferior, 8s. to 8s. 9d.; privately, no sales on the spot are reported, but three floating cargoes of new Neeransie have been sold; particulars of price are not given, but supposed to consist of two rather small cargoes at 10s. 6d., and one of about 2,000 tons at 10s. 3d.

SAGO.—Prices are fairly maintained, and there is a good inquiry for parcels afloat; of 829 boxes and bags at auction, half sold at 16s. 6d. to 17s. per cwt. low to middling yellow. Flour quiet: only small business in Singapore to arrive, at former value; 1,648 bags at auction retired.

SHELLS.—Mother-o'-Pearl: Steady, but transactions very limited; 17 cases fine at public sale retired above the value. Tortoise: Public sales embracing 18 cases have been held, most of which were quitted at 11s. to 16s. 6d. per lb. for middling to good in sorts; 1 case Manila also offered and retired; prices for all descriptions are decidedly improved.

SOY.—Market steady, with fair private business at last quoted rates.

STICKLAC.—There is considerable scarcity, and private sales of good Siam are reported at 70s. per cwt.; 22 cases at auction were bought in.

SPICES.—Cinnamon: See report of quarterly sales above. Cassia Ligna: Japan is dull of sale: average quality is nominally worth 40s. to 42s. 6d. per cwt. Buds: With free arrivals, prices continue to decline; following our last, 25 cases good C. in diamond per Diomed sold at £8 12s. 6d. to £8 15s., subsequently 40 cases C.B. in diamond were offered, when only 5 cases sold at £8 12s. 6d., and at the last sale prices showed to further fall of 10s. to 12s.; 68 cases very good retired at £9, 32 cases at £8 10s., and 50 cases equally good, per Lord of the Isles, sold at £7 17s. 6d. per cwt., CB in double triangle, RC under. Nutmegs remain steady; 27 cases Penang sold, 100 to the lb. 2s. 2d., 85 to 82 2s. 4d. to 2s. 6d., 81 2s. 6d., 79 2s. 7d., 78 2s. 8d., and 68 3s. 5d. per lb. Mace: 2 cases Penang sold at 3s. to 3s. 3d. per lb. Cloves: Xanzibar are rather lower; about 3,000 bales have been sold at 2½d. to 3d. for fair, and 3½d. for very good bright; no Penang offered.

TAPIOCA.—The market is steady, with a large private trade rather above former terms. Auctions have embraced 690 bags Singapore: two-thirds sold at 2½d. per lb. for good bright; 1,727 bags Penang, two-thirds sold at 2d. to 2½d. fair to good; 1,185 bags pearl, half sold at 18s. to 19s. per cwt. for small bright to good bullets, being cheaper; and 1,728 bags Flour, of which the damaged only sold at easy rates.

TURMERIC.—Market without change.

TIN.—There is no demand except for immediate consumption; it is stated that buyers are being kept out of the market by alarming reports circulated by operators for a fall; prices are again slightly lower, the current quotations being—Straits, on the spot, £128 to £129, afloat £127; Banca, £130; Billiton, £131.

TOBACCO, &c.—At the last sales 5 bales Japan realised 9½d. to 9½d. for sound, and 8½d. for damaged; 3 cases Manila cigars sold at 7s. 3d. to 7s. 6d.

VERMILION.—China is held firmly for advanced rates, and scarcely any business has been done; 10 boxes offered at auction were retired.

NEW YORK MARKET REPORT.

TEA.

The following is from Messrs. Beebe's Circular of the 17th ult.:—Business in the Tea market has continued on a liberal scale in Greens and Oolongs, with moderate sales of other descriptions. The advance noted in Greens early in January has been followed by a return to the figures previously accepted for goods to arrive per Riga and other vessels, and our quotations are now 2c. to 5c. lower. Japans show a similar decline, while Blacks have realised above former prices. Sales from first hands reported since 20th January include 38,700 half-chests Green, 13,900 half-chests Japan, 48,000 half-chests Oolong, and 4,600 half chests Souchong and Congou. Of the Oolongs about 33,000 half-chests are to arrive. The market closes rather weak for Greens and Japans, other than choice grades, but with a good degree of firmness for Blacks, while buyers generally show less disposition to operate in advance of immediate wants, unless tempted thereto by a further concession in price. The clearances for consumption since the opening of the new year show how largely the distributing trade postponed deliveries during the latter part of 1870 to secure the benefit of the reduction in duty.

The following are the current quotations (in gold, duty 15c. paid):—Greens, new crop (Moynue, Twanki, and Fychow): Gunpowder, fair to good, 65c. to 100c.; fine to finest, 72c. to 115c.; Imperial, fair to good, 42c. to 85c.; fine to finest, 47c. to 100c.; Young Hyson, fair to good, 37c. to 90c.; fine to finest, 40c. to 105c.; Hyson, fair to good, 37c. to 85c.; fine to finest, 42c. to 85c.; Hyson Skin, 28c. to 37c.; Foochow, Oolongs (new crop), common and good, 45c. to 53c.; superior and fine, 56c. to 75c.; finest, 80c. to 100c.; Amoy Oolongs (new crop), common and good, 42c. to 53c.; superior and fine, 56c. to 62c.; finest, 65c. to 70c.; Souchong and Congou (new crop), common and good, 31c. to 40c.; superior and fine, 47c. to 53c.; finest, 65c. to 80c.; Japans (new crop), common, 45c. to 50c.; medium, 55c. to 58c.; good medium, 62c. to 65c.; fine and finest, 68c. to 75c.; choice, 78c. to 85c.

The total receipts of Tea from China and Japan at the port of New York from Jan. 1 to Feb. 15, 1871, were as follows:—Greens, 5,700,606 lbs.; Japans, 3,359,365 lbs.; Souchongs, 473,096 lbs.; Oolongs, 2,411,702 lbs.; other sorts, 3,200 lbs.; total, 11,947,969 lbs. The stock on Jan. 1 was 16,743,661 lbs.; which, added to the above total, gives a result of 28,696,630 lbs., as the total supply. Subtracting from this total the exports from Jan. 1 to Feb. 15, 752,371 lbs., and the withdrawals for home consumption during that period, 11,382,714 lbs., there remains a total of 16,561,545 lbs., representing the stock on the last-named date. The receipts from Jan. 18 to Feb. 15 amounted to 5,814,192 lbs.; the withdrawals for home consumption to 4,920,286 lbs.; and the exports to 528,526 lbs.

The New York Commercial and Shipping List of the 18th Feb. says:—In our issue of the 1st inst. we gave in our editorial columns the imports, exports, and consumption of Tea at this port and Boston for 1870, together with the stocks at the close, constituting the supply of the whole Atlantic coast. We are now enabled to give the imports at San Francisco, which, added to those at New York and Boston, constitute the supply of the whole country. The imports at the three ports were as follows:—

	lbs.	lbs.	lbs.
New York	37,370,851	44,006,422	46,835,916
Boston	1,154,591	2,380,281	2,576,202
San Francisco	2,018,306	2,160,071	3,421,460
Totals	40,543,748	48,546,774	52,833,578

The movement shows a steady increase, the gain in two years being over 12,000,000 lbs. The invoices received at San Francisco in transit to New York are not included in the imports at that port. With cheap transportation across the Continent, and by way of the Isthmus, San Francisco will in time become a very important distributing point for the United States.

SILK.

Mr. O'Donoghue's Circular contains the following report upon the market:—The past month has witnessed an increased activity in the market, and although prices as yet show no improvement upon those quoted in my last circular, at least no further material reduction is looked for. The promptness with which both importers and manufacturers have concluded negotiations upon the basis of present ruling quotations indicates a feeling of confidence that the business during the year will be on a satisfactory scale. Usual Reel Taysam and Tsatlee: There is a dearth of prime grades of these silks, and for which grades only has the demand been at all active. Re-reeled Haineen and Tsatlee have been quite lively; transactions in fair to good stock have been numerous. Re-reeled Cantons have received a good share of attention from manufacturers, and some lines have been taken for speculative purposes. Japans are not in stock and not enquired for.

Quotations (six months' terms):—Tsatlee, No. 2, $9.25; No. 3, $9; Nos. 4 and 5, $8.25. Taysam, No. 1, $8; Nos. 2 and 3, $7.25 to 7.50; Nos. 4 and 5, $6.75. Canton, re-reeled, good, $6.7-8 to 7; fair, $6 to 6.3-8; coarse, $5.75. Tsatlee, re-reeled, best, $9; fair and medium, $8.3-8 to 8.5-8. Haineen, best, $9; fair, $8.50. Japans: Maibash, Koshio, and Atchezan, nominal; no demand.

Imports:—In January, 542 packages, $304,491; corresponding month last year, 464 packages, $193,941.

COFFEE.—The current quotations for East India kinds are, Java Government bags, 18c. to 20c.; Java mats, 18½c. to 22c.; Singapore, 17c. to 18c.; Manila, 14c. to 15c.; Native Ceylon, 15½c. to 17c., showing no change from those given in our last report. There has been a steady demand for all kinds during the fortnight, and the transactions effected include sales of Java in lots at the above quoted rates, and 200 bags Government on private terms; also 4,393 mats Singapore, ex Dewa Gungadbur, at 15c. gold, and 631 mats, ex same vessel, on private terms.

CAMPOR.—China is quoted 15c. gold (in bond).

ESSENTIAL OILS.—Aniseed is quoted $2.30; Cassia, $1.5 gold (in bond).

FIRE CRACKERS.—The arrivals having been heavy; there is a large supply on hand, and the current rates have declined to $2.60 to $2.70 currency for extra No. 1; we note the sale of 1,000 boxes No. 1 in bond upon private terms.

GUNNY CLOTH.—There is a demand for future delivery, and we notice sales of 200 bales Borneo to arrive at Boston, at 12½ cents gold in bond.

GAMBIE.—The current quotation is $3.75 to 3.80 gold (duty paid).

HEMP.—There is scarcely anything doing in this market in Manila, the business of the fortnight being confined to 300 bales Sorsagon at 10½c. gold; the current quotations are nominally 10½c. to 10½c. gold. At Boston the sale has been effected of 2,000 bales good current quality, ex Sooloo, at 10½c. gold.

INDIGO.—The market for Manila is quiet but steady transactions to small extent being effected at the prices quoted in our last report.

PRESERVED GINGER.—China is quoted $7 to $8 currency (duty paid).

RHUBARB.—The quotation for China is $1 to $1.25 currency (duty paid).

RICE.—Carolina has been in steady demand at the advanced rates reported in our last. Rangoon has also been in good request at steady prices, and the sales have amounted to 1,300 bags at $7 to $7.12½ currency (duty paid), and about 400 bags at $3.40 gold in bond.

SUGAR.—There is a fairly active demand, but it is almost exclusively confined to Cuba; of East India there is but one sale to report, viz., 578 baskets Java at 9½c.

SPICES.—The market is quiet for invoices, with but few offerings; one of 822 bags Pimento afloat, was sold before arrival at a private price. From store there is a good steady demand, and prices are generally firm, the only exception being Cassia, which is again a little lower. The foreign accounts continue to be favourable for holders of Nutmegs and Pepper, and the tendency of prices is in their favour. We notice sales in lots to the trade, of Mace at $1.15; Nutmegs, 85 cents; Cassia, 32c. to 32½c.; Wild Cinnamon, 33c.; Cloves, 12½c.; Pepper, 16½c. for Sumatra and 17c. for Singapore; White Pepper, 22c. to 22½.

TIN.—There is little or no change to be reported in the market; holders are firm but there is no demand at the ruling prices, which must consequently be considered as nominal; Straits is quoted 33c. to 33½c., and Banca 38½c. to 39c. gold.

FREIGHTS AND CHARTERS.

We have no change to note in outward freights; business generally continues dull; rates for coal from the North have fallen in some instances.

Current rates of freight for vessels on the berth: To Yokohama: 35s. weight, 30s. meat; per steamer, via Suez Canal, 90s. meat. To Shanghai: 30s. weight or meat; per steamer, via Suez Canal, 60s. meat. To Hong Kong: 30s. weight, 27s. 6d. meat; per steamer, via Suez Canal, 60s. meat. To Batavia: 25s. weight, 30s. meat. To Singapore: 30s. weight, 25s. meat; per steamer, via Suez Canal, 50s. to 60s. meat. To Ceylon: 20s. weight, 17s. 6d. meat; per steamer, via Suez Canal, 50s. meat, 40s. weight. At New York, to China: — to — per ton of 40 cubic feet.

The current quotations for coal, &c., are as follows: From Wear or Tyne per keel—For Shanghai: £40. For Hong Kong: £30. To Singapore: £27. For Galle: £25. From Newport, Cardiff, or Swansea, per ton—For Shanghai: £2 2s. 6d. For Yokohama: £1 17s. 6d. For Hong Kong: £1 14s. For Java: 17s. 6d. For Singapore: £1 6d. For Galle: £1 4s. 6d.

CASUALTIES.

A telegram from Galle dated March 3, states as follows:—"Have saved Palmerston's damaged decks, cargo considerably damaged purpose sending Colombo, surveyors recommend sell vessel and remaining cargo as they stand further salvage expensive."

The Samarang, King, from Passaroang to Rotterdam, arrived at St. Helena, Feb. 5, experienced a hurricane, on Dec. 7, in lat. 21 S. long. 99 E., when she was thrown on her beam ends and lost rudder, bulwarks, sails, and everything movable from the decks; she righted with six feet water in the hold, and, as she was still making water, 100 tons of cargo were thrown overboard; a quantity of sugar was also pumped up. No survey had been held, but temporary repairs were being effected, and she would probably leave about Feb. 14, with a jury rudder she shipped after the gale.

The Diane (ship), of Bordeaux, from Saigon, with rice, which arrived at St. Helena Jan. 27, had encountered very severe weather, especially on the 19th, 20th, and 21st Dec., which caused her to labour and make a great deal of water; had sails blown away, jibboom broken, forecable bulwarks stove, and received other damage; she had since been surveyed, and the seams and butts of the topsides found very slack and open; she was discharging.

The Lizzie Iredale, Wilding, from Shanghai, which arrived at New York Feb. 16, had experienced strong N.E. winds down the China Sea to the Paracels, where she encountered a severe hurricane, lost sails, and carried away maintop sail yard.

A telegram from Batavia, dated March 3, states that the Belted Will, from London to Hong Kong, reported March 1 leaky, had commenced discharging, and so far no damage was apparent; it is supposed the cargo is only damaged at the bottom; the ship will be hoisted down.

THE STEAM LINE BETWEEN HOLLAND AND JAVA.—Messrs. John Elder and Co. have launched from their shipbuilding yard, Govan, on the Clyde, an iron screw-steamship of 2,700 tons register and 400-horse power nominal, for the Stoomvaart Nederland Company, the first of four steamships which the builders have in hand for the same company. The vessel has been designed and constructed for that company's service between Holland and Java via the Suez Canal, and is of the following dimensions:—Length between perpendiculars, 320 feet; breadth, 39 feet; depth moulded, 31 feet. In the equipment of the ship the latest improvements have been introduced, and nothing appears to be overlooked which will tend to the success of the vessel, and the passenger accommodation and fittings are of a high class of workmanship and finish. Accommodation has been provided for 100 first-class, fifty second-class, and a few third class passengers. She has great carrying capacity, with light draft of water. The engines, which are being supplied by the same firm, are upon their compound principle, with all recent improvements. On leaving the ways the ship was named the Willem III.

THE results of the survey of the west coast of Kiusiu by Commander Brooker, in H.M.S. Sylvia in 1869, and of the Inland Sea by Lieut. Maxwell in the same vessel last year, have been published by the Hydrographic Department of the Admiralty.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT

AND PILLS.—Facts and figures recommend Holloway's treatment to all tender-hearted persons. Changes of season are always trying to mankind from the variability of temperature, now increasing, then depressing the circulation, hence the prevalence of throat affections, chest complaints, and disordered digestion at this season. For all this catalogue of ailments Holloway's Ointment rubbed thoroughly over the parts affected will be found universally serviceable in preventing, checking, or curing each and all. It is a remarkable curative in cases of inflamed or ulcerated throat, while for glandular enlargements it is a specific. In coughs, colds, asthma, and bronchitis, Holloway's Pills should be taken simultaneously with the friction of the Ointment over the chest.

ART, PICTORIAL AND INDUSTRIAL.

An Illustrated Magazine.

THIS Publication was commenced on the 1st of July, in the belief that an ample field existed for a high class monthly magazine devoted to Art; and already the result has fulfilled this expectation. 'ART' is produced in a form eminently adapted to the drawing-room table. It is handsomely printed on fine paper, in super-royal quarto, and each Number contains four or more Full-page Heliotype Illustrations, being reproductions of Ancient and Modern Pictures, Engravings, Designs, Sculpture, and objects of Industrial or Decorative Art.

Among the contributors to 'ART' are Messrs. BLANCHARD JERROLD, CHARLES BURTON, J. CORDY JEAFFERSON, G. W. REID, HYDE CLARKE, GEORGE AUGUSTUS SALA, W. R. RALSTON, JOHN FORBES ROBERTSON, HENRY BLACKBURN, G. W. YAPP, JOHN PIGGOT, Jun., E. OLLIER, &c., &c.

PORT OF AMOY.

SHIPOWNERS, AGENTS, and COMMANDERS are informed that the Dock Company's establishments at the above port afford every facility, at moderate charges, for REPAIRING and PAINTING VESSELS, cleaning and painting iron ships and steamers.

Their large Granite Dock has 286 feet length on the blocks, and at average spring tides can receive vessels of 16 to 17 feet draught. It has a caisson-gate and a powerful centrifugal steam pump, and an engineer's workshop fitted with lathes and tools, driven by steam; iron and brass foundries, boiler-makers' shop, a large smithy and carpenters and boat-builders' sheds. All superintended by resident Europeans.

Their two smaller GRANITE DOCKS can receive, at spring tides, vessels drawing 12 feet.

Spars, timber, and other Dockyard material kept in stock.
Quarters for officers and a DRY GODOWN for stores of vessels under repair.

Summary of News from the Far East.

JAPAN.

YOKOHAMA.

Dates are to the 29th Jan. The London mail of 2nd Dec. had arrived.

A correspondent reports as follows concerning the state of Messrs. Dallas and Ring, who were recently attacked at Yedo:—

When the wounds had been carefully dressed they were conveyed to their quarters. Their recovery was for some time despaired of, fever having set in, but at latest accounts they were both continuing to do well. The assassins made their escape. Immediately on the news of the outrage reaching the authorities the gates of the city were closed, detectives sent through the city, and every means used to secure the capture of the guilty parties, but, up to latest advices, without success. The latest news is as follows: Messrs. Dallas and Ring were both going on well, and are quite cheerful and hopeful of recovery. The man arrested was not Mr. Dallas's servant, but a young officer who had been out with them, and was at the time of the attack some yards in front of them. He was either a pupil or an interpreter, if we understand aright. Nothing was expected to be got out of him, but it was deemed right to examine him, to know why, having his sword upon him, he did not draw in their defence.

CHINA.

PEKING.

It is announced that M. Deschamps, of the Customs' service, is appointed by the Tsung-lee Yamen Interpreter to the Imperial Government to be resident at Peking on a salary of £3,000 per annum. M. Deschamps' name will be familiar to our readers as that of one of the Secretaries and Interpreters to the famous or infamous Buncombe Embassy of the late Mr. Burlingame.

SHANGHAI.

The dates extend to the 1st Feb. The London mail of Dec. 2 arrived out on the 21st Jan.

The following items are from the North China Herald:—

The first practical experience of the war in Europe has been brought home to us in Shanghai, by the seizure of the British barque Robert Rickmers by the French steamer Linois. Until within the last few days the Robert Rickmers had been under North German colours, but had registered at the British Consulate, in consequence of a transfer of ownership to a British firm, effected in Europe. She cleared from the Shanghai Customs on the 19th, and sailed from Woosung on the 21st, under the English flag, with papers in proper order. The Linois followed her twenty-four hours later, captured the vessel and sent her crew up as prisoners to the French steamer Venus. We have not heard on what ground the capture is based; no doubt the French commander was ignorant of the transfer. H.B.M. Consul and the Senior Naval Officer in port have protested against the seizure.

A sham fight has certainly eclipsed in interest any other local occurrence. The Miholoongs and No. 3 Rifle Company, with the Rangers and one gun, under Captain Brewer, formed the defending force; Nos. 1 and 2 Rifle Companies, with two guns, under Captain Maclean, starting afterwards to the attack. It had been arranged that the fight should take place on the banks of the Soochow Creek; and after some hot skirmishing the two parties came to close quarters alongside of Messrs. Miller and Batt's bungalow. It would need far more skilled criticism than we can pretend to to decide who won the event of the eventful day. We incline, ourselves, to an opinion that there was, properly, not a man left on either side to tell the tale. Towards the close the right subdivision of No. 1 Company executed a brilliant charge at No. 3, who were compelled to retire, but were soon reinforced by the Miholoongs, who engaged in a hand-to-hand conflict without even fixing their swords, and must therefore have suffered terribly, though they greatly outnumbered their opponents. The combat was resumed after a pause, and No. 2 Company then achieved the great event of the day by surprising and capturing the opposing gun, showing in the act a noble disregard of the withering fire of grape with which their advance was greeted. One of the guns with the attacking party had, in the meantime, been left alone to sustain a brilliant charge of Rangers, which, however, it gallantly repulsed with the aid of its colleague, which came opportunely to the rescue. Finally the opponents piled arms and fraternised round a cask of beer, which made a most opportune appearance. We said "fraternised;" but the struggle was truly more severe to reach the beer than it had been in the foughten field. Imagine some two hundred and thirty men struggling for the possession of a dozen tumblers, and striving all at once to reach the small space occupied by the front of a beer barrel, and the scene may be conceived which followed the battle of Soochow Creek. About 5 P.M. the order was given to fall in and resume the homeward march. Some active skirmishing drill was gone through on the way, and the settlement reached about 6 P.M.

The bridge near the West Gate, on the French road to Sika-way, has fallen in, the bank having given way in consequence of the excavations from the creek. So all traffic has, for the time, to pass over the Chinese bridge alongside. Earth has been placed on this to fill up the interstices between the steps and give it a smooth surface; traps manage to get over it somehow, though the process is something like driving over the roof of a house.

A correspondent again calls attention to the deterioration which is taking place in the river channel of Shanghai. We fancy he exaggerates the case, as the tides just now are dead neap, and the low water mark would therefore appear unusually low. Still, there is no doubt of the fact that the channel is deteriorating; and as the matter is one of the highest importance, not only in a commercial point of view, but to owners of property in the Foreign Settlements, we can only repeat our surprise that it is allowed to remain so long neglected.

An interesting case was tried in the Supreme Court, in which Messrs. Pustau and Co. sued Messrs. Chapman, King and Co., for the restoration of a quantity of lead stored at the Hongkew wharf, for which they are agents. The plaintiffs sold the lead to a Chinaman, who paid them for it in worthless bank orders, obtained the go-down order, and hypothecated this to Messrs. Chapman, King and Co. Finding the orders worthless, Messrs. Pustau and Co. tried to recover possession of the lead, but the jury found for the defendants.

The case Rex v. Hentig terminated in the prisoner pleading guilty and receiving a sentence of four months' imprisonment.

The Fire Brigade were called out by an alarm of fire at Messrs. Russell and Co.'s junior hong. A policeman saw smoke issuing from the roof and gave the alarm—not, as it proved, a minute too soon. One of the large beams had caught, apparently from the chimney, and a large piece of it had burned when it was discovered. Fortunately a number of buckets of water were at hand ready for use, and the inmates of the hong (who are nearly all hook and ladder men) were able to put out the fire before it gained headway. The Miholoong truck was on the spot very soon after the bell had rung, and the members gave useful aid. The fire engines also came well up in time, but their assistance was not needed. It is exceedingly fortunate that the fire broke out in the daytime, when it could be detected at the outset, and that a supply of water was at hand—otherwise the house might now have presented a sister spectacle to the British Consulate. At night the chances are nothing would have been heard or seen until the whole roof was in flames. As it is, the harm to the roof can be easily repaired, and a spoiled carpet or two on the upper floor will represent the balance of the damage.

Official correspondence has been handed to us, denying that Chinese endeavoured to plunder the Ellen Castle, when she was wrecked on the Newchwang bar. We can only say that our information came from the agents of the vessel, who must have been strangely misled. H.B.M. Consul, however, avers that the Celestials did not draw upon themselves the blank cartridge of H.M. Marines, so it seems clear that the sympathy expressed with Mr. Wade, at the alleged result of the Grasshopper's stay in Newchwang, was misplaced; and we gladly second his effort to relieve the Chinese from the calumny fixed upon them.

MR. HARGREAVES'S EXAMINATION.

In the Bankruptcy Court W. Hargreaves, sworn, stated:—About the end of May, 1867, I had about £430 in hand in cash, and furniture to between £2,000 and £3,000 in Shanghai; Gas shares 76, 20 of which were mortgaged for an indefinite sum, but which sum afterwards turned out to be Tls. 1,200; also 2 Dock shares, worth then Tls. 2,500, mortgaged for a credit of £1,000 to the Chartered Mercantile Bank, to be drawn in London; also property in the French Concession worth Tls. 4,000. I owed B. Liebert about £6,500, Hydes and Jones £6,000, and J. O. Johnston £1,000. The furniture was my private property. In June I commenced business with Mr. Thorburn, under a written agreement. The terms were that I was to advance £15,000 and Mr. Thorburn £10,000, and that I was to come out to Shanghai, as agent for him, under power of attorney. I advanced £10,000; five thousand of which I borrowed from Mr. Jones of London, without security, and £5,000 from him, with Liebert's security. There was also a private agreement between Thorburn, myself and Jones. It was that, so soon as I received my release from Smith, Kennedy, and Co.'s firm, that I was to become a partner with Mr. Thorburn, on the terms that I was to get 3-5ths interest, and Thorburn 2-5ths. I came to Shanghai in August 1867. I got my release from Smith, Kennedy and Co. in March 1869. Before I left London it was clearly understood between myself and Mr. Thorburn that we were to be partners from the beginning, in proportion to our capital, and the written agreement was merely to secure the earnings against Smith, Kennedy and Co.'s creditors. This document, which I hand in, is a draft of the private understanding between myself and Mr. Thorburn. It is in the latter's handwriting, with additions by myself and Jones. The furniture in Shanghai was the property of the trustees of my wife under the marriage settlement. Adjourned till the 18th of February, to enable bankrupt to separate furniture bought after his arrival in Shanghai from that previously in his possession.

MEMORIAL FROM CHUNG HOW.

The Cycle translates the following amusing memorial from Chung How, requesting the Emperor to confer some mark of approval upon the Queen of Heaven, as a reward for the way in which she has recently looked after the grain junks upon the coast. The matter has been referred to the Board of Rites:—

Chung How reports that having for many years filled the office of Superintendent of Trade, he has had constant opportunities of observing to what an extent coasting craft and the ships from Fukien and Kuangtung depend upon the grace of the Queen of Heaven, each vessel having on board a tablet inscribed to her. In obedience to the Imperial will, your slave is now departing for foreign countries, having already passed by seven provinces, namely, Fengtien, Chihli, Shantung, Kiangsu, Chekiang, Fukien, and Kuangtung. During this passage he has observed that all along the ten or fifteen thousand li of coast which bounds the empire, the people everywhere derive their support from labour on the sea. Whether they are fishermen or salt collectors, they work day and night in tempest and amid the waves. Therefore it is especially necessary to invoke the mercy of the sacred spirit on their behalf. The importance of the traffic by sea is enormous, whether between the ports or with foreign countries, whence warlike stores of all kinds are brought to supply our wants. This, indeed, demands even greater attention than the industry of the people; wherefore it is begged that an honourific epithet may be conferred upon the goddess, and that offerings may regularly be made at her altars, whereby the people will be led to display increased reverence for her.

Few of our readers are perhaps aware how greatly those of our residents who have correspondence with Peking are indebted to the Custom's department for the conveyance of the same between Shanghai and the northern capital during the winter season. However we may blame Mr. Hart and his administration in some respects, we certainly have to thank him for organising a system which has become a great public convenience. The expense of the service, to say nothing of the amount of work it entails on the staff, is no slight matter, for every ten catty bag of mail matter requires a separate courier, and often as many as six bags go forward on the arrival of every mail from Europe. Each of these bags costs the Chinese Government about thirty dollars for overland conveyance between Chinkiang and Peking, a single mail therefore amounts to from one hundred and fifty to one hundred and eighty dollars, while for the season, upwards of two thousand dollars are expended on this service. We were quite surprised to see the amount of trouble which the departure of a Peking mail entails on the office of the Chief Tide Surveyor, where a miniature post-office has been organised. Letters for Tientsin and Peking are forwarded free for all senders, newspapers only being restricted to members of the Custom's service and foreign legations. This restriction was found absolutely necessary, for if missionaries also could be brought within the privileged classes, the mail could not possibly be kept within anything like reasonable bounds, while the expense and trouble would be increased beyond all endurance.

Messrs. John Thorne and Co. have disposed of, by public auction, 1,313 tons of North Wales coals, ex Andromeda. The lot was knocked down to a Chinese buyer at Tls. 5.50 per ton. This cargo, it is not surprising, considering the lengthy passage made by the vessel, is in a very poor condition. A fire has occurred on board, but it was extinguished without much damage having been done. [This vessel has been reported in Liverpool as lost, after leaving Shanghai.—Ed. L. & C. T.]

We have to acknowledge a copy of the schedule and report of the Land Assessment Committee, which forms a volume of over sixty pages. The report has been already published, so requires no fresh notice at our hands. The schedule is carefully compiled, and gives every possible information, from the name of the owner of each plot, down to the amount of municipal and Chinese taxes which he has to pay for his privilege. The gross assessed value of land registered in the English and American Concessions is Tls. 5,707,500, and the municipal taxes payable on it are Tls. 11,768.

A meeting of shareholders in the French Gas Company was held on the 27th Jan. The report by the directors exhibits a very satisfactory position of affairs. The net profits realised during the year ended 31st December amount to Tls. 7,218, out of which it was agreed to declare a dividend at the rate of 8 per cent., which will absorb Tls. 3,040, to carry Tls. 3,600 to reserve, and the remainder to the new year's account. A reduction in the price of gas from 17 to 15 cents per cubic metre was agreed to unanimously.

The new bell tower in the Municipal Compound has been completed, and the bell of the old church, handed over for the purpose, put up in it. The tower is seventy feet high, and there can be no doubt this commanding elevation will be sufficient to give warning to the furthest limits of the Settlements. The tower is a substantial erection, roughly finished as yet; but was only desired to have it up for use as early as possible, and "appearances" may be satisfied at leisure.

The excavation of the Sikaway is finished, and the water has been again let in. Those who remember what a disagreeable looking bed of mud it used to be will appreciate the deep clear canal into which it has been converted. Whereas it was before impassable at half-tide, it has now several feet at dead low water.

Our Ningpo correspondent writes that the barque Haimlota, which had been ashore for some days outside of Chinhaï, was got off on the 27th, but was again blown ashore, and became a total wreck forty-eight hours later. A court of inquiry is to be held. The weather very cold and a little snow.

There has been great delay in the arrival of the new Futai, to take up his office at Soochow, the provincial capital of Kiangsu. The explanation is Fung-shuey. There is something wrong in the "influences" of the palace. Two Governors have lost their mothers there, within the last eight years, and the new incumbent fears a similar fatality.

FORMOSA.

THE CAMPHOR TRADE.

The Hong Kong Daily Press, in an article upon the camphor monopoly, regrets that the present Consul is disposed to support the Chinese officials in re-imposing the embargo on the trade which led to the disturbance at the end of 1868, and to the capture of the Amping Fort by Lieut. Gurdon, and which since that time had become entirely suppressed. The manner in which this embargo has been enforced is extremely simple. It seems that the Taoutai of the island, who resides at Taiwanfoo, sold the exclusive right to trade in camphor every year to a company of Cantonese, and that large sums were thus made both by the Taoutai and the monopolists. The latter, who were aided by the Taoutai and his soldiers, forced the producers to take their camphor to recognised stations, and took the strongest measures to prevent their selling it to foreigners. The produce collected in this manner found its way to Banca, a town about twelve miles up the Tamsui River, where a market was established in which foreigners were nominally allowed to trade; but the prices at which the camphor was offered were so high as to preclude foreigners from entering the market with any chance of making a profit upon shipments to Hong Kong. The end desired was thus completely attained. This system was very lucrative to the Mandarins, to the monopolists, to the soldiers in their pay, but ruinous to the producers. The latter consequently endeavoured to free themselves from this injustice, and took steps to induce foreigners to buy the produce direct from them, which with the aid of some of the country people was done. The foreign purchasers who had to convey their produce down from the interior were frequently molested by the mandarin soldiers, and many of the natives found aiding them were taken up, put into prison, beaten, and in some cases even beheaded. The circumstance was pointed out to Mr. Consul Gregory, but he maintained his opinion, and would do nothing. Fortunately, however, this gentleman went home on leave, and his successor, Mr. Holt, impressed upon the officials that the monopoly was contrary to the Treaty rights of foreigners, and so succeeded after much trouble in quashing it.

An attempt has recently been made to re-establish the old state of affairs, and it appears that, notwithstanding all that has taken place, Mr. Consul Gregory is disposed to uphold the monopolists, and there seems to be no doubt that his having expressed such an opinion is the chief reason why the Chinese have had the temerity to attempt to re-establish the embargo. It is certainly to be greatly regretted that this question, which had been entirely settled, should be revived, and it seems unaccountable that the present Consul could not maintain the ground which had been gained with much difficulty by his predecessor.

TAKOW—FORMOSA.

(North China Herald.)

We observe with pleasure that an additional trade report has been added to those already issued from the Customs press for the year 1869, namely, that from the port of Takow, in South

Formosa. This seems, for some reason or other, not to have been forthcoming when the others made their appearance; but, the volume for 1869 has now been rebound, and reissued in its complete form.

Late as it is, the Takow report is not devoid of interest. To the mass of foreign residents in China that port is little known, and of slight importance individually; but we are all more or less interested in the debate which is now going on, as to whether or no we shall voluntarily surrender a right gained at so much trouble, which costs so little to retain, and which is year by year becoming of more value; and any addition to our information on the subject is, under the circumstances, doubly welcome. Takow, like most other places, has had its dark day; in fact it may be said that, through the gross mismanagement and wilful obstructiveness of the local officials, it has never had a chance of showing what its capabilities as a producing district are. But recent events, with which our readers are all familiar, have created a great change in this respect, and there is now no doubt that, if let alone, it will soon become of very considerable importance to all concerned in the carrying and local trade of China. If the Chinese Government were alive to their own interests, they would be the first to cry out against the closing of the port, for it can produce in almost any quantity sugar and rice—two of the necessities of life to all the people in the North of China; and it ought to be the care of the Government to foster whatever means are likely to facilitate the transport of those staples. Even from a selfish point of view it would almost seem to be worth while for the Central Government to pay the paltry couple of thousand pounds or so that it at present costs the British Government to maintain the Consular Establishment there, for the foreign trade produces them a revenue of Tls. 72,000, very little of which would find its way into the Imperial Treasury if the trade were allowed to get under the control of the local mandarins again.

The most important feature, however, in the present report, is an able and interesting account of a visit to the Formosan savages, by Mr. T. Hughes, an assistant in the Customs service, and then stationed at Takow. The eastern portion of the island, as our readers are aware, is peopled by a race of savages living in a state of pure barbarism. Four years ago, attention was attracted to them by the murder of the shipwrecked captain and crew of the American barque Rover, who, after narrowly escaping death by drowning were, without cause or offence, slaughtered in cold blood immediately on reaching the shore. The consequence was an armed expedition against them by the Chinese authorities of Taiwanfoo, at the instigation of the U.S. Consul at Amoy; but instead of exterminating the race, as was probably the original object of the expedition, a treaty of peace and friendship was made with a chief named Tok-e-tok. It is satisfactory to know that this, the first occasion on which the treaty was tested, has justified the expectations of the makers. It is true that no Europeans were among the shipwrecked, but we trust that, should such a case occur again, the same clemency will be shown to them as was shown to the Malays and Chinese in the present instance.

HONG KONG.

Dates are to the 8th Feb. The London mail (French) of Dec. 23 arrived out on the 2nd Feb.

The China Mail has the following on the gambling farm:—If the attitude which Chief Justice Smale has taken 'up against the gambling licenses can be legally sustained, there should be a speedy termination to the present connection of the Government of this Colony with a set of miserable gamblers. Sir R. MacDonnell, to whom the infliction of this disgrace is primarily due, did not disguise his meaning. In fact it was so coarsely put as to be contemptuous towards the moral sense of the members of his Government. "Gentlemen (said Sir Richard to the Council), if you don't license gambling there will be a deficit in the revenue; if you do, there will be a surplus." His Excellency, as we have repeatedly said, put the matter as one partly of revenue and police, but revenue was his chief point. There was but one member of Council, the Hon. Mr. Parry, who directly opposed his Excellency. The Hon. Mr. Gibb, admitting the necessity for more money, mildly suggested a doubling of the house and police rates, instead of the gambling license fee, and in preference to the Stamp Act, which then seemed to be the only alternative as the means of increasing the revenue. But the question now arises, upon the opinion expressed by the Chief Justice, whether an attempt should not be made to wipe out this gambling license disgrace. In sentencing a convict, who had passed a forged bank-note in a licensed gambling-house, his Lordship said:—

"As at present advised, I am more than ever inclined to believe that the weight of argument leads to the conclusion that each gambling-house in this colony is not protected by the license under which it is kept open. All admit that by the common law it is an indictable nuisance, but for the license, and that except as being authorised by ordinance no license can authorise the keeping the gaming-houses. It seems to me that no ordinance in words or in meaning authorises the grant of a license, and the law will not imply a meaning authorising any one to authorise a misdemeanour which by common law is indictable. These considerations involve vast money amounts, but what is of infinitely higher moment they involve vast moral questions. This matter ought not to be left any longer in doubt; it was said that the licensing system would end with the beginning of this year, but it is renewed under new and more vigorous conditions."

We hear that very recently Messrs. Olyphant and Co. have been the unwilling contributors to the Special Fund to the extent of over $2,000. Their shroff was entrusted during the temporary absence of the compradore at Macao with the charge of the iron chest. He managed during his short term of locum tenens to make away with this sum of money, which is said to be traceable to the coffers of the Government Institution known as the "Play Houses" founded by Sir Richard MacDonnell. It is hardly necessary to mention that the gambler has made his levant, leaving the compradore to make good and mourn over his loss.

It is said that Lee Fook Tai, the present Governor of Canton is to be transferred to Kwangsi to fill a similar appointment, and that he will start very shortly for his new post, which has been vacant for some time. The Governor General, in the meantime, will perform the duties of the office vacated by Lee Fook Tai, and amalgamate the pay of it with his own.

A correspondent, under date Whampoa, Jan. 29, says:—The gunboats of H.C.I.M.'s Customs appear to have had a busy time of it, inasmuch as the down river passengers per Kiukiang, yesterday, report having met several of them with half a dozen prize junks in tow, en route for the city of Rams. Of the crews of the piratical or smuggling craft nothing was seen; perhaps they had all managed to "skedaddle" in good season, in order to save their precious necks, or else they had been placed out of sight, to prevent their heads being knocked into pieces by stray balls from other venturesome "buccaneering" boats passing at the time.

The Hon. Mr. Rowett has been appointed Member of the Legislative Council, vice Hon. H. B. Gibb, resigned.

We learn by the steamer Yesso that the British barque Violet, from Yokohama, was totally lost on the Lee-chu Islands. The master and crew escaped, and arrived safely at Foochow, but with loss of all their effects.

We understand that Mr. Edmund Sharp has been appointed to act as Crown Solicitor for this Colony, provisionally until confirmation of the appointment by the magnates of the Colonial-office.

The Gazette publishes the return received from the manager of the Hong Kong Distillery Company as follows:—

	Gals.
Spirits manufactured during the quarter ending June 30, 1870	3,427
Spirits manufactured during the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1870	17,807
Spirits manufactured during the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1870	18,542
Total	39,776

It may interest many to learn the fate of Notes and Queries on China and Japan. It will be remembered that its existence commenced in the China Mail office in January, 1867, under the editorship of Mr. N. B. Dennys, whose knowledge of Chinese language and literature, and experience of Chinese character, carried the work successfully through three years—to the end of 1869—when, owing to causes which it is unnecessary to specify, the property in the work passed into other hands. After a fitful life during the few months of a subsequent period it expired, and the copyright in it was put up to public competition at a recent sale. The competition was not severe; there was only one bidder, and it was knocked down for one dollar.

FORGED BANK-NOTES AGAIN.

It appears to be a prevalent fashion to pass forged notes, but whether the fashion be followed knowingly or otherwise it is for others to judge. We only note the fact for the guidance of those in the habit of handling those promises to pay given by the various banking corporations represented in Hong Kong. A rather curious case in this connection was brought before Mr. May at the magistracy. Kum Keang Po, master of the Wa Loong foreign goods shop, and Luy Acheong, his shopman, were charged with feloniously attempting to pass four forged bank-notes at the Colonial Treasury as genuine notes of the Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London and China. This forged note was not unskillfully executed, though on careful examination it was found to be inaccurate in many details of its execution. It purported to be a note for $5 on the Hong Kong branch of the aforesaid bank, and was dated July, 1867. The numbers are respectively 41,323, 41,353, 42,427, and 45,668; while the forgery bears the apparent signatures of "W. Jackson," at that date manager here, and of "L. C. Masfen," accountant, (whose name does not appear in the Directory for 1867, though he may have been acting in that capacity at the date before given). To mention a few blunders, the word London, which appears in capital letters, is printed "london," the word "bearer" appears as "beurer," the word "pay" is printed "puy," and several other words bear the unmistakable impress of having been carelessly copied. "By order of the Court of Directors," a line which is printed in old English type, is a very poor specimen of typography; and the whole note has that general sloppy appearance about it always observable in a Chinese forgery on close inspection. The tracery on the back, however, is fairly executed, and would easily pass muster to an unpractised eye.

SHAM FIGHT AT KOWLOONG.

A sham fight took place at Kowloong on the 26th Jan. About five hundred men from H.M.S. Ocean landed and entrenched themselves on the "Canton-road" by the first bridge, facing the south towards the valley in which the bone charcoal manufactory is situated, placing themselves so as to dispute the passage along this road of a superior body of the enemy. The latter were not represented, and were supposed to have made good their landing in the bay on the east side of the Kowloong peninsula, covered by the fire of their fleet, to which the small number of the defenders could not expose themselves, as their artillery consisted only of two twelve-pounder Armstrong guns. To resist the enemy these guns were well posted on the last hill on the left of the road towards the harbour, and the position was also strengthened by rifle pits dug some twenty yards in advance of the guns, the rapid slope of the hill allowing the latter to fire over the marines that occupied the pits; a cloud of skirmishers was thrown forward to give due notice of the attack, and to contest the ground inch by inch. The enemy advanced in force, exposed to a well-sustained firing, and it seemed certain that the position would be held, when another body of the enemy, supposed to have landed at Yow-ma-tee, advanced up the valley from that village, and compelled a change of front to the right. This diversion allowed the main body of the enemy to advance nearly unmolested up the valley, and the day seemed lost when the crowning event took place, for as the enemy came up the road two mines, prepared by Commander Fisher, R.N., were fired in the midst of their main body. In the confusion that ensued the Ocean's men charged over the bridge and the defeat of the enemy was complete. Then took place the bivouac on the hard won field, which formed no inconsiderable part of the affair. After it the tars engaged in a series of field sports, sack and hurdle races being the most enjoyed, and the day closed with another torpedo explosion.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

SINGAPORE.

Dates extend to Feb. 15. The London mail of Jan. 13 arrived on Feb. 15.

The following items are from the Straits Times of Feb. 15:—

A public enterprise has been set on foot likely to be speedily accomplished and to prove a paying investment. On Saturday last a meeting was held at Messrs. Boustead and Co.'s office, at which the prospectus of the Singapore Railway Company was distributed. The capital of this company is to consist of $100,000, in 1,000 shares of $100 each, with power to increase. The project is to connect the town with Tanjong Pagar Dock and Wharves by a line of railway along the shore. The company was formed at once, and 925 out of the 1,000 shares taken up at the meeting; so there is every prospect that the work will be proceeded with without delay. That such a line would yield a large profit is beyond question; the cost of cartage alone on the goods now brought from Tanjong Pagar to town amounts to $20,000 per annum, while the estimated cost of working and maintaining the railway is only half that sum, leaving $10,000 per annum for dividend as the traffic now is,—while the facilities offered for the carriage of goods and for the conveyance of passengers would without doubt largely increase the traffic and the income of the company, without greatly increasing the working expenses.

From Penang we hear of a public meeting held there on the 30th ult., to take into consideration the advisability of erecting a wharf; but instead of the merchants undertaking the work themselves, some of the speakers suggested the advisability of the Government taking it in hand, and not only erecting the wharf, but taking the control of it afterwards, and getting its money back out of the wharfage dues and working profits. Such a scheme is hardly likely to meet with approval. There is a fund in the hands of the Government, derived from the sale of the Beech-street lands, which it is pledged to expend in improving the town; but this fund only amounts to some $30,000, while the sum required to build the wharf is, according to the Colonial Engineers' estimate, $130,000. There seems to be a division of opinion as to whether the wharf, a town clock and tower, or a supply of gas would be the most desirable, each section of the community appearing to prefer what would best suit its immediate wants. To our mind the wharf is the most sensible project of the three, and the only one likely to benefit the trade of the place. If it will, as the speakers said, prove a paying investment, it is then a proper field for private enterprise; but if not, and it is needed to develop the trade of the Settlement, the people have then some excuse for asking Government assistance to make it; its control and maintenance afterwards might be left to the municipality.

When Earl Granville, as Secretary of State for the Colonies, announced to the Governor of this colony that he had purchased a small vessel especially suited for the conveyance of the Governor and officials, and ordered the two steamers Peiho and Rainbow to be sold after her arrival, it was generally believed that a check had been put upon the extravagance which has characterised the present administration in the matter of steamers, and that henceforth the colony would have only one to maintain instead of two. This was an illusion which has been rudely dispelled by what has leaked out within the past few days. A meeting of the Executive Council was held last week, the proceedings of which have not been made public, but which we learn had reference to a second new steamer that is to be built to replace the Rainbow, and to sanctioning $7,000 for alterations to the new steamer Pluto. The transaction of such business as this by the Executive Council is, we believe, new in the history of our colonial existence, though, for all we know to the contrary, it may be perfectly legitimate. The new steamer, we hear, is to be eighty-five feet long, fifteen feet beam, to be built of teak and fitted with twin screws, and is to cost $15,000—about the sum the Rainbow will realise;—but we are assured by those who ought to know that a vessel of the description given could not be built for less than about $25,000. We think this is a fitting subject for the attention of the Association at home. Although Earl Granville has no longer the control of Colonial affairs, it is hardly possible that his successor will permit such a gross disregard of positive instructions to pass unnoticed.

By the last French mail a deputation from Saigon, consisting of the Director of the Interior and several officials, Mr. Kresser, late of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, and others, came to this port to endeavour to induce the China Submarine Telegraph Company to make an intermediate station at Saigon, instead of taking the line direct from this to Hong Kong.

We learn that the sale of the cargo of the North German ship G. F. Vorwerk will take place at Saigon on the 1st proximo, and the prizes Georg and Turandot will be sold on the 15th idem. The estimated value of the vessels is £30,000 for the Georg and £40,000 for the Turandot.

IMPORTS.

HANKOW.—The general business in imports during the fortnight had been small, in consequence of the near approach of the Chinese New Year, but Grey Shirtings had been taken in fair quantity. Latest quotations were:—Grey Shirtings, 7 lbs., Tls. 1.7.9 to 1.8.4; 8½ lbs., Tls. 2.1.5 to 2.1.9; White Shirtings, 56 to 60 reed, Tls. 1.9.0 to 2.0.8; T-Cloths, 7 lbs., Tls. 1.3.5 to 1.6.0; Drills—American, Tls. 3.2.0 to 3.2.5; English, Tls. 2.9.0 to 3.0.5; Dutch, Tls. 2.8.5 to 3; Chintz—Assorted, Tls. 4.8.0 to 5; Spanish Stripes—Assorted, Tls. 0.4.6 to 0.4.8; Camlets, SS, Tls. 9.7.5 to 10.5.0; Lastings, Tls. 9 to 10.5.0; Long Ells—HH Scarlet, Tls. 5.1.0; Assorted, Tls. 4.8.0 to 4.9.0; Figured Orleans, Tls. 3.3.0 to 3.7.5. With the exception of Grey Shirtings, prices were almost nominal.

SHANGHAI.—The speculative demand noticed in our last issue had been only partially sustained; but, on the other hand, dealers had shown more confidence, and had effected considerable purchases both of goods on the spot and to arrive; the downward movement in Grey Shirtings had thus been checked. T-Cloths and White Shirtings continued to improve, and as arrivals had brought but small quantities of these goods it seemed highly probable better prices would prevail after the holidays.

HONG KONG.—Cotton Yarn: There had been a small business doing at quotations, but the majority of holders appeared disinclined to accept current rates. Grey Shirtings: Fair demand had existed for 7 and 8.4 lbs., at an advance of 2½ cents for the former, and the market closed firm. Heavy goods still rather neglected. White Shirtings: Common qualities dull; 64 reed fairly saleable; Fine in moderate demand. T-Cloths: Common 6 lbs. and both qualities of 7 lbs. had been in good demand at quotations, which were slightly higher than those last given. Mexican 6 lbs. had not commanded any attention. 8 lbs. readily saleable. In all other Cotton Goods, as also in Woollens, there had been scarcely anything done, and quotations were nominally unaltered from those of a fortnight before. Quotations:—Cotton Yarn, No. 16 to 24, $102.50 to 110; do., 28 to 32, $105 to 112; do., 38 to 42, $125 to 132.50. Grey Shirtings, 7 lbs., $2.12½ to 2.15 per piece; do., 8.4 lbs., $2.60 to 2.65; 9.12 to 10 lbs., $3.30 to 3.50; White Shirtings, $2 to 2.80; fine, $3.25 to 5. T-Cloths, 6 lbs., ord., $1.52½ to 1.55; 6 lbs., Mex., $1.65 to 1.75; 7 lbs., ord., $1.77½ to 1.85; 7 lbs., 32 inch., Mex., $2.05 to 2.20; 8 to 8.4 oz., 36 inch, 2.50 to 2.60.

SINGAPORE.—The dullness reported in our last continued, and except in 8½ lbs. Grey Shirtings, which had been in good demand, transactions in Piece Goods limited. Quotations show little change, but holders generally were asking an advance, which may be established, when business is resumed after the Chinese New Year, should advices from Manchester continue favourable. Grey Shirtings, 6 lbs., very dull at $1.77½ to 1.80; 7 lbs. no demand, trifling transactions at $2 to 2.07½; 8½ lbs. in good request, sales at $2.62½ to 2.65 on the spot and "to arrive" at the higher quotation; demand has slackened at the close in consequence of the near approach of the Chinese holidays. Stocks moderate. Other Cotton Goods—Grey Yarn: 40's very quiet, small sales at $115 to 117½. 30's and 18½'s not inquired for, quoted nominally $106 and 84 respectively. Woollens: No improvement; demand very trifling for all descriptions.

EXPORTS.

TEA.

HANKOW.—No settlements during the fortnight; 1,210 chests shipped to Shanghai on native account.

SHANGHAI.—Black: The business transacted had been of a trivial nature. Supplies had been very small. Prices showed an easier market, and one or two chops had been bought at a decline of one tael per picul on last quotations. The stock showed little alteration. Settlements for the fortnight, 1,630 chests; Re-shipments on owners' account, 650 chests; Stock, 29 chops, or 9,936 packages. Quotations:

duty paid, exchange, at 5s. 11d.; freight at £2; Hohow, common to fair, Tls. 14½ to 18½; Ningchow, common, Tls. 16½ to 18½; Oopack, common, Tls. 16½. Green: A fair amount of business transacted at fully previous advanced rates, for both American and English accounts. Moyunes had been bought as high as Tls. 44 for finest chops; Fychows at Tls. 17½ for low, up to 27½ for fair common; Pingueys, in boxes, at Tls. 37½ to 40; and Shanghai-packed (mostly Japan Leaf), Tls. 24. Supplies small, and stock much reduced. Settlements for the fortnight, 22,200 chests. Stock, 60 chops, or 22,210 packages of Teenkai, Fychow and Moyune Teas.

FOOCHOW.—Teamen appearing anxious to clear off remaining stock, a slight concession in price had been followed by the settlement of greater portion of what remained, only 3,066 chests being left on the market. Purchases showed a reduction of about 5 mace on all grades above Siftings. Closing quotations: Dust and Siftings, Tls. 4½ to 7; Broken Leaf to Ordinary, Tls. 7½ to 11½; Fair to Good Common, Tls. 12½ to 15½; Flavoury, none on the market. Souchong: None on the market. Oolong: No change in rates formerly given, at which considerable settlements had been made, but at the close Teamen appeared willing to accept rather lower prices for the remaining stocks which consisted of Fair to Good cargo kinds. Scented Teas: Greater portion of remaining stock cleared off at Tls. 17½ to 18½ for Common, the few remaining Teas withdrawn from market. Flowery Pekoe: Settlements: 200 chests at Tls. 17, 438 chests at Tls. 17½ to 24½, and 376 chests at Tls. 50, leaving the market quite bare.

AMOY.—Season at this port closed.

SILK.

SHANGHAI.—The following is from Messrs. C. J. Skeggs and Co.'s Circular:—Business for the fortnight has been on a more moderate scale, the high prices asked and the very poor selection on offer preventing many from entering the market. The bulk of the trade has been done in 4½ and 5 Teatles, ranging in price from Tls. 470 to 495, on which an advance of Tls. 10 to 20 has been established. Re-reels, both Teatle and Haineen, have been in favour, but at former rates. For a small parcel of Chen Yuen Sing's Gnan Ling Kahing the exorbitant price of Tls. 510, and for a small lot of Yoo Kong Taysam Chin Cum description Tls. 440 was paid. Red Peacocks are held for Tls. 520, the No. 1 and 2 Gold Lion chop has been sold at Tls. 550 and Tls. 530 respectively, and Zung Ling No. 2 Pheasant chop Tls. 540. The whole of the purchases made are about 1s. to 2s. over London rates.

CANTON.—There had been little, if any change. For fair to medium Teatle-reels there had been some inquiry, and about 200 bales had been taken; in fine Silks nothing offering. For America only a small business in progress. Stocks estimated at 30 bales Loongkongs, 1,300 bales Teatle-reels, 30 bales Kowkongs, 400 bales Cumchucks, Lacklows, &c., and 600 bales inferior descriptions.

STRAITS PRODUCE.

SINGAPORE.—Tin again advanced, arrivals taken at $32 to 32½ per picul, the latter being closing quotation. Gambier firm at $2 80; sales, 700 tons. Black Pepper: Demand continued, price advanced to $10.75 per picul. White Pepper also in brisk demand, arrivals eagerly taken at $14½ to 14¾ per picul. Sago Flour: Sales of Sarawak at $2.50 to 2.55, and of Siak at $2.45. Pearl Sago: Large contracts for small grain at $3.05 to 3.15 per picul. Tapioca: Flake, $3.45 to 3.50; Pearl, $3.55; Flour, $3.25. Coffee: Sales of Bontyne at $13.50 to 13.80, none remaining; 400 piculs unpicked Bally held for $8½.

Epps's Cocoa is also prepared with condensed milk, and sold in tins, labelled Epps's Milky Cocoa.

THE GERMANS IN THE FAR EAST.

THE activity in the dockyards has been resumed, but as yet it is chiefly connected with a resolution to take a more active part in the suppression of piracy in the Chinese Sea, which the extensive and growing commerce of Germany with China and Japan is considered to justify. This commerce, chiefly the result of the establishment of German commercial houses in the ports of Eastern Asia, has already led to a very remarkable demand for articles of Chinese and Japanese manufacture in the Prussian cities. Japanese furniture and Chinese wearing apparel are sold in shops exclusively devoted to this trade, and even Chinese dainties, like kongquatch, are figuring in the bills of fare of the fashionable restaurants. The two flat-bottomed corvettes destined to represent Germany on the Chinese coast—viz., the Albatross and Nautilus—are to be launched at Dantzic in the course of the next few weeks.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ACTION AGAINST THE "FLYING SPUR."—In the City of London Court two suits under the Admiralty Jurisdiction Act, for damage caused to the schooner Lass o' Down and the lugboat Annie and her cargo, were heard. The defendants were owners of the China clipper ship Flying Spur. It appears that on the afternoon of the 26th January the Flying Spur was being hauled out, stern first, of Hay's Dock. The tide had such an effect upon the vessel that the tug could not keep her under command, and she drifted against some barges, and the Lass o' Down was broke adrift. The latter was then carried by the tide against the lugboat Annie, and sunk the craft, which had a cargo of coffee and cocoa. On the part of the ship it was denied that there had been any negligence. Commissioner Kerr said he thought there had been negligence in not having sufficient steam-power in undocking the ship, and awarded the schooner £68, and the Annie £75.

Prince Adalbert, cousin of the Emperor of Germany and Admiral of the Prussian fleet, has written a letter to the author of a book of travels in Asia. The Prince considers the acquisition of Saigon by Germany as most desirable. "Convinced," he says, "for a considerable period of the necessity of establishing ourselves in East Asia, I have for the last ten years exerted myself to bring about this result." Unfortunately the difficulties of concluding a peace were already so numerous that it would, he says, be imprudent to add one more; and so the project of annexing Saigon had to be abandoned, an issue which Prince Adalbert regrets "from his heart."

The Vindictive, fifty-gun frigate, 1,758 tons, which made the passage to Hong Kong in the year 1841 in sixty-eight days, and which has lately been employed as a store-ship on the West Coast of Africa, has been ordered to be sold. The Vindictive was built as a line-of-battle ship at Portsmouth in 1813, reduced to a fifty-gun frigate between 1828 and 1832, and fitted in 1861, at Cowes, as a store and depot ship, when her bottom was re-covered.

A TELEGRAM has been received at the Admiralty from Vice-Admiral Sir Henry Kellett, K.C.B., commander-in-chief on the China station, stating that the engines of the Icarus at Singapore have broken down to such an extent as to render the repairing them on the station an impossibility.

PARLIAMENT.

INDIAN HARBOURS.

(March 10th.) Sir J. ELPHINSTONE (C.) called attention to the imperfect harbour accommodation which existed in India, dwelling upon the great importance of the subject in a commercial point of view. For the last ten years, he said, there had practically been no marine department connected with the India House, and when it was taken into account that we had in the East something like 4,000 miles of coast abounding with harbours to deal with, that circumstance was, he thought, somewhat extraordinary. For a period of nine years, he might add, since the surveyors had been discharged, the hydrographical superintendence of the coast of India had been almost completely suspended, a statement which was fully corroborated by a letter which he had received from an officer whose services had been of the greatest value to that department. Proceeding southward the first point to which he wished to call the attention of the House was the want of lights on the coast of India. Taken altogether, there were only forty lights, of which very few were first-class, and there was an urgent want of first-class lights at the following fourteen points upon the Malabar coast:—1, Severndroog; 2, Rettna Geria; 3, Viziadroog; 4, Cape Ramup; 5, Pigeon Island; 6, Mangalore; 7, Mount Dilly; 8, Sacrifice Rock; 9, Calicut; 10, Cochin; 11, Quilon; 12, Cape Comorin; 13, Minicoy; 14, one of the Laccadives abreast Cannanore. The hon. baronet described in detail the points at which in his opinion harbours might be advantageously formed, docks constructed, or lights established, and said that, knowing what he did of these subjects, and having been requested by gentlemen deeply interested in the trade of India, he felt it his duty, though having no longer any personal interest in the matter, to press the subject upon the attention of the Government and of Parliament. On the Coromandel coast there would be no difficulty in clearing the harbour of Negapatam. The base of the river at that place continued very shallow, and laden boats were unable to cross it except at high water. Rice was principally imported into Ceylon from Negapatam, and there would be no difficulty in clearing away the bar and greatly improving the harbour of Negapatam; but the Government of India would not make the outlay necessary for the purpose. Cochin was the best harbour on the Malabar coast, and by a very little dredging it might be put in such a state that any ship might go there; but although the present state of things had been reported over and over again to the Supreme Government, no improvement had been made. There was a breach in the coast which, if not filled up, would increase, and the safety of the harbour of Cochin be endangered. As they sent an eminent engineer, Mr. Robertson, to India for the purpose of surveying these harbours, he should be ordered to survey every harbour in India and report on each seriatim, without waiting to complete the work, so that measures might at once be taken for this improvement piecemeal. Harbour works were the first efforts made by civilisation for a country, and he did not see why the Government of India should not place themselves in communication with the Government of this country with a view to avail themselves of such means as were intended to be applied to improve the harbour of Galle—he meant a loan from the Imperial Government, to be paid off in thirty years. He was sure that as the result of these measures trade would be increased, and the shipping of India would always be ready to pay moderate dues for increased safety, light, and comfort in making their voyages.

Mr. GRANT DUFF (Under-Secretary for India), after referring to various projects which had been brought before the Indian Government with respect to the water way between the island of Ceylon and the mainland of India, said he was not sorry that the hon. baronet opposite had thought fit to call attention to the defective harbour accommodation of India. The Government of India most fully admitted the existence of the want, and if those who took it to task did not quite do justice to its good intentions and good acts, they nevertheless really strengthened its hands. He was assured by competent persons that, especially on the western side of India, there were not a few places where very fair harbours, and two or three where admirable harbours might be made. He, however, drew attention to the fact that the very best sites for harbours in Western India—Poshetra, Seralia, Marmagao—were all, by an unfortunate accident, not in British territory, the first belonging to a feudatory of the Guicowar; the second to another native prince, the Jam of Nowa Nugga; and the third to the Portuguese. He had no doubt the time would come when we should have several very good harbours on the western coast of India, even in British territory. He was told, for example, that an excellent harbour of refuge might be made behind the Vingorla Rocks. But the hon. baronet knew something of the difficulty of getting harbours of refuge made even in England. He had sat with him on a committee thirteen years ago, under the presidency of Mr. James Wilson, to see whether harbours of refuge could not be provided along the British coasts, at Peterhead and elsewhere, but up to this day it had been found wholly impossible to get the harbours made, because no one could show how the money was to be provided. It was very far from true that the Government of India altogether neglected the harbours of India. Kurrachee had cost first and last nearly £400,000, and would cost much more. Carwar had cost more than £70,000, and a good deal had been spent at Cochin, in the Hooghly, and elsewhere. Then, as to lights; no doubt the coast of India was indifferently lighted. There was a light about every seventy miles, from the Indus round to the South of Burmah, but there should be a light every fifty miles. He instanced Dwarka Point, Viziadroog, Deria Bahadur Ghur in our own territory, and Jinjeera and Enciam Island in non-British territory, as most proper places for lights. The establishing of lights at all these places and at many others, however, was a mere question of time and opportunity, and above all of the relative urgency of the demands upon the purse of the Government.

THE debate on China in the House of Lords, noticed in our last, is fixed for the 24th inst.

HARBOURS IN INDIA AND CEYLON.

If anything can rouse the enterprise of our friends in Ceylon it will be the perusal of the debate on the defective harbours of India, which we give in another column, for it is evident that now or never is their opportunity. Sir JAMES ELPHINSTONE said that the Government intends to provide the funds for the improvement of the harbour at Galle by a loan payable in thirty years, but this scheme our readers well know has broken down, and, as we showed in a late issue, the Home Government have no other resource than to recommend the harbour of Trincomalee for the mail service. It is certain, however, that the commercial interests of the East require that Galle should take precedence of the long list of less important places in India which were enumerated by Sir JAMES ELPHINSTONE and Mr. GRANT DUFF as requiring improvement, including those on which so much of the public money has already been expended without any likelihood of a return. On Kurrachee harbour alone £400,000 has already been expended, and the only result is that the entrance is considerably more dangerous than it was before, and it seems very doubtful whether it would be better to sink another half-million on the "improvements" that have been commenced, or to blow them up altogether and try another plan. At any rate, there is no doubt whatever of the feasibility of the plan proposed for Galle, where, indeed, the difficulties are not so great as at Kurrachee. Moreover, the demand for the expenditure of public money on Kurrachee unfortunately cannot be sustained by the requirements of the port. The promise of prosperity which it gave ten or fifteen years ago has been miserably disappointed. Ten years ago there were sometimes twenty ships there; five years later there were sometimes not even two. We hope Kurrachee may recover itself; but when it does there will be plenty of time to make the required expenditure for the completion of the works there, which at present looks as if it would be throwing good money after bad. Then, again, Calcutta was referred to, and attention was drawn to the large sums required for the improvement of the Hooghly. If any more money is laid out on this attempt, it will be mere waste, and, what is more, it is not required. Nothing in the world can save the Hooghly, or make Calcutta accessible to vessels drawing more than twenty-two feet. It is now admitted that it was a mistake to make Calcutta a port at all, and that the river Mutlah, twenty-eight miles from the Hooghly, must supersede it in a few years. When the railway was built to connect the two rivers—or rather to connect the Mutlah with Calcutta, the new port was called Port Canning, after the then Governor-General, who described it as the Birkenhead of Calcutta. We merely mention these facts in order to show our readers how much stronger are the claims of Galle than those of two other places which have received immeasurably more attention because their residents have been more pressing in their demands. If Ceylon were true to itself the proposed loan mentioned by Sir JAMES ELPHINSTONE would be secured without delay, but rival interests stop the way.

THE JAPANESE AT WASHINGTON.

THE New York papers report the presentation of the Japanese Prince and his suite at the White House, on the 2nd inst., by Secretary FISH. There were present, besides the PRESIDENT and Secretary FISH, Mrs. GRANT, Miss NELLIE GRANT, Mrs. FISH, HAMILTON FISH, junr., BANCROFT DAVIS, Mrs. DAVIS, and others. They were introduced to Secretary FISH by Mr. BROOKS, the Japanese Consul at San Francisco, and by the SECRETARY to the PRESIDENT, and were subsequently introduced to the assembled company when the introduction to the PRESIDENT had taken place. The PRINCE said:—

Mr. President: This audience has been sought that I might personally express to you my admiration of and interest in the many wonderful works of American enterprise, and I assure you that these expressions are not empty words but the hearty sentiments of our people. Intercourse between our respective countries has been regularly established through a monthly line of American steamships of surpassing excellence, whose trips, in connection with the Great Pacific Railway, affords us a rapid and agreeable route to Europe, with every modern luxury of speed and convenience across your continent. Our travellers and students, like myself, on their way abroad will hereafter become better acquainted with your country and people. We shall constantly encourage intercourse and aim to annually increase more intimate and important relations. We sincerely hope for your kind co-operation and assistance, and shall welcome any augmentation of present mail and travelling facilities, to more closely unite our interests. The Government of Japan is well aware that education is the basis of all progress, and therefore sends her young men to receive a scientific education in America and Europe, hoping thereby to fitly prepare them to take a wise and discriminating part hereafter in the affairs of our Government. With this view my brother, Quache Nomia, was last year sent to this country under the travelling name of Adzumah Takahias, and I am now on my way to Prussia for a like purpose. In leaving my brother in America I feel confident of a kind treatment and certain of your friendly assistance should our Chargé d'Affaires, Ingoi Aunoni Mari request it. Our Government has commissioned a diplomatic resident to this country to assure you, that it is earnestly seeking for permanent progress in all that is great and good, as rapidly as it can acquire these cherished ends, and it desires particularly to cement more closely the already friendly relations and interests existing between our respective people.

The PRESIDENT replied:—

It gives me much pleasure to receive you in this friendly and unofficial way, and to learn from your lips the amicable feelings of the people of Japan towards the United States. The people of this country reciprocate your wish that the present means of intercourse between the two nations, great and comfortable as you describe them to be, may be increased. The United States have seen with pride the young men of Japan coming here to receive scientific education. I shall take great pleasure in contributing to make their residence in this country agreeable and profitable to them, sharing with you the opinion that education is the basis of progress, and the hope and belief that by acquiring it in the United States they will help to cement and extend the friendly relations which now happily exist between the two countries.

On the same day the newly-appointed Chargé d'Affaires, MORI, presented his credentials to the Secretary of State, Mr. FISH, and the following is a translation of his address:—

His Imperial Majesty the Tenno of Japan, desiring to bring his people into more immediate connection with those of the United States of America, and thereby cement and increase a warmer friendship and more active intercourse, has appointed me as his Chargé d'Affaires, to reside permanently in this city. In accordance with his Majesty's command, I hand you a letter accrediting me as his first diplomatic resident to the United States of America, and in requesting permission to exercise my duties in this country, I assure you of my desire, while obeying my Sovereign, to promote at all times, as far as in my power, the warmest friendship between our respective Governments and peoples.

The Secretary of State replied:—

The Government of the United States shares with his Imperial Majesty the desire that the people of the two countries should be brought into a more intimate connection. It has learned with great satisfaction of your appointment as Chargé d'Affaires to reside permanently in Washington. In receiving you in that capacity I take pleasure in assuring you that your friendly wishes will meet with a cordial response from the President and from the Government of the United States.

The PRINCE and suite arrived at Liverpool on the 15th, and are now in London, and will be waited on by Baron von SIEBOLD.

WE learn that the scheme for the railway between the town of Singapore and the new harbour, which we lately noticed as being likely to be brought forward under the auspices of the directors of the P. and O. Company and others, has been postponed, pending reference to Singapore, it being alleged that the Government has promised a concession for a section of the line to the Tanjong Pagar Company. We understand that the Secretary of State has agreed to defer any decision on the subject until the arrival of the Governor, Sir HARRY ORD, who is expected home shortly. The prolonged agitation of rival schemes is really intolerable, and the permanent interests of Singapore are meanwhile suffering.

THE FRENCH AND ENGLISH SILK TRADE.

THE cessation of the Franco-Prussian war invites consideration to its past and present influence on the Silk trade. With the busy looms of Lyons, Orleans, and St. Etienne arrested, with tens of thousands of French silk-growers, throwsters, spinners, designers, weavers, drawn off to the wars, and the consequent diversion to our own ports of much of the raw material that would otherwise have been consigned to France, the advantages apparently thrown in the way of British manufacturers were very considerable. These, however, were moderated by the enormous importation of French silk goods into this country at the outbreak of hostilities, coincident with an advance in the price of our home stock of raw silk, and a rise in price on the part of Chinese dealers; a rise stimulated by a steady demand from America, especially for fine and clean descriptions. The estimates, too, of the next European crop were complicated by uncertainty as to the eventual area of the war, so that what had to be considered was not merely the amount of the crop but its availability. The Chinese, as we have seen, were shrewd enough to take advantage of this state of things, appropriating profits that would otherwise have served to stimulate production and to enlarge our markets. The large stocks of French silks on hand, a great proportion of which had been sold to English purchasers at a sacrifice, were priced proportionately low, and so aided to retard somewhat the advance on English silks. Until armies were actually required to be improvised it could not have been foreseen that the whole industrial organisation of Southern France would be shaken to its centre, and that the financial resources of the country, present and prospective, would be so severely taxed. As to foreign markets, exporters had to encounter at almost every point depressing influences, and the United States, a large proportion of whose silk imports from France had been in made-up goods, failed to favour our merchants with orders corresponding to the deficiency, although that deficiency was so much felt that a body of New York capitalists have since combined in a scheme for the establishment on a large scale of silk factories in that State to supply the specialities of the American market. Still, the Macclesfield manufacturers have not failed to display increased energy and vigour; the progressive rate of English silk production has latterly increased in an important ratio, and such is the present exhaustion of France, such the curtailment of mercantile credit and the disturbance alike of industrial organisation and French home and foreign trade, that the French Macclesfield manufacturers are in a position to hold their vantage ground. We by no means seek to triumph over the disasters of our neighbours, but as circumstances arise which give our manufacturers unexpected advantages, they would not be true to themselves if they failed to put these to full account.

The counterpart to the present condition of affairs in France, so far as affecting the silk trade, is only to be found in the results of the Revolution of 1790. The freeing of restrictions on the various branches of industry told on all, with the exception of that of silk. No mandate could suddenly revive a trade so largely dependent on exterior commerce, two-thirds of the raw material having been drawn from abroad; and it languished for years, until revived by the strong hand of NAPOLEON. It is not to be assumed that France will cease to maintain her wonted pre-eminence for taste and beauty in the brocades of Tours, the light silks of the Isère and the Ain, the coloured silks of Nantua, in the ribbons of St. Etienne, or in the great variety of fancy silks of the richest quality, in exquisite taste, of the choicest hues and designs that come from the Lyonnese looms. Although Lyons has unfortunately been too frequently exposed to fierce local disturbances, and has shared in the misfortunes which attend national revolutions, her industry has never degenerated, but the decline in the home demand of France for the higher classes of silks—the production of which, in the distribution of labour, is confined to the towns—must deprive them for a time of the resources of the country weavers, almost wholly engaged on the commoner descriptions; whilst the home French demand for these will proportionately fall off. Our own market will, however, be more fully than ever supplied with the best class of French silks, and for the share of business obtained by the Macclesfield manufacturers much will depend on the efforts they are now putting forth. As we have indicated, the effect of the war in curtailing monetary facilities will tell for a long period to come on the French silk industry, and in the markets for raw silk the advantage must continue for the present with the English buyer. A national industry and trade once interfered with will continue to be injuriously affected long after the original cause of disturbance has subsided. We consider that the Macclesfield silk manufacturers in the classes of goods to which they specially devote themselves have a golden opportunity offered them, and we may confidently anticipate, on a survey of the influences generated by the war, that their tendency will be to stimulate permanently British productions.

IN our last issue we noticed the seizure of two vessels under the British flag. The French Admiral, we understand, alleged that they were in reality German vessels, and the transfer a mere expedient. Be this true or not, the seizure was unwarrantable, the vessels having proper papers to entitle them to the British flag, and the attention of Parliament will be called to the subject.

THE arrangements in progress between Mr. POLLARD, as representative of the Hong Kong scheme, for connecting that place, Saigon, and Manila with Singapore, and the China Submarine Company have not yet been completed.

THE changes in the firm of ALT and Co., Japan, alluded to in our last, will be found in full in our advertising columns.

BRITISH POLICY IN CHINA.

The main facts of the affair at Yangchow will be best described in the words of Mr. Consul Medhurst's despatch to the Minister at Peking, August 27, 1868:—

"A mob, headed by the literati, attacked and set on fire the premises in which the missionary families resided; the onslaught was sudden and severe—the children and ladies had to be thrown out of the windows to save their lives; one gentleman had his eye knocked out, and the whole party have been more or less injured."

And after investigation the Consul sums up the following significant inferences from the accounts given:—

- 1st. That the attack was entirely unprovoked.
- 2nd. That it was instigated by the literati and gentry generally.
- 3rd. That the outrage was distinctly premeditated and occupied time in being put into execution.
- 4th. That the local authorities took no pains whatever to prevent or put down the excitement, notwithstanding that they were warned of the possible emeute, and repeatedly and courteously appealed to for protection.
- 5th. That when the rage of the mob had been permitted to take its course, and after protection had been tardily accorded, they actually threatened the victims to leave them to their fate unless they recorded it as their opinion that the attack partook of the nature of a simple disturbance.
- 6th. That since the affair took place the authorities have done nothing towards expressing their disapprobation of the conduct of the ringleaders.

The appeals of the Consuls for redress and punishment having been made in vain, first to the local magistrates, and then to the Provincial Viceroy, the matter, by the instructions of Sir R. Alcock, who evidently disbelieved in the power and good-will of the Peking Government to control its subordinates, was placed in the hands of Admiral Sir H. Keppel. Under the influence of a powerful naval demonstration at Nanking, the Mandarins gave way, and complied with the demands made upon them. Lord Stanley approved of the proceedings of the Consul so far as they were known to him, but Lord Clarendon, who succeeded him at the Foreign-office, disapproved of the employment of coercive measures, and rebuked both the Minister at Peking and Mr. Medhurst for having resorted to them.

In his despatch of Jan. 14, 1869, Lord Clarendon writes:—"I consider Mr. Medhurst to have acted rightly in proceeding at once to the scene of outrage. I will not criticise his taking up with him a considerable armed force under the explanation to the local authorities that it was required for his protection on the road, and that his intentions were amicable; the subsequent stage through which the affair passed I cannot look upon as equally satisfactory." He proceeds to say that the affair should have been left for settlement by the central authority; with what effect we are now in a position to judge, with the knowledge we have of the proceedings of the Peking Government after the Tientsin massacre.

The trouble at Taiwan in Formosa was of a nature similar to that at Yangchow, and was characterised by outrages upon the persons and property of British subjects—missionaries and merchants, who were peaceably following their lawful pursuits—implication of the Mandarins in the crimes, and complete failure on the part of the higher authorities to grant redress. While the Minister at Peking was contemplating the demonstration of a naval force to aid his diplomacy with the local officials (whom he described to be in such a state of barbarism, "that they had no scruple in placing an ambuscade of armed men to intercept and kill a Consul and naval officer proceeding to the magistrate's residence on a peaceful mission"), the acting Consul, with an energy which was perhaps rash, but under the circumstances not wholly inexcusable, had brought the question to an issue and to a settlement, with the assistance of a single gunboat. Unfortunately a collision occurred between the crew of the gunboat and some Chinese soldiers, and several of the latter were killed. But it cannot be denied that the native authorities brought the catastrophe on themselves, and a simple censure upon Mr. Gibson for his excess of zeal would seem to have suited the requirements of the case. Lord Clarendon, however, not only removed Mr. Gibson from his position as acting Consul, but directed that he should not be employed in the service for the future, otherwise than in a subordinate capacity. Lord Clarendon, moreover, without a word to say against the acts of the Chinese officials who had laid ambushes for British officers, and offered rewards for the heads of British merchants, instructed Sir R. Alcock, in a despatch published in China, to disavow and apologise for the acts of violence on the part of the Consul so "wantonly undertaken."

It is needless to enter into the particulars of the affairs at Foochow and Swatow. In both coercive measures were adopted with complete success, and in both the proceeding of the consular and naval authorities were disapproved by the Foreign-office. But the British Government went further. In a letter to Mr. Burlingame (December 28, 1868), Lord Clarendon assures the Chinese Government that no such coercive measures will in future be allowed, and in a despatch to Sir R. Alcock on the same subject (Jan. 28, 1869), made public in China, he details the instructions which have been sent to British naval officers in the China waters, expressly limiting their authority to land forces, to cases of "sudden emergency and of immediate danger to lives and property," and even "in these cases only when the alternative of receiving the persons in danger on board ship was not available."

The author concludes with the following explanation of the basis of the revised Treaty which is now required:—

Instead of assuming that foreign intercourse with China has been an evil which requires to be checked, let us recognise that it has been fruitful of almost unmixed good, and endeavour to extend it. The principle of such extension to be, so long as extra-territorial jurisdiction over foreigners is reserved, the obligation of the Chinese Government to throw open, subject to special exceptions, any port or place on the coast, or in the interior, to which the British Government will undertake to appoint an official consular authority with adequate power.

Recognising the pressing want of China and of her foreign trade, to be improved means of communication and conveyance throughout the empire, the Chinese Government should be urged to commit itself to the introduction of a system of railways, if only on a tentative plan.

Illegal and irregular taxation on foreign goods in transitu should be checked by the extension of the system of transit passes on merchandise the subject of foreign trade—now existing in favour of foreigners alone—to native owners, as suggested by the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce.

Admission of the representatives of foreign Powers at Peking, to audience with the Emperor, should be required. If necessary, to the efficiency of the native administration, or to enable the Government to carry forward public works, the tariff of duties on foreign trade, the incidence of which is not heavy, might be revised, under solid guarantees, in favour of the Chinese.

Let revision be firmly declined, excepting on some such broad basis as the foregoing, and let the proposals of the British Government be supported with tact and determination by a Minister of ability, who will avail himself of all the authority and influence which circumstances are sure to place at his disposal—and success would not be doubtful.

THE OPIUM TRADE.

To the Honourable the Commons of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the Directors of the London Missionary Society.

Humbly sheweth:—

1. That on various occasions in recent years religious and benevolent men in England have offered strong objections to the position occupied by the Government of India in reference to the opium traffic: and your petitioners are anxious earnestly to press upon the attention of your Honourable House the importance of inaugurating great changes in that position.

2. That making due allowance for certain benefits which, under competent medical advice, may be derived from the use of opium, it must yet be acknowledged that great evils of many kinds spring from the habit of opium smoking so prevalent in China; and that for a long period the Chinese Government, by its edicts and other administrative measures, has endeavoured, with laudable anxiety, to repress the practice as injurious to its subjects.

3. That under these circumstances, it is a matter of deep regret to your petitioners that great English houses and mercantile firms connected with India should engage in the opium trade, and push it so earnestly simply for purposes of gain. But your petitioners are aware that such trade is free, and must be left to the judgment and conscience of those who engage in it.

4. That for a long series of years the Government of India has been the largest producer of opium in the world, and has reserved to itself the supply of the greatest market in which opium is sold. It has annually regulated the breadth of the opium cultivation by the demands of the China market. And, with a view to secure an increased revenue, it has stimulated the trade in various ways, until it has reached its present enormous extent; and until the Indian Exchequer annually receives from the opium duty an amount that has varied in recent years from five to eight millions sterling.

5. That under such circumstances, the Chinese Government and people not only observe the opium traffic pressed upon the ports and coasts of the Empire by foreign merchants, but they contemplate the spectacle of a neighbouring Government encouraging, stimulating, and personally conducting the growth of opium, with a view to raise a large proportion of its revenue by a system which is specially obnoxious to the laws and customs of the nation among whom it knows it will be consumed. Such a proceeding would be a scandal under any circumstances; towards any European Government it would be simply intolerable, but it is peculiarly a scandal when the Government so acting professes to be guided by the spirit and the dictates, not of a heathen religion, but of the purest religion which the world has known.

6. That your petitioners are aware that the system which they deem so objectionable has grown up with years, and has attained such dimensions as to affect, in a very important degree, the revenue system of India. Nevertheless, like other great evils, they believe that it can be successfully dealt with by men of wisdom and courage; can be settled by sound principles; and that a settlement which is based upon principles of morality can only be productive of national good.

7. That your petitioners would remind your Honourable House that many able officers of the Indian Government, including Lord Lawrence, have recommended that the Government of India should impose an export duty on all the opium sent abroad, as it now imposes such a duty on the Malwa opium shipped from the harbour of Bombay. It is not for your petitioners to suggest how a revenue from opium should be raised; they cannot, however, withhold the expression of their deep conviction that it is necessary and right for the Government of India to give up altogether the production of opium; to leave its cultivation, manufacture, and sale, under proper regulations, in the hands of private persons; and, in levying a tax upon such an article as opium, rather to consider how the moral and social evils with which it is associated can be restricted within the narrowest possible limits, than calculate the amount of profit which may be derived from it as a source of Imperial revenue.

8. That your petitioners consider that the present time is peculiarly suitable for the inauguration of such a change. Under the provisions of the new Convention, the Chinese Government has increased the import duty on opium, thus both recognising the existence of a traffic which it cannot suppress and endeavouring in a greater measure than before to check it. Why should not the Government of India also assume towards the whole question the attitude which befits a Christian Government in dealing with those great social evils which only an elevated tone of public opinion can finally and radically cure?

9. That your petitioners cannot but point out to your Honourable House that the position so long held by the Government of India in relation to the Government and people of China implies, and even constitutes, a policy which is in direct opposition to that which the English Government, through its Foreign Secretary, has pressed with great earnestness in its dealings with China during the past two years. For, while the English Government has been striving to strengthen and build up the Imperial Government in China, the incessant pressure of the opium traffic in foreign hands tends ever to break it down.

Therefore, your petitioners humbly pray that your Honourable House will be graciously pleased, at an early period, to take such steps as may be deemed advisable, with a view to such a readjustment of the relations of the Indian Government to the opium traffic as may tend to the entire withdrawal by that Government from the cultivation and sale of opium within the English provinces of India, and thus bring to an end the system of raising a revenue from opium which has hitherto been followed in the Presidency of Bengal.

HOLLAND.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

ROTTERDAM, March 15.

In yesterday's sitting of the Second Chamber a debate was opened upon the report of the commission, which had to examine the several documents regarding the reorganisation in the Preanger Regencies, which was, as you will remember, declared in force without being approved of by the Parliament. The conclusion of the commission was that the Chamber should declare its cognizance of the documents. Mr. Niersstrasz did not at all agree with this conclusion; according to his ideas the commission ought to have declared its disapproval of the action of the former Minister on this matter, or of that of the Governor-General. Mr. van de Putte, president of the commission, suggested that the Chamber was not sufficiently informed to decide the question; the members ought to know in the first place how the Governor-General justified himself; it was highly unparliamentary to criticize an ex-Minister. The Minister of the Colonial Department declared that he had forwarded instructions to Java to prevent henceforth measures being introduced without being approved of by both Chambers. As to the Preanger question, the only fault of Mr. de Waal had been that he had placed too much confidence in Mr. Myer. Messrs. Iusinger and Hasselman were of opinion that the Chamber in this matter was not treated with proper deference, and the latter said that future proceedings of this kind between Parliament and the Administration in Java could only be prevented by the Chamber declining to approve the reorganisation scheme. The report of the committee was at last carried by 57 against 5 votes, and the Chamber proceeded at once with the discussions on the East India Budget for 1871. Notwithstanding that some members tried to introduce a general discussion of Java politics, the President succeeded in cutting short the debate. Of course, several complaints were made from the Opposition benches, especially the fact that the Minister had not asked, as his predecessor did, a credit of £50,000 for the reorganisation of the general management of the outside possessions which was severely criticised. Some members urged the necessity of immediately applying the royal decree regulating the application of the agrarian law. The Minister of the Colonial Department stated that he had ordered the Governor-General to make a draft of a decree for that purpose, but that he had not yet received it. The Minister further stated, in order to refute the financial pessimism of Mr. van Nispen, that he should maintain the coffee culture system as long as there existed no means to replace the revenues of that culture. To-day the plan of reorganisation of the Preanger Regencies is being discussed, but the debate is not yet ended. I, however, hope that before you go to press I shall be able to telegraph that the Second Chamber has decided that our rule is no longer to be "might above right"—in other words, that the reorganisation plan has been approved of. I have no doubt that it will be carried, notwithstanding our incorrigible Tories oppose it most earnestly. One of them, a certain Mr. Bergman, an obscure clerical, termed the endeavours of the Liberals to give the Javanese a just and equitable rule "love for apes" (apenliefde)!

Nearly all the Chambers of Commerce have now answered the letter of the Minister of the Colonial Department, stating their opinions upon his project for the revision of the East India tariff. They nearly all agree that although Free-trade principles should be applied at some future time, our cotton industry is not yet sufficiently developed to abolish Protection at once. The general wish of the Chambers is that the differential duties—by which Manchester goods are taxed higher than Dutch—should be abolished gradually. The Liberal papers, on the contrary, demonstrate that the Minister must not listen to this advice, given by parties interested in the matter, and urge him to introduce his Liberal project. And, indeed, it is quite nonsensical to make the Javanese pay higher for their cottons in order that some of our manufacturers may grow rich. The rule for general welfare prescribes low and uniform duties; our system of levying differential duties has been already maintained too long.

The man-of-war Java has arrived safely from Batavia at Texel. The Noach II. has been chartered to convey troops from here to Java. Much anxiety is felt here about the fate of the Earl Russell, bound from Batavia to Holland with a valuable cargo of 15,342 piculs sugar, 2,997 piculs rice, 172 cases arrack, 499 piculs rattans, and 158 piculs gum damar. The general fear is that this vessel is lost, with all hands.

A report, spread by some English papers, that the Bank of Holland had lowered its rate of discount by one-half per cent. is quite unfounded. For some days the Bourse has been more animated, and in most commercial departments a good business is doing.

The small-pox is still spreading. The average number of victims in this town has reached 112 weekly.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

Not much alteration is to be reported of our Produce Market, which, upon the whole, exhibits less activity than had been generally anticipated after the conclusion of peace. Coffee and sugar are very quiet, and prices of the former article are barely supported. The comparatively small quantity of Sugar announced by the Trading Company for their March sale contributes to prevent prices giving way, but the demand for refined for future delivery remains dormant, which causes our home refiners to suspend their purchases of raw for the present, so that there is scarcely anything doing. The Trading Company's Coffee sale for this month is to take place next week, in anticipation of which the demand will probably remain quiet. Nutmegs have been in active request for export at advanced rates, but the late decline in tin and cotton has made further progress, without any return of confidence on the part of buyers being perceptible at the present reduced rates. Most other leading articles remain in a healthy position.

COFFEE.—A quiet tone continues to prevail in the market, and prices are barely supported. Many numbers of the late trading Company's February public sale continued to be offered at the sale's prices. Transactions have been closed of the following shipments of private importation, viz.:—150 bags Java, ex Philips van Marnix, at 37½c. to 40c.; 300 bags do., ex County of Berwick, at 33½c. to 36½c.; 438 bags Macassar, ex Gerardina Wilhelmina, at 33½c. to 35c. The March sale of the Netherlands Trading Company will take place here on the 22nd inst., and will comprise 102,400 bags Java, Menado, Padang and Macassar.

COTTON remains dull, under the influence of lower quotations wired from America, and the continuance of heavy receipts at the shipping ports. Several parcels of North American afloat changed hands at a further decline of 1½c. to 2c., in which proportion some parcels on the spot have also been disposed of. Some business has likewise been doing in East India for February-March shipment, from Bombay, at a reduction at 1c. to 2c.

SUGAR.—The trade in raw and refined runs quietly, but prices remain unaltered. A small business only has been doing in raw at rather firmer rates, and refined has only been in request for early delivery. The Trading Company's first public sale of Sugar for this season is to take place at Amsterdam on the 29th inst., comprising about 44,000 baskets Java, stored in our different ports. The directors of the Netherlands Trading Company have abolished the allowances heretofore granted of 1 per cent. good weight and 1 per cent. discount, whilst, instead of allowing 12 per cent. for tare of the baskets, only 8 per cent. will be deducted, and for hogheads and mats in the same proportion. This gives an alteration in the price of about f.2½ per 100 kilo.

TEA.—I have to report the arrival for our market of the Margaret Falconer, from Foochow, with a cargo composed as follows:—1670/4, 4852/12 chests Congou, 334/4, 857/12 chests Souchong, 346/4 chests Pekoe. The market is very firm.

SPICES.—A brisk demand has prevailed of late for Nutmegs for export, mainly for the United States, and prices, which consequently advanced, still hold a further upward tendency. Considering the decrease of the production in the Dutch colonies, in consequence of the low prices ruling a few years back, and the increasing consumption in the United States since the termination of the war, whilst shipments to Australia are also augmenting, since the means of conveyance to that country have materially improved, the prospects augur in favour of a gradual further advance, the more so as the stock on warrants has much decreased of late. No. 1's are quoted 135c. to 137c.; No. 2's, 127c. to 128c.; No. 3's, 107c. to 108c.; No. 4's, 68c. to 70c.

RICE.—Hardly any change is to be reported in the market, but prices are in general less firm. Sales have been closed by secret tender of 9,763 bags white Java, ex Insulinde, at a price not named.

TIN.—A dull tone continues to prevail, and prices have further declined. Banca sold for short prompt at f.76½ to f.76¾, and for delivery, ex the public sale on the 30th inst., at f.74½ to f.75½.

HIDES.—Sales have been closed by secret tender of the following parcels of private importation, viz.:—829 Sourabaya and 74 Probolinggo Cows, ex Helena Henrietta; 263 Padang Buffaloes, ex Padang Packet; 210 Batavia Buffaloes, ex Zeenimph; 93 do. do., ex Fop Smit; 150 Sourabaya Cows, ex Louise; 42 do., ex Zeenimph; 500 Calcutta Kips, ex Hartfeld. The business done in our market since my last includes 225 Batavia Buffaloes, ex Concurrent; 1,300 do. do., ex Oceana; 2,000 Sourabaya Cows, ex Nieuw Waterweg II.

JAVA INDIGO.—The sales closed sum up only 25 chests, at unaltered rates.

ARRACK.—The following parcels have been disposed of, viz.: 30 casks Batavia, ex Jedo; 100 casks Sourabaya, ex Louise; 88 casks Sourabaya, ex Ben Lomond, at various prices.

COCOA-NUT OIL.—Prime Ceylon is held at f.26½.

SHIPPING.

ARRIVALS.—March 8, at Texel, from Batavia, A.M.E.; 9, at Brouwershaven, from Batavia, Cornelis Gips; 11, at Texel, from Tjilatjap, Sonrabaya Packet; 11, at Brouwershaven, from Foo-chow-Foo, Margareth Falconer; 12, at Texel, from Batavia, H.M. str. Java.

PASSENGERS INWARD.—From Java, per Sourabaya Packet, Mr. Kruseman.

Monetary and Commercial.

In the "Legal Intelligence" in our last issue an important Bankruptcy case came before the acting Chief Judge on appeal, involving a claim by the Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London and China, upon the estate of the bankrupt, W. F. Howe. By the decision it is now laid down that the holder of an unpaid bill collaterally secured by shipping documents has a right to rank for dividend upon the acceptor's estate for the full amount of the acceptance, irrespective of the value of the security, until he has received from both sources 20s. in the pound.

Tenders for £400,000 in bills on India have been received at the Bank of England, and the amounts allotted were—to Calcutta, £298,000; to Bombay, £100,000; and to Madras, £2,000. The minimum price was fixed as before at 1s. 10½d. on all the Presidencies, and tenders on Calcutta and Madras at 1s. 10½d. will receive about 12 per cent.; on Bombay, at 1s. 10½d., about 97 per cent., and those above in full. These results show no alteration in the demand for means of remittance to the East.

The amount of bullion by the P. and O. Company's steamer Nubia, from Southampton, on the 18th inst., was, in gold, to Batavia, £4,200; in silver, to Singapore, £53,770; to Hong Kong, £4,900; to Foochow, £2,450; to Shanghai, £23,395; total in gold, £4,200; in silver, £84,515; in gold and silver to Malta, £50,000.

Subjoined is an account of the quantities of the principal articles of imported merchandise (subject to Customs' duties) remaining in the bonded warehouses of the United Kingdom on Feb. 28, 1871, compared with the quantities in warehouse on Feb. 23, 1869 and 1870:—

Coffee (lbs.)	42,250,372	50,974,069	63,450,730

Although it has been denied that the Suez Canal is likely to pass into the hands of English capitalists, we have reason to believe that negotiations will shortly be entered into with a view to its transfer. The Duke of Sutherland, Lord Stafford, Mr. Pender and others during the time they have been in the vicinity have been up to Cairo, and paid a visit to the Viceroy. The officers of the Duke's yacht, while passing through the canal, were engaged in taking soundings.

At a meeting of the creditors of Messrs. J. and W. Jeffery and Co., of Liverpool, who recently failed, the unsecured liabilities were roughly estimated by Messrs. Honey, Humphrys, Baggs, and Co., the accountants, at £304,828, and the assets at £155,088. It was resolved that the proceedings in bankruptcy shall be continued, and that the business shall be carried on by two trustees, under the supervision of a committee of five creditors.

Messrs. W. S. Lorrain and Gillespie, of Glasgow, announce that Mr. James William Gillespie, son-in-law of the late senior partner has been admitted into the Glasgow, Penang, and Batavia firms.

The Russian Steam Navigation Company are now despatching from Odessa the Tchikhatchoff, of 2,000 tons, for Shanghai and Hankow, calling at intermediate ports. The statement of her cargo will appear in our next. The company expect her to return to Odessa with the new Season's tea, to be forwarded on to the fair at Nijni Novgorod, which has been hitherto supplied by overland caravan from China, and generally reputed to turn out in better condition than the sea-borne tea.

BULLION AND SPECIE.

GOLD.—There has been a small purchase of gold coin by the Bank, but the demand for bars, although not active enough to cause withdrawals from that establishment, is yet sufficiently so to absorb all arrivals.

SILVER.—We have had further large arrivals from India and New York during the week, amounting to about £290,000. The demand has not been very active, and the market may be considered as fractionally lower; the quotation is 5s. 0½d.

MEXICAN DOLLARS.—The Wisconsin has brought about £446,000 from New York, and further amounts will follow. There is a demand for China at present for the old coinage at 58½d. per oz. The new issue, however, will only be taken for refining purposes, at 58½d. The outgoing P. and O. steamer of the 19th inst. will take a rather large amount of this coin for China and the Straits.

IMPORTS FROM THE STRAITS, JAVA, CHINA, AND ALL PARTS EAST OF INDIA.

ARTICLES OF IMPORT.

TEA.

The market is without change of importance, private purchases having been made to fair extent at the range of prices quoted in our last. There have been no public sales of China.

In Teas, ex Borealis, there has been a brisk business done during the past two days, at rather better rates for common kinds. Everything but common for shipping has been dull of sale.

Duty paid on Tea in London for the week	lbs.
ending March 11	1,679,699
Export to ditto	1,175,120
Coastwise	679,989
Ditto for immediate export	115,903
Total	3,650,711

SILK.

The market has been extremely quiet throughout the week, hardly any transactions worth recording having taken place; prices are unaltered, as importers evince no disposition to press sales, but wait the Continental demand, which it is believed will set in directly communication is free for goods traffic between London and Lyons and the other manufacturing towns in the south of France. Deliveries this month are fairly good; they are, from 1st to 16th inst.:—

China (bales)	1,494	2,618
Canton	526	399

COFFEE.

The market continues very inactive, and of small quantities of Plantation Ceylon offered at the public sales a portion only has been quitted at about the previously ruling rates, viz. triage 50s. to 51s., small 56s. 6d. to 59s. 6d., middling colour 66s. 6d., good bold 76s. 6d. to 79s. 6d., pea-berry 81s. to 82s. 6d.; no business has been done in Native on the spot, but for arrival 240 tons Native Ceylon are reported sold at about 56s. guaranteed; privately about 200 casks Plantation Ceylon have been sold, also for arrival 1,500 bags Native Ceylon prices not reported; an offer at auction of 223 bags Singapore picked Bally was bought in at 57s., but has since sold at 55s.

SUGAR.

The tone of the market continues quiet; the demand is still confined chiefly to good refining qualities, for which firmer rates have been paid; soft and low kinds are slow of sale, and exhibit a declining tendency, low brown being 6d. lower than last week. There are no sales of East India to report; at auction 853 baskets 11 bags soft to fine strong white Java from Singapore (duty 5s. 8d.) were bought in at 37s. to 38s.

COCOA-NUT OIL.—At the public sales a large quantity was offered, viz. 985 casks, but the demand was so moderate that only 223 casks chiefly Sydney sold. Of 263 casks Ceylon 23 pipes sold at £40 5s., the remainder being bought in at £40 to £40 5s., puncheons at £40 5s. to £41, and hogaheads at £41 10s.

COIR GOODS.—At the auctions light supplies of Yarn offered were chiefly sold at steady prices. Of 68 tons Ceylon Yarn 40 tons sold—common, £23 5s. to £25; low middling, £26 15s. to £27 10s.; good medium to fine, £32 15s. to £37 10s.; 18 tons from Bordeaux sold—common, £24 10s.; good common, £26 5s.; 240 bundles Ceylon bristle Fibre sold at £32 15s. to £34 5s.

GALLS.—There is no change in the market; about 250 cases China have been sold at 47s. 6d. per cwt.

GAMBIER.—Privately 25 tons have been sold for arrival, ex Hibernia, at 15s. 9d., ex ship, with all faults except broken. The sale is also reported of 180 tons, landing, at 15s. 6d. per cwt.

HEMP.—At auction 1,591 bales Manila met a languid demand, and only 200 bales sold—superior Boluzan, £51 to £51 5s.; the remainder being bought in—fully fair roping, £49; Sorsagon and Boluzan, at £52 to £53; fine white Quilot at £65.

PEPPER.—Black: The market has shown an improving tone; there has been more demand, and firmer prices have been obtained; following our last report, about 1,450 bags Penang were sold at 5½d. to 5¾d., and 250 bags Singapore at 5½d. Subsequently at public sales 2,000 bags Penang, ex Sea Queen, sold at 5½d. to 5 5-16d. and 600 bags Batavia at 5½d.; privately small sales of Singapore have been made at 5½d., also 700 bags Penang, ex Sea Queen, at 5½d. to 5¾d.

RICE.—A moderate inquiry prevails, but no transactions of importance are reported. 700 bags white Bengal have been sold at 11s. 6d., 1,400 bags Askoolie at 10s. 6d. ex quay, 2,000 bags fine Ballam at 10s. 9d., 4,500 bags Necransie at 10s. 6d., and 2,000 bags Bassein at 10s. 7½d.

TIN.—The quantity likely to arrive here within a short period being less than was anticipated by some, the market is improving; the current quotations are Straits on the spot £128 10s. to £129, afloat £127 10s. to £128, Banca and Billiton £129 to £130.

NEW YORK MARKET REPORT.

TEA.

There has been considerable inquiry for Green, and prices for desirable grades have slightly appreciated. Blacks are rather quiet, the recent large sales having pretty well supplied the trade, but prices remain steady. Japan is neglected and irregular. The sales are 6,964 half-chests Green, per Lady Elizabeth, Anglo Saxon, Dilpusund, &c.; 2,400 half-chests Oolong, per Amandine; 300 do. Green, per Iola; 260 do., per N. B. Palmer; 2,000 do. Oolong, and 3,600 do. Green, vessels not named. There are also rumours of other sales of Japan and Green, but the particulars are withheld for the moment.

COFFEE.—The current quotations for East India kinds are, Java Government bags, 18c. to 20c.; Java mata, 18½c. to 22c.; Singapore, 17c. to 18c.; Manila, 14c. to 15c.; Native Ceylon, 15½c. to 17c. The market for Brazil has been quiet, the supply on offer being poor in quality and held for firm prices. Java has been sold to fair extent in lots at the current rates, besides which the following transaction are reported: 12,615 mats Java (damaged), 9,500 mats do. ex Wallace, and 2,518 bags Ceylon; the prices paid have not been reported.

CAMPOR.—China is quoted 15c. gold (in bond).

ESSENTIAL OILS.—Aniseed is quoted $2.30; Cassia, $1.5 gold (in bond).

GAMBIER.—The current quotation is $3.75 to 3.80 gold (duty paid).

HEMP.—There been somewhat more activity in the market for Manila, but prices continue at a low range, the current rates being 10c. to 10½c. gold; sales are reported of 1,100 bales, ex Glenallan, and 500 bales, ex Ringleader (before arrival), on private terms, also of 433 bales, ex W. G. Russell, and 6,500 bales, ex Zephyr, at Boston, at 10c. gold (sixty days).

INDIGO.—The market for Manila continues quiet at unaltered rates, sales being reported to limited extent only, at $1.15 to $1.25 currency.

PRESERVED GINGER.—China is quoted $7 to $8 currency (duty paid).

RHUBARB.—The quotation for China is $1 to $1.25 currency (duty paid).

RICE.—Rangoon has continued steady and in fair demand; the sales have been 650 bags at $7 to $7.12½ currency (duty paid), 1,500 bags at $3.40 to $3.50 gold, and 500 bags afloat at $3.37½ gold in bond.

SUGAR.—We note the sale of 466 baskets Java at 9½c.

SPICES.—For invoices, the market remains quiet. The Osceola, from Hong Kong, brings 3,500 piculs Cassia, of which 1,000 piculs sold before arrival. The trade demand has been less active, though there is still a fair business. Prices generally are steady. A line of 200 cases Nutmegs is reported sold at 95 cents currency. We notice sales in lots of Mace at $1.15; Nutmegs, 85 cents; Pepper, 16½c. to 17c.; White Pepper, 22c.; Cassia, 32c. to 32½c.; Cloves, 12½c.; all gold.

TIN.—The market continues dull and unsettled; prices still rule low, sales being reported of 100 slabs Straits at 32½c., and 100 slabs at 33½c. gold, 30 days prompt; Banca is nominally quoted 38½c. gold.

SHIPPING.

CASUALTIES.

The Vrede (Dutch), van der Plas, from Batavia to Amsterdam, which put into Surinam, Feb. 17, leaky, would probably have to discharge.

The Emblehope (str.), from Liverpool, to Singapore, China, &c. (via S.C.), in leaving Morpeth Dock, March 15, fouled the pierhead and damaged stem and four plates on the port, and one on the starboard bow; she remains in dock to repair.

The Bothwell Castle, Stewart, which sailed from Glasgow, Feb. 28, for Singapore, put into Queenstown, March 15, with loss of sails.

The Hoek van Holland, Versteg, from Sunderland to Batavia, was in collision at Falmouth, Mar. 10, and sustained damage to bulwarks, mizenmast, &c., and had standard compass smashed.

The Madras, Fleming, which sailed from the Clyde, Mar. 2, for Galle, put back to Greenock, 10, with rudder-head gone, and reported leaky; she has since been towed to Port Glasgow.

A telegram received from Galle, dated 10th March, 8.50 A.M., states that the Palmerston is embedded in hard sand and coral, at the outer edge of the breakers, with ten feet of water forward and fifteen aft; she is much hogged and apparently bilged, and it is impossible to save her; the lower hold is submerged and the remaining cargo must be destroyed by manure and water; it is considered that further salvage would not repay the expense, and immediate sale is recommended.

The Hotspur, Corrigan, which sailed from Shields, Feb. 5, for Galle, and put into Portsmouth to have her bottom examined by divers, having struck the ground in the Gull, 8th, sailed thence for her destination, March 9, but put back again, 12, with loss of longboat.

The Lord Macaulay, Care, from Manila, which arrived at Falmouth March 11, reported having been in collision with the Racer (schooner), of Montrose, Feb. 24, 27 N., 37 W., and lost bulwarks, had boat stove, fore and main channels started, &c.

The Belgian (str.), from London to Singapore and Hong Kong (via S.C.), arrived at Aden, March 13, reported having been aground in the Canal.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A telegram from Hong Kong reports that the master and crew of the Don (str.), from Liverpool, to Shanghai, &c., which was lost near Amoy, had arrived safely at the last-named port.

At PORT SAID.—Historian (str.), from Liverpool, and left for Colombo; March 13, Erl King, from London, and was to proceed next morning for Singapore, China, &c.

At ADEN.—March 9, Ulysses (str.), from Liverpool, and left for Singapore, China, &c.; 13, Belgian (str.), from London for Singapore.

At MAURITIUS, Jan. 15, Hermance and Jenny, Le Moisse, from Saigon; 16, Nile, Walker, from Singapore; 22, Laughing Wave, Shaw, from Singapore; 27, Georges, Gautier, from Saigon; 25, Ernest, Mocaer, sailed for Singapore; Feb. 2, Thracian, Hay, sailed for Colombo; 4, Humbleton, Hall, sailed for Galle; 7, Boussole, Assailly, sailed for Singapore.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

Java Sea.—Light-vessel at North Entrance of Sourabaya Strait.—The Netherlands Government has given notice that a light is now exhibited from a light-vessel at the northern entrance of Sourabaya Strait. The light is a fixed white light, elevated twenty-eight feet above the sea, and in clear weather should be seen from a distance of ten miles. The illuminating apparatus is dioptric, or by lenses, of the sixth order. The light-vessel is moored in five fathoms at low water, N.E. by E. (easterly) $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Panka Point, and N.W. $\frac{1}{2}$ W. two miles from the outer white buoy; she is painted yellow, with the name Soerabaya on her sides. Position, lat. 6 deg. 52 min. S., long. 112 deg. 38 $\frac{1}{2}$ min. E. from Greenwich. Note.—In case the light cannot be exhibited, a lantern, showing a bright light, will be hoisted, and a gong sounded during the night.—Hydrographic-office, Admiralty, London.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

AND OINTMENT.—From changing temperature many evils result, more formidable than mere loss of appetite, apathy, and restlessness. By headache, giddiness, and parched skin nature gives warning that a feverish attack has begun, which neglect will intensify if the sufferer fails to resort early to these cleansing and regulating Pills, or some such corrective medicine. Holloway's Pills meet all disarrangements of the circulation and nervous centres with efficiency and safety, and through these potent auxiliaries they are competent to check the advancing malady, and to conquer the threatened peril. In disordered digestion, torpidity of the liver, alvine pains, irritable bowels, diarrhoea, or dysenteric symptoms, Holloway's Ointment should be well rubbed twice a day upon the abdomen.

PORT OF AMOY.

SHIPOWNERS, AGENTS, and COMMANDERS are informed that the Dock Company's establishments at the above port afford every facility, at moderate charges, for REPAIRING and FARRING VESSELS, cleaning and painting iron ships and steamers.

Their large Granite Dock has 286 feet length on the blocks, and at average spring tides can receive vessels of 16 to 17 feet draught. It has a caisson-gate and a powerful centrifugal steam pump, and an engineer's workshop fitted with lathes and tools, driven by steam; iron and brass foundries, boiler-makers' shop, a large smithy and carpenters and boat-builders' sheds. All superintended by resident Europeans.

Their two smaller GRANITE DOCKS can receive, at spring tides, vessels drawing 12 feet.

Spars, timber, and other Dockyard material kept in stock.

Quarters for officers and a DRY GODOWN for stores of vessels under repair.

THE CHINA DEBATE.

Not even the warmest supporters of the Government can affect to be satisfied with the result of the China debate in the House of Lords, given in another column. The excuses which Earl GRANVILLE put forward for his inaction—or rather for his inaction—since the affair at Tientsin were of the most vague and superficial kind. Throughout the debate the Foreign Secretary and his supporters appeared to forget that they were discussing the relations of their country with a people evidently bent on nullifying its treaties, and a Government either unable or unwilling to enforce their observance. They spoke as if nothing whatever was at stake; entirely putting out of view the fact that an outrage, for which retributive justice has not been insisted on, appears to the Chinese mind to be a positive advantage gained. It cannot be doubted that this is the way in which the mandarins now regard the Tientsin Massacre; and it is even more discouraging to observe that nothing that Lord GRANVILLE said on the occasion will tend to strengthen the hands of our Consuls for the future. He was very fairly rebuked by the Marquis of SALISBURY for the flippancy with which he spoke of the "weakness of British Consuls for the bunting of a man-of-war in front of their dwellings;" and his explanation that "he did not intend to cast ridicule on our Consuls by that remark, for, if he were a Consul himself, he should be as anxious as any one to have a "ship of war in his port" only made the matter worse. The truth is undoubted that, without the presence of men-of-war, our treaties would never have been obtained; and, without such a safeguard, they can never be expected to be observed. The speeches of Earl GREY and the Duke of SOMERSET—the latter especially—were as illogical as they were unfeeling. Some people are generous at the expense of their neighbours; it looks as if these noble lords were determined that their mercy and pity should cost them nothing. They pity the French at the expense of the Chinese—the missionaries at the expense of foreigners generally. We had better be merciful while we are considered strong, than be called upon to show our strength when it may no longer be in our power to be merciful. It is idle to rake up bygone traditions of grievances long since condoned by treaties, if they ever had any real existence. Such a course of action as the present is surely paving the way for a war which will make the presence of a large armed force in the Chinese ports matter of necessity, if all that it has cost so much time and money to attain is not to be sacrificed to the exigencies of the Circumlocution-office. The ambiguity of the orders sent out to our representatives in China was truly pointed out by Lord SALISBURY, who, of all the speakers, seemed to be most impressed with the gravity of the situation, and the decisive policy it so imperatively demands. Earl CARNARVON is entitled to the thanks of the China community for having brought the subject forward in the way he has; but we think he cannot be satisfied with the result as yet attained, and we hope that he will re-open the question while there is yet time. The most singular thing about the debate was that no allusion was made by any of the speakers to the mission of the Chinese plenipotentiary now in Bordeaux for the express purpose of adjusting the difficulties which gave rise to Earl CARNARVON's motion. The name of CHUNG HOW was "conspicuous by its absence."

It was not once mentioned throughout the debate. We may, however, be sure that he is no uninterested observer of the situation in France and the debates in our own Parliament, and that he will not be slow to turn them to all the advantage he can in his communications with his Government. We are now informed that the sentence on the mandarins, who were ostensibly banished for their complicity in the Tientsin outrage, is not to be carried out after all; the mandarins are to be permitted to return to their homes.

A correspondent's letter, which appears in another column, will be read with interest, and on which we shall have something to say in our next.

CHINESE COOLIES IN JAVA.

By the last mail we received circumstantial accounts of certain arbitrary proceedings in connection with coolies, which the Dutch authorities owe it to themselves to explain. About a year ago a French vessel, the Frederic, chartered with Chinese coolies, was burned in the roads of Batavia. The coolies were saved, and encamped in the neighbourhood, where they conducted themselves creditably. A few weeks afterwards another vessel, the Italia, also chartered with coolies, went ashore near Anjer. Many were drowned, and the survivors were sent to Batavia. They were free men, and if they could not find work it was the duty of the Government to convey them back to their native country. Many of the coolies from the Frederic were engaged by a private planter, and others by the Dutch Trading Company. Some disorders having arisen among them, and it being found necessary to call in the police, the private planter wished to release his coolies, and Mr. NICAISE, the captain of the Frederic, tried to induce them to make another contract to sail with him. The coolies refused to entertain the proposal, and expressed themselves well satisfied to remain in Java. The police sided with Mr. NICAISE, who had chartered the Esperance to take the unemployed coolies away. Perhaps, says our correspondent, he was justified in taking his own coolies, but those from the Italia were, in the true sense of the term, shipwrecked men, and entitled to the protection of the Dutch Government; instead of which the police took them on board by main force, and the Esperance was despatched, the coolies being in very bad case, and the affair being hushed up. Another case is mentioned more strikingly illustrating the evil. Off the coast of Sumatra a French vessel, the Olivier, went ashore; she was towed into Batavia by a French man-of-war, and 230 of these coolies were taken on board, besides 112 others from the Uncowah and Juanpore. They were asked to proceed to Cuba in a small vessel, the Bernicia, and on their refusal they were shipped off volens volens. At least this is asserted to be the case by the Batavia papers, though the authorities state that a new agreement was entered into by the coolies voluntarily. The Government has, however, taken no action in the matter, and is consequently suspected of tacitly sanctioning the proceedings complained of.

LORD GRANVILLE AND SIR HARRY ORD.

It will be in the recollection of our readers that Earl GRANVILLE, when Colonial Secretary, last year distinctly pledged his word to the Straits Association that the two steamers Peiho and Rainbow should be sold after the arrival out of the new steamer Pluto. It was, therefore, expected that, from the time of the arrival out of the Pluto, a check would have been placed on the extravagance which has characterised the present Administration in the matter of steamers, and that henceforth the colony would have only one to maintain instead of two. We are now, however, surprised by the information that not only is a sum of $7,000 required for altering the new steamer Pluto, but that it is also proposed to build a second new steamer to replace the Rainbow. In the meantime, no practical steps are being taken to dispose of the two old steamers, the price fixed upon them being prohibitory. It is difficult to find words to give due expression to such a flagrant breach of faith as appears to be in course of being carried out by Sir HARRY ORD. It is, however, not conceivable that, though Earl GRANVILLE presides no longer at the Colonial-office, his successor will repudiate the engagements which he made. We hope that the Straits Association in London will take this matter up without delay.

THE attendance of Peers on the evening of the China debate was small, and some disappointment is felt that Lord DERBY, who (as Lord Stanley) held the post of Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and devoted considerable attention to the affairs of China, did not take part in the debate. His policy was widely different from that of Lord CLARENDON, but we must conclude that family ties interposed and prevented his Lordship from expressing his views. The absence of the bishops throughout the debate was so marked as to excite comment. Notice of Earl CARNARVON's motion had been given several days before, and it might have been expected that the spiritual Lords would have exhibited some interest in the fate of their humbler brethren who carry out the Divine command to "preach the Gospel to the heathen." We observed amongst the visitors to the House Mr. HAMMOND, the Under-Secretary, Sir RUTHERFORD ALCOCK, and Mr. MONGAN, Consul at Tientsin.

FROM the nature of the reply given by the Under-Secretary for the Colonies to Mr. BOWRING's question in the House of Commons with reference to the Hong Kong gambling farm, it is evident that the tax is doomed, and we may venture to conclude that no revenue from this source will be included in the Estimates for the next year. That this view of the question is approved of by the House was evidenced by the cheers which greeted the conclusion of Mr. KNATCHBULL-HUGESSEN's reply, which will be found in another column.

It will be seen by the statement of Lord ENFIELD that the seizure of the Sophia Rickmers and Robert Rickmers by the French in the China Seas, on the ground of their German ownership, is likely to be maintained, and that the transfer and use of the British flag was illegal. We suppose our Consuls at Shanghai and Saigon were not properly informed on the subject, but we shall shortly lay before our readers their official reports.

WE are glad to learn that the Dutch Second Chamber of the States-General has again signified its approval of the East India Budget, including the scheme for the reorganisation of the Preanger Regencies. We are, however, informed by our correspondent at Rotterdam that the opposition of the Dutch Chambers of Commerce to free trade continues unabated, and, in the face of their representations, it is possible that the First Chamber may hesitate to confirm the act of the Lower House, at least for a time.

WE have much pleasure in drawing the attention of our readers to the letter of "A Merchant" on the Singapore Railway question, which we publish in another column. Our correspondent explains the undertaking so clearly and candidly, as to leave no doubt of the value of his information and the bona fides of his intentions.

WE believe that the appointment of a successor to the present Governor-General of the Philippines, who has been recalled by the new Government at Madrid, has not yet been decided on. The new tariff, which abolishes the long-vexed question of differential duties, comes into operation on July 1.

THE intended departure of CHUNG HOW for Paris has been prevented by the revolution which has broken out in that city. The Mission still remains inactive at Bordeaux.

CHINA CUSTOMS QUARTERLY RETURN.

WE have received the quarterly volume of the China Customs Gazette published at Shanghai. We shall give a resumé of the returns from each of the open ports in our next number. Meanwhile, we may mention that the total returns of dues and duties for the quarter ending September 30th, 1870, were as follows:—Import duty, 542,079 tls.; import duty on opium, 446,615 tls.; export duty, 1,990,700 tls.; tonnage dues, 62,359 tls.; coast trade and duty, 104,824 tls.; transit dues, 53,530 tls.; duties collected on native craft, 451 tls.; total, 3,200,559 tls. The corrected quarterly report for the three months ending June 30th, 1870, shows a total of 2,157,377 tls.

HOUSE OF LORDS.

THE TIENTSIN MASSACRE.

(March 24th.) The Earl of CARNARVON would have been glad had any other noble lord undertaken the task of calling the attention of the House to the papers which had been published respecting the massacre at Tientsin, but in the absence of this he thought it his duty to bring the subject before their lordships. He would first refer to some of the circumstances of the case, and then to the inferences naturally to be drawn from them. The former were probably so fresh in their lordships' recollection that he need only briefly recapitulate them. Prior to the 21st of last June there had been rumours afloat of an unsatisfactory nature, and some excitement prevailed. On the 21st, without warning, the gongs sounded, and a mob rushed tumultuously to the French Consulate, and afterwards to a religious establishment occupied by some Sisters of Mercy of French, English, Belgian and Irish nationality. The French Consul was killed, as also his assistant and two French gentlemen and ladies, while the unfortunate Sisters of Mercy were murdered under circumstances of a revolting and fiendish nature. Not content with this, the mob wreaked their vengeance on the helpless bodies of the victims, and exhibited more of the passion of animals and devils than of men. Meanwhile, disciplined Chinese troops, with their officers, stood by, the local authorities were at least passive, and the Governor of the place, if not an actual participator in the crime, attempted no kind of opposition. For some days afterwards the European community of Tientsin was left to itself, and it was probably owing only to their courage and to the friendly assistance of an American captain, who showed the greatest humanity and courage, that the mischief spread no further. Now, as to the cause of this outrage four theories were laid down. It was attributed by some to a superstition on the part of the Chinese that the Sisters of Mercy were in the habit of kidnapping children for the purpose of using parts of their bodies on their materia medica. Others, and he thought the noble earl opposite rather leant to this view, threw blame on the acts of the missionaries. The third theory ascribed it to the general hatred of foreigners prevailing in China, and the fourth was that the official classes were engaged in and instigators of the offence. The first of these suppositions was obviously untrue, and Mr. Wade, our Charge d'Affaires at Peking, who at first believed there might be some foundation for it, had entirely abandoned it. Moreover, the Chinese authorities admitted that no child had been kidnapped or purchased, or was missing. As to the second, he was quite aware that missionaries, like many other zealous people, sometimes acted imprudently, but it was only due to them to say that rather more blame had frequently been imputed to them than they deserved, and there was nothing in the papers to warrant the belief that they were at all responsible in this case. As to the general hatred of foreigners, there were facts stated in the papers which appeared to strengthen this theory. During the last year or two there had been outbreaks against foreigners at different places, sometimes successful, sometimes suppressed. In one instance the Governor of a province issued a proclamation for the purpose of encouraging the belief that a drought had been caused by foreigners bathing in the rivers. Indeed, the decrees and proclamations put forth by authority had often been animated by feelings of the worst character. In the present case hatred of foreigners in general was manifested, for French and Russians both fell victims, and a day or two previously Dr. Frazer was mobbed, but being mounted escaped serious injury. In one of the few cases where the Chinese authorities had exercised a firm repression, one of them was assassinated in his public office. As to the fourth theory, it must be remembered that manifestations of animosity had occurred both at Tientsin and in other parts of the Empire. For some time past placards had been put forth, with official connivance, if not authority, denouncing foreigners, and insinuating the grossest charges against them; pamphlets had been issued containing the vilest calumnies, and fans had been printed representing mandarins standing over the corpses of Europeans. There had, in fact, been that atmosphere of suspicion and animosity which generally preceded such outbreaks. Mr. Wade, who was certainly not prejudiced against the Chinese authorities, had himself stated that the Governor of Tientsin must have been aware of the intended outbreak. What, moreover, occurred subsequently to the outrage? The officer appointed to inquire into it arrived late at his post; the inquiry commenced late, nineteen days being allowed to go by, and the first stages in the proceedings consisted of a charge against the Sisters of Mercy. What, meanwhile, was the action of the local authorities? The mandarins immediately seized some native Chinese, and for twenty days subjected them to horrible tortures, in the hope, it must be assumed, of obtaining some exculpatory evidence. When the mandarins were themselves called in question they virtually escaped with impunity. Mr. Wade anticipated that, when committed to prison, their sentence would be commuted to banishment, and that this would before long be remitted. What was the penalty inflicted on the undoubted murderers? Seven days were allowed to pass before any of the criminals were arrested. They were then brought to some kind of trial, and, finally, fifteen were proposed to the representatives of the foreign Powers as fit and proper objects for execution. Mr. Wade protested against this as altogether inadequate, and the Chinese Government then proposed that four or five additional persons should be executed. Prior to the execution of the fifteen criminals the representatives of England, the United States, Prussia, and Russia drew up a joint protest, in which they said:—

"The undersigned think it their duty to say that this decision, taken after a delay of three months, is in no way satisfactory." The execution was conducted in a manner at least suspicious. The criminals were not required to kneel, as was usual, and they were taken to the place of execution amid the plaudits of their friends, offering up their lives as public sacrifices to the Chinese hatred of foreigners. He was not surprised that Mr. Wade, in winding up the history of the case, commented on the final decree in these terms:—

"It is neither in substance nor form calculated to satisfy the representatives of foreign Powers, who, having acted throughout as the friendly counsellors of China, can hardly fail to consider themselves as having been trifled with."

These being the facts of the case, there arose the perhaps still more serious question—what was the relation between ourselves and the Chinese? On the one hand, we were struck with the important commercial position which we held, and the still vaster fortunes in store for us on the opening up of the interior, which were wholly undeveloped and abounded in resources; and on the other, with the limited spirit of enterprise of the natives, and their readiness to carry on trade with Europeans, provided they were allowed by the official classes to do so. It was a remarkable fact that during our numerous wars with China our trade in tea had not been suspended, and why? Because the people were so anxious to maintain it that even though one-half of the Empire was at war with the foreigner the other half remained at peace. This justified the hope of a vast expansion of our trade if the existing obstructions were peacefully and gradually removed. Our position in China depended on our maintaining that spirit of enterprise among our commercial community which had had a footing for so many years and had so largely extended commercial relations. Lord Russell once stated that the more the point of contact between Europeans and Chinese was narrowed, the safer and better it would be. With great deference to this opinion, he believed that the converse was the fact, and that the more points of contact were multiplied, provided that this was done fairly and discreetly, the better would be our prospects. Our position also depended on our recognising the fact that the community at Tientsin was not merely an English, but a European one. The American captain to whom he had referred as placing his ship at the disposal of the women and children entered with heart and soul into the cause, and though he found no fault with the noble earl, he could not help wishing that our co-operation with the French in this matter had been a little heartier. He was no advocate for a vehement or rash policy with regard to the Chinese. He thought that in former days that policy was strained too far, but that during the last few years he thought we had to a certain extent passed from one extreme to the other. It seemed as if we were now inclined to trust solely to diplomacy, and to keep the idea of force too much in the background. The Chinese were extremely good diplomats, perhaps better than ourselves, and when they found that despatches such as some in the recent Blue-book, in which it was hinted pretty broadly that unless they reversed their line of action we should proceed to hostilities, had, as a matter of fact, no result, they were inclined to doubt the force and value of our statements. The House was, perhaps, aware that a very intelligent Irishman, Mr. Hart, was now Inspector-General of Customs in China, and that it was no exaggeration to say that he was the adviser of the Chinese Government in these matters. He was told that when a despatch arrived it was taken to him, and he was asked whether it meant peace or war. Mr. Hart, acquainted as he was with European notions, would reply that it meant peace, whereupon the statements of the despatch were disregarded, and its objects fell to the ground. There were several points in which there seemed a danger of our losing ground. There was the delicate and difficult question of enforcing audiences from the Emperor. This we had confidently anticipated as one of the results of Lord Elgin's Treaty, but the demand had hitherto been evaded. It might seem an idle form, but it was still the prevailing notion in China that there was only one sovereign ruler in the world, the Emperor of China, and that all other nations were tributaries and vassals, standing in the light of foreigners and savages. He did not press this point on the noble earl, but it was one which required consideration. Another point, and that vitally affecting our position, related to the instructions given at various times to our naval officers on the China stations. He was not prepared to say that those instructions bore the interpretations placed on them by the officers, but there appeared ample ground for misconception, and the sooner this was set right the better. Mr. Matheson, a name well known in China, writing to the noble earl in September last, stated that the naval officers, it was understood, were forbidden by the Admiralty to land their men under any circumstances, even when life was threatened, and were to confine their assistance to British subjects, to receiving on board their vessels those who might when attacked be compelled to seek an asylum. In answer to this Mr. Otway wrote:—

"The standing instructions to Her Majesty's Consuls and naval officers in China as to the employment of Her Majesty's ships of war are, in cases of great emergency, to protect the lives and properties of British subjects if placed in peril by wanton attacks directed against them, either on the part of the local authorities or by an uncontrolled popular movement."

This answer was a very guarded one, and though the subject, he was aware, was a delicate one, he thought the expressions should have been a little plainer. Almost immediately afterwards the subject was again brought forward, and Mr. Medhurst, our Consul at Shanghai, undertook to give an interpretation of the instructions. He stated:—

"One of the special purposes for which Her Majesty's ships of war are stationed in Chinese ports is to afford protection in cases of great emergency to the lives and properties of British subjects when imperilled by wanton attacks, either on the part of the local authorities or of uncontrolled masses of people; but this general definition is qualified by the warning that the interference of a naval force in any emergency is alone likely to receive the subsequent approval of Her Majesty's Government if it can be clearly shown that without such interference the lives and property of British subjects would in all probability have been sacrificed, and even in such a case Her Majesty's Government will expect to hear it established to their satisfaction that the alternative of rescuing the British subjects by receiving them on board was not available."

He still thought the instruction was so cautiously explained as to be calculated to mislead, and sometimes to discourage officers in the discharge of their duty. In another letter it was stated that although the instructions did not absolutely and under all circumstances interdict commanders of ships from protecting life and property on shore, the interpretation put on them by the officers was such that half a foreign settlement might be burnt down before they actively intervened. Mr. Hammond, writing to the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce on the 28th of December, stated that if an attack on the British settlement at any of the ports was imminent, a body of marines might be landed, and if these were insufficient a detachment of troops from Hong Kong or Japan. He also wished to draw the attention of the noble lord opposite to the Treaty of 1858, the restrictions in which, he thought, might justly be relaxed. The position of our Minister at Peking should also receive consideration. At the present moment we had no Minister in China, the British interests in that country being looked after by a Chargé d'Affaires; but under ordinary circumstances our Minister was confined to Peking, and never left that capital during his term of office, and he thought it advisable that this restriction should no longer exist. Upon the military force of the Chinese he might remark that they not only possessed a large number of arms of precision of the best manufacture, but they had established manufactories of them for themselves. In justification of what he had stated, he wished to point out that through these papers there was a remarkable concurrence of opinion among those who were best qualified to judge with reference to the attitude we should adopt in China. Thus, Consul Lay, writing from Tientsin on the 20th of June, 1870, said:—

"We want a man-of-war here. These troubles increase when one is absent."

Mr. Medhurst writing from Shanghai, on the 16th July, said:—

"I reported a general uneasiness in the minds of the natives here. This feeling has subsided during the last twenty-four hours, and the bearing of the people has lost much of its aggressive character. I attribute the change to the prompt turn out and thoroughly prepared condition of the French on the night of the alarm of the 12th, the active drilling of volunteers, and to the fact that two vessels of war opportunely came into port."

Admiral Sir Henry Kellett, the admiral on the station, writing on the 21st of July, said:—

"Though the aspect of affairs has greatly improved since I last wrote, the condition of China is very critical, and requires a temperate but firm attitude of the great Powers."

And lastly, Mr. Wade, who had constantly opposed any high-handed course being taken by us with reference to the Chinese, said, on the 18th of October:—

"Had there been a gunboat, English or French, at Tientsin on the 21st of June, I doubt greatly that the atrocity of that day would have been perpetrated."

He did not wish it to be supposed because he had laid stress upon the importance of the presence of a gunboat that he was in favour of this country taking a high-handed course with regard to China. He thought that we could not do the mercantile community interested in the Chinese trade a more cruel kindness than to adopt towards China an attitude likely to result in hostilities. In the first place, the Government should insist—temperately, if you please, but, at all events, firmly—upon the terms of the Treaty of 1858 being carried out in their integrity; and in the next place, they should endeavour, whenever opportunity offered, to remove those artificial restrictions which had undoubtedly hindered to a great extent trade communications between China and other countries. He also trusted that, while keeping up our communications with the Central Government of China, we should not permit the local authorities, in the event of the occurrence of outrages of this kind, to shelter themselves behind the Central Government, but should hold them responsible to a certain extent for such breaches of the terms of the Treaty. In making these remarks, which were intended to draw attention to the critical—he would not say unsatisfactory—state of our relations with China, he trusted that he had not exceeded the bounds of fair criticism on papers of this kind, regard being had to the importance of the subject. (Hear, hear.) The noble earl, who throughout his speech was very indistinctly heard, concluded by moving for copies or extracts of correspondence relative to the revision of the Treaty of 1858.

Earl GRANVILLE was much obliged to the noble earl for the interesting speech he had made, which had evidently involved a very careful study of the Blue-book on this subject, which was issued the other day. The noble earl had called their attention, first, to the outrage at Tientsin, and, secondly, to the policy which he thought this country should adopt with regard to China. He entirely agreed with the noble earl that that outrage was utterly inexcusable, and, in fact, nobody would think of saying a word in its defence. He should also be disposed to agree with the noble earl that there were four causes which had contributed to bring about that massacre. The first of those causes was, undoubtedly, the superstitious feeling that existed among the lower orders of Chinese, who believed that their children were kidnapped into the convents for the purpose of their being put to death and their bodies made into drugs. The second cause was the course adopted by the missionaries. But he thought there was a very general opinion that any imprudent conduct on the part of the missionaries, particularly in an empire like China, was very likely to produce not the progress of Christianity, but very unfortunate secular results. (Hear, hear.) The Protestant missionaries in China stood on a very different footing from the Roman Catholic missionaries established there; they were few in number, they had received no encouragement from the Government; there were no supposed treaty rights on which they relied, and, generally speaking, they were under the superintendence of some large missionary societies in this country who had given them very good and judicious advice. Again, Great Britain had also important temporal interests in China in connection with her commerce and her manufactures, whereas, on the other hand, Roman Catholic countries had hardly any trade there, and their great object had been to propagate that Christian creed which they almost unanimously professed. There was no doubt a great deal of harm had been done by the missionaries of foreign countries claiming rights which other Europeans did not possess in China, and extending that sort of protection not merely from persecution, but of a special character over their Chinese converts, which naturally excited so much disgust among their fellow-countrymen. Although the stories about their buying children and encouraging others to kidnap children with a view to the salvation of their souls could not, he believed, be substantiated, yet there was great danger in respect to the position of Europeans generally in China unless the French Government exercised some check over religious bodies, whom they would naturally be anxious on other grounds to support. Another cause adverted to by the noble earl was the hatred of foreigners. Now that there should be some dislike to foreigners in China was almost an obvious truism. They all knew that an exclusive system had for hundreds of years prevailed there; and it was not very surprising if certain circumstances connected with the intercourse of Europeans with that country might be calculated to excite among its people some fear or distrust. They knew the prejudice that existed among the literary class in China against Englishmen, and especially among the lower orders, who had not the advantage of education to give them a better feeling in regard to them. But the moral he drew from that was that, it being our desire to maintain and extend our friendly relations with the Chinese, we ought not to be hostile in our language towards them nor too intolerant of the habits and customs handed down to them from generation to generation, and which must necessarily take much time and patience totally to eradicate. Then came the question as to the supineness of the Chinese authorities. He was far from saying that there had been no such supineness, or that greater activity and vigour in taking precautions might not have prevented the massacre; but that sometimes happened, unfortunately, in other countries besides China; and all that we had a right to require was that compensation should be given, proper amends made, and the best measures adopted to avert such lamentable occurrences in future. No doubt that event had filled the country with horror. It was a calamity which it was too painful to dwell upon; certainly it created a great panic in China last summer, which had its rebound in this country. And he must say that great credit was due to the official representatives of Her Majesty in China, who were quite alive to the gravity of the situation, and did all they could to calm the exaggerated alarm of their fellow-subjects. (Hear, hear.) While pressing in the strongest manner on the Chinese Government the necessity of granting redress, they also endeavoured to inspire some feeling of courage and hopefulness among the Europeans. He quite admitted that the noble earl's criticism had been offered in a very fair and conciliatory spirit with regard to the policy of both the present Government and the Government which preceded it. Considering, however, that there was an armed vessel in every Chinese port of the slightest pretension, and that only eleven years ago we took Peking and destroyed the Emperor's Summer Palace, he could not think there was any great reason to fear that the Chinese, a singularly shrewd nation, would think that we meant to trust absolutely to diplomacy alone, and would refuse to resort to force in any emergency whatever. The noble earl had expressed a hope that the ambiguity in the instructions issued to our naval officers would be removed; but he could not see how he was to set about removing any such ambiguity, because he did not conceive that any really existed in the instructions sent to those officers and to our Consuls by Lord Clarendon. What could be clearer than instructions which, while allowing them to protect the lives and property of British subjects, stated that they were not to try by force to insist on reparation, but were to refer to the Central Power and to the Minister at Peking for the redress that was necessary? The noble earl talked as if that was a new policy suddenly inaugurated, but it was inaugurated by Lord Elgin and Sir F. Bruce, and had been followed ever since we had a Minister at Peking. It was true—and the noble earl had laid too much stress on the fact—that they had one letter from a Consul who would have liked to have a man-of-war in the port where he was stationed. Now, our Consuls were a most excellent class of men, who discharged their duties with great fidelity to their country; but if the British Consul had one weakness in the world, it was his wish for the presence of a British man-of-war in front of his official residence. (A laugh.) It was exactly to prevent that accumulation of ships of war, and to prevent that authority being invested in all these local officers, acting sometimes under the pressure of panic, sometimes on the representations of a missionary body, or of a few merchants congregated together, and who desired to have the knot of some difficulty cut, that that policy was adopted, and Her Majesty had no intention of departing from it—the policy that our consuls were not to have in their hands what was practically the Queen's prerogative of declaring peace or war in every great port of the Chinese Empire. With respect to any misapprehension as to the possibility of our naval officers landing men for the protection of the lives of British subjects, it rested entirely on two letters which gave no proof whatever of the fact. These officers were informed by Mr. Wade before he got his instructions from this country that he was in communication with Admiral Kellett as to the landing of marines for the protection of life and property. The noble earl had alluded to our Embassy at Peking. Now, our policy was to make the Chinese Government themselves understand that we looked to them with whom we had made the treaty to see that its stipulations were carried out. That principle possessed every advantage both for ourselves and for China. It was for our interest to strengthen rather than to weaken the authority of the Central Government of that country; and it was also for the interest of the Chinese Government that we should adopt a course which would strengthen their control at the extremities of their empire, and although this might sometimes involve a little delay, and there might be occasions on which we should be obliged to offer the assistance of our naval force to co-operate with the Chinese authorities in redressing what ought not to have existed, yet he thought that in the long run we should obtain any just demand we had to make much better by that regular mode of proceeding than by pursuing the decentralising policy of giving back to the local authorities some of that power which had been, as he believed, wisely taken from them by different Ministers. In December, 1863, Lord Derby (then Lord Stanley), as Foreign Secretary, gave positive instructions to the effect that the complaints of missionaries were to be dealt with, not upon the spot, but by a reference to our Minister at Peking. The noble earl opposite had adverted to the maintenance and revision of treaty rights. Sir Rutherford Alcock, acting under instructions from Lord Clarendon succeeded in obtaining a revised treaty which he sent home from China, and which was thought by Lord Clarendon to be a great advance on the existing state of things. A different opinion, however, was entertained by the commercial classes in this country and in China; and Lord Clarendon, without changing his own opinions, felt that the opposition of those classes to the new treaty was so universal that one of his last official acts was to recommend to the Cabinet that it should not be ratified, and his advice was taken accordingly. But Mr. Wade, in the absence of Sir Rutherford Alcock, had shown almost every quality they could wish to see in the representative of this country in China; and their lordships might count on Her Majesty's Government doing all that was in their power to obtain becoming conditions at the hands of the Chinese Government. (Hear.)

The Marquis of SALISBURY thought there was some ambiguity at least in the view which the Government took of the orders sent to our naval officers in China. He would not trouble the House more than a single moment by reading extracts to show that orders had been sent to China that guns and men should not be disembarked for the protection of British subjects in China. On page 174 of the Blue-book, Mr. Wade, writing of an application by Acting-Consul Lay for assistance in anticipation of attack, said such an attack was, of course, a possibility, and he promised to call on the senior officer in the North "to relax or obtain relaxation of the standing orders so far as to admit of the debarkation of guns and men within the settlement." To what standing order did Mr. Wade refer? Whoever had issued them, they were obviously dangerous to the lives as well as the property of every English inhabitant of a Chinese port. The noble earl had departed from his usual course in ridiculing the desire of the Consuls for protection by attributing their wish for gunboats to the common desire of officials to have an armed force at their command. These Consuls had been witnesses to, and almost sufferers from, what might be called one of the most frightful catastrophes ever heard of. Surely, then, they could be excused if they applied for assistance with the prospect of a renewal of such occurrences before them? Acting-Consul Lay, in a letter to Mr. Wade, on page 175, gave a description of the state of Chinese feeling which justified the gravest apprehensions. He wrote:—

"You are aware that there is still a strong feeling against us in the city—I mean borne by the people themselves, and not confined to the rowdy class. It was stated that these troubles were caused by these rowdies, and that when they were punished all would be well. I trusted such might be the case, but it does not seem to be so. Upwards of 2,000 of these blackguards have run away from Tientsin; hundreds have been seized by the authorities; and yet, with the city clear of them, peace between foreigners and Chinese has not yet been established. Excitement still reigns and ill-feeling still exists." It was hard indeed that a Consul confronted by this state of things should be censured for seeking assistance. He would not criticise the policy announced by the noble earl; no doubt centralisation would be a very good thing, and it would be eminently satisfactory if European Powers could induce the central authority in China to keep its people in order at the several ports; but in the meantime, while the ideal policy was being carried out, horrible catastrophes might recur again and again. The state of things in China corresponded with the state of France at the present time. A Government existed in both countries unable to insure the lives of those committed to its care, while the foreigner protested against the breach of treaties, and threatened that if the breach were continued he would attack, not the central Government, but the place in which these breaches had occurred. Count Bismark had threatened to take the place of the Government in Paris, and this policy must always be pursued where society was thoroughly disorganised. The Government of China had not the power, if it had the will, to prevent the feeling against the foreigner culminating in outrage; and the only way of preventing such outrage was by inspiring fear in the very place where it occurred. It was right that missionary difficulties and all disputes not involving danger to life should be settled with the Central Government; but the desire to fix responsibility upon the Chinese authorities should not hinder us from giving by our own acts the utmost possible protection to those European inhabitants who might otherwise be horribly slaughtered before the Chinese Government had awakened to a sense of its duty.

Earl GREY asked the noble marquis whether he was prepared to say the feeling of hostility was altogether unnatural or to be wondered at. No honest man could examine the history of the last five-and-thirty years without coming to the conclusion that China had very great wrongs to complain of. (The Marquis of SALISBURY: "Undoubtedly.") Wars of the most cruel kind, involving the infliction of the most frightful suffering, had been waged against them; and our acts alone had not embittered the Chinese against us. The Taeping rebellion, which had desolated a large part of the Empire, and caused more deaths and suffering than any other rebellion in history, he had been assured by one of the most distinguished missionaries who ever served in China, could be directly traced to the disorganisation of the Chinese Government in consequence of their wars with us. Besides the disorganisation, the natural consequence of our own acts, that most horrible traffic in coolies which led to excesses and cruelties equal to those perpetrated in the African slave trade was continued, notwithstanding attempts upon the part of Government to check it. Could it be a matter of surprise that under these circumstances a feeling of hostility to England should exist among the Chinese, who distinguish as little between foreigners as Englishmen distinguish between Chinamen? He did not favour the policy of keeping a large number of ships of war in the neighbourhood of the Chinese ports. He regretted to say that their presence might incite some of our countrymen to abuse the safety of their position; it would be more prudent to cultivate a feeling among the European population in China that their safety rather depended upon their good behaviour than the presence of gunboats. And when the Chinese authorities were blamed for not having quelled disorder, he was inclined to ask whether they were singular in this? Was England perfectly successful in preventing violence against those who rashly and foolishly outraged the feelings and prejudices of the people? Had we been able to prevent serious outrages in Birmingham upon anti-Roman Catholic lecturers; and could it be supposed that if a Buddhist lecturer were to make his appearance in London, denouncing Our Saviour as an impostor, belying the Christian religion, and ridiculing all that we hold most sacred, that such a man would not receive summary punishment at the hands of an outraged people? Was it then a matter of surprise if the same thing happened in China? (Hear, hear.) Before sitting down he desired to add a word or two on another matter, and that was that in his opinion the importance of not taking up matters locally, but of always going to the Imperial Government for redress for any wrongs that might be suffered, had been very inadequately considered by his noble friend behind him. If they took the redress into their own hands, as was too much the practice thirty years ago, they might possibly succeed for the moment, but in so doing they inflicted a blow of the most fatal character upon the Imperial Government. (Hear, hear.) By persevering in that policy they would gradually break down the Imperial authority altogether, and by degrees reduce China to the state of anarchy which prevailed during the Taeping rebellion. If they destroyed the authority of the Chinese Government, when they considered how many millions of that people there were, were they prepared to set up any authority in its place? (Hear, hear.) To destroy that authority he believed would be very easy for a small force sent from this country, but he believed also that the result of such a policy would be very unfortunate for ourselves, as well as for the Chinese, who for ages had enjoyed, under their existing system of government, a very high measure of peace and happiness, and had been able to carry on with us a trade lucrative and beneficial to both parties. (Hear, hear.) Destruction of the authority of the Government might be easy, but to place in its stead a Government capable of maintaining order would prove a more difficult undertaking. For these reasons he could not but confess that he viewed with sincere satisfaction the policy which the Government had pursued. (Hear, hear.)

The Duke of SOMERSET believed, with his noble friend who had just sat down, that the policy pursued by the Government was wise and prudent, and one in which, as shown in the Blue-book, he at all events failed to see any ambiguity. (Hear, hear.) At page 220, for instance, he found the following passage written from the Foreign-office to the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce:—

"The general purport of those instructions was that Her Majesty's naval forces are only actively to be employed in China for the protection of British life and property, when actually imperilled by acts directed against them by Chinese authorities, or by the violence of the Chinese populace, which those authorities might be unable or unwilling to control."

That he believed to be the right line to lay down as to the interference of Her Majesty's naval force, for from his own connection with the navy he was perfectly aware that it was impossible to give any loose instructions to the officers commanding on the station. A young officer in command of a gunboat would, for instance, be ready enough to take a Chinese town, for he would be only too delighted at the idea of having something to do. ("Hear, hear," and a laugh.) It was, therefore, necessary to exercise some moderation in the instructions which they gave. (Hear, hear.) He also concurred in the remarks made by Consul Robertson, who, in answer to a letter from the Rev. J. Chalmers, giving an account of the destruction of a chapel at Fatsan, said:—

"In reply, I have to express my regret at the event, but am not at all surprised at its following so ill-judged an event as that of opening a chapel at a time when a strong anti-missionary feeling is agitating the minds of the Chinese, and at a place, too, which has always been turbulent and ill-disposed towards foreigners."

Again, Consul Robertson, in a letter to Mr. Wade, says:—

"Such outbreaks as at Tientsin and elsewhere may be settled for the time, but certainly the feeling of the Chinese, high and low, is strongly aroused in defence of their ancient institutions and religious tenets, which they consider in danger from foreign missionary intervention."

Was it surprising that the people should be easily excited when they saw their ancient customs and religion attacked by the missionaries? But the despatches showed how this chapel at Fatsan was destroyed, for the Consul said:—

"My own information leads me to believe that the outbreak was caused by the injudicious prominence given to the opening of this establishment at a time when the feelings of the people are strongly excited against missionaries."

If our countrymen in China would defy the feelings of the people there would, of course, be outbreaks; but he thought the Consul had throughout given wise and prudent advice. He concurred in the opinion that the policy pursued by the Government was a sound one, and trusted that they would resolutely adhere to it in the future. (Hear.)

Earl GRANVILLE desired to say but one word in explanation. It had not in any way been his intention to ridicule the conduct of our Consuls in China. On the contrary, no one who read these papers could, he thought, fail to see that when they were in difficulty Her Majesty's Government had rendered them every assistance in their power. But he did not attach much weight to the pleas of those who, clamouring for men-of-war and gunboats, urged in support of that plea, the opinion of our Consuls, who of course were, naturally enough, favourable to their presence. In saying this, he was not in any way attaching blame to the Consuls, for if he were himself a Consul he should probably do exactly the same thing. ("Hear, hear," and a laugh.)

In answer to the Earl of Carnarvon, Lord HALIFAX read the following extract from the Blue-book relating to the massacre of Tientsin, observing that, as would be seen from a foot-note, the instructions therein referred to had already been published in a Parliamentary paper of 1869:—

"The general purport of those instructions and of that letter was, that Her Majesty's naval forces are only actively to be employed in China for the protection of life and property when imperilled by acts directed against them by Chinese authorities, or by the violence of the Chinese populace which those authorities might be unable or unwilling to control, and although it is not expressly stated, yet it is clearly to be inferred, from the tenor of the instructions, that it would be consistent with their spirit and with the policy of Her Majesty's Government that the senior naval officer on the spot, if satisfied that an attack on the British settlement at any of the ports, and specifically at Shanghai, was imminent, should disembark, and maintain on shore, till the danger was passed, a body of marines, which, however, it would be desirable, if possible, to relieve daily from the ships, so as to avoid the appearance of a foreign occupation."

The motion was then agreed to.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

GAMBLING AT HONG KONG.

(March 23rd.) Mr. BOWRING asked the Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies whether Her Majesty's Government had received petition from the Chinese community and others in Hong Kong against the gambling-house system at present legalised in that colony, and now producing a revenue of 15,800 dollars per month, or nearly £40,000 a year; and whether he had any objection to lay upon the table the existing ordinance on the subject and any correspondence relating thereto.

Mr. KNATCHBULL-HUGESSEN said that no such petition had been received, but the Colonial-office had been informed that a memorial of the character alluded to from the Hong Kong Chamber of Commerce was upon its way, and would probably be received in a few days. The existing ordinance was that of 1867, and was laid upon the table of the House some two years ago. Sir R. MacDonnell was at present absent from the colony on leave, but he would be instructed upon his return to consider the whole subject, with a view to putting an end to the licensed gambling-house system as soon as practicable. (Hear, hear.) It would be inconvenient to present an incomplete correspondence upon the subject.

CAPTURE OF THE "RICKMERS" IN CHINA.

(24th.) Mr. WHITE asked the Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs whether he had any objection to lay upon the table of the House the official despatches from China and Saigon with reference to the capture by the French of two British vessels, the Sophia Rickmers and the Robert Rickmers.

Lord ENFIELD: The Sophia Rickmers and the Robert Rickmers were two German vessels, sold to a Mr. R. Rickmers, styling himself a British subject, and were captured by the French during the late war between France and Germany in the Eastern Seas. Mr. Rickmers, in complaining to the Foreign-office, stated that his parents belonged to Heligoland, but did not mention whether he had been born in British dominions; he had, however, disqualified himself from becoming the owner of a British ship by taking the oath of allegiance to the Free State of Bremen. These ships are now before the Prize Court at Saigon, and Her Majesty's Government would not consider themselves justified in asking for the release of these vessels from the French authorities, as their Prize Courts have long since decided that the sale of an enemy's ship to a neutral after the commencement of a war does not entitle it to exemption from capture on the high seas. There will be no objection to produce the correspondence if the hon. gentleman will move for it.

THE CHINA DEBATE.

The only papers that have devoted articles to the debate are the Globe and Standard.

(GLOBE.)

Lord Granville's explanation of the causes of the massacre at Tientsin are not very satisfactory. He admits that there has been blame in the matter of propagandism, but shoulders the responsibility off Protestant on to Catholic countries. The trade of the former, he says, is large, while their missionary effort is small; the trade of the latter is commonly limited, but their proselytising propensities are strongly developed. We venture to think that the missionary question is less important than it seems. The practical defect lies in the Consular system and the general administrative function of the local executive, which is reduced to a mere perfunctory performance under the present central régime. We are by no means convinced by Lord Granville's arguments that the instructions issued by the Foreign-office are quite so clear as he would have us to believe. We cannot help thinking that there must be a middle course between absolute delegation of the authority to declare war to a subordinate officer and the empowering a Consul to ensure the safety of Her Majesty's subjects in foreign countries. We are also at a loss to believe that a Consular system can be perfect which does not provide for the removal or reduction of the fundamental evils to which Lord Granville attributes the recent calamity.

(STANDARD.)

Lord Granville feels bound to be very tender about Chinese susceptibilities. He thinks Lord Carnarvon's carefully-modulated language is "too adverse in tone to the Chinese." He prefers to call the massacre "a calamity," and he is not prepared to say that the Tientsin authorities, who remained passive while the butchery was in progress, are chargeable with any graver fault than "supineness." Of course this is exactly the line which Mr. Gladstone's Foreign Minister might be expected to adopt, but it is hardly calculated to inspire much confidence in English communities established in Oriental countries. Already in China they are crying out that their safety is compromised by the comparative impunity with which the authors of the Tientsin massacre were allowed to escape. They will scarcely be comforted by such a speech as that which Lord Granville delivered last night, and still less by his official confirmation of the Foreign-office "instruction" limiting the power of naval commanders to come to the rescue of British residents on shore. The instruction enjoins that neither men nor guns shall be landed to protect lives or property on land. It is pointed out that this regulation would compel an English captain to remain passive while Englishmen were being slaughtered under his eyes on shore; but Lord Granville is of opinion that consuls and captains are a great deal too fond of stretching their powers, and that the more they are tied down by "instructions" the better. Lord Granville contends that we are bound to appeal to the central Government to carry out the engagements it has contracted with us; but experience has proved that, however sound this position may be in theory, it is very disappointing in practice. Our object is to secure redress at once, and on the spot where the offence or the wrong is perpetrated, in order that the native population may see that punishment follows swiftly, and that Europeans are not to be outraged with impunity.

THE CHINA DEBATE IN THE LORDS.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—As a resident at one of the Treaty Ports in China I listened last night, with much interest and anxiety, to the debate in the House of Lords, upon the Tientsin Massacre, and upon the policy which our Government has adopted for the protection of the lives and property of British subjects in the Chinese Empire.

I am disposed to agree with Earl Granville that the four theories which the Earl of Carnarvon propounded as to the cause of the catastrophe of the 21st June, 1870, viz., the popular belief that children were being kidnapped by the agents of the Sisters of Mercy for unholy purposes—the imprudent conduct of certain missionaries—the hatred of foreigners in general—and the supineness of the Chinese authorities—were probably all more or less operative in producing the melancholy tragedy of that day, and every one will admit also, with his Lordship, that the outrage was utterly inexcusable; but, after such a dire experience, and with all the evidence that the Tientsin Blue-book contains of a widespread feeling of hatred against foreigners, I regretted much to find that the Foreign Secretary had no intention of taking any steps to relax the instructions by which Her Majesty's civil and naval officers in China are now hampered.

The charter of our rights in that Empire is the Treaty of Tientsin. This treaty was imposed by force, and, theorize as we may, by force only, latent or manifest, can its provisions be maintained. It is all very well, no doubt, to hold the Central Government responsible for the safety of foreigners at the ports, but to my mind the Marquis of Salisbury hit the right nail on the head when he said last night that, whilst this ideal policy was being carried out, horrible catastrophes might again and again recur, and that, as the Government of China had not the power, if it had the will, to prevent the feeling against the foreigners culminating in outrage, the only way to prevent such outrage was by inspiring fear in the very place where it occurred.

To inspire this wholesome fear, however, prompt action on the spot must be often taken, not only to resist aggression, but to seize aggressors, and see that these are really brought to justice; for punishment following with speed and certainty any unprovoked attack upon the lives or property of foreigners would undoubtedly be the best guarantee of future safety for both. We may admit even, with Earl Grey, that the feeling of hostility against us in China is not altogether unnatural or to be wondered at, but it cannot be denied that the feeling exists, and this fact only gives the greater weight to Lord Salisbury's timely warning.

Her Majesty's Government, however, all warnings notwithstanding, are determined to carry out their experiment; but we poor residents at the Treaty Ports, the corpora vilia that are experimented upon, may be pardoned if we do not regard the development of the present policy in China with that serene equanimity which characterises some noble lords.—I am, Sir,

London, March 25, 1871.

BORNEO—SARAWAK.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—I notice in your issue of Dec. 20, which has lately reached us, an error with respect to the Sarawak territory and recent events there, which, I am sure, you would wish rectified. The items you print from the Sarawak Gazette of Nov. 3rd appear under the head of Labuan. It is not the case that Sarawak has any connection, beyond that of neighbourhood (and this not a very near connection) with the colony of Labuan. The Rajah's Government has been recognised by England and other nations as perfectly independent, except so far as Europeans residing within its limits are still subjects to the Queen.

The telegram received from Batavia, bringing news of an attack by Wankang, a native chief, refers altogether to an affair which happened on Dutch territory. The place attacked was not Bin-tulu, which is the frontier residency of Sarawak towards Brunei, but Banjarmasin, on the south-west coast of Borneo. The Sarawak territory lies between the dominions of the Sultan of Brunei on the north, and the Dutch territory of Sambas and Pontianak on the south.

If you will kindly insert this letter of explanation, you will oblige your obedient servant,
A RESIDENT IN SARAWAK.

THE SINGAPORE RAILWAY.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—As you have known this place for years, and your journal is largely read by many who are more or less interested in the welfare of Singapore, you will, I trust, afford me space for some remarks which may tend to its benefit. You will learn by this mail that the railway which has for years been talked of is about to become a reality. The prospectus has just been issued for that portion which extends from the town to Tanjong Pagar, showing, from actual goods traffic, that after allowing 50 per cent. of the receipts for working expenses, ten per cent. dividend will be left to the shareholders, and nearly the whole capital required was subscribed at the first meeting held here. I wish the promoters had been bolder and had at once brought forward a larger scheme to embrace not only the wharves at New Harbour, but an extension via Tanglin Barracks to the Johore side, as proposed by Colonel Collyer, R.E., while he held the office of Chief Engineer nearly ten years ago. The whole line to New Harbour would be very remunerative, and although the extension beyond its wharves would not be so at first, yet it would doubtless become so ere long, looking to the fact that barely fifty years have elapsed since the very first pathway was formed from Sir Stamford Raffles' landing-place, and that the trade which then was nil has now nearly reached the annual value of ten millions sterling. In order to avoid curves and gradients between New Harbour and Tanglin, some cutting and embanking would be required; but such work might easily be done by convict labour at very small cost, for which Government would be speedily recouped in the saving of carriage alone to the European barracks. The line from thence across the island could be advantageously laid in almost any direction through Government jungle. It has often been remarked, and it certainly redounds little to our national credit, that such an island as this, abundantly watered, its coasts teeming with fish, should contain so few villages, and, indeed, should, except in the vicinity of our now cathedral city, continue in a state of luxuriant jungle, spite of all its advantages, natural and commercial. Indeed, it has become a saying that Singapore only forms a resting-place for Europeans and Chinese until they acquire sufficient means to enable them to return to their respective countries. It is in the hope that some of your readers who have acquired wealth in and through Singapore will come forward and assist in the development of the island that I trouble you with the following observations. I believe that during your late visit you enjoyed a day's trip round this island, and probably you then felt as mortified as I do now, to observe, that after losing sight of the shipping at anchor in the roadstead, nearly the whole area, except a few spots near the police stations, or convalescent bungalows erected by Europeans, appeared in the same state of jungle as when first acquired by the East India Company. General Cavenagh, our late Governor, and by far the ablest and most zealous who ever held that office, if not the first to suggest, certainly appeared most anxious to promote the Singapore and New Harbour Railway, and I doubt not he would have employed all the means at his disposal towards its extension across the island in accordance with his frequently expressed sentiments, that additional roads were essential, and would be one of the principal means of developing the country. For the present uncultivated state of the island the officers of the Indian Government are not responsible. They did as much for the advancement of the place as the means at their disposal admitted of. The population, as you are aware, is mainly engaged in trade, only very few giving heed to the development of its agricultural resources, and at this moment there is little cultivation of any description going on, except in the vicinity of the town or of the roadways within easy distance of it. Although the trade has doubled in value during the past fifteen years, the population shows little or no increase, and this circumstance is doubtless in a great measure accounted for by the fact that the cost of living and difficulty of obtaining suitable plots of land for cultivation within easy reach of the city (the only market) checks permanent settlement.

It was scarcely to be expected that the Indian Government would sanction exceptional measures for such a small and distant dependency, and one of the special advantages anticipated from the transfer to Colonial rule was that such steps could be taken under local management as would tend to meet the special requirements of the place, financial, agricultural, and commercial. The fact that money can scarcely be obtained for any purpose—even tangible securities—under 12 per cent. interest, alone testifies to the difficulty of funds being forthcoming for agricultural purposes on any terms, and this indicates the advantages that might result from the judicious advance of money for the purpose of extending the clearance and cultivation of land, somewhat on the terms and conditions which have been so generally availed of at home under the Land Drainage Act. The land within easy distance of the town, being, as you are aware, chiefly occupied by European residents, but little is available for the cultivation of vegetables, and the Chinese have, consequently, to form their gardens at such a distance that, to men who have, as they do, to carry their produce daily to market on their own shoulders, there is a hard livelihood. The scarcity and dearth of vegetables, poultry, &c., is now much complained of by Europeans as well as natives; indeed, Singapore is largely dependent on supplies from distant places, which it is to a considerable extent capable of producing within itself were the island properly opened up. The necessary advances might be made through the medium of our Chinese magistrates with little or no risk of ultimate loss to Government. The rearing of stock and poultry would also be thus extended, and provender obtained for the increased number of cattle now much wanted to meet the great requirements of the shipping, &c., while improved means of communication would undoubtedly tend to the agricultural development of the island on a permanent basis, and likewise to an increase of its revenue from internal sources. Much was expected from a local Legislature, but the surplus revenue during the four years of its existence has been absorbed in the erection of a Government-house, and the purchase of superfluous steamers to an extent that would have sufficed for the construction of the whole line of railway through the island. It would be invidious in me to blame the non-official members of the Council that steps in this direction have not been taken, as they, like myself, are occupied with their own mercantile operations and have little time to devote to the initiation of measures which would be beneficial and tend to the general welfare of the colony. Is it too much to expect that capitalists at home should co-operate with those in the colony and come forward with the comparatively small amount necessary to the accomplishment of these objects by investing in the line of railway here indicated.

The capital already subscribed for a section of the proposed line amounts to about £20,000, which gives promise that the more enlarged scheme, of which this sum would form perhaps nearly a third, would, if properly advocated, meet with the requisite support; and if these observations tend in any degree to bring about so desirable a consummation, my object will have been attained.—Yours faithfully,
Singapore, Feb. 14, 1871.

SUEZ CANAL TRAFFIC, 1870.

A summary of the entire traffic through the Suez Canal, from the inauguration in November, 1869, to the end of last year, has been published by Messrs. Cory Brothers and Co., as agents for the compilers, Messrs. C. and A. Bazin, of Port Said, Suez, and Ismailia. The tables give the name and full particulars of every vessel that has entered the Canal during that period. A supplementary pamphlet gives similar particulars for the month of January last. The summaries of the traffic for the whole term give the following totals:—During the fractional month of November, 1869, 10 ships, averaging about 600 tons each; in December, 1869, 12 steamships, 7 of which were British; in January, 1870, 16 ships, 12 of which were British; February, 25 ships, 13 of which were British; March, 47 ships, 34 of which were British; April, 40 ships, 24 of which were British; May, 44 ships, 30 of which were British; June, 51 ships, 34 of which were British; July, 40 ships, 24 of which were British; August, 42 ships, 27 of which were British; September, 32 ships, 22 of which were British; October, 39 ships, of which 30 were British; November, 42 ships, 30 of which were British; December, 73 ships, of which 39 were British; and January, 1871, 74 ships, of which 40 were British. During the year 1870, of 491 ships which passed through the Canal, 319 were British, 75 French, 26 Austrian, 3 Spanish, 15 Turkish, 32 Egyptian, 9 Italian, 3 Ottoman, 2 Dutch, 2 Portuguese, and 1 each Russian, Danish, Greek, Zanzibarian, and American. No ship passed through the Canal under the North German flag.

HOLLAND.

ROTTERDAM, March 22.

The action of the Second Chamber on the 22nd Oct. last has been confirmed by an important majority, 44 against 31 votes, the members thus approving for the second time the proposed Preanger reorganisations, notwithstanding that the First Chamber annulled the reorganisation plan on its previous introduction; and, indeed, there was but one argument against this measure, which was that the priests would lose much of their income; and this is even denied by the Minister of the Colonial Department. Messrs. van de Beele and Fransen van de Putte asserted that the measure should have been introduced twenty, nay, forty years ago. Mr. van Bosse, in his speech upon the subject, made a brilliant debut; with the greatest eloquence he warned the members against rejecting the Bill, because such a course would have the worst influence upon the population. This measure constitutes the abolition of an injustice which has prevailed for several centuries. It will effectually put an end to the Preanger "squeezing" system. The First Chamber, which will meet on the 27th instant, will still have to be consulted; but we may hope that after so much fierce discussion, after so many perils, it will at last become law. The Opposition in the Second Chamber made energetic endeavours against the measure. Mr. van Goltstein proposed an amendment, in order that the resolution of the Governor-General—which was first promulgated and then suspended, because the First Chamber had not approved of the measure—should not be allowed to take effect. This amendment, however, was outvoted by the majority above stated. Of course there was but a short debate upon the other sections of the Budget, and by 30 against 28 votes the first part—Expenditure—was approved of, whilst the second part—Ways and Means—was carried by 60 against 11 votes. The question about the wages for planting coffee in the Preanger regencies was not decided. Mr. de Waal, the former Minister, proposed that f.10 per picul should be paid; the Chamber, however, fixed the sum, in accordance with an amendment of Mr. Mirandolle, at f.13, the same as is paid in all other parts of Java. Mr. van Bosse, however, reduced the pay to f.10, because the Governor-General had already stipulated that this amount should be paid in 1871; he, however, acknowledged that the Preanger population was quite right in asking f.13, and in the next Budget he will propose that this amount shall be paid in the future. The members are now busy in the sections with the examination of the several Budgets which are laid before them. Several reports have already been published, but, nevertheless, rumours say that they will not be discussed until after the Easter recess.

The Handelsblad publishes an important article upon the project of the Minister to revise the East India tariff in a liberal sense. Its conclusion is that the basis of the tariff must be abolition of the differential import duties within a term of four to six years, to levy an universal import duty of five per cent., and to abolish the export duties.

NAVAL AND MILITARY.

CHANGES ON THE CHINA STATION.

With reference to the telegram received at the Admiralty last week from Vice-Admiral Sir Henry Kellett, K.C.B., stating that the engines of the Icarus, Lord Charles Scott Commander, at Singapore have broken down, instructions have been forwarded that the Icarus is to be sent home. Her place on the China station will be filled by the double-screw gun-vessel Curlew, of 3 guns, 665 tons and 160-horse power, which will be commissioned at Sheerness this week, with a complement of eighty-four officers and men.

The following appointments have been made of officers to the China station to replace those whose term of service has expired, and to recommission the Dwarf and Avon. They will proceed in the troop ship Tamar, which will sail about the 8th of April.

Sub Lieutenants.—Robert B. Maconochie, Arthur S. Hamilton, A. H. Stone, R. H. Gasley, J. Durnford, W. A. Madan.

Navigating Sub-Lieutenants.—Alfred E. Joll, Alfred Doorly.

Assistant Paymaster.—John J. A. Sloan.

Clerks.—James W. Dixon, Andrew Hume.

Assistant Clerk.—William R. Dodridge.

Midshipmen.—Arthur C. A. Bacon, Bernard Dickinson, Herbert N. Rolfe (navigating).

MISCELLANEOUS.

MERCHANT SEAMEN'S ASYLUM.—The Committee of the Royal Alfred Aged Merchant Seamen's Institution, in order to relieve the pressure on the funds of that excellent charity, have resolved to hold a fancy bazaar in the course of the approaching summer, and they invite the co-operation of all influential persons—Merchants, Shipowners, Captains of ships, &c.—residing abroad to send them any such articles of native manufacture as find ready acceptance in England, and, though comparatively inexpensive in the places where they are produced, would be especially attractive at a fancy fair. Chinese and Japanese wares of every description, toys, baskets, fans, ivory chessmen, mother-of-pearl markers, photographic frames, jars of preserves, &c., &c. There are but a few of the articles which would be sure to command ready sale on such an occasion, and greatly to enhance the interest of the Exhibition as well as to add to the resources of the charity. Benevolent persons willing to aid the cause are requested to send their contributions to the Secretary, Captain Tripe, at the office of the Institution, 2, Cowper's Court, Cornhill.

LAUNCH OF A STEAMER FOR THE JAPAN TRADE.—The composite screw steamship Washi (the Japanese for Eagle) was launched on the 22nd inst., from the yard of Bewley, Webb, and Co., North-wall, Dublin. The Washi is a very powerful and beautiful steamer, composite built, viz.: iron frames and wooden planks, is 150 feet between perpendiculars, 166 feet over all; 21 feet 9 inches beam; depth (to spar deck), 18 feet; tonnage, gross measurement, 370. Engines, high and low pressure combined, inverted direct acting, of 60-horse power (nominal), by Watt and Co.; and draught about 11 feet. The Washi has a figure-head representing an eagle, crouched. The ship will be hauled up on the patent slip, or put into a graving dock and coppered as soon as possible. She will be rigged as a two-masted schooner, having square foresail, foretopsail, and jib for main staysail, spanker, and gaff topsail. The cabins are placed aft, and will be fitted up in the most costly manner, having bath-rooms, &c., so requisite for a tropical climate. The steamer will shortly load in London for Japan. Her owners are Messrs. John R. Hooper and Co., of London.

The Pacific Mail Company's steamers now leave New York for Panama and San Francisco on the 15th and 30th of the month, corresponding with arrivals from England, &c., at Aspinwall.

The P. and O. Company's steamer Nyanza, with £502,966 in specie, has arrived at Southampton, with the passengers, &c., from India and China.

The Bishop of Rochester has instituted the Rev. J. Scarth, formerly of Hong Kong, in the vicarage of Holy Trinity, Milton-by-Gravesend, to which he was appointed some time since.

Monetary and Commercial.

We understand that a road steamer is to be shipped out to Tientsin, as an experiment to open the goods traffic between Taku and Tientsin, and when the Chinese become familiar with it they will no doubt use it in the carriage of coal from the mines.

Messrs. Malcolm, Brunner, and Co. have shipped off, per Flying Spur, for Yokohama, on account of the railway works in progress in Japan, two locomotive engines, steam and hand cranes, and goods waggons; and in addition to the sundries named per Prince Alfred, she took out forty miles of telegraph wire and instruments, to be laid down along the lines.

A prospectus has been issued by the Realm Marine Insurance Company (Limited), with a capital of £800,000, in shares of £20, for the general business of marine insurance, and at the same time with a special view to the trade of Egypt, India, China, and Australia.

The annual meeting of the Oriental Banking Corporation is fixed for the 20th April, the Agra for the 4th, the National Bank of India for the 4th, and the Chartered Bank of India for the 19th. The annual meeting of the Great Northern Telegraph Company will be held on the 26th of April, at Copenhagen, to declare a dividend.

We (Grocer) hear, on good authority, that a wholesale firm engaged in the London tea trade are about to make a compromise with their creditors, and that two or three large houses are said to be rather heavy losers.

The export of shirtings to China continues, and is likely to come up to one hundred and twenty millions for the quarter, nearly treble the quantity at the corresponding period last year.

The Bill for the Incorporation of "Lloyds," which was referred to in our issue of the 14th inst., has passed through a Select Committee of the House of Lords, but with some important modifications. With reference to these alterations the Shipping and Mercantile Gazette says:—Many objectionable articles have been withdrawn. The inquisitorial powers and the power of expelling members have been refused by the Committee, and the power to amalgamate with other societies and corporations has only been conceded with such restrictions as will effectually protect the assured, whether merchant or shipowner, from the consequences which might ensue from the exercise of extensive Parliamentary powers by a combination of underwriting interests. The result of the opposition to the Bill will be generally regarded with satisfaction. If Lloyd's Society aimed simply at incorporation they have achieved their object, and should be content. If the promoters of the Bill aimed at something more they have deservedly failed.

The traffic receipts over the British Indian Extension Telegraph Company's line for the four weeks ending March 25th amounted to £3,707.

ARTICLES OF IMPORT.

TEA.

With the exception of a better demand for fair red-leaf kinds of Congou, from 1s. to 1s. 2d. per lb., a fair supply of which came to hand, per Borealis, business has been unusually small. Prices have, however, been on the whole fairly maintained, Importers generally refraining from pressing sales, looking at the favourable prospect of supplies and deliveries, the former being likely to prove moderate, whilst the latter are progressing on a very satisfactory scale. The public sales of the 21st instant comprised 7,927 packages, of which 5,709 packages were offered without reserve.

Red-leaf Congous: siftings and broken-leaf kinds show no change, but the demand continues limited. Fair to good common have been firm at the advance last quoted. Common to fair Kaisow kinds have met with a ready sale at $\frac{1}{4}$ d. to $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per lb. advance. In good to fine and finest Kaisows there has been scarcely any business done. Pak Lin kinds show no alteration. Black-leaf kinds: low to common kinds show great dullness, and prices have again ruled in favour of buyers; good common remains in limited request at about previous prices. In fair to good medium kinds there has only been a moderate business, and prices must be quoted a shade easier. The good to fine kinds have not been so saleable. Finest show no change. Amoy kinds are saleable in small parcels at the low rates last quoted. New-made Canton kinds show no material alteration. Oolongs continue depressed; some parcels sold at public auction without reserve show a further decline of 1d. to 2d. per lb. for fair to good kinds. A few finest still command high prices. Souchongs have met with but little inquiry, and prices remain nominally the same. Flowery Pekoes have been firm at former prices. Scented Teas: Canton kinds, in the absence of further arrivals, show no change. Foochow kinds, ex Borealis, went at slightly lower prices for fair qualities of both Caper and Orange Pekoe. Uncoloured Japans: A few parcels of fair to good quality, via Shanghai, have been sold at full prices. Green Teas: There has not been much business, and prices show little, if any, alteration. Fine qualities have been wanted for export, especially No. 1 Ping Suey Gunpowder and Young Hyson.

SILK.

The following is from Messrs. Kilburn, Kershaw, and Co.'s Circular:—The market has become extremely quiet since the declaration of peace, but more especially so since the news of the fresh troubles in Paris; indeed, everything is very flat, and hardly any business doing; prices are occasionally 6d. lower where transactions occur, but as importers and holders generally maintain their firmness, there is an unusual absence of business; this disappointing condition of the market is entirely owing to the uncertainty regarding matters in France, and would, no doubt, at once give place to improvement and activity, if only the revolutionary spirit in Paris could be quelled, and confidence restored. Deliveries continue good, especially of Canton Silk, which is now being largely taken for consumption. The clearances from 1st to 22nd inst. were:—China, 1,933; Canton, 738; Japan, 370; Bengal, 368; total, 3,459 bales.

COFFEE.

The dull condition of the market lately noticed has become more decided, and prices for all kinds have shown a further downward tendency, more especially since the unfavourable result of the Dutch sale became known on this market. The business in Plantation Ceylon has been confined to sales in small lots at the undermentioned prices:—Triage, 45s. to 50s.; small, 56s. 6d. to 60s.; ordinary, 57s. 6d. to 58s.; low middling to middling, 60s. to 65s.; bold, 72s. 6d.; pea-berry, 76s. 6d. to 79s. 6d. There has been no business in Native on the spot, but to arrive about 100 tons Native Ceylon have been sold at 55s., with guarantee of quality. The Dutch Trading Company's public sale of 102,400 bags, comprising 90,000 bags Java, &c., held on the 22nd, went off flatly at a general reduction of 1c. to 1½c. from the valuations, or 2c. to 3c. under the last sale's rates, good ordinary selling at about 34c., against 36½c. to 37c.

The deliveries, although again less than in the preceding week, are comparatively heavy, and the total is fully twice as heavy as last year, being 860 tons more, and as the landings are slightly below, the stock no longer exhibits a surplus, but a relative deficiency of 1,000 tons. The quantity of Ceylon Coffee afloat for Great Britain is estimated as follows:—Plantation, 226,792 cwt., against 230,463 cwt. at the corresponding date of 1870; Native, 23,711 cwt., against 22,310 cwt. The quantity afloat for the Continent is nil. The quantity of Coffee landed in the eleven weeks ended March 18, 1871, was, of Ceylon, 3,916 tons, against 3,424 tons during the corresponding period of 1870; of all descriptions, 7,950 tons, against 4,550 tons. The quantity entered for home consumption was, of Ceylon, 2,160 tons, against 1,807 tons; of all descriptions, 4,225 tons, against 3,244 tons. The quantity exported was, of Ceylon, 5,118 tons, against 4,357 tons; of all descriptions, 11,394 tons, against 7,689 tons. The stock on March 18, was, of Ceylon, 10,243 tons, against 11,124 tons; of all descriptions, 18,379 tons, against 17,836 tons.

The latest Rio quotations are telegraphed as follows:—Washed $6,000 to 7,400; fine, $7,000 to 7,200; superior, $6,500 to 6,700; good firsts, $5,800 to 6,000; regular, $5,200 to 5,400; and good seconds, $4,800 to 5,000; stock on hand, 80,000 bags. Freight have declined, for Channel, Mediterranean, and United States, quotations are 30s. to 40s.

SUGAR.

The market is still extremely dull, and business since our last report has been almost wholly suspended; there have been no transactions in East India kinds, an offer at auction of 13,006 bags brown Manila (duty 4s.), per Bryn Ivor, imported Dec. 1870 being bought in at 24s.

The landings for the week include 1,100 tons Beetroot, and are only slightly in excess of last year; the deliveries are larger than in the previous week, and 2,350 tons above those at the same time last year, causing the deficiency in the stock to reach nearly 15,000 tons.

Stock, March 11, 54,866 tons, against 67,382 tons; March 18, 53,743 tons, against 68,376 tons. The quantity of Sugar landed in the eleven weeks ended March 18, 1871, was, of Penang, 141 tons, against 269 tons in the corresponding period of 1870; of Manila, Java, and China, 4,196 tons, against 3,880 tons; the quantity entered for home consumption was, of Penang, 699 tons, against 660 tons; of Manila, Java, and China, 6,595 tons, against 6,204 tons. The quantity exported was, of Penang, 86 tons, against 32 tons; of Manila, Java, and China, 614 tons, against 940 tons. The stock on March 18 was, of Penang, 2,332 tons, against 1,907 tons; of Manila, Java, and China, 24,781 tons, against 32,526 tons.

CAMPOR.—There has been a fair inquiry, and business has been done in China at 70s., and in Japan at 72s. 6d. per cwt.; at the close the market has become quiet, an offer at auction of 257 boxes being retired without bids.

CHINA MATTING.—Of 314 rolls offered, 134 rolls superior sold $\frac{1}{4}$ white at 43s., one lot at 43s. 6d., $\frac{1}{4}$ check at 43s. 6d., one lot at 44s.

COCOA NUT OIL.—Considerable difficulty is experienced by shippers in securing freight, and they consequently buy cautiously, thus giving a very quiet appearance to the market. At auction 263 casks Ceylon sold at 40s. 3d. for pipes; privately superior quality Cochin has sold at 48s., and Ceylon at 42s. per cwt.

COIR GOODS.—At the last sales the supply of Yarn was again tight, but the demand was slow, and prices showed some irregularity, and in some instances easier rates were accepted. 63 tons Ceylon were bought in at £25 to £28 10s., except 7 tons damaged, which sold at £23 to £23 5s.; of Fibre 58 bales Singapore brush were withdrawn at £34 10s. to £34 15s. per ton.

CUBERS.—Prices steady at recent decline; 80 bags fair quality, but slightly mouldy, offered in public sale, realised 25s. 6d. to 26s. per cwt.

CUTCH.—The demand has much improved, and a large business has been done privately, about 4,000 boxes changing hands at 21s. 6d. to 22s. for fine Pegu. At auction 500 boxes were bought in at 25s., and 332 bags at 20s. per cwt.

DRAGON'S-BLOOD.—Firm at last quoted rates; no transactions reported.

EBONY.—Scarcely any business has been done.

ESSENTIALS OILS.—Cinnamon very scarce, and wanted: 3 cases Leaf at auction sold at 1½d. to 2½d. per oz.; Citronelle firm: none at auction. Lemon Grass steady; a single case common sold at 2d. Anniseed: 8s. 10d. has been paid, but the market is at the close lower at 8s. 8d. Cassia dull at 4s. 6d. Nutmeg: 7 cases at auction retired.

GAMBER.—The market is firmer; at auction 357 bales were partly sold, broken and loose, 14s. 3d. to 14s. 6d., and 640 bags cubes sold at 18s. 9d. Privately 125 tons block have been sold at 15s. 6d. to 15s. 9d. ex ship, and 700 bales cubes for arrival at 16s. 9d. per cwt.

GALLS.—The market for China continues steady; of 259 cases at auction, about one-half sold at 47s. 6d. per cwt. for fine; a portion of the bought-in, however, was subsequently disposed of at 46s. to 47s.

GUMS.—Benjamin: Sumatra firm, good qualities scarce; of 65 packages (chiefly thirds) at auction, a few fair seconds sold at £9 5s. to £9 7s. 6d.; Siam is neglected, and one case block sold at £10 10s. Manila Copal offers more freely, and there is little demand; 641 packages brought to auction, and all retired. Damar again higher, and good demand; 178 cases at auction sold at 59s. to 62s. per cwt. for good, but rather small and dusty; 4,288 bags dust also offered, and retired. Gamboge steady; of 28 cases at public sale, about half found buyers at £13 5s. to £13 7s. 6d. per cwt. for good clean pipe, in sorts.

GUTTA-PERCHA.—In decidedly improved demand, and at auction higher figures have been paid for good, the greater portion of 267 packages, and 5 tons offered, being quitted at 1s. 1½d. to 2s. 7d. per lb. for ordinary reboiled to very good genuine.

HEMP.—The market for Manila continues to present an extremely dull appearance, the demand seeming to be wholly suspended; no transactions are reported.

INDIA-RUBBER.—The market is very quiet, and no business is reported.

JAPAN WAX.—The market is firm, the recent decline being arrested; private business to fair extent has been done at 75s. per cwt.; an offer at public sale of 53 boxes was held for high prices, and retired.

MUSK.—Market firm, and late high prices fairly maintained; public sales have embraced 52 caddies, one parcel of which was sold at 35s. to 38s. 6d. per oz. for fine flat pods; 22s. 6d. to 25s. rough and bally; and 22s. to 26s. 6d. wet pickings, fair to good. Of 14 tins Grain offered, about half sold, fine quality, at 55s.

PEPPER.—Black: The only business this week consists of bear sales for delivery next month at $\frac{1}{4}$ d. to 5d. per lb., and at these figures some 4,000 bags have changed hands, the sellers having the choice of delivering either Penang or Singapore. An actual parcel of Singapore was sold to arrive, March-April shipment, at $\frac{1}{4}$ d., at which figure importers are firm. Auctions have embraced 1,673 bags Singapore, about half sold at $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per lb. for middling, and 380 bags Penang retired. White has been steady, with only retail trade, and at the close is quiet, with little doing; of 370 bags Singapore at public sale, half sold at $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per lb. for middling dull, new crop, and 80 bags Penang were retired.

PLUMBAGO.—Fair to good lump sells well, but inferior sorts attract little attention. Of 1,822 barrels offered by auction 1,000 barrels sold, ordinary dusty to good bright lump 15s. to 25s., chips 11s. 6d. to 14s. 6d., dust 6s. to 11s. per cwt.

RHUBARB.—China is steady, but difficult of sale; auctions have embraced 203 cases, of which about one-third sold at 2s. to 2s. 8d. per lb. for fairly trimmed root, fair to good fracture; 1s. 7d. to 1s. 8d. for high dried pale pinky fracture; and 5d. to 6d. for inferior dark.

RATTANS.—The market is quiet, the only business to report being 23,808 bundles sold at auction at 2s. 9d. to 4s. 6d. per hundred.

RICE.—The market continues dull, and transactions have a, ain been unimportant, but prices are maintained with fair steadiness; auction 2,306 bags Rangoon, from the Cape, chiefly sold—sound at 9s. 9d.; first-class sea-damaged, 9s. to 9s. 4½d.; sound paddy, 8s. Privately 2,000 bags fine Necranzie have been sold at 10s. 9d. A floating cargo of 500 tons Akyab, consisting of Necranzie, Byat, &c., per Seadrift, early March sailing, has been sold at 10s. 9d., Continental terms.

Roots.—China: Market without change, private business in good quality being still effected at 18s.; 40 bags offered at auction were bought in. Colombo: No business reported, value still nominally unaltered.

SPICES.—Cassia Lignea, &c.: There is not much offering privately, but there being rather more inquiry, higher prices have been paid; 112 cases Vera at public sale, retired; buds are again lower, with further arrivals; parcels are offering afloat. Cloves: Quiet; 6 packages Amboyna at auction retired. Mace: Very firm, with decreasing stocks in demand; auctions have embraced 7 cases Penang of new import, sold at 3s. 4d. to 3s. 5d. per lb. for good reddish and palish mixed, and 76 boxes Padang also sold at 2s. 9d. to 3s. 3d. for dark broken to good bright reddish, rather small. Nutmegs: Steady, and public sales have comprised 53 cases Penang and 278 cases Padang, the larger portion being sold—67's at 3s. 4d., 70's at 3s. 7½d. at 2s. 7d., 87's to 94's at 2s. 4d. to 2s. 2d., 106's to 138's at 2s. 2d. to 2s., and 130's to 174's inferior and shrivelled at 1s. 4d. to 1s. 2d.; very bad 6d. to 8d.

STAR ANISEEDS.—The market for China is steady; of 97 cases at auction about one quarter sold at £5 10s. to £5 11s. per cwt. for fair, slightly mouldy.

Soy.—Private transactions in China continue to be effected at previously ruling rates; the greater portion of 125 casks offered at public sale was quitted at 2s. per gallon.

STICKLAC.—Siam continues scarce and firm; no transactions have been reported.

SAGO.—Market steady, but rather less doing. Auctions have embraced 2,111 bags, of which about one-third sold at 18s. to 18s. 6d. per cwt., for middling to good small, and 19s. fine large. Flour quiet, of 1,069 bags Borneo at auction, a small proportion only sold at 16s. 6d. per cwt., being the extreme value.

TAPIOCA.—Prices are steady, but all speculative animation has subsided; public sales have embraced 874 bags Singapore, of which one-third sold at 2½d. to 2½d. per lb. for fine; of 1,399 bags Penang offered, about one-fourth was placed at 2d. to 2½d. per lb. for fair; 82 bags Pearl sold at 17s. 6d. to 18s.; and 35 bags damaged Flour were retired.

TIN.—The market has improved, and a fairly active business is being done at advanced rates; the quotations are:—Straits, on the spot, £129; afloat, £128 to £128 10s.; Banca and Billiton, £129 to £130.

VERMILION.—China continues to be held firmly for advanced rates, and but little business has been done; 6 boxes offered at auction were retired.

NEW YORK MARKET REPORT. TEA.

There has been a little more inquiry for invoices, but the market is only moderately active, and prices for other than Oolong are not very firm. The principal feature of the week has been an auction sale, at which about 6,000 half-chests were disposed of. The sale was well attended, and the prices realised were generally satisfactory. The sales are 1,100 half-chests Green per Lizzie Iredale, 433 do. per Morro Castle, 334 do. per Yokohama, 200 do. per Arracan, 1,300 do. Oolong per The Cedars, 3,934 do. Green, 800 do. Oolong, and 1,186 do. Sou-chong, vessels not named.

COFFEE.—The current quotations for East India kinds are, Java Government bags, 18c. to 20c.; Java mats, 18½c. to 22c.; Singapore, 17c. to 18c.; Manila, 14c. to 15c.; Native Ceylon, 15½c. to 17c. The market for all kinds has been firm, though somewhat quiet; there have been further sales of Java in lots at the current rates, and in addition sales are reported of 1,135 mats and 8,028 pockets Singapore on private terms.

CAMPOR.—China is quoted 15c. gold (in bond).

ESSENTIAL OILS.—Aniseed is quoted $2.30; Cassia, $1.5 gold (in bond).

GAMBIER.—The current quotation is $3.75 to 3.80 gold (duty paid).

HEMP.—For several days following our last report there was a continued business in Manila, which resulted in the sales of 1,000 bales ordinary current quality, ex Ringleader, at 9½c., 700 bales superior, ex same vessel, at 10½c., and 4,000 bales to arrive at 10c., part 60 days prompt, all gold. Towards the close the activity disappeared and no business was done.

INDIGO.—There is no change in the market for Manila, which continues dull; the sales have been about 25 cases at $1.10 to 1.25 currency.

PRESERVED GINGER.—China is quoted $7 to 8 currency (duty paid).

RHUBARB.—The quotation for China is $1 to 1.25 currency (duty paid).

RICE.—Owing to the firmness of holders of Carolina business in that description has been greatly restricted. An improved demand has been shown for Rangoon, and a fair business has been done, comprising 1,500 bags in lots at $7.12½ to 7.37½ currency including one parcel choice quality to arrive at the higher figure, and 1,500 bags in bond at $3.40 gold.

SPICES.—There is less activity, and, while prices are not quotably lower as a general thing, the market is not as strong and as buoyant as it has been; we notice sales of 294 bales No. 1 Batavia Cassia, ex Knight of Snowden, at 36c.; 55 do., per same, 37½c.; 49 cases Singapore Nutmegs in Boston, ex Moorhill, 82½c. (gold); and 300 do. Pepper for export on private terms. There continues a moderate trade demand, with sales in lots of Mace at $1.15; Nutmegs, 84c. to 85c.; Cassia, 32½c.; Wild Cinnamon, 33c. to 34c.; Pepper, 16½c. to 16½c. for Sumatra, and 16½c. to 17c. for Singapore; and Cloves, 12½c. to 12½c.

TIN.—There is still an almost entire absence of inquiry, and prices must be considered nominal; Straits is quoted 32½c. to 33c.; Banca, 33½c. gold.

FREIGHTS AND CHARTERS.

We have no fluctuations to note in rates to the East; coal freights from the North are a trifle firmer, but there is no great demand for tonnage.

Current rates of freight for vessels on the berth: To Yokohama: 35s. weight, 30s. meat; per steamer, via Suez Canal, 90s. meat. To Shanghai: 30s. weight or meat; per steamer, via Suez Canal, 60s. meat. To Hong Kong: 30s. weight, 27s. 6d. meat; per steamer, via Suez Canal, 60s. meat. To Batavia: 25s. weight, 30s. meat. To Singapore: 30s. weight, 25s. meat; per steamer, via Suez Canal, 50s. to 60s. meat. To Ceylon: 20s. weight, 17s. 6d. meat; per steamer, via Suez Canal, 50s. meat, 40s. weight. At New York, to China: — to — per ton of 40 cubic feet.

The current quotations for coal, &c., are as follows: From Wear or Tyne per keel—For Shanghai: £40. For Hong Kong: £28. To Singapore: £25. For Galle: £24. From Newport, Cardiff, or Swansea, per ton—For Shanghai:—£2 2s. 6d. For Hong Kong: £1 10s. For Java: 17s. 6d. For Singapore: £1 6s. For Galle: £1 6s. 6d.

The Admiralty have invited tenders for the conveyance of 111 tons of stores to Hong Kong.

CASUALTIES.

The Vimeira, of London, Self, bound to Galle, dragged her anchors and fouled the Lady Elma Bruce, and carried away galleries, mizen channels and chain-plates; she has been put back to Penarth for repairs.

A telegram received from Singapore, dated March 14, states that the Andromeda had been lost. One dated March 20, states that the Grand Duchess, Consterdine, from London to Singapore, with coals, has been wrecked in the Straits of Sunda; total loss, crew saved.

The Mallard, Young, which sailed from Sunderland, March 8, for Penang, put into St. Helen's Roads, 20, with loss of anchor, and seventy-five fathoms chain.

The John Milton, Bontillier, arrived at New York, March 10, from Canton, experienced a very severe cyclone Dec. 7, lost sails, spars, and upper part of her boats, started her copper, and shipped several seas over the stern, the water getting into the cabin; on March 4 she also encountered a heavy gale.

Advices from Rotterdam, dated March 15, state that the Telanak, Lusink, from Amsterdam to Batavia, whilst moored in the Great Holland Canal, on account of stormy weather, was in collision March 11, and received damage to stern.

The Flevo, Strootman, from Batavia, was in collision, March 14, in the Great North Holland Canal.

MISCELLANEOUS.

At SUZ.—March 19, Ajax (str.), from Singapore, China, &c.

At ADEN.—Feb. 23, Abbotsford (str.), Mann, from London, and left, 24, for Singapore, China, &c.

A telegram received from Singapore, dated 14th March, states that 500 bales have been saved from the wreck of the Don (str.), and more may be obtainable; hold diver in readiness.

The Committee of Lloyd's have issued a notice asking for information regarding the Salamander, Dettelsen, which vessel is reported to have sailed from Newcastle for Singapore June 3 last, and to have been spoken June 14, in lat. 49 N., lon. 7 W.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

Red Sea—Shoal off Perim Island.—Information has been received from the commander of the steam vessel Evora, that in passing the north-west side of Perim Island, the ship grounded in eighteen feet water, three-quarters of a mile from the shore, and remained there upwards of forty-eight hours. From the position in which the ship struck, the lighthouse bore S.E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E., and the west point of the island S. by W. $\frac{1}{2}$ W. nearly a mile. The water gradually shoaled towards the shore, but increased to five and seven fathoms one cable to seaward. Mariners are cautioned in approaching this locality, as the extent of the shoal ground is yet unknown. Hydrographic-office, Admiralty, London, 18th March. [All Bearings are Magnetic. Variation 4 deg. Westerly in 1871.]

ADMIRALTY CHARTS.

A communication has been received at Lloyd's, from Singapore, stating "that the Clarendon, Heinrichs, from Saigon for Hong Kong, struck on the Soubie Reef, in the China Sea, in lat. 11 N., lon. 113 50 E., at seven P.M. on the 24th December. The chart, No. 69, which Captain Heinrichs was using, was marked 75 fathoms, no bottom, where the vessel struck, and there was no broken but a wide patch 17 yards long by about 10 broad. The depth on the rock was 16 feet forward and 15 fathoms abreast of the fore chains, and aft no bottom with 60 fathoms line out. In forty-five minutes the vessel came off with three feet water in the hold, and in the morning about 2,000 bags of rice were thrown overboard, but at seven P.M. the water had increased twelve feet. At eight o'clock captain and crew left the vessel. A court of inquiry was held at Singapore, and the master's certificate returned to him."

In consequence of the above communication the committee sent a letter to the Admiralty, and they are informed in reply that the chart used by the master of the Clarendon, and on which the reef was not marked, could not have been an Admiralty chart, as the number given (69) is not the number of the chart of the China Sea published by the Admiralty, which is 2,660 B., and on which the reef in question is shown.

ART, PICTORIAL AND INDUSTRIAL. An Illustrated Magazine.

THIS Publication was commenced on the 1st of July, in the belief that an ample field existed for a high class monthly magazine devoted to Art; and already the result has fulfilled this expectation. 'ART' is produced in a form eminently adapted to the drawing-room table. It is handsomely printed on fine paper, in super-royal quarto, and each Number contains four or more Full-page Heliotype Illustrations, being reproductions of Ancient and Modern Pictures, Engravings, Designs, Sculpture, and objects of Industrial or Decorative Art.

Among the contributors to 'ART' are Messrs. BLANCHARD JERROLD, CHARLES BURTON, J. CORDY JEAFFRESON, G. W. REID, HYDE CLARKE, GEORGE AUGUSTUS SALA, W. R. RALSTON, JOHN FORBES ROBERTSON, HENRY BLACKBURN, G. W. YAPP, JOHN PIGGOT, Jun., E. OLLIER, &c., &c.

PROSPECTUS.

The "Realm Marine Insurance Company" is established for the purpose of supplying merchants with additional facilities for effecting marine insurances.

The completion of the Suez Canal, and the establishment of telegraphic communication with India, China, Japan, and Australia.

The chief shipbuilders of the United Kingdom are at present turning out every three months upwards of 250,000 tons of steam shipping suitable for the Canal.

British commerce in the East during the last thirty years has advanced in annual value from 17 to upwards of 200 millions sterling, and is steadily increasing. The trade of Egypt, India, China, and Australia with Great Britain is, however, still in its infancy.

Guarantees for the protection, by insurance, of this immense and advancing trade have not increased in corresponding proportions.

The Realm Marine Insurance Company will, therefore, in addition to general business, give special attention and provide adequate means for the protection at sea of Indian and Chinese commerce.

The large profits which the leading Marine Insurance Companies realise are expressed in the prices of their shares.

	Amount of Share.	Amount paid.	Present Market Value.
The Indemnity	£100	£5 13 6	£115 0 0 xd.
Marine	100	15 0 0	85 0 0
Ocean	25	5 0 0	19 0 0 xd.
Thames and Mersey	20	2 0 0	5 10 0 xd.
Universal	20	5 0 0	11 5 0 xd.
British and Foreign	20	4 0 0	8 0 0 xd.
Union	50	5 0 0	10 5 0 xd.

The "Thames and Mersey," at the close of 1869, after paying all office expenses out of interest on investments, declared for distribution a net profit of £135,000. Shares in the Thetis, established last April, on which £5 was paid, are already quoted at £4 premium, or at an advance of 80 per cent. on the amount paid.

The Realm Marine Insurance Company, in providing increased facilities for Inurance, will render service to trade and afford favourable opportunities for the investment of money.

The services of Henry Woodfall, Esq., the well-known Underwriter and Average Adjuster, have been secured as Underwriter to the Company.

A copy of the Memorandum and Articles of Association may be seen at the offices of Messrs. Newman, Dale and Stretton, solicitors to the Company, 75, Cornhill.

Applications for shares, addressed to the Directors in the accompanying form, may be made to the Bankers and Secretary of the Company, at the temporary offices, No. 2, Austin-friars, London, E.C., and to all stock-brokers in the United Kingdom; but no application will be considered unless a deposit of £1 for each share applied for shall have been previously made with the Bankers of the Company. Should a smaller number of shares than that applied for be allotted, the balance of the sum deposited with the Bankers will be appropriated towards the payment of the £3 per share, or in the event of no allotment being made the whole of the deposit will be returned.

An agreement, dated 1st March, 1871, made between William Preston Willins, as agent for and on behalf of the Realm Marine Insurance Company (Limited), of the one part, and Henry Woodfall, of London, of the other part, has been entered into, engaging Mr. Woodfall as Underwriter.

FORM OF APPLICATION FOR SHARES.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

MEDICINE FOR ALL SEASONS.—Diseases latent in the system throughout the winter will manifest themselves on the approach of warmer weather, unless the blood be freed from all impurities, and the body generally from noxious matter. Holloway's Pills have long since established the highest reputation for the full and efficient manner in which they accomplish this purifying purpose. These excellent Pills search every organ, pervade every tissue, and successfully grapple with all deleterious substances, either by neutralising them or extruding them. Holloway's medicine promotes comfort, cheerfulness, health, and strength. This medicine is admirably adapted for the weak and delicate, whose frames are relaxed, whose nerves are unstrung, and whose digestion is upset alike by the winter's inclemencies and the spring's vicissitudes.

Summary of News from the Far East.

JAPAN.

YOKOHAMA.

(TEN DAYS LATER, VIA SAN FRANCISCO.)

The Pacific Mail Company's steamer Japan has arrived at San Francisco, with dates from Yokohama Feb. 22. She brought the following passengers and cargo:—

For New York: C. E. Hill, L. Pien, Mrs. Wesson and son, D. P. Biersley, S. S. Hayes, G. W. Kenny, and sixteen Japanese students. For Europe: W. Marshall, wife, and child, Arthur Brent. Cargo for New York: 189 packages of merchandise, 349 packages of silk, 10,398 packages of tea, and 200 packages of cassia.

The steamer Alaska arrived out on the 21st Feb. Admiral Rogers (American) had gone to the Korea.

The following items have been communicated to the New York press:—

The Daimios are acting independently of the Mikado, and Prince Satsuma seems ready at any moment to break into open rebellion. Foreigners are generally apprehensive of a renewal of civil war during the coming summer. Satsuma has withdrawn all his troops from Yedo, and already public feeling has become alienated generally from the Mikado. Financial affairs were becoming greatly deranged, and counterfeit money was flooding the country. [This certainly must be taken cum grano salis.—Ed. L. & C. T.]

Sixteen German vessels, including several steamers, are practically blockaded at Yokohama. Several of them have attempted to escape, but were all turned back by the vigilance of the French cruisers.

Colonel Dall, United States Consul at Hakodadi, is to be ousted, and will probably be succeeded by Colonel Shepard, now Consul at Yedo.

A good business was being done in Japan. The rates for silks were somewhat lower. Teas were in active demand. The exportations for New York per Great Republic, Minstrel, Solent and Virgil aggregate 2,203,958 pounds.

The annual general meeting of the Yokohama Chamber of Commerce was held on January 18, W. Marshall, Esq., in the chair. The statistics of trade given in the half-yearly report show a great falling off in the export of silk, as compared with the corresponding time last year, but that of tea shows a material increase, and the deliveries of imports compare favourably with 1869. The total exports for the six months ending Dec. 31 were:—silk, $1,247,260; tea, $1,979,060; silkworms' eggs, &c., $2,623,753; and treasure, $7,782,220. The return of foreign shipping shows 227 vessels inwards, and 262 outwards. The finances of the half-year showed receipts, $3,209.95; expenditure, $4,430.61. The report was unanimously adopted, and Mr. Van der Tak elected chairman for the next year.

NAGASAKI.

The Nagasaki Express has the following:—

We learn that some of the native Christians who were deported from Urakami in January last, were sent by order of the Central Government to Kioto for official examination. Of this number forty-one men, women and children recently arrived here in a Satsuma steamer; being prisoners they were not permitted to land; their final destination, we are informed, is the island of Sado. On hearing of their arrival we were in hopes that the Japanese Government intended to relax their severity and release them; but it is quite certain that Paganism in the higher circles in Japan has not decreased during the past twelve months; a fact which becomes painfully apparent by the determination shown by the Government to carry out their original intention, notwithstanding the protest made against it by the representatives of the Treaty Powers at the time the deportations were made.

We have just received news that, at Hita, in Bungo, a number of Ronins, belonging to Choshu, have assembled for a revolt, and have been joined by a large number of the farming classes, 150 men are under orders to leave Nagasaki for the spot; the signal for their assembly was fired at one P.M. to-day, from the Hizen battery below Desima.

The new Oriental Bank Buildings which for the past year have been in course of erection on the Bund from plans by, and under the superintendence of W. Kidner, Esq., architect, have now been completed.

CHINA.

HANKOW.

A meeting of land-renters was held in Hankow on the 23rd Jan., at which the accounts of the Municipal Council for the year 1870 were passed, and Messrs. Beazley, Dawbarn, Harton, and Williams were elected Councillors for the ensuing year. It was resolved to continue the municipal taxes on the same footing as before, except the tax on brick tea, which was fixed at half a candareen per picul. Hankow seems to have gone ahead of Shanghai in procuring a public clock.

SHANGHAI.

Dates by this opportunity are to Feb. 15. The London mail (French) of Dec. 23 arrived out on Feb. 7.

The Imperialists appear to be making some way against the rebellions with which they are struggling in various parts of the country. It is stated that they have gained a victory over the Mahomedans in the North, and authentic intelligence has come to hand to the effect that they have succeeded in regaining possession of Toi-Kung-Ting, a strong and important city in Kweichow. This city, it seems, some years ago fell into the hands of the Mahomedan rebels, and remained in their possession until lately, when owing in part to the efforts made by Wong-Tai-Gam, a major-general, and in part to a stratagem on the part of Chik-Po-Tui, the Fan-Tai of Kweichow, it was again occupied by the mandarins, and has been restored to tranquillity. It appears that at the south side of the city there is a road called Yeong-Teu Road, which was strongly fortified by the rebels, and where the Imperialists were frequently repulsed with serious loss by the enemy. During the last few months Chik-Po-Tui secretly strengthened the Imperial position at the south, and, in order to divert the enemy's attention, he ordered his men to make a false attack on the north-west side of the city. The rebel chief, being alarmed at this sudden attack on his weak point, lost no time in sending troops from the garrison of the south to give assistance to that on the north-west side. Of this, the Imperialists took advantage, renewing their attacks on the south with great force. The strength of this garrison being thus considerably reduced, it was unable to stand the fire of the Imperialists, and yielded, and occupation of this strong point was speedily followed by the re-occupation of the city by the Imperialists. The rebels and their chief surrendered themselves. It is hoped that this victory will have the effect of entirely restoring order in the Kweichow Province; but this idea may probably prove too sanguine, as the rebellion in Kweichow is wide spread and deeply seated.

It will be remembered that some months ago a seaman on board H.M.S. Zebra was unfortunate enough, when practising along with his comrades at the rifle butts, to let off his piece accidentally, the ball of which, entering the head of the Chinese marker, killed him instantaneously. An inquest was held on the body at the Hongkew police-station, and thereafter an inquiry took place at the British Consulate, in the presence of Mr. Davenport, Vice-Consul, the Chehsien, Lieuts. Cotton and King, of the Zebra, and, at a later stage of the inquiry, Mr. Medhurst, British Consul, and the Hon. Capt. Denison, of the Zebra, were also present. It will be remembered that the inquiry was closed in some degree of confusion by the Chehsien indulging in one of his characteristic tirades against foreign Courts, and expressing his conviction that the seaman was guilty of wilful murder and ought to suffer death. The Senior Officer and Mr. Medhurst repeatedly expressed afterwards their willingness that the seaman should be tried at the Supreme Court, but that the Chinese authorities must prosecute. This the Chehsien, however, persistently declined to do, so that all legal redress against the seaman ceased. But we hear that the Admiral, on the case being referred to him, thought it well that concession should so far be made to Chinese custom in such matters, that $100 of compensation should be paid to the relatives of deceased, which sum has, we hear, been paid.

A naval court of inquiry has been held on the loss of the Haimbota, at Ningpo, and Captain Forman suspended for six months.

It will be remembered that four of the men condemned to death for the massacre at Tientsin were kept back for examination by the Russian Consul-General. We hear that this official has now recognised that they actually were concerned in the murder of the Russians, and that they will be executed forthwith. In regard to the final settlement, the Russian Minister is said to have taken the same course as M. de Rochechouart—left the matter open for the decision of his Government.

The compensation offered for material loss suffered, the bishop is ready to accept; but only after the following conditions have been fulfilled. 1st—the infliction of such punishment on the instigators and perpetrators of the massacre as the Foreign Ministers shall agree to be fitting. 2nd—the erection, on the actual site of the outrage, of a substantial monument, with an inscription blaming the atrocity and admitting the innocence of the victims.

This decision of the bishop is the more creditable that the state of affairs in Europe precludes the prospect of the French Government being able to exact more fitting punishment for the crime for some time to come. We rely, however, that the insult to foreigners generally and to the French nation especially will be fittingly repaired. In the meantime, we learn with sincere pleasure the stand made by the representative of the chief sufferers against the unsatisfactory terms proffered.

We are also informed that the final decision in regard to the money rests with the Rev. Pere Etienne, the superior General of the community of the Lazarists and of the Sisters of Charity at Paris.

Mr. Thomas Hanbury, chairman of a committee, embodied in November last, for the relief of Chinese paupers, has published a report of their proceedings, from which it appears that at the almshouses at Sinza from 300 to 600 beggars have been daily fed and housed, and 1,200 garments have been distributed; while, under the supervision of a foreigner, paupers beginning with thirty and ultimately numbering 160, have been employed at fifty cash a day in various sanitary and useful works. The whole scheme has cost about one penny halfpenny per head per day, and of Tls. 2,700 available Tls. 1,600 are still unexpended, so that the committee see their way to carrying the objects of the charity safe through to the beginning of warm weather.

The new steam fire-engine, the Victoria, was out for practice for the first time. It worked most satisfactorily, is much approved of by the Chief Engineer, and will doubtless prove a very efficient addition to the Shanghai Fire Department. As our readers are aware, this engine has been bought, and will be kept up, by the three local insurance offices. We should be glad to see the home-offices, which make large profits out of their Shanghai agencies, show an equal recognition of their obligation to the Fire Department.

At a meeting of the U.S.N. Company, held on the 16th inst., it was resolved to issue debentures to the amount of Tls. 120,000, in order to pay off the debt due by the Company on the purchase of the Glenquile. The debentures are to bear interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, and are to be secured on the income, property and plant. The directors point out that the estimated value of the Company's property will exceed the aggregate amount of the capital and debentures.

The Commissioner of Customs at Ningpo writes:—"San-mow, a large and wealthy sugar hong, has recently failed, to the extent, it is stated, of over Tls. 200,000, and in its fall has carried with it some thirteen cash shops, and created great distress amongst large numbers of Chinese who had funds in the hong laid out at interest. Several other native establishments are reported to be in difficulties, and a peculiarly gloomy termination to the Chinese year is anticipated."

The North German barque Johan Christian, bound from Vancouver's Island to Shanghai with a very valuable cargo, has had a narrow escape. Through stress of weather she was in the vicinity of Ningpo, and chanced to be boarded by a foreign pilot, who told of the fate of the Robert Rickmers, and strongly advised the captain not to venture on proceeding to Shanghai. This advice was followed, and no sooner was the port safely made than a couple of French gunboats were discovered at her heels.

We hear that a private letter, received by last courier from Newchwang, mentions that a most uneasy feeling is prevalent there, the Chinese showing unmistakable feelings of hostility towards foreigners by pelting them with stones, whenever they appear, and using a plentiful supply of the choicest abusive epithets. In fact, most foreigners shut up there devoutly wish for the reopening of the port; for the gunboat, and its forty men would prove but a forlorn hope in the event of any serious attack

SHANGHAI, Feb. 15.

There are some people, both in England and China, who doubt the intention of the Chinese Government to go to war, or rather to commit some outrage upon Europeans, which is their only idea of avenging a wrong. The Chinese have never declared war against any European nation, but hostilities have arisen from some breach of treaty on their part, or some atrocity committed by them. Seizure of opium and imprisonment of merchants was the cause of the first war, under Sir Henry Pottinger. In the second, or "Arrow War," the burning of the factories at Canton and attempted poisoning of the inhabitants of Hong Kong. Third war, under Lord Elgin, there was the Taku fort affair—a treacherous proceeding, entailing great loss of life—and murder of prisoners near Peking, taken under a flag of truce. Besides these acts of treachery there have been many others, such as the murder of the Governor of Macao, Senor Amaral, whose head was cut off and carried away for a reward, massacre of foreigners near Canton, massacre at Tientsin, &c. While the bloodstained negotiator, Chung How, is in Europe trying to cajole the French Government, his masters here are straining every nerve to prepare for war. There are now lying on one of the wharves in Shanghai a number of large guns of heavy calibre, of the newest pattern, manufactured in Belgium for the Chinese Government, with a proportionate supply of shot and shell. These guns are made upon an entirely new principle, viz., that of wedges inserted from the side at the breach; the gun is open from end to end, the cartridge is put in from the breach, and the wedges inserted at right angles, so that the recoil only tightens the wedges, and there is no danger of their being blown out, as in the Armstrong gun. While the British Government are trying to decide upon what gun they think best, and dodging about mitrailleuse, &c., the Chinese, being a more practical Government, have found no difficulty in deciding, and have ordered an unlimited supply of the latest invention. There is at this moment an English vessel in this harbour with 160 tons of gunpowder for the Chinese Government, which gunpowder very likely may be stowed in the Settlement, as the powder hulk is done away with. To these two suggestive facts I may add a third, viz., the recent dismissal of all the Europeans from the Chinese gunboats built here at the arsenal under foreign superintendence. We have nothing to fear from the Chinese people, but the mandarins of all classes are our deadly enemies, and when it suits them they can and will hound on the rabble and soldiery to assault and murder us. The orders from home give a little more latitude to naval commanders, but a milk-and-water policy towards the Chinese must lead to trouble. The want of action lately on the part of the naval forces (owing to orders from home), has made them very unpopular, and they are generally designated the "Rum-and-Water Police." Trade seems in a more healthy state, and Shanghai advances steadily. We are now in the midst of winter amusements and festivities. We have also a Japanese troupe performing here on their way to Australia, and they have attracted crowded houses. Small-pox is very prevalent and fatal at Yokohama, but as yet we have had only a few cases here.

Two German vessels have been seized while sailing under the English flag, and the French Admiral refuses to deliver them up, and does not recognise any transfer made since the war began. It should be a question with the English Government, whether they ought not to prohibit such transfers to the British flag, which is thus prostituted and insulted. It seems a more simple plan not to allow such transfers, which are only colourable, than to remonstrate afterwards on the seizure of a vessel under the British flag, which ought never to have had it. The Robert Rickmers and Sophia Rickmers have been seized and sent to Saigon; another vessel, the A. E. Vidal, is about to run the gauntlet. The French gunboats are on the qui vive, and one commander has been superseded for allowing a German vessel to escape from port.

HONG KONG.

Dates reach to the 22nd Feb. The outward mail of 30th Dec. arrived on the 11th Feb. Telegrams reached to the 7th Feb.

The following items are from the China Mail :—

We are requested to state that the petition from the residents of Hong Kong against a continuance of the gambling licensing system will be transmitted to the Colonial-office by the next homeward mail, and in the meantime it will lie for signature at Messrs. Lane, Crawford, and Co.'s establishment, Queen's-road.

The two houses in Shelley-street, known as Nos. 10 and 12, were sold at auction by Mr. Charles H. Morgan for $6,200. The steamer Lightning was offered for sale by Mr. Morgan, at Messrs. Gibb, Livingston, and Co.'s hong, and bought in at $8,400.

Mr. Antonio Feliciano Marques Pereira, of the Echo do Povo celebrity, took leave of China on Sunday last in the steamer Nestor. He goes to London with his family en route to Lisbon.

Fifteen Chinamen have been beheaded within Chinese jurisdiction, near Macao, for alleged murder of the captain and crew of an "emigrant" vessel, conveying them from Macao to Peru. This coolie trade from Macao is simply a brutal thing, and ought to be stopped.

A romantic incident is reported as having taken place on the downward passage of the Canton steamer yesterday morning (8th). It appears that two small-footed Chinese females, occupying a special cabin, eluded the vigilance of their amah, and took a sort of lovers' leap from the Kinshan's side, a little forward of the wheel. They had clasped themselves in each other's arms, and both struck the iron guards as they descended. How they escaped from the revolving wheel is a mystery; but down they went, and were passed in an instant, the steamer going at full speed at the time, and just then nearing the Bocca Tigris. Captain Cary, however, was prompt; the engines were at once stopped, the steamer backed, and a boat lowered, without loss of time. Owing partly to the loose dresses of the poor girls, and partly to the fact that they were stunned by the blow on the temple and did not struggle; they floated until the boat reached them, and they were rescued, still locked in a strong embrace. Having been taken on board, they were with difficulty severed, and restoratives were immediately applied. The younger of the two, who had suffered most, was wrapped up in a warm blanket, and recovered only after a lapse of two hours. It is said that losses at private gambling parties, and consequent loss of "face," was the cause of this bold and determined attempt at suicide. The girls are respectably connected, and on the arrival of the steamer in Hong Kong they were taken away by their brother. Great credit is due to the captain and all connected with the Kinshan for the praiseworthy manner in which the rescue and recovery were effected.

Nothing, says the China Mail, can prove the utter fallacy of Governor MacDonnell's gambling policy more than the recent investigation at the magistracy into the charge of unlawful possession against Wohang, the last holder of the gambling monopoly. As the facts of that case have already been laid before our readers, it is not necessary here to recapitulate them.

In advocating licensed gambling, Sir Richard founded his arguments mainly on the fact that the gambler would be the special machine for the detection of crimes, thereby he would do real service to the colony, and augment greatly the efficiency of the police. Now, recent events have shown that the farmer was not only reluctant in fulfilling that portion of his obligations to the Government, but had tried all he could to shield offenders. With reference to the case in view, a domestic servant, whose demeanour no doubt would betray him as such, at least to shrewd fellows like the croupiers in these "hells," was allowed to stake and lose a pair of earrings, a piece of jewellery belonging solely to the fairer sex, without the slightest enquiry as to how he came by them—in fact, fully in accordance with the "no-question-will-be-asked" system. When the matter was brought into Court, instead of acknowledging the plain facts in a straightforward manner, the gambler went to work in a crooked and dodging way by substituting for the real rings a false pair, with a view to evade justice. It is very much to be regretted that the adjudicating magistrate did not take a more serious view of the matter, and commit the prisoner for trial at the Supreme Court for receiving stolen goods. It is true that in this instance the jewellery, not as in the case of the bracelets stolen from Mr. Harris, was of Chinese manufacture, but still the analogy is the same; for earrings are not the usual ornaments of a man, and if he had them, he could not have come by them lawfully—he must have either stolen them, or wrung them from his wife.

Experiences of the past several years have unmistakably proved that legalised gambling, instead of working good, has done a large amount of mischief, and that whatever good it might have wrought has been counteracted by its permanent baneful effects. It is a standing disgrace to sanction gambling at all, but it is a still greater shame to continue it.

Further steps have been taken towards laying the telegraph cable of the Great Northern Company between Hong Kong and Shanghai, which it is hoped may be completed in the course of next month. The steamer Cella returned to Hong Kong on the 17th, reporting that she had sailed from Deep Bay, on the south of the island, on the 12th, and having steamed to the north and picked up the shore end of the cable, she proceeded to lay it until the 15th at noon, when the monsoon strengthened into so fresh a gale that the cable had to be cut and buoyed close to the Formosa channel.

The steamer Don, which arrived a short time ago, via the Suez Canal, has been totally lost on her way from Hong Kong to Shanghai. She was found on the night of the 14th, at five p.m., on shore on the Island of Ockseu, by the steamship Chukiang, the captain of which perceiving the wreck to be full of Chinese, fired grape and cannister until they disappeared, then sent a boat on board, and found the decks strewn with portions of cargo, all the tackle-falls and ropes cut, sails flying loose, and that a general pillage had been made. The ship was full of water forward, so high as the twist decks. The vessel has been seen by other steamers, but no further intelligence has come to hand, and up to the present nothing has been heard of the crew or passengers. It is surmised, however, that they probably got off in the boats, and will make their way overland to Swatow. The Chukiang steamer was only able to save eight boxes opium, fifty pieces of shirtings, two dozen boxes caps, and a grindstone, from the wreck. It is hoped that a gunboat may be sent off to look after the vessel, as the amount of property at stake is something very great, the Don containing a full cargo of piece goods from home, besides the opium, &c., shipped from this port. She is the first vessel from home via the Suez Canal that has been lost.

A meeting of the Hong Kong branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society has taken place. The reports from the various stations in the interior show that the work of distributing the Scriptures has progressed favourably on the whole, though in some places, since the Tientsin disturbance, opposition has been experienced. Dr. Legge, who spoke at the meeting, took an encouraging view of Missionary labours in China, and felt confident that the recent persecutions would tend to increase the number of those who would range themselves under the banner of Christianity.

The annual distribution of prizes at the Central School has taken place, his Excellency Major-General Whitfield, Lieutenant-Governor, taking the chair.

An important case is at present occupying the attention of the Supreme Court in connection with the recent murder of the captain and a portion of the crew of the coolie ship Nouvelle Penelope, from Macao. One of the men concerned, who escaped to Chinese territory, was subsequently arrested here, and was brought up before Mr. May, the police magistrate, who, after carefully investigating the case, ordered his rendition to the Chinese authorities. On this, Mr. Francis, solicitor, acting on behalf of the prisoner, applied for a habeas corpus, in order to prevent his being given up; and the whole question of the state of the law with regard to the rendition of Chinese criminals to the native authorities, as well as several other interesting legal points, has thus been raised and argued before Chief Justice Smale "in Chambers"—the Court, however, sitting in the public building, so that due publicity may be given to the proceedings. The arguments adduced by Mr. Francis are of an elaborate nature, and the case stands adjourned.

In the course of an inquest, it has been discovered that there is an establishment similar to the K-Tsze, the Chinese deadhouse, which some time ago caused so much sensation, at Aberdeen, a village about six miles from the city of Victoria; and it appears that, notwithstanding that a hospital is in course of erection in the town, the old system goes on in the villages, and it is said to be impossible to put it down. It might be imagined that within so small a radius as that which bounds Hong Kong it would be possible to put an end to so gross an abuse as taking moribund men to a hovel to die like dogs, and it is to be at least hoped that vigorous measures will be adopted with regard to it.

Mr. J. L. Brown, of the Imperial Customs' Service, has been admitted on the roll of barristers at the Supreme Court, and Mr. Brereton has been placed upon that of solicitors and proctors.

It is stated that the celebrated colonial cruiser Victoria has been sold to the Canton authorities for the sum of $35,000.

HONG KONG AND SHANGHAI BANK MEETING.

The ordinary half-yearly meeting of shareholders in the above corporation was held on February 15. Present: Hon. R. Rowett, chairman; Messrs Greig, Heard, Mencke, Lemann, Pyke, Belilios, Sassoon, Helland; Hon. J. Pauncefoot; Messrs. Harris, Sherwood, Mellish, Burrows, E. Sharp, Gregor, Park, Walker, Notley, G. Sharp, Ehlers, Adams, Hancock, Budde, Chinoy, Pestonjee, Setna, Ebrahim, Rozario, Melchers, Niederberger, Hart, Lanstein, Morgan, Deetjen, Karberg, Lutkens, Pereira, Gaupp, Overbury, Simonis, C. M. Scott, J. S. Cox, Schaar, Head, Beveridge; Dr. Legge; Messrs. Gibson and Detmering.

The Chairman having read the notice convening the meeting, said he would read the report if called upon, but as it had been in the hands of shareholders for some time, it might not be necessary to do so. He hoped they would be satisfied with the condition of affairs shown by the report, although the dividend was not so good as it had been in former half-years. They must remember that large sums had to be set aside by the directors for necessary purposes. The directors had thus prepared rather to meet contingencies than recommend a large dividend at present. In future they all hoped that there would be as good a dividend, if not better.

Mr. Pyke seconded the adoption of the report. Mr. Ehlers said it would be better if the large sums set aside for losses were separated, so as to show how much had been lost in the last six months, and how much lost on former accounts.

The Chairman replied that the shareholders had already been informed that part of the losses were from depreciation of previous securities, and part was lost within the last six months. The directors had not given the exact proportions, because they deemed it unnecessary to go into every detail. The shareholders surely had sufficient confidence in the directors to know that they had set these sums apart wisely.

Mr. Melchers said that, considering all the circumstances, he thought the report very satisfactory, and he proposed a vote of thanks to the directors for the able way in which they had conducted the affairs of the Corporation in very difficult circumstances. (Applause.)

The Chairman drew attention to the motion before the meeting, viz., the adoption of the report. This was carried unanimously.

The Chairman: I have to thank Mr. Melchers and those who joined with him in the vote of approbation. The directors have done everything in their power to improve the credit and standing of the Corporation, and they only want your confidence. If they have your confidence they will have the confidence of the general public, and without that no bank can stand, and with that a bank can do anything. (Loud applause.) The retiring directors and auditors having been re-elected, the meeting separated.

BANGKOK.

The steamer Bangkok, from Singapore, brought over the Chief Justice, Sir Benson Maxwell, on a visit, previous to his departure for Europe.

The Siam Advertiser has the following:—

THE P'USAMRET RAJAKAN PENDIN.

This distinguished nobleman, the most prominent Siamese of the age, is as courteous and gracious as ever to his personal acquaintances. Though overburdened with the affairs of State, being the Chief Executive Minister, his Highness receives with great cordiality and affability his personal acquaintances, and finds his recreation and amusement in superintending the building of elegant steam yachts, and in having what by some are commonly called Chinese histories, but what in reality are only Chinese plays, translated into Siamese. His Highness has a large number of these translated, and is waiting good opportunities to have them printed. It is to be hoped that his Highness will turn his eminent influence and talents to having useful and scientific books, which abound in the English language, translated into Siamese, and thus augment the advancement and usefulness of the kingdom of which he is the pre-eminently prominent man, and thus leave an imperishable name, an imperishable literature, and an imperishable prosperity, his best legacy, to his growing country, that is capable of untold improvements.

H. B. M.'S CONSULAR COURT.

HOWARTH V. CARTER.

The following is the decision of Thomas G. Knox, H.B.M.'s Consul General, in this case:—

This action arises out of an arrangement which was entered into between the plaintiff, who is an engineer employed in the steamer Choo Phya, and the defendant, an hotel keeper in this city; and the chief question in the case is what was that arrangement. The case is, that Mr. Carter asked the plaintiff to procure him a steamer 60 feet long by 10 beam and 15-horse power, built in the Clyde, for not more than £1,000, with another hundred for a pump, the latter to be procured from Gwynne and Co. He is offered a London built steamer 55 feet in length, 9 feet in the beam, and an engine of 12-horse power, at a cost of upwards of £1,500, exclusive of the cost of putting her together at Singapore, which the plaintiff asserts, but the defendant denies, that the defendant authorised him to do there. It seems to me that the plaintiff has no claim against the defendant, whether he be regarded in the light of an agent or of a vendor; he wholly departed from his orders, and has not procured for the defendant or tendered him the thing bargained for. He has no claim either as an agent to be indemnified for the loss he has sustained in his dealing with Messrs. Gwynne and Co., since they were not authorised by the defendant or as a vendor to be paid the price of the steamer, since the article tendered was not the article ordered, nor the price the stipulated price. With respect to the charges at Singapore, it is impossible to suppose that the defendant can have in any way sanctioned or authorised it many months after he had altogether rejected the vessel and the terms of Messrs. Gwynne and Co. For these reasons there must be judgment for the defendant, costs to be paid by plaintiff.

Rumours have been received from the Tacheen river of a disturbance among the Chinese employed in the New Sugar Factory, in which, it is said, that some of the Chinamen fired three shots at Captain Hicks, the local manager, but fortunately without effect; they then resorted to the knife, and report says that Captain Hicks was so severely wounded in the head that it was necessary to bring him to Bangkok.

A vessel of about 400 tons has been launched at Bangkok by Messrs. Maclean and Co., to draw, when loaded, only thirteen feet

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

SINGAPORE.

Dates by this mail are to the 1st March. The London mail (French) of Jan. 20 arrived on the 20th Feb., and that of the 27th Jan. on 1st March, per P. and O. steamer Travancore.

The arrivals of steamers via the Suez Canal have been the Ari-zona, from New York, on the 20th Feb.; the Lumley Castle, from London, on the 23rd; the Said, from Liverpool, on the 24th; and the Leith, on the 28th. The departures by the same route are the William Cory and Una on the 15th, and the Ajax on the 21st, all for London; the Priam, for the same port, on the 1st March.

The principal event of the fortnight has been the departure of Sir Harry Ord, Governor of the colony, who goes home by the present mail steamer, to avail himself of his leave of absence. He took his departure for Penang on Monday, embarking at Dal-housie Pier with the usual honours, consisting of a salute of seventeen guns from Fort Canning, the attendance of a company of the 7th M.N.I., and the escort of his Excellency to the barge in waiting by the leading officials. Colonel Anson, Lieutenant-Governor of Penang, who is to be our Acting-Governor during Sir Harry Ord's absence, arrived here in the Pluto on Wednesday last, and his place at Penang will be filled by [Mr. Arthur N. Birch, of the Colonial-office.

As usual during the season of the Chinese New Year there has occurred little worthy of note during the past fortnight. The Chinese, who form by far the larger part of the population, have devoted themselves to the enjoyment of their festivities, which began on the 19th ult., and will continue until the 6th inst. The roar of crackers and squibs, the beating of gongs, and the noise and clatter attendant upon their celebrations have been unceasing. Theft and robbery, the invariable accompaniment of this season, have been unusually prevalent. In the country districts gang robberies and burglaries have been frequent, but the amounts stolen have generally been insignificantly small, so that there is little reason to apprehend the presence in the midst of any regularly organised gang of depredators.

The British steamer Parana, Captain Wilkinson, from London, Dec. 10, via Suez Canal, has arrived. The Parana had on board Commanding Officer R. Wadeson, Lieutenant R. Wilson, Surgeon Forbes Dick, Ensigns D. L. Baynes, W. H. Beaumont, and A. H. Payne, one hundred men, six women, and eleven children—75th Regiment.

We hear that the nephew and adopted son of his Highness the Maharajah of Johore will go home, under the care and auspices of H.E. the Governor, to receive an English education. The Raffles' Institution had better look to its laurels.

The meeting of shareholders in the Tanjong Pagar Dock was held on the 23rd Feb., when the directors' report, showing a profit of $12,918 for the half year, was passed, and a dividend declared at the rate of 4 per cent. on original, and 8 per cent. on preference shares. The Directors Report and balance sheet will be found in our advertising columns.

The Straits Times has the following on the Governor Ord:—

As to the influence of Sir Harry Ord on the legislation of the colony, we have to find little fault, beyond the precipitancy with which he set to work, and which has resulted in the necessity for a long list of amendments which are not creditable or ornamental to our Statute-book. We think that many useful measures have been initiated, which, had we had a less restless man for governor, might have been unthought of. It will be borne in mind that some of the most unpopular enactments—such as the reconstitution of the Court, were carried out in obedience to the Colonial-office, and are not blameable to Sir Harry Ord. Other measures, too, such as the Passenger and Pilot Ordinances, which met outspoken criticism at the time, have, with the amendments made upon them, not worked any of the evil that was anticipated from them. The only piece of legislation for which we think he is to blame is that connected with the Preservation of the Peace Act—less from any mischief which has been perpetrated under it than for the unconstitutional principles which it introduced. It was carried, too, in face of the general disapproval of the community, without, we think, any sufficient necessity. The fact that it has not been availed of goes far to prove this. But then it was a measure that accumulated arbitrary power in the Governor's hands, and fed that apparently insatiable hankering after the centralisation of authority within himself which is characteristic of the man; moreover, the very opposition it met with was a further incentive for him to carry it through—another means of illustrating his overweening self-confidence and disregard of public opinion.

In one thing Sir Harry Ord has been successful, and that is the expansion of the revenue without fresh taxation. Part of this is natural, no doubt, and due to the increase of trade and population; but a good deal is the result of his management, and a keen regard for money-making in all the transactions of Government. It has been argued that the increase in the rental of the farms—the chief source of revenue—was the result of a false and injurious bolstering up of their value, and no doubt they have been squeezed pretty tight; but Government is just as entitled to accept the best price for its farms as the merchant for his goods, and no more bound than he to say to the buyer, "My good man, you are paying too much for this; you will have no profit left." So far, too, the result has shown that the farms can be worked successfully at the increased rates; at least, we can put no other interpretation on the fact that an extension of term has been applied for by the lessees. Sir Harry Ord has worked the revenue well, and, we think, without endangering its future productiveness; we only wish we could give him the same credit for the manner in which it has been expended. But we fear this is impossible, for we cannot point to a single outlay of any magnitude that has not ministered either to his comfort or to his vanity. Government House—Government steamers, and imposing establishments have been created and maintained,—while hospitals, waterworks, drainage, and nearly every work that could have contributed to the comfort and happiness of the tax-payers have been neglected. Province Wellesley and Malacca may have had benefits showered upon them—if so, let them pay their meed of thanks—Singapore owes no gratitude.

PEACE IN THE LAND.

I.

So Sir Harry is leaving for England—
To lament, sure, would be a mistake—
Let the friends he may count on his fingers,
Wear the willow or rue for his sake—
We will not for a moment detain him,
And this prayer he will quite understand :
Don't return, most unpopular Ruler,
That we may have peace in the land !

II.

When he came we were glad to receive him,
And tried to make happy his stay,
But soon we found out our misfortune
And, now, heartily wish him away.
We will sing, as guns boom from Fort Canning,
To announce that he's leaving our strand :
Don't return, most unpopular Ruler,
That we may have peace in the land !

III.

Abilities fair though possessing—
He has made many blunders through haste—
His insatiable greed is for power,
And he meddles and worries from taste—
He may go ! Good-bye ! Joy go with him !
And the people applaud foot and hand :
Don't return, most unpopular Ruler,
And let us have peace in the land !

IV.

His palace—his steamers—his convicts—
His contempt for our merchants and trade,
The tax on all native processions—
Odds and ends from the public purse paid—
All, have anger'd the popular feeling,
And, therefore, we sing in a band :
Don't return, most unpopular Ruler,
And we shall have peace in the land !

Commercial Report.

IMPORTS.

HANKOW.—The market was quieter at the date of last advices, with little prospect of demand before the New Year's holidays.

SHANGHAI.—An excellent demand for most plain staple fabrics had characterised the fortnight, and transactions had only been limited by the unwillingness of importers to sell for delivery after the holidays, as many looked for a brisk spring demand, at full prices. Quotations were nearly the same as in our last report.

HONG KONG.—Business had improved, owing to the favourable character of the political news from Europe, and prices for most articles had improved. At the close there was nothing doing, the Chinese New Year holidays having commenced. Cotton Yarn: Good demand for Nos. 16 to 32, leading to a large business at daily advancing rates. Nos. 38 to 42 had attracted little attention, but closed firm. Grey Shirtings: 7 lbs., good demand, but sales restricted, owing to smallness of stock, and higher pretensions of importers; 8½ lbs., in moderate inquiry; heavy goods had attracted more attention at the advance quoted. White Shirtings: Rather more inquiry for common and medium qualities; fine unchanged. T-Cloths: 6 lbs., common in good demand, but holders refused to accept current offers; Mexican 6 lbs. still neglected; 7 lbs. Mexicans saleable at quotations for quick arrival. Spotted Shirtings: Fair demand at an improvement of about 10c. Turkey Red: Declining. Other Cotton Goods: Fairly saleable at slightly higher rates. Woollens: unchanged; few transactions. Iron Nail Rod: Fair demand, prices tending upward; Square and Round Bar unchanged; Soft Bar lower. Lead: Good Chinese demand at $5.95 to 6.05. Coals: Market extremely quiet, with little or no demand; quotations, in the absence of any transactions, nominal. Arrivals: 1,300 tons Cardiff for sale, 2,470 tons English for consumers, 900 tons Australian for consumers, and 1,230 tons for sale. Quotations:—Cotton Yarn, No. 16 to 24, $108 to 116; do., 28 to 32, $112 to 119; do., 38 to 42, $127 to 135.50 per bale. Grey Shirtings, 7 lbs., $2.15 to 2.20 per piece; do., 8.4 lbs., $2.60 to 2.67½; 9.12 to 10 lbs., $3.35 to 3.55. White Shirtings, $2.10 to 2.85; fine, $3.25 to 5. T-Cloths, 6 lbs., ord., $1.57½ to 1.60; Mex., $1.75 to 1.80; 7 lbs., ord., $1.82½ to 1.90; Mex., $2.05 to 2.20; 8 to 8.4 oz., $2.55 to 2.60. Spotted Shirtings, white, $2.70 to 2.75; dyed, $3.50 to 3.70. Turkey Red Shirtings, 3 lbs., $2.30 to 2.50. Brocales, dyed, $3.60 to 3.80. American Drills, $4.15 to 4.25; English do., $4 to 4.10; Dutch do., $3.85 to 3.95. Iron, Nail Rod, $2.55 to 2.65 per picul; Bar, $2.40 to 4.20. Lead, $5.70 to 6.

SINGAPORE.—30-inch Grey Shirtings: Good inquiry for 8½ lb., but prices weaker, the bulk of sales having been made at $2.6½, but some importers had offered to sell "to arrive" at $2.60. Stocks light. 7 lb. slightly improved; sales at $2.05 to 2.10; 6 lb. dull of sale at $1.77½. Small sales of 9 lb. at $2.85, and 8 lb. at $2.55; no transactions in 10 lb. T-Cloths: Moderate inquiry for 5 and 6 lb., met by holders at rather easier rates; transactions at $1.27½ to 1.30, and $1.50 to 1.52½ respectively; little doing in 4 lb. or 7 lb. Maddapollams in very limited demand at lower rates; small sales of 2½ lb. at $17½, and 3 lb. $18½ to 18½. Other Cotton goods but little changed. 36-inch Grey Long Cloths are quite out of demand, and no transactions reported. Most descriptions of Woollen goods quite unsaleable. A small sale of assorted Camlets 32 lb. reported at $14½. A few pieces of 8½ lb. Scarle Long Ells, placed at $5.75. Spanish Stripes, small sales of superior at 80 cents. Lustres, Bombazetta, and Lastings in no demand. Greys: No inquiry for 40's, which were quoted $116 to $118. Nothing doing in 30's, quotations quite nominal. Some inquiry for 18-22's, and sales at $90. Turkey Red Yarn 10 lb. Glasgow dye in good demand for German, no inquiry. 12 lb. Glasgow dye dull at $14½ to $147½. Dark Green in good request and firm at $82 to $84. Imperial Red is in more inquiry at $70 to $71. Iron: better demand for Nail Rods, sales at $2.30 to $2.35; other kinds in small inquiry. Lead: 50 tons LB sold "to arrive" at $5.42½ cash. Sheet, no improvement.

EXPORTS.

TEA.

YOKOHAMA.—An active demand had been maintained, and full prices were being paid, especially for superior kinds. The stock was about 5,100 piculs. The Solent sailed for New York on the 6th Feb., but particulars of her cargo had not been recorded. The Asphodel, loading for Boston and New York, was nearly full, and the clipper ship Lothair was engaged full for the latter port at £2 10s. to £2 15s. per ton.

KIUKIANG.—No business; a few shipments on native account; quotations nominal.

HANKOW.—No settlements to report. Shipments to Shanghai, for sale on native account, 1,146 chests; quotations nominal.

SHANGHAI.—Black: Small business only transacted since last mail; owing to the approach of the China New Year holidays holders had been willing sellers, and had quitted their Teas when offers on a par with those existing a fortnight previously had been made; supplies again on a small scale, and stocks unsold unimportant; settlements for the fortnight, 6,700 chests; stock, 22 chops, or 7,100 packages; quotations (duty paid, exchange at 5s. 11d., freight at £2 per ton): Hobow, common, 10½d. to 11½d.; Oonam, common, 9½d. to 10d.; Ningchow, common to fair, 1½d. to 1s. 1½d. Green: The business done during the fortnight had been comparatively small, and settlements only amounted to 12,000 half-chests; prices without change; Moyunes had been sold at Tls. 40, common to fair chops at from Tls. 32 to 35. Receipts on a very small scale, and consisted of very inferior parcels. Settlements for the fortnight, 11,905 half-chests; re-shipments on owners' account, 310 half-chests; stock, 32 chops, or 13,306 packages, of Fychow, Moyune, and Teenkai Teas, 5 chops, or 1,756 packages, of Pingsuey and Shanghai-packed Teas.

FOOCHOW.—The settlements of the fortnight consisted of 4,208 chests Congou, and 1,685 half-chests Oolong, while the arrivals had amounted to 3,982 chests Congou, making the total arrivals of Congou and Sou-chong to Feb. 13, 638,435 chests against 717,655 chests last season. Congou: The purchases of the fortnight had been made at previous rates, and quotations at the close were quite nominal, business having ceased. Sou-chong: None on the market. Oolong: The only settlement had been 1,685 half-chests of common to good cargo, at Tls. 17½ proportion. The remaining stock consisted of 10,682 half-chests, which belonged to one Teaman, who refused to sell unless the whole lot was taken. Quotations: Common Cargo, Tls. 15 to 17; fair to good cargo, Tls. 18 to 20. Scented Tea and Flowery Pekoe: None on the market.

CANTON.—The few settlements in Canton-made teas reported, had been principally composed of parcels held by teamen anxious to close their accounts before the China New Year, and these show a slight decline on last purchases. The Isles of the South which was completing her cargo at Macao, would in all probability be the last sailing vessel for London from this port for the present season. Canton settlements from February 3 to February 17, 1871:—Scented Orange Pekoe: 3,200 boxes at Tls. 12 to 16½; Scented Caper: 1,600 boxes at Tls. 16 to 19; Canton Greens, Gunpowder: 1,800 boxes at Tls. 14 to 22; Imperial: 150 boxes at Tls. 18½.

SILK.

YOKOHAMA.—The inquiry had ruled steady, and higher values had been obtained. There were about 2,000 bales on offer, held at the following figures:—Mybush Extra, $750 per picul; No. 1, $710 to 740; Medium and Inferior, $600 to 700; Extra Oshu, $905; and Extra Sodai, $720.

SHANGHAI.—Messrs. C.J. Skeggs and Co.'s Circular is as follows:—The American mail steamer left on the 12th February with 226 bales for New York, consisting chiefly of Re-reeled Hainin and Tsatlee, with a few Kahing Taysaam and chop Tsatlee, mostly best selections, for which extreme prices have been paid. Just as the last English mail was leaving some spirited buying commenced, and has continued throughout the fortnight, prices gradually hardening as stocks decreased. Many of the later purchases have been made at an advance of Tls. 5 on Chop Silks, and Tls. 10 to 15 on 4½ and 5 Tsatlees. Re-reels and Thrown have also participated in the rise. Hangchow and Chiu Cum Taysaams are quite out of stock. The bulk of the purchases are reported to be for remittances. The following are a few of the prices that have been paid:—Chooching, No. 3, 30s. 8d.; Koo Fong Sing, No. 3, 30s. 2d.; Dragon chop, No. 3, 30s. 2d.; Gold Lion chop, No. 1, 28s. 5d.; Old Lion chop, No. 3, 27s. 1d.; Red Peacock, 26s. 7d. to 26s. 10d.; Euke Fong Elephant chop, 26s. 7d. to 26s. 10d.; Pang E Tah Re-reeled Hainin, 1, 2, and 3, 29s. 11d. to 32s. 2d.; Ordinary Re-reeled Hainin, 28s. 8d. to 30s. 8d.; Ordinary Re-reeled Tsatlee, 28s. 5d. to 30s. 8d.

CANTON.—The inquiry for fair to medium Tsatlee reels, noticed in our last report, had continued during the fortnight, though at prices slightly higher than those last given, and about 150 bales had been shipped by the present mail steamer to Europe. Rumours of peace received by telegram, appeared to have given holders the impression that the price of this staple is likely to advance, but the stock coming down from the country districts after the Chinese holidays would probably have the opposite effect, and result in a decline in prices, which would no doubt induce considerable business. There are no settlements reported for America. Stock estimated at 30 bales Loongkongs, 30 bales Kow-kongs, 1,100 bales Tsatlee reel, 300 bales Cumchucks, Lacklows, &c., and 600 bales inferior descriptions. At 4s. 4½d. exchange, the following were the laying down costs in London, per overland route:—Tsatlee, reel, best selected, 18s. 5d. to 19s. 2d. per lb.; No. 1, 17s. 10d. to 18s.; No. 2, 16s. 11d. to 17s. 1d.; Loongkong, best selected, 20s. 6d. to 20s. 8d.; No. 1, 18s. 9d.; No. 2, 18s.; Cumchuck and Lacklow, No. 1, 18s. 5d.; re-reeled do., 20s. 8d.

JAVA AND STRAITS PRODUCE.

BATAVIA.—Arrack: f.85 to f.90 per leaguer; small sales, owing to reduced stocks. Cloves: f.25 per picul; nominal. Coffee: No stock. Cubebs: f.15 per picul; no stock. Gutta-percha: f.100 to f.150 per picul; in less request. Gum Dammar: f.34.50 to f.36 per picul; sales. Hides: Cow, f.30 to f.40; Buffalo, f.21 to f.27 per lb.; sales. India-rubber: f.100 to f.110 per picul; only small lots are offered. Indigo: f.4.30 to f.4.55; first quality scarce. Mace: f.190 to f.225 per picul; without arrivals. Nutmegs: f.90 to f.110; saleable. Pepper: Black—f.26 to f.28 per picul; scarce; in good inquiry. Rice: Table—None in the market; first quality, f.160 to f.175 per coyang; superior quality wanted; second, f.140 to f.150 per coyang; small stocks; cargo, f.100 to f.110 per coyang; without stocks. Rattans: Borneo at f.11 to f.13 per picul; Padang, f.8 to f.10 per picul; scarce. Sapanwood: Manila—No stocks; Java, f.2.50 to f.3; an auction of 3,600 piculs is advertised for March 11. Sugar: Jacatra, f.16 to f.16.50; on the coast, f.16.50 to f.17.50; scarce: market cleared. Tin: Billiton, none in the market.

SINGAPORE.—Business had been interfered with by the Chinese New Year, but towards the close there had been a fair demand for most articles; supplies had been coming in slowly. Gambier had been firmer and had an upward tendency; about 550 tons had been contracted for, at $2.80 to 2.87½ per picul, and the market closed firm, supplies coming forward slowly. Black Pepper had declined rapidly owing to telegrams of a fall on the home market, sales at $10.55 to 9.75 per picul; the market closed firmer, the last transaction reported being at $9.85 per picul. White Pepper had receded to $14.40 to 14.25 per picul, but subsequently recovered to $14.50. Pearl Sago steady; fair demand. Sago Flour firm at previous quotations; business limited by smallness of supplies. Tin had fallen in value owing to telegrams of a decline on the home market, a moderate business had been done at $31½ to 31½ per picul, the market closed weak. Bontyne Coffee inquired for, but supplies had been all bought to arrive, no business reported; quotations unaltered. Gutta Percha advancing; active demand and price higher, supplies of good and medium qualities all cleared at full rates. India Rubber in request, price firm.

BURNSIDE.—On the 24th Jan., at Nagasaki, the wife of the Rev. Henderson Burnside, of a daughter.

COVENEY.—On the 21st Feb., at Singapore, the wife of W. Coveney, Esq., of a son.

HANBURY.—On the 10th March, at Shanghai, China, the wife of Thomas Hanbury, Esq., of a son.

PATERSON.—On the 1st March, at Amoy, China, the wife of John Paterson, Esq., of a son.

REISS.—On the 27th March, the wife of Mr. Fritz Reiss, of Parkfield, Eccles, near Manchester, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

GOOCH-CROSKY.—On the 30th March, at St. George's, Bloomsbury, by the Rev. F. A. Walker, M.A., curate, Captain Frank Gooch, H.M.'s (Queen's Own) 4th Hussars, youngest son of Sir Daniell Gooch, Bart., M.P., of Fulthorpe House, London, and Clewer Park, Windsor, to Teresa, fourth daughter of Joseph Rooney Crosky, Esq., formerly of Southampton.

HASELWOOD-PARR.—On the 30th March, at St. Mary's Paddington, by the Rev. W. K. Mott, M.A., assisted by the Rev. J. W. Buckley, M.A., vicar of the parish, Alfred Henry Charles, eldest son of N. W. Haselwood, Esq., R.N.R., Commander P. and O. service, to Florence Ada Maria, daughter of the late James Parr, Esq., of Mont-le-Grand, Exeter, and Cloughton, Birkenhead.

GUNTER-MACHAGAN.—On the 2nd Feb., at the Cathedral, Colombo, by the Right Rev. the Bishop of Colombo, assisted by the Rev. J. Bacon, Howel Gunter, Lieutenant and Adjutant H.M.'s 73rd Regiment, to Mary Alice, widow of the late R. E. S. Machagan, Esq., and daughter of George Wall, Esq., Colombo.

WATSON-WAUCHOPE.—On the 21st Jan., at H.B.M.'s Legation, Yokohama, by the Rev. M. Buckworth Bailey, E. Burgess Watson, Esq., fourth son of J. Burgess Watson, Esq., of Nottingham-place Regent's-park, and Roswell-place, Hayes, to Mary, eldest daughter of George Wauchope, Esq., Edinburgh.

DEATHS.

COPLAND.—On the 19th Feb., at Burnbank, Singapore, the Rev. Matthew Johnstone Copland, Minister of the Presbyterian Church.

MACKINTOSH.—On the 4th Feb., at Shanghai, Flora Anne, wife of Lachlan Mackintosh, Esq.

SMALLS.—On the 24th March, at Brighton, Henry Lewis Smale, Esq., late of Doctors'-commons, in the 82nd year of his age.

THE SINGAPORE RAILWAY.

(To the Editor of The London and China Telegraph.)

Sir,—I hope you inserted the letter which I wrote you respecting this railway a fortnight ago, for the following additional reasons:—

It was then understood that the chairman fairly expressed the general opinions of the gentlemen present at the meeting to which I alluded, when he stated their views were "not conservative," but it has since been alleged that the views of some of the home subscribers are ultra conservative; in fact, that their subscriptions are only promised on the express condition that they do not aid in constructing a line to extend beyond the wharves at Tanjong Pagar, in which they themselves are interested.

One of the gentlemen here referred to is the largest landowner at Tanjong Pagar, but another is a known freetrader, who, while this place was in its infancy, ably wielded his pen for its benefit, and who moreover has always shown himself so forward in advancing the general interests of the Settlement that I cannot believe he is now so inimical to progress as to connive at a scheme the aim of which is monopoly.

The Suez Canal is revolutionising our trade, ships are being rapidly superseded by steamers, and for these complete wharfage accommodation at this port is daily becoming more and more necessary.

New Harbour, you are aware, has long been used by the P. and O. and other steamers, in fact, is the only place where steamers can be efficiently accommodated, and it was in anticipation of this traffic that the railway was projected several years ago; but, unfortunately, it now appears as if the line would neither be carried out in the spirit nor to the extent then looked for, owing to conflicting interests coming in the way.

I have already said that only New Harbour affords proper facilities for steamers; the accommodation at the nearest wharves (Tanjong Pagar) is even now found insufficient, but the wharves further off are not much more availed of than formerly, although they do not extend beyond three miles distance from town, and this circumstance will readily be accounted for by those who, knowing the place, are aware that our only means of transport are miserably small bullock hackeries of the most primitive description, rarely capable of a second journey, even for this distance in one day, and that their loads are exposed to damage from rain at all seasons.

Indeed, it is evident that the growing traffic to and from New Harbour can only be met by a railway connecting all the wharves with the town, and he will not be a well-wisher to Singapore who does not aid in furthering the completion of the original line suggested by Colonel Collyer, and supported by such men as General Cavenagh and Colonel Macpherson, with whom the welfare of the Settlement was permanent, and who were far above fostering petty rivalries in any form.

I trust, Sir, that you will advocate the Singapore and New Harbour Railway in its integrity, as espoused by these able officers, and not countenance the dwarfed scheme now put forward by the Tanjong Pagar Company to accommodate their own traffic only, and the accomplishment of which would tend to confine complete wharfage facilities to their own premises, thus virtually establishing a monopoly.

The general interests of the public are unquestionably concerned in this matter, and if those interests are fully kept in view, there cannot be a doubt that the original scheme of railway merits the most liberal support; indeed, the benefits to result are so obvious that if I was one of the members of the Legislative Council, instead of seeking a concession for the section in which I was personally interested, I would not hesitate to propose that the whole should be carried out by the Government itself, being confident that the New Harbour traffic would amply cover any loss on first working the extension beyond it through the island, and ere long yield an adequate return for the whole outlay.

Yours faithfully,

Singapore, 28th Feb., 1871.

A MERCHANT.

The "Foreign Intelligence" of our present issue contains an important item of information from the United States. A Bill has been passed in the House of Representatives at Washington, by a large majority, abolishing the import duties upon tea and coffee. It is a singular circumstance that a measure affecting commercial interests to such a vast extent should have been allowed to pass absolutely without comment. In the course of the present week we shall probably receive advices of the introduction of the Bill into the Senate and its reception therein.

At the meeting of the Oriental Bank, which is fixed to take place on the 20th inst., a dividend at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum will be recommended.

MARVELLOUS FEAT IN TELEGRAPHY.—The result of the boat race was telegraphed by the Falmouth and Gibraltar and British Indian Cables, and arrived at Lisbon at 10.40 A.M.; Gibraltar at 10.41 A.M.; Malta at 10.41 A.M.; Alexandria at 10.42 A.M.; Bombay at 10.44 A.M.

Mr. FREDERICK WALPOLE proceeds to Constantinople to negotiate with the Turkish Government for a concession of a railway from a port on the Mediterranean to Bassorah, at the head of the Gulf of Persia. Mr. Walpole is acting on behalf of a body of British capitalists, among whom is Mr. W. P. Andrew, who has ably advocated the Euphrates route for nearly twenty years; and, according to the last advices, the concession will, it is expected, shortly be granted.

CHINA CUSTOMS QUARTERLY RETURN.

The following is a resume of the returns referred to in our last issue from each of the ports:—

TIENTSIN.

Mr. Commissioner Hennen reports that the trade during the quarter was influenced by the apprehension of hostilities generally entertained by the Chinese. They continued to import freely with the expectation of getting their goods into the interior before any difficulties of transport could arise. The large increase in the imports for the present quarter will, therefore, probably be counterbalanced by a decrease in those for the concluding quarter of the year. Grey shirtings show the largest increase. Drills advance steadily, and continue to force the American manufacture out of the market. Twills show a considerable increase, in consequence of the low prices consequent on their excessive import into Shanghai. The import of matches and needles show such reduced figures as to suggest that some caution is at length being exercised with regard to the supply of those articles. The opium trade has suffered from the feeling of insecurity, and prices have been anything but remunerative. The total revenue shows Tls. 105,386, against Tls. 111,803 for the corresponding quarter of 1869. During the quarter Messrs. Trautmann and Co., one of the oldest established houses engaged in the steamer traffic between this port and Shanghai, withdrew from the trade, the steamers of which they had had the management for many years passing into the hands of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson, and Co., at Shanghai, and Messrs. J. Livingstone and Co. at Tientsin.

CHEFOO.

Mr. Commissioner Wright reports a noticeable increase in the import of cotton fabrics, and the stocks were said to be unusually light. The prices of grey shirtings have ranged from Tls. 2.18 to Tls. 2.30, and that of T-cloths from Tls. 1.40 to Tls. 1.80. In exports, bean cake, and bean oil have been largely shipped, and yellow silk appears in a quantity large as compared with previous years. At the close of the quarter there were no less than fifty-five vessels in port, fourteen of which were North-German. The revenue showed Tls. 74,450 against the corresponding quarter of 1869, Tls. 55,953—and of 1868, Tls. 84,443.

NEUCHWANG.

Mr. Acting Commissioner Luson reports a satisfactory quarter's trade. Imports have come to hand freely, but most articles show a decline of twenty per cent. on the rates ruling at the same time last year. Opium alone has shown an increase in price. In woollen and cotton piece goods the native merchants complain that they cannot sell them for cost price. In exports, pulse, pulse cake, and pulse oil have shown a decline; but a fair crop of the herb is expected. The scarcity caused by the failure of last year's crops and the inundations caused much privation in this province. Some excitement and many disquieting rumours were current after the Tientsin Massacre, but these soon passed away, and there has been no reason, so far, to apprehend any disturbances at this port. The quarter's revenue shows Tls. 57,031, as against Tls. 81,054 in 1869, and Tls. 66,234 in 1868.

HANKOW.

Mr. Hobson, Assistant in charge, reports the most serious inundation since this port was opened to foreign commerce. The trade, however, did not suffer as might be expected, and large transactions took place. The imports of piece goods showed 283,350 pieces Grey Shirtings, as against 246,322 in the previous year; and T-Cloths and Drills exhibited a still greater increase—the former showing 205,801 pieces, against 47,478, and the latter 108,424 pieces against 78,281 in the previous year. The revenue showed Tls. 469,090, against 478,532 in the corresponding quarter of last year, no revenue whatever having been realised this quarter from opium, which, in the corresponding quarter of last year, produced Tls. 1,390, the general revenue may be said to have increased to almost that amount; but foreign merchants had to complain of low prices the whole quarter through. The export of tea was 3,000 piculs greater than in the corresponding quarter of last year.

KIUKIANG.

Mr. Commissioner Drew reports a smaller import of Grey Shirtings and T-Cloths than in 1868 and 1869. Drills show a gain of more than 4,000 pieces over either of those years. Woollens also stand at somewhat better figures than in foregoing years. Opium shows no falling off; and the consumption is remarkably regular from year to year. The authorities exerted unusually systematic efforts to relieve the sufferers by the summer's flood, though the sum raised would be more practically expended in repairing dykes which might prevent damage, than in charity, which, considering the vast numbers of the population, can only relieve the poor to the amount of 70 cash per head, a sum far too small to afford any substantial assistance. The revenue was Tls. 151,461, against Tls. 138,818 in the corresponding quarter of last year.

CHINKIANG.

Mr. Acting-Commissioner Woodruff reports a satisfactory quarter's trade. The import of cotton goods has increased, 239,692 pieces having been imported, 177,447 sent inland under pass, against 143,067 imported and 108,938 sent inland during the corresponding quarter of 1869. In woollens 22,423 pieces have been imported and 8,812 sent inland under pass, against 9,127 imported and 3,158 sent inland during the same time last year. The demand for nail rod increased greatly. The falling off in native sugar continued. There was a comparatively considerable gain in export duties, and the transit dues were nearly doubled. The revenue shows Tls. 21,543, against 14,616 in 1869, and 12,430 in 1868.

SHANGHAI.

Mr. Hammond, Acting Deputy Commissioner in charge, furnishes statistics which show the import of grey shirtings to be almost stationary, as compared with last year. T-cloths fell in the same time from 862,878 pieces to 598,967 pieces, and drills showed a much greater proportionate decline. Re-exports to Chinese ports exhibit a steady increase, especially in T-cloths and drills. The re-exports to Japan show 68,935 pieces grey shirtings, against 4,750 pieces in the corresponding quarter last year. The export of silk shows a falling off of about ten per cent., and tea an increase in about the same proportion. The quarter's revenue amounted to Tls. 711,121.

NINGPO.

Mr. Commissioner White reports a marked increase in the importation of cotton piece goods. Grey shirtings have increased 29,850 pieces; white shirtings, 3,720 pieces; T cloths 11,315; English drills, 228; and American drills, 7,690. Camlets have also increased 982 pieces; lastings, 600 pieces; lustras, 1,025; and Spanish stripes, 427. Nail rod and bar have fallen off 4,628 piculs. In exports, green tea has gained 8,236 piculs. Alum and wheat show a nil export, against 1,018 piculs and 6,720 piculs respectively in the same period of 1869. The total revenue shows an increase of Tls. 10,464, which is due to the duties on opium and exports having improved. On the whole the quarter's result is satisfactory, especially when viewed in connection with the disquieting rumours in circulation in July and August. Mr. White says the local authorities took active steps to put down any seditious placards, and disturbances were therefore prevented.

TAMSUI—FORMOSA.

Mr. Detring, Assistant in charge, reports that, owing to supplies not having been thrown on the market in large quantities, piece goods have shown a fair profit. The quantity is, however, small. Grey shirtings show 3,100 pieces, against 8,200 last year; white shirtings are 2,000 pieces, against 500. Woollens appear to have almost ceased to be imported. In exports, camphor fell from 5,093 piculs in 1869 to 3,913 piculs in the corresponding quarter of 1870. The revenue shows Tls. 25,086 against Tls. 22,049 in 1869, and Tls. 27,452 in 1868. The export of tea in the current year was expected to be half as large again as the year previous.

TAKOW—FORMOSA.

Mr. Cartwright, Assistant in charge, reports imports—cotton goods, 4,600 pieces, against 1,150 pieces in the corresponding period last year. In exports—camphor declined from 960 piculs to 105 piculs; sugar rose from 36,026 piculs to 48,516 piculs; and rice from 5,393 piculs to 28,667. The total revenue shows Tls. 16,675, against Tls. 11,099 in 1869, and Tls. 3,497 in 1868.

FOOCHOW.

Mr. Lay, Assistant in charge, reports a continued depression of trade. In imports, opium has decreased very greatly, and the decrease is steady. Malwa is less by 9 per cent. than in 1867, by 15 per cent. than in 1868, and by 28 per cent. than in 1869. Patna shows an increase over 1867 and 1868, but a decrease of 20 per cent. compared with last year. Grey shirtings have increased slightly; the figures show an increase of 1 per cent. over 1867, and 16 per cent. over 1869, but a decrease of 44 per cent. as compared with 1868. White shirtings show an increase of 11 per cent. over 1867, and 18 per cent. over 1869, but a decrease of 50 per cent. from 1868. The demand for T-cloths seems steadily on the increase, but woollens have declined altogether. The export duties are 24 per cent. under last year, and 2 per cent. under the year preceding that. The gross revenue shows Tls. 703,145, against Tls. 929,166 in 1869, and Tls. 735,243 in 1868.

AMOY.

Mr. Commissioner Hughes reports the import trade as showing an increase in nearly all the articles in which foreigners are interested. Foreign cotton is a remarkable instance, the quantity imported being 12,947 piculs, against 987 piculs during the September quarter of 1869. This last, however, was exceptional, and caused by Amoy prices being lower than Hong Kong. This year Amoy prices were much higher, and large supplies drawn from Hong Kong, where prices fell immediately on the outbreak of the European war. In imports, piece goods show 45,536 pieces, against 23,042 last year, and much above the average of some years past. The import of fancy goods has fallen off. Woollens show a large falling off. The total export of this season's teas to the 30th September was 3,855,576 lbs., showing a decrease on Congous of 814,442 lbs., and an increase on Oolongs of 2,046,560 lbs. over the export during the like period of 1869. Sugar has been exported to a somewhat larger extent than last year. The total revenue shows Tls. 159,233, against Tls. 129,012 in 1869. The construction of the lighthouse was unavoidably stopped till the commencement of the south-west monsoon, owing to the impracticability of landing natives with sufficient regularity during the north-east monsoon at Chapel Island. Amoy has been perfectly quiet, owing to the prompt action of the authorities.

SWATOW.

Mr. Huber, Assistant in charge, reports that shipping compares favourably with last year. The war in Europe put an end for a time to the large coasting trade carried on in North German vessels, but British vessels took their place, and the tonnage increased. Nearly all foreign manufactures showed a decided increase, especially noticeable in T-cloths and drills. The import of the latter is four times as large as in the corresponding quarter of 1869. The large increase in the consumption of foreign cotton may be accounted for by the failure of the crops in the North of China. Native cotton is preferred, being more easily worked up in the Chinese looms; but a small increase in the price is sufficient to make the foreign article take its place. Nail rod iron and tin also exhibit an increase; but the largest increase is in opium, which shows 354 chests more than the corresponding quarter of 1869. Exports show a decrease, attributable to the presence of Imperial troops. The revenue shows Tls. 104,959, against Tls. 84,781 in 1869, and Tls. 100,071 in 1868.

CANTON.

Mr. Bowra, Acting Commissioner, reports a slight increase in the principal imports, but it merely makes up in part for the deficit in the June quarter, and it is impossible to say how far the increased imports of the present quarter may have anticipated the wants of the next one. T-cloths appear to be advancing steadily in native estimation, the import of the first three quarters of the year (74,500 pieces) exceeding the total import of the year 1867, and falling not far short of that of 1869. Piece goods generally were at low rates during the quarter. The import of cotton was large, and it appears to be steadily on the increase. Woollens also show an increase—a fact which, contrasted with the largely decreased export of tea, shows that native prosperity, of which the consumption of woollens is usually looked upon as a fair indication, is not wholly dependent on foreign purchases. Meta's show a falling off. The export trade was seriously depressed during the European war. For the first three quarters of 1870 the export of tea was only 36,700 piculs, as against 62,100 piculs in 1869, and 72,400 piculs in 1868. Silk shows a large export, and does not appear to have been much affected by the war. The total revenue shows Tls. 255,986, against Tls. 364,186 for the corresponding quarter of 1869, and Tls. 271,803 for 1868.

LITERATURE.

The Ancient Connection of China and the Western World.—On Monday, the 20th inst., Mr. Hyde Clarke read a paper at the Anthropological Institute on the Prehistoric and Proto-Historic Relations of the Populations of Asia and Europe, in reference to Caucaso-Tibetans, Caucaso-Asiatic, Canaanites, Amazons, Megalithic Monuments, Indian Migration, &c. This paper showed, by the collection of a large body of facts, under the analysis of the Caucasian languages, the existence of a period of unrecorded civilisation in Western Asia and Europe, from 3,500 to 4,500 years back, and extending from the Burman peninsula to these islands. The whole world, afterwards known to the Greeks and Romans, was then known to and held by a population allied to the Tibetans and Chinese, to which the term Caucaso-Tibetans was applied, and of which the present representatives were the inhabitants of the Caucasus. The language, here styled Palæogeorgian, was closely allied to the Caucasian languages, but belonging to an epoch when there was a multiplicity of roots for one term, and the power of voluntarily transposing the radical letters. Under the law thus discovered, for "river" at least 250 terms could have been used, of which many can now be identified. The selection and fixity of roots by the Semites and Aryans constituted a subsequent epoch and revolution in civilisation. The Caucaso-Tibetan area included Canaan, Mauritania, and Britain. To the Palæogeorgian class belonged the Lydian, Casian, Phrygian, Lycian, Thracian, and Etruscan languages, and probably the Akkad. The Armenians and Persians were assigned to the Caucaso-Asiatic population, though speaking Indo-European languages, and distinguished from the Western Indo-European. The influence of the ancient worship of fire and water on the mythology of Greece and Rome was referred to, and the rise of the dual principle, and the elements of Chaldean philosophy. It was with the Caucaso-Tibetans, under the name of Canaanites, that the children of Israel contended, and evidences were obtained from the orthography of Palestine. By these new discoveries a connection is formed with a common centre in High Asia for the communication of language, civilisation, mythology, and folklore between the ancient Chinese, the Assyrians, Babylonians, Lydians, Etruscans, and other leaders of civilisation in the Old World. By Mr. Hyde Clarke's law of comparative grammar, a light is obtained for illustrating the early formation of the Chinese language and characters, the relations of the radicals with the Sanskrit and other languages, and the development of Chinese philosophy. One result is that the Chinese language, and consequently modes of thought, cannot, as supposed, have been permanently immutable, because a great revolution in the grammar and logical arrangement must have taken place on its becoming a fixed language, which would be within 3,500 years. Anteriorly the language must have assimilated in form and properties to the Palæogeorgian, and consequently in some respects to the complicated languages of Southern Africa.

Who is Responsible for the War? By "Scrutator." London: Rivingtons.—This is the work of a clever partisan; but still of one who must be regarded as a partisan. "Scrutator," who is a well-known correspondent of The Times, labours to prove that, notwithstanding appearances, Germany was really responsible for the Franco-Prussian War; which he traces in its origin to Count Bismark's celebrated remark, that nations were no longer to be governed by majorities, but by the force of "iron and blood." This phrase "iron and blood," was, indeed, originally used by the German lyric poet Moser, and in endeavouring to fasten it in its full significance on Count Bismark, "Scrutator" involved himself in a controversy with Professor Max Muller in the columns of The Times. Many persons thought that the Professor had the best of the argument at the time, and it is certainly to be regretted, for the sake of fairness, that the present author should now have reproduced his own lucubrations, with additions and modifications, but without placing beside them the arguments with which they were met by his opponent. Nevertheless, for those who like to hear one side of a story, the present book will have a special interest; and, so long as they do not listen to the representations of the other party, it is quite likely that they may be persuaded that the Hohenzollern candidature was got up by Count Bismark with his eyes wide open to all the consequences that have followed—that the French Government really desired a pacific solution of the difficulty—and that Count Bismark's deliberate intention to provoke a war with France is proved by his rejection of repeated offers to join in a policy of mutual disarmament. All this, together with its corollary, that Count Bismark requires French territory, not as a security against French aggressiveness, but as a means of keeping up the military system of Prussia, and keeping down German Liberalism, it is the object of the present book to show.

England Rendered Impregnable. By H. A. L., the Old Shekarry. London: Rivingtons.—This is a practical and earnest treatise on our military strength as it is and as it ought to be. According to the author's idea, the complete military establishment of Great Britain, as it ought to be when put on a war footing, should comprise 183,600 Regular Forces of the Line, 255,600 Militia, and 244,200 Volunteers. Of this force 71,900 soldiers should be maintained in India, where, also, according to our author's views, a preponderating strength in artillery should also be kept, besides a native army of 216,000 men. These figures will perhaps give an idea of the general scope of the writer's estimates; and, in treating of the Navy, it will be found that he is not less earnest in recommending additions to our strength.

The work strikes the unprofessional reader as being thoughtful and practical, and is well illustrated by maps and engravings of the scenes and accessories of war. It is a book which will be certain to be read with interest, and may be productive of the best kind of benefit—security—if its suggestions are carefully weighed.

The February number of the Phoenix contains a further instalment of Mr. Carroll's "Cure for Jealousy," and another interesting translation—"A Ballad on Tea-picking"—rendered into English metre by Mr. Mercer. The verses are supposed to express the thoughts of a Chinese girl working in the tea-fields, and by no means satisfied with her employment. This is what she says of the foreign lady who is to drink the tea which she has picked:—

And yet the thought arises—who Shall the pretty maiden be
To put the leaves in her jewelling cup,
From that cup to drink my tea?
Her griefs all flee as she makes the tea,
And she is glad, but oh!
Whence shall she learn the toils of us
Who labour for her so?
And shall she know of the winds that blow,
And the rains that pour their wrath,
And drench and soak us through, as though
We were plunged into a bath?

Giving Mr. Mercer credit for the faithful preservation of the sense of his original, we are bound to admit that we think the toil of translating thirty stanzas of this kind are scarcely repaid by the result. The present number also contains contributions by Mr. Swinhoe, Dr. Campbell, and Mr. Hodgson, in continuation of previous papers, and a graphic description of the "End of the Mussulman Fast at Christmas," by a Calcutta correspondent.

In the course of the late war a clever squib was published under the title of The Fight in Dame Europa's School: How the German Boy Beat the French Boy, and how the English Boy Looked on. This little production was attended with such remarkable popularity that it is said that not less than 75,000 copies of it were sold. It has naturally produced a host of imitations (several of which are before us). Pious William and Dame Europa's School has the peculiarity of being not only versified, but set to music by the author, who calls himself "Clarion." We do not know how his production may sing, but it certainly reads dully enough. Here is another extraordinary fruit of the same fertile occasion—An Ode to England. This "poem" commences with the following independent rhyme:—

Lo! where Despotism sneezes
Like the Angel of Eclipse;

and apostrophising England, exclaims:—

Call thy lion-hearts and lead 'em
To confront the foes of Freedom.

A Widely Different Account of the Fight, Young John Bull's Letter to his Grandmother, and The Public School, showing how it Fared with Johnny after he ran away from Dame Europa's, are three more variations of the idea of the original brochure. It is an old charge against writers of this kind that "if they get hold of a good thing, they never know when to have done with it"—as Sheridan says of the actors who fire three morning guns in The Critic.

The Antipodes and Round the World. By Alice M. Freré (Mrs. Godfrey Clerk). London: Hatchards.—An unaffected and graceful narrative of a journey which the accomplished authoress performed through Australia, New Zealand, Ceylon, China, Japan and California, in company with her father, on the occasion of his relinquishing the Government of Bombay. The writer has great powers of description, and a vivacious style, which she makes the medium of conveying a great deal of valuable information and reflection; the book is very handsomely got up, and illustrated with some good plates.

Tales of the Civil Wars. By the Rev. H. C. Adams, M.A., Vicar of Dry Sandford. London: Routledge.—This well got-up volume contains two interesting stories—"The Boy Cavaliers," and "Friend or Foe." The scene of both is laid in the time of the Civil Wars, and, if not decidedly novel in conception or character, they abound in incidents well connected, and told in a style that cannot fail to rivet the young reader's attention.

The Franco-German War. By Sir J. G. Tollemache Sinclair. London: Trubner and Co. is a little work of very different stamp, and of very great value. It is neither more nor less than a short view of the causes, events, and consequences of the war, set forth with clearness and impartiality in some seventy pages, from the personal observation of the writer. We predict for this pamphlet a popularity which will rival that of many more pretentious works.

HOLLAND.

ROTTERDAM, March 29.

In the Second Chamber, since the East India Budget was voted, not one matter has been discussed which excited any public interest or political feeling. By 42 against 13 votes the Bill was carried which reorganises the promotion and retirement of naval officers; during the debate it was much altered, and the Minister was even obliged to give up the fundamental principle. Mr. Brocx moved that promotion should take place according to the selection of the Minister, but the Chamber was of opinion that the present system of seniority ought to be maintained. A most important amendment was proposed by Mr. van Eck—viz., to abolish the stipulation by which naval officers are obliged to ask the Royal assent to their marriage. Notwithstanding much opposition from Messrs. Storm and De Casenbroot, this amendment was carried by 38 against 16 votes. The question now is whether this decision will be approved by the Upper House, which met the day before yesterday. The Budget for the West Indies was not carried with the usual haste. The plan of the Minister to introduce in these colonies a tax upon spirits, to take the place of the subsidy, which is now paid annually, created a somewhat warm discussion, finishing with the approval of the measure.

The papers are still filled with the opinions of the Chambers of Commerce on the revival of the East India tariff. They nearly all recommend the maintenance of the differential duties for some years, and their gradual abolition. There is a general protest against the proposal of the Minister to levy an export duty of 3 per cent. on sugar. An address from Mr. J. Millard, C.S., from Amsterdam, strongly opposes this tax, which most decidedly will enormously injure the colonial sugar trade.

The Olytak spreads a rumour that Mr. Loudon, ex-Minister of the Colonial Department, will be appointed Governor-General when Mr. Myer repatriates. It is impossible to say whether this is well founded. The ironworks of Messrs. Paul van Vlissingen and Dudok van Heel have been definitively reconstructed, Mr. van der Made being appointed manager.

Much anxiety is felt about the fate of the Terngale, which sailed on the 9th Nov., from Batavia, and has not been heard of since.

General Leboeuf has arrived at the Hague.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

Under the influence of the disturbances in Paris business has been generally limited, and owing to the same cause, the Trading Company's public sale of Coffee last week was attended with a very unsatisfactory result. The 90/m bags East India put up found buyers, but only at a reduction of 1½c. compared with the brokers' valuations, whilst the 12,433 bags Rio and Santos were nearly all bought or withdrawn.

COFFEE.—Since the public sales last week 840 bags Java, ex Sattara, 390 bags Macassar, ex Gerredina Wilhelmina, and 300 bags Java, ex Henrietta Adriana, of private importation, have changed hands here by private treaty, on secret terms, and 1,052 bags Macassar, ex Gerredina Wilhelmina, at Amsterdam, at 29½c. to 39½c., according to quality.

DRUGS.—Nothing of moment to report.

DYES.—Several parcels of Java Indigo, of old and recent importation, in all about 40 chests, have changed hands at former prices. The stock of Indigo in the hands of private importers at Amsterdam will be offered for sale by public auction there on the 8th proximo. The sale will comprise about 1,000 chests Java and 150 chests Bengal.

HIDES.—Continue in good request. The following parcels have found buyers at secret prices:—418 Java Cows, average weight each about 6 ko., ex Pop Smit; 300 do., average weight about 8½ to 9 ko., ex Louise; 145 do., average weight about 4½ to 4½ ko., and 143 do., average weight about 7½ ko., ex Gutenberg. Sales by secret tender are announced to-day (on account of sea damage) of 307 Padang Buffaloes and 62 do. Cow, ex Magdalena.

METALS.—In view of the spring sale of about 80,800 slabs Banca Tin, to be held at Amsterdam on the 31st, the market continues quiet. Small lots have sold for short prompt at £76, and £75 to £75½ has been paid for delivery ex the coming public sale.

SHIPPING.

DEPARTURES.—March 23, from Texel for Macassar, India Packet; 26, from Texel, for Batavia, Telanak; 27, from Texel, for Batavia, Nieuwe Waterweg II.; for Samarang, Jupiter.

PASSENGERS OUTWARD.—For Java: Per India Packet, Mr. Lebrun and family; per Nieuwe Waterweg II., Messrs. A. M. Pfeiffer and family, G. de Lang, A. J. Hamerster, J. Maurer, L. Maurer, G. A. Obermayer and family, and 125 soldiers; per Telanak, Messrs. Boers and family, Baron van Reede van Oudshoorn and family, Y. W. Dammers and family, L. C. Kruk, R. E. Kerkhoven, N. Kramer and family, Miss Mayer; per Jupiter, Messrs. L. Gerards and family, J. J. Smits, Miss J. Boshart, G. H. C. van Zyll de Jong and family, L. Williams, J. Brumstede, A. J. M. van Hengel, R. Brons Middel, H. C. A. Cornelius and family, Miss J. Grimm, C. Schroder, Mr. J. H. Dupuy and family.

ROTTERDAM, March 29.

The Dutch Trading Company sold to-day in public auction 44,682 mats Java Sugar, at £1½ to £1¾ under the November prices. It must, however, be remembered that the conditions of the auction are altered, so that there is a difference between them of 6 per cent.

The brokers' valuations of the cargo of China tea ex Margaret Falconer were published to-day; they run from 90c. to 275c., and the several lots of Java tea from 50c. to 350c. By private tenders 406 b. Java Krossok and 462 b. Java H L have been sold.

UNITED STATES.

In the Senate a Bill has been brought forward by Mr. Sherman (Republican) as follows, "To facilitate commerce between the United States and China and other Asiatic countries, being the Bill introduced last session for incorporation of a company with a capital of $5,000,000."

The House of Representatives has passed a Bill introduced by Mr. Randell (democrat), which enacts that Tea and Coffee shall be placed upon the Free List, the import duties on the same to be abolished. The Bill passed by 141 against 49 votes.

SHIPPING.

ARRIVALS.—March 10, at Boston, from Singapore, Lizzie Williams; 11, at New York, from Hiogo and Yokohama, Latona; 12, from Canton, Cleta; 12, at Boston, from Sourabaya, Aurelie; from Batavia, Hazard; 13, at New York, from Shanghai, Montana, Argonaut; 14, from Amoy, McGilvery; 15, from Hong Kong, Marathon; 15, at Boston, from Cebu, Chasca; 16, at New York, from Manila, Monkchester; 17, at Philadelphia, from Penang, Nyassa; at New York, from Manila, Marchione's of Londonderry; 18, from Yokohama, Horatio; 20, from Canton, John Wooster.

BREAKFAST—EPPE'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Eppe has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Each packet or tin is labelled JAMES EPPE & CO., Homoeopathic Chemists, London. Eppe's Cocoa is also prepared with condensed milk, and sold in tins, labelled Eppe's Milky Cocoa.

PARLIAMENT.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

CESSION OF DUTCH POSSESSIONS ON THE COAST OF GUINEA.

(Mar. 27th.) Mr. MAGNIAC (L.) asked the Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs whether an arrangement had been entered into with the Government of the Netherlands for the cession by it to Great Britain of the Dutch possessions on the coast of Guinea; and, if so, whether the arrangement was subject to the consent of Parliament before the purchase money was paid.

Lord ENFIELD said a convention had been signed, but it was not yet ratified by the Dutch Chambers, by which certain ports on the coast of Guinea adjacent to British territory would be handed over to the British Government. There was, however, no question of purchase, and the sum of money required for the transfer of stores, &c., would be defrayed not out of the Imperial revenues, but out of the revenues of the British settlers.

Mr. B. COCHRANE (L.) asked if the proposed cession [was] to be carried out without the consent of Parliament.

Lord ENFIELD said that as the expense was to be borne by local revenues, he did not think it would be necessary to ask for the consent of Parliament.

MISCELLANEOUS.

MR. T. T. COOPER'S OVERLAND JOURNEY FROM CHINA TO INDIA.

At a meeting of the Royal Geographical Society, on the 27th ult., a paper was read by Mr. T. T. Cooper, "On the Chinese Province of Yunnan and its Borders." The author had traversed the western portion of this remote province in 1869, after his unsuccessful attempt to cross from the Upper Yangtze to Assam. The mountainous country along the border was peopled by a number of separate barbarous tribes, more or less under the influence of the Chinese. The border country is wild, but the interior of Yunnan is fertile and picturesque, and exceedingly rich in agriculture and mines. All attempts made to open up a route between this fine province and our possessions in Burmah or Assam had hitherto been in vain. After the reading of the paper, the chairman read a most graphic and evidently truthful description of Western Yunnan by Bishop Chauveau, who had been for fifteen years resident as Roman Catholic missionary in this little known region. The chief city, Tali-fu, is situated on the shores of a beautiful lake, forty-five miles long by twelve to fifteen wide. The plain on its western side formerly contained a population of upwards of 400,000 souls. The climate is fine and healthy; copious harvests, excellent fish, fruits, and vegetables, good and numerous horses and mules, a kind and gay population—such are some of its recommendations. There are nine other great plains similar to that of Tali. The city is the centre of a great trade with all the surrounding populations, and is the point whence starts the caravan trade with Burmah, which formerly passed by Momein to Bhamo, on the navigable part of the Irrawaddy. According to the Bishop the country had much deteriorated since it had revolted, under the instigation of the Chinese Mahomedans of Yunnan, against the Imperial authority. In the discussion which followed Major Sladen, the commander of the late expedition from Burmah to Yunnan, confirmed the Bishop's statement that the natural route for trade was via Bhamo, and spoke favourably of the Mahomedan chiefs, who had received him in the most friendly manner at Momein. Mr. A. Michie, of Shanghai, Dr. Barton (of the first Upper Yang-tze expedition), and Mr. W. Lockhart (formerly resident in Peking), also spoke. All the speakers agreed in stating that English travellers met with good treatment and even welcome from the Chinese people, and that all opposition arose solely from the interested and corrupt mandarin class. The following new Fellows were elected:—Commander John Charles Best, Mr. Joseph Cubitt, C.E., Mr. Francis Horne, Mr. Murdock, G. MacLaine, Dr. Hugh Martin Macpherson (Inspector-General of Hospitals), and Mr. William W. Vine (Navigating-Lieutenant R.N.).

BANKERS' CLAIMS ON BANKRUPTS' ESTATES.

In the Bankruptcy Court an appeal has been heard against an order of the Judge of the Liverpool County Court, admitting a proof by the Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China, for £10,012, against the estate of Messrs. Robinson Brothers, merchants, of Liverpool. It was stated that the Bank claimed to rank for the full amount of certain bills accepted by the debtors, and collaterally secured by bills of trading for cotton and other produce, without giving credit for the value of the security. The Chief Judge confirmed this view and dismissed the appeal.

THE Right Rev. Dr. Cloughton (late Bishop of Colombo) has been installed at St. Paul's Cathedral as a canon residentiary and Archdeacon of London, in the place of the late Ven. Archdeacon Hale.

SIR JAMES ELPHINSTONE has delivered an address at the Westminster Palace Hotel, on the proposed plan to cut a channel for ships between India and Ceylon.

DEMOLITION AND RECONSTRUCTION OF COLOMBO FORT.—The original sum of £30,000 set apart from the revenue of this colony for the construction of new barracks has increased by £10,000 since 1864, the increase being just sufficient to pay for the levelling of the landward defences. The new hospital, nearly finished, will cost about £6,000; the barrack block, in progress, £7,000; commanding officers' quarters, £2,500; quarters for surgeon and assistant, near the hospital, £1,000; &c. From a block of houses, already sold, £5,001 has been derived, and a block of barracks is advertised at an upset price of £3,000. It is calculated that sales of buildings and grounds will bring the total available up to £70,000. When all the improvements are carried out and the "Fort" lighted with gas, Colombo will be really worth looking at architecturally. The beauty of its vegetation, its lake, and its sea, cannot be surpassed. It wants rising ground for scenic effect, but the convenience of level roads is a great compensation.

LONDON: MONDAY, APRIL 3, 1871.

THE SINGAPORE RAILWAY.

We intimated in February last that there was a near prospect of the long-talked-of railway between the town of Singapore and New Harbour being completed, but in a later issue we had to notice that its progress had been again interrupted through lack of unanimity among the parties interested. We deprecated this on general grounds, and are in hopes that the approaching interview between the Secretary of State and the Governor of the colony will not only result in the formation of the railway in question, but likewise in the adoption of other measures which the present position of the colony seems to call for. The importance of Singapore since the opening of the Suez Canal has become more manifest, even for coaling purposes alone, situated, as it is, on the route to China and other countries which will be more availed of than hitherto, now that our vast trade promises at no distant date to be carried on in steamers, instead of sailing vessels. In order to meet this traffic, the resources of the port will need to be fully developed, and nothing is more essential than the formation of improved means of communication between the wharves at New Harbour and the town itself. Our correspondent, "A Merchant," whose letters appear in our last and present issue, takes wider views; the convenience of the people as well as of trade would certainly be promoted by railway communication with New Harbour, and we cannot doubt that there is room for field work in an island not unlike the Isle of Wight in size or form, luxurious in vegetation, with a fair soil, healthy climate, coupled with that great desideratum in the tropics, copious rains throughout the year. It certainly appears anomalous that more than half the area of such an island is still a jungle, and that the inhabitants of the town should have to rely largely on the Dutch island of Java for food supplies in daily use.

This certainly redounds little to our national credit, although the trade of Singapore has now attained the annual value of ten millions sterling, and we cannot conceive any more likely means of removing this stigma than those suggested by "A Merchant," whose observations, we trust, will receive that consideration which they undoubtedly merit, and which we trust will tend to remove some of the local jealousies and rivalries which seem to prevail to the evident prejudice of the public interest. It was announced last year that railways in India would in future be made by Government, and the Under Secretary of State lately intimated in Parliament that some of these lines were actually in progress. The Australian and other colonial Governments, including Ceylon, are likewise constructing railways, and there seems to be no reason why this course should not be pursued by the local Government at Singapore; on the contrary, it would apparently form a small, but excellent field for such an undertaking. It would be a self-supporting line from the first; the profit obtained from the traffic of the New Harbour section would cover the expense of working the line through that portion of the island which requires to be opened up, and it would include the European barracks situated at Tanglin, three miles inland from New Harbour, for which ready and economical communication with the town and shipping seems desirable. A correspondent, signing "P. W. A.," whose letter appears in another column, holds different views, but we have no objection to give him a hearing.

THE Secretary of State for the Colonies has appointed Mr. POPE HENNESSY, the present Governor of Labuan, to be Governor of the Bahamas, and Mr. W. H. RENNIE, formerly Auditor-General at Hong Kong, to be Lieutenant-Governor of St. Vincent. Nothing definite has transpired in reference to Sir RICHARD MACDONNELL'S return to Hong Kong.

THE BLUE-BOOK ON THE CEYLON RAILWAY.

THE papers relating to the affairs of the Ceylon Railway have just been presented to Parliament. The correspondence commences with the report to the end of 1867, showing the cost of construction, and closes with the statement of the receipts and working expenses of the line from Colombo to Kandy, from its opening in 1865 to the end of 1869, with the estimate for 1870. The Ceylon Railway is 75 miles long, single line; its formation width is 20 feet, 18 feet in rock cuttings; gauge, 5 feet 6 inches; weight of rails, 72 lbs. per yard; length of incline, 12 miles; ruling gradient on lower portion, 1 in 100; gradient of incline, 1 in 45 throughout. There are ten stations and eleven tunnels, the length of the longest tunnel being 365 yards. The cost of the line, exclusive of interest on debentures and incidental expenses, amounted to £1,436,127, or about £19,148 per mile, a cost which is believed to be extremely moderate, considering the rugged character of the country, the excessive unhealthiness of a large portion of it, and the fact that the labour of Ceylon is almost entirely imported. The working receipts of the line to June, 1868, the first half-year in which it was open throughout, were £74,102, of which £19,136 was from passenger, and £54,416 from goods traffic. For the same period the working expenses were £35,971. The total receipts for the year 1868 were £163,667. In 1869 they rose to £180,965; and in 1870 the traffic manager estimates the probable further increase as likely to realise £212,300. The working expenses were, in 1868, £74,685. In 1869 they were reduced to £72,500. For 1870 they are estimated at £76,700. We have from time to time published these facts as they have transpired. It is, however, satisfactory to find that they are now officially confirmed, and that the prosperous results which were anticipated for the Ceylon Railway have been more than realised. We trust that the success which has attended their enterprise in this direction will encourage the residents to turn their attention next to the most pressing present requirement of the island—the formation of a safe harbour at Galle.

Our present Postmaster-General, Mr. MONSELL, is an enemy to the present system of subsidising a company for the India and China mail service, and we suppose we must attribute his obfuscation to his nationality. It must, however, be apparent to any one not blinded by prejudice that a subsidy is only required over a line where it would not pay to run steamers with a fixed time of arrival and departure. In replying to a member in the House of Commons as to increased postal facilities for Bristol, Mr. MONSELL took the opportunity to point out that he regretted to say that the people of this country were burdened with a heavy tax in the shape of a contribution to the loss incurred on the Eastern service, which he did not consider right. He would, forsooth, make the merchants engaged in the trade pay the entire cost of the service, ignoring or failing to appreciate the advantages gained directly and indirectly by the population of Great Britain from our intercourse with India, China, and the colonies; besides which, we maintain that the surplus of the Post-office should be devoted entirely to the improvement of the whole service, home and foreign, and not appropriated as a source of revenue.

MR. D. B. ROBERTSON, C.B., the senior Consul in China, and lately serving at Canton, comes home by the next mail, and it is understood that his retirement from the service, after twenty-seven years, will follow. Mr. W. H. MEDHURST, at present Officiating Consul at Shanghai, is the next in seniority, and we trust will receive the appointment without delay. The salary at Canton is £1,600, and at Shanghai £1,500. Mr. W. H. FITTOCK, Consul at Ningpo, has also obtained leave, and will leave in April for England, via San Francisco. The filling up of the posts vacated is, we understand, left to the discretion of Mr. WADE, and we shall probably hear the result by next mail. Mr. MARKHAM and Mr. SWINHOE, who lately left for Shanghai, will be available; and Mr. MAYERS, lately acting at Chefoo, will also be relieved of that post. Mr. CHALONER ALABASTER, we believe, proceeds shortly to his post of Vice-Consul at Shanghai. Mr. W. E. KING, who left China on leave some months since, has not yet arrived in London. Messrs. H. L. BICKMORE, G. BROWN, J. H. GUBBINS, and E. B. PAUL have been appointed to be student interpreters in Japan. Sir HARRY PARKES, from Japan, and Sir HARRY ORD, from Singapore, are expected in London to-day.

SHIP CHANNEL BETWEEN INDIA AND CEYLON

At a crowded meeting of the East India Association, held on the 21st ult., at the Westminster Hotel, Sir James Elphinstone gave a description of the proposed plan for cutting a channel for ships between India and Ceylon, with many interesting details that were not mentioned in the recent debate, when Sir James brought the matter before Parliament. Sir James said that the subject of cutting through a point of land in the district of Madura, in the Madras Presidency, to connect the Gulf of Manas with Palk's Bay was first brought to his notice by the late Captain Ethersay, of the Indian Navy, who surveyed the locality, and that he visited the spot in 1842 and in 1844. Since that time trade at Ceylon had been wonderfully developed, and passenger trade to that extent that 86 000 passengers passed down in the direction he spoke of last year. The present channel, called the Paumben, being shaped like a snake, was not suited to ships of the present time, because long ships could not easily go through a crooked channel. The proposed work is about 100 miles to the eastward of Cape Comorin. By cutting through 250 or 300 yards of sandbank it would give access to a harbour of sixteen square miles, with an anchorage of from 24ft. to 36ft., and perfectly smooth. The estimated cost of the proposed work was £90,000, and the channel could be kept clear at a small annual cost. One of the benefits arising from this would be that vessels could coal in the harbour or at jetties outside. A saving of 750 miles would be effected on the double journey, which meant something like 4 per cent. on ship expenses. In considering the question in reference to the Suez Canal, they must recollect that the whole of their East India trade had been revolutionised, so that for the future it must be a steam trade. Among those present were Sir J. D. Hay, M.P., Sir Thomas Bazley, M.P., Sir Arthur Cotton, Mr. B. Smith, M.P., and a number of gentlemen interested in Indian matters. All the speakers were unanimous as to the desirableness of opening up this communication, and it was resolved to bring the matter before the Government and the Chambers of Commerce of England. It is, however, only right to mention that the opinion of practical men is by no means agreed on this point. We have been assured by a most experienced captain in the P. and O. Company, that the proposed channel might assist the coasting trade; but it would be of no use to large steamers. Vessels of 2,000 tons could not possibly go through it, especially at the time when they would have to encounter the south-west monsoon.

THE NEW RUSSIAN STEAM COMPANY.—BETWEEN ODESSA AND HANKOW.

We have already called the attention of our readers to the arrangements recently made in Russia for the establishment of a direct trade between that country and China, by way of the Suez Canal. The pioneers of the line, the Tchihatchoff and Nachimoff, two fine iron screw steamers (equal in size, quality, and speed to the Achilles and Ajax of Holt's line), will load at Hankow for Odessa in June next. The steamers are owned by the "Russian Steam Navigation and Trading Co.," a rich and powerful corporation, much favoured by the Imperial family, and enjoying a large yearly subsidy from the Russian Government. The captains are experienced officers of the Imperial Navy, the management of the company hitherto has been excellent, and no pains will be spared to make the establishment of the new line permanent and successful. We understand that these two steamers, which together will carry about four million pounds of tea, have been promised full return freights to Odessa by the Moscow merchants engaged in the tea trade, at £6 per ton of 40 cubic feet. There are seventy Russian firms, some of them very wealthy, engaged in the tea trade, and the Imperial Government has requested them to support the new line of packets and direct trade; and there is no doubt but that henceforward Russia will draw its supplies of tea from China direct to a great extent, though not exclusively, unless it be found possible to stop the large smuggling business between Königsberg and the Russian frontier towns. It is said that the Imperial Government has under consideration plans likely to cope efficiently with the smuggling trade, and to suppress it thoroughly. The Kiachta trade, which has been dwindling away for four or five years past, will, however, be now exclusively confined to the supply of Asiatic Russia.

The tea trade of Russia is of much greater importance than is generally supposed. The returns of the Imperial Customs are quite fallacious. We know that the quantity passed through Kiachta has always been vastly in excess of the official return; chests of tea often pay duty as if half-chests, and 500 lb. packages as if 300 lbs. or 400 lbs. The weight of tea smuggled across the Russian frontier yearly is considerable, and the statement that one-third of the entire import into Russia pays no duty at all is probably within the mark. The consumption of tea in European Russia, therefore, can only be conjectured, and the general estimate that it amounts to fifty millions of pounds yearly (exclusive of brick tea) may be accepted as moderate and probable. A rapid increase of demand may be looked for, as European Russia, thanks to the new and magnificent system of railway communication now nearly complete, is becoming very rich and prosperous, and all Russians, from tchinovniks to moujiks, are passionately fond of tea. As the opening of the direct tea trade between Russia and China under such favourable auspices, the consequent increased competition in China, and probable decreased demand in London for the Russian market, are matters of great importance to the English merchants engaged in the trade, we desire to offer a few remarks to our readers.

The loading of the two steamers of the new line will bring about a change of some importance to the English tea traders. The first two cargoes will be almost entirely drawn from the stocks of first crop Congous, which will be on the Hankow market in the first days of June; for the fine Hunan teas formerly sent by caravan via Kiachta, but which in future will in great part be sent from Hankow to Odessa, cannot be ready for shipment before the middle of July. These very fine teas are of late growth, and their preparation for export is slowly and carefully made, so that the cargoes of the Nachimoff and Tchihatchoff will consist of the first crop Oonam, Oopack, and Ningchow teas, which in past times would have been shipped to London. The English traders should, therefore, consider the probabilities of greatly increased competition for the best first crop teas in Hankow, and the loss of much of the Russian demand in London. Our remarks apply principally to the Hankow market, as hitherto there has been little or no competition between Russian and English merchants for the fine Fohkein teas, which sell in Russia at very high prices, and have been exclusively bought by Russian merchants in China. It should be said that hitherto the Moscow tea merchants have not been satisfied with their imports of sea-borne tea, which is known in Russia as "Canton" tea. Most of the Hankow tea imported into Russia has been, by reason of too hasty preparation for export, and consequent imperfect curing, deficient in keeping quality. We have seen in Russia first crop Oopacks of the best chops, which had left Hankow in the month of June, yet were soft and out of condition in the following April. Now, the Russian caravan teas, like the Assam Congous, will keep good, sound, and crisp for three or four years. Although so many losses have been suffered by English and Russian tea merchants in consequence of the imperfect curing of Hankow teas and frequent admixture of old with new leaf, we fear that unless unusual precautions are taken in the coming season the increased competition which we may expect for the early teas will cause the carelessness and fraudulent packing complained of to be rather perpetuated than ended. It is said that in the year 1873 this company's steamers will load and unload at Sevastopol, and not at Odessa. Sevastopol is a very fine port, always open, and the railways now near to completion will give it great advantages for the traffic between North and South Russia and the rich countries bordering the Azov and Caspian.

The establishment of this new line of steamers deserves consideration also in regard to the probable development of important markets in China for Russian manufactures. The rapid extension of Russian manufacturing enterprise is startling to observers. Thanks to the commercial policy of the Imperial Government, which encouraged, by a system of temporary differential duties, the establishment in Russia of cotton and woollen mills, iron works, machine factories, &c., the great natural resources of the country have been turned to good account, and the native manufacturers have generally prospered, so much so that in a short time they will be able to hold their own, even without the aid of high tariffs, against foreign competitors. From the first we may look for a notable growth of trade in woollen goods between Russia and China. The Moscow millowners' productions are much liked in China. The Russian cloths are of excellent quality, and in material, fashion, width, and colour, are made to suit Chinese requirements. It is to be regretted that the Yorkshire manufacturers are not equally watchful of the market. The English woollen trade with China is in an unsatisfactory condition; the Spanish stripes, long ells, and camlets sent by us in such large quantities rarely pay the shippers a profit; more frequently the goods are sold at a loss. The woollen trade with China deserves the intelligent attention of English manufacturers, especially as we may be certain that there will be a greatly increased export of Russian woollens to China henceforth. It is not likely that much, nor, indeed, any, cotton fabrics will be sent from Russia to China, as the great mills of St. Petersburg, Narva, and Moscow, even if they doubled or trebled their present rate of production, could not supply the home Russian demand for the excellent calicoes and other cloths made. We are informed it is likely that a large quantity of the fine steel and iron of South Russia will be sent to Canton and the Yangtze ports by the direct steamers. At present a considerable quantity of the fine Perm steel and charcoal iron is sent to China by caravan, and, notwithstanding high costs of carriage, the sales made in China are almost uniformly profitable to the Russian merchants.

MINERAL RESOURCES OF CHINA.

No geographical discovery of modern times is likely to have such important bearings upon Asia and Europe as the recent disclosure of the immense mineral resources of China, and yet perhaps no fact of equal significance has attracted less attention. After Lord ELGIN's treaty and Sir HOPE GRANT's army had opened up China, our countrymen, on reaching Peking, found excellent coal in general use in all directions. Mr. R. PUMPELLY was invited to investigate the subject; and accordingly in company with an interpreter he visited the mines on the west of Peking during the winter and spring of 1863-4. He gave two reports—the one preliminary, the other elaborate, and published in extenso in the "Smithsonian Contributions to Knowledge" for 1867. In this district he found a vast field of coal, bituminous and anthracite, of superior quality. In the Quarterly Review (April, 1866, p. 446), in an article on "Coal," the writer says:—

Having examined coal from nearly every part of the world, we have seen no steam coal superior to that from the neighbourhood of Peking, where there is a field of one hundred miles in extent.

Mr. WILLIAMSON also threw considerable light on this subject. In his journeys in Shantung, Shansi, Manchuria, and other places, he came upon immense coal-fields, an account of which is found in his volumes. Baron RICHTOFEN followed up the discoveries of these gentlemen. Engaged in the survey of the Western States of America, he heard of the coal-fields of China, and came over with the view of placing his great scientific skill at the disposal of the Chinese Government. His services were declined. He made several journeys on his own account, and ultimately was employed by the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce to investigate the mineral resources of the country. Preliminary reports have already appeared. He has found not only all the published statements true, but made great additions to our knowledge. In the province of Hunan he has discovered a magnificent coal-field of no less than 21,000 miles in extent. Of this he says:—

The inclined position of the strata makes mining tolerably easy. The situation is no less advantageous. Many mines are worked close to the river side, and at little distances from it there is thus direct water communication with Hankow. The coal in this district is all anthracite; I think it will compare favourably with the best kinds of anthracite known.

In his last journey he found another coal-field near Juchow, about twenty-three miles broad, having seams ranging in thickness from six to eight feet. Not far from the city of Honan-Foo he came on a third of considerable extent, with seams varying from six to eighteen feet. At Tai-Hang Shan he estimated the quantity of coal produced, even by their rude methods, at between 200,000 and 300,000 tons annually. He then entered Shan-Si, and confesses himself perfectly amazed at the extent and quality of the coal-fields of that province. He says that as far as he knows they are not equalled in the whole world. He speaks of the remarkable simplicity of structure, and calculates their area at somewhat about 30,000 square miles. The coal formation in this province is about 500 feet in thickness, and many of the coal beds 30 feet thick. He also remarks that carboniferous strata lie far above the level of the plain, so that railways or tramways could be carried right into the seams in the mountains, and load on the spot. He admits the disadvantage of being so far from the sea or water communication, but asserts that the superiority of the Shan-Si coal over the coal near Peking will more than counter-balance the extra expense of carriage. The present disturbed state of China has put an end to his investigations for the present; and we are thus left without any account from actual observation of the coal-fields in Western and Southern China. In lieu of this we have the next best authority. Mr. PUMPELLY took the trouble to employ Chinese scholars to investigate native books in reference to minerals. Fortunately, these are numerous and accurate, every department and district—i.e., "foo" and "hien" having its own gazetteer. By the help of his secretary he examined over one thousand volumes. Taking the information contained in them in connection with observations of European travellers, he made a hypothetical map of China proper, showing the position and extent of the various formations. The correctness of this map has been verified in several instances, and may be taken, at all events, as a good approximation of the geological structure of the country; and what a stirring tale it tells! The disclosures are perfectly astounding. He shows that under everyone of the eighteen provinces—each of which, be it remembered, is as large as Great Britain—there are large deposits of coal, in some instances the coal underlying nearly the whole area. To bring out the extent of the coal-fields as clearly as possible, we shall make a tabulated comparison between them and those of Europe.

In the official catalogue of the Great Exhibition (vol. 1, p. 181), Professor ANSTED gives the undernoted as the coal area of the following countries:—British Islands, 12,000 square miles; France, 2,000; Belgium, 520; Spain, 4,000; Prussia, 1,200; Bohemia, 1,000. Total, 20,720. Place this side by side with what we actually know of China:—The Province of Hunan, 21,000 square miles; the Province of Shan-si, 30,000; the Provinces of Chih-li, Shantung and Southern Manchuria,* 84,000. Calculations based on Mr. PUMPELLY's map:—The Province of Sz-chuen, say 70,000; the Province of Shen-si, 25,000; the Province of Kan-sub, 20,000; the Province of Ho-nan, 10,000; the Province of Kwei-chow, 14,000; the Province of Kwang-si, 13,000; the Province of Kwang-tung, 23,000; the Province of Hupeh, 5,000; the Province of Fuh-Kien, 25,000; the Province of Cheh-Kiang, 6,000; the Province of Kiang-Si, 35,000; the Province of Ngan-Whui, 4,000; the Province of Kiang-Su, 4,000; the Province of Yu-Nan,† 20,000. Total, 419,000 square miles. These figures are most extraordinary, and yet we have kept within Mr. PUMPELLY's indications. For instance, the area of Sz-Chuen is 166,800 square miles. He represents nearly the whole area as belonging to the coal measures, with a narrow fringe round the edge as Devonian Limestone, while we have set down the coal districts as a great deal less than the half of the area. We do not know to what extent these latter coal-fields are capable of economical mining, nor the quality of the coal; but judging from what is known, and taking it in connection with the remarks of stray travellers, we have reason to believe that the coal is equal to that of the North, and its situation in many places quite as easy of access.

But making all due allowance, this is a most extraordinary revelation. Here we have in Hunan a coal-field larger than the aggregate of the coal-fields of the greatest coal-producing countries in Europe; in Shan-Si another coal-field, one and a-half times larger than that aggregate; while in the other parts of North China we have coal-fields seven times greater than all the coal districts in Great Britain, and so on with the other provinces. Or looking at it in another light, we have 419,000, or nearly half-a-million of square miles of coal in China. This is sufficiently startling, but there is another fact connected with this matter which adds tremendously to the import of these figures. Side by side with all the coal-fields explored are iron ores and iron stone of all descriptions; and most remarkable of all, the commonest in North China is the black oxide of iron—true magnetic iron ore. So extensively does this prevail that the natives use only this variety in the preparation of their iron utensils; and pass by fields of other iron ore and iron stone, which would be perfect fortunes to manufacturers in our own country. The writer speaks of what he has seen, for he has picked this iron ore out of the ground, found it to contain from 60 to 80, and 85 per cent. of pure iron, and placing it among needles found it a magnet of the most powerful description.

THE SINGAPORE MARKET GARDEN RAILWAY.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—The card which I enclose will, I think, in your opinion authorise my saying that, in common with most old residents in Singapore, I still feel a deep interest in its welfare. I mention this lest the criticisms I may have to make on the letter of "A Merchant," in your issue of the 24th inst., should be taken as conceived in a spirit hostile to the Settlement.

Your correspondent appeals to all connected with the Straits to assist in finding means to construct a line of railway from one end of New Harbour, via Tanglin Barracks, to the coast opposite Johore, and he encourages them to carry out his suggestion by a reference to the success which has attended the establishment of the Singapore Railway Company. I am bound to say, after a careful study of his letter, that less real inducement for the investment of capital than appears in it could scarcely be offered.

"A Merchant" discusses the subject in both a sentimental and practical mood. To avoid trespassing too much on your space, I will note as briefly and categorically as possible the points he makes under each head.

Sentimentally, then, the island is abundantly watered, its coasts are teeming with fish, but, alas, how few villages it contains! Sad that, except in the neighbourhood of the city, the land should continue in a state of luxuriant jungle! Sad that along the dusty road the poor coolie must "wend his solitary way!" Is it too much to expect that we will "come forward" with the "comparatively small amount" required to enable him to travel third class at least? All this is very impressive, and I shall leave it to commend itself to the more poetical of your readers.

Practically the trade of Singapore has doubled during the past fifteen years. Tangible securities in the settlement command twelve per cent. interest. Vegetables and poultry are at present very dear. The market for them is dependent on distant places for its supplies. The shipping in the harbour is scantily supplied with beef. The cost of convict labour, if supplied by Government, would be speedily recouped them in a saving of carriage to the European barracks.

Trade in Singapore has vastly increased: granted—but it is fast centering at New Harbour, a district which we know is to have immediate railway communication with the town. Securities command 12 per cent.—tangible securities—but land, unless perpetually attended to, is worth little more than nothing. I can see the face of an investor as he came to fore-close a mortgage on a large extent of "Lalang." Cabbages and fowl are more expensive than "A Merchant" could wish, but, from my remembrance, I should say they are not much dearer than in London. The amount of fresh beef consumed daily among the shipping in the harbour, allowing each man one pound per diem, would aggregate, say, 2 cwt. (without bone). As to the advantage to be gained by Government from a railway between the town and Tanglin, I am not able to offer an opinion, but if they think such a line needful it is for them to construct it. We must be content with the capabilities of Singapore as they are, not as they appear in the dreams of your able correspondent. The Settlement is simply an entrepot of commerce for the Archipelago. As a mineral country it is valueless until the supplies of iron-stone elsewhere are exhausted. An agricultural country it can never be. The land is poor, and the sure successor of cleared jungle is the curse of "Lalang" grass.

We may be quite sure that in a thriving and enterprising colony railway communication will not be long in coming when need of it appears. Witness the fact of its successful commencement, to which your correspondent appeals, and the rumour that a second line is to be constructed from the town to New Harbour. "Railways make traffic"—So they do, but they must have something to make it out of. They must connect places of importance or they must pass through a country rich in something of value. Does the line which we are called on to support prefix either of these requirements? Will it bring produce to the town? No—for that can and ever will be brought along the calm waters of the Straits to Singapore, at far less cost than it could come by land carriage.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant, P. W. A.

THE CHINA DEBATE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "GLOBE."

SIR,—In the discussion on Chinese affairs in the House of Lords last Friday three noble lords warmly supported "the policy of the Government;" but it is not so easy to gather from the debate what that policy really is. The immediate question under discussion was the massacre of Europeans at Tientsin last June, and Lord Carnarvon very clearly showed from the Blue book lately published that justice had not overtaken the guilty parties, that Her Majesty's Government had been vainly scolding and threatening the Chinese Government for six months, and had, according to the Chargé d'Affaires, been made a fool of. Instead of answering this—which was indeed unanswerable—Lord Granville discoursed on other topics, explaining that certain habits of the Chinese would take an immense time to eradicate,—among them presumably that of killing foreigners—and that our duty is patience and tolerance of these habits; and he connected the Tientsin Massacre with some unspecified, but in his view very reprehensible, practices of the Roman Catholic missionaries. Earl Grey went a step further, and laboured to show that the Chinese were perfectly justified in their hatred to foreigners, and brought in the coolie traffic from the south of China as a set-off against the massacre in the north. It might be sufficient to answer Earl Grey that the hostility which he endeavoured to describe, to account for, and to justify, exists only in his imagination; were it real, no European could live a day in China.

Let us, however, try to extract from Lord Granville's speech what the policy of the Government is. The practice of keeping a ship of war at the Consular ports is in a general way condemned, and their lordships were amused by his allusion to a supposed mania of consuls to see men-of-war close to their houses. This was à propos to a request by Consul Lay, of Tientsin, to have a gunboat there—a request preferred before the occurrence of the massacre. In another part of his speech, however, Lord Granville took credit to himself for doing what Mr. Lay had been laughed at for asking: the only practical difference being that whereas the one gunboat Mr. Lay asked for, if on the spot on the 20th June, would have prevented the massacre, the flotilla that came in July was merely a shutting of the stable-door when the horse was stolen. The question is whether this lesson is to be of any use in the future. What people want to know is, in the event of an outrage being apprehended again, would the policy of the Government be to wait until persons were slaughtered and then send the gunboat, or send her a day or two beforehand, even at the risk of gratifying the desire of a consul?

On one point Lord Granville was quite intelligible—in his statement of the policy of Her Majesty's Government to refer all matters of dispute or outrage in China to the Central Government at Peking, and to seek redress for injury from them alone. This, as was well said by Lord Salisbury, is unexceptionable as an ideal policy, but there may nevertheless be practical inconveniences attending too rigid an adherence to it. Lord Elgin and Sir F. Bruce were referred to as having originated this policy; but it should not be forgotten that Sir F. Bruce, after three years' trial—as did his successor, Sir R. Alcock, after five years—emphatically pronounced it a failure; for in no one case out of the scores "referred" was any satisfaction ever obtained from the Central Government. Peking is thoroughly understood to be a diplomatic limbo. The powerful and active enemies of foreigners in China like nothing better than the reference to Peking, for it is to them plenary indulgence for any aggression they may set on foot either on foreign person or property. What they want, above all things, is an assurance that proceedings against them will not go farther than Peking—and the speech of Lord Granville, which will in six weeks be translated into Chinese, is admirably calculated to give that assurance; and when that degree of confidence is attained we shall not have long to wait for occasions for the display of that "tolerance" under outrage which Lord Granville recommends as the becoming spirit for British subjects in China.

If this be "the policy of the Government" so enthusiastically applauded by the Duke of Somerset and Earl Grey, then God help them whose lives and fortunes are at its mercy!—I am, yours faithfully, LIBERAL.

THE HONG KONG GAMBLING QUESTION.

"The Pall Mall Gazette remarks that the licensed gambling-house system at Hong Kong, referred to in the House of Commons by Mr. Bowring, more nearly affects the Legislature of this country than is generally imagined. The impression is almost universal, and was even shared by the late Lord Clarendon when Foreign Minister, that Hong Kong is nothing more to us than a treaty port of China, and is therefore entirely beyond our jurisdiction. It is this ignorance which has allowed large revenues derived from several very questionable sources to be annually collected in that colony without comment or remark. Until lately a considerable income was derived from the licences granted to brothels, and for the last three years the Government of the colony has been in receipt of upwards of £50,000 a-year from the tax levied on gambling-houses. By a Parliamentary return we learn that during the years 1868-1869 the tax imposed of seven per cent. on moneys won at the licensed gambling-tables yielded a gross sum of $373,616, by which it is to be inferred that upwards of a million sterling changed hands within those periods. A further calculation, which shows that this sum was an aggregate of the moneys staked by daily averages of 14,631 players, proves that every eighth inhabitant—men, women, and children, European and Chinese included—was a frequenter of these "hells." The result of thus encouraging gambling among our Chinese subjects has been most pernicious. Scarcely a session passed, as was lately remarked by the Chief Justice of the colony from the bench, without one or more cases being brought into court in which Chinese employés are charged with having robbed their European masters to make good their gaming losses. "It is of constant occurrence," said the same authority recently, addressing a Chinaman found guilty of passing a forged bank-note at a gaming table, "that victims suffer as criminals for the seductions of the gaming-tables." The losses annually sustained both by private individuals and firms in consequence of the gambling propensities of their employés are so large that the consideration is at length forced upon them whether it may not be economy on their part to purchase increased honesty in their servants by raising a tax of an equal amount with that derived from gambling-houses on some more legitimate principle.

The Globe says there has always been a taint of immorality about the Government of Hong Kong. The proximity of the mainland of China and the evil communications of the mandarins have corrupted the good manners of the colonial authorities, who have been in the habit for years of farming out the licence to gamble in the colony to the highest bidder. By the mail just arrived we learn that the annual licence was put up to auction by the Government at the beginning of the year, and that the privilege was purchased by Ho Ah-sik for 15,800 dollars per month, or about £40,000 a-year. This sum is considerably above that received last year, so that it is plain gambling is on the increase; and it is evidently the interest of the Government that it should be, although it is directly opposed to the well-being of both the foreign and native residents, who have been driven to seek to repair the losses met with at the gambling-table by thieving. The natives are now at last beginning to perceive the baneful effects of a system by which a sum of about £70,000 a-year—the approximate cost of keeping up the gambling-houses, including the tax payable to Government and the profits of the farmer—is drawn from their pockets, and, with an energy which reflects shame on the English merchants, are getting up a petition for presentation to the Colonial-office, praying that licensed gambling may be abolished from the colony. That such a system, entailing as it does so much crime and violence, should have been allowed to exist for so long is a disgrace to our colonial legislation; and we trust that when the matter is brought before the House of Commons, as it most surely will be, a speedy end will be put to it.

It is reported (says the Echo) that the Chinese community in Hong Kong have petitioned Her Majesty's Government to put a stop to the gambling-house system existing in that colony under the protection of the law, and producing a revenue of $15,800 a month, or nearly £40,000 a year. If this be true, we hope Englishmen will take to heart the deserved rebuff administered to our Christian colonists by the poor benighted heathen. Of course, where we civilised people are, en famille, with no barbarians looking on, we can do as we like, at Baden or at Tattersall's; but self-respect should teach us not to disgust Chinamen with our immorality.

PROPOSED OCEAN TELEGRAPHS.

(NEW YORK TIMES.)

The very interesting report presented to the Chamber of Commerce by Mr. Ruggles deals so exhaustively with the general condition of ocean telegraphy, and the prospects of success held out by a cable uniting Eastern Asia with our Pacific shore, that it almost seems hypercritical to point out omissions. There are, however, several points left untouched to which public attention might advantageously be directed. Mr. Ruggles gives us the totals representing the relative commercial intercourse between the United States and Europe and the seaports of "the Pacific and Indian Oceans." But he omits to point out the enormous and in some cases 'preponderating increase of direct trade by vessels under the American flag with the seaports of China and Japan. Thus, we find that during 1869 the carrying trade of Hankow, the great emporium of Central China, and without doubt fated some day to take the lead of its older rival, Shanghai, showed a large excess in favour of American vessels. The steam navigation of that noble river, the Yangtze-Kiang, is almost solely in American hands, the well-known house of Russell and Co. managing, and to a large extent owning, the vessels of the Shanghai Steam Navigation Company, which, recently amalgamated with a rival line, controls the freight and passenger traffic of six hundred miles of riverine navigation. American interests are scarcely less prominently represented in the various coastal lines which make Shanghai and Hong Kong their headquarters, and a similar remark applies to the communication with Japan, which (apart from the Pacific Mail Company's steamers) is maintained by vessels mostly built and owned by citizens of this country.

Yet another, and by no means unimportant point, has been omitted in Mr. Ruggles's report. The vast Chinese colony which now forms an integral portion of San Francisco numbers among its members a large number of rich and commercially influential natives, who would readily avail themselves of the telegraph to communicate with their friends in China. To put aside the American and European element altogether, the shrewd, business-like Chinaman would almost support such a cable as that proposed in the various schemes projected by American telegraphists. But if we take into consideration the foreign element also, the prospect held out to any company undertaking the new line is more than encouraging. The completion of the Indo-Singapore cable, and the measures taken to connect that port with Hong Kong, are less antagonistic to the success of a Pacific line, even as regards the English communities, than might at first sight appear. One great and hitherto insurmountable disadvantage has attended the transmission of messages from India to Europe, and will consequently extend to those forwarded by the new line from China—the numerous and often alien hands through which they must pass to reach their destinations. Illustrations of the sad havoc made by operators with the simplest English sentences are so plentiful that scarcely a journal appears in further Asia without some unintelligible sentence which the editor, by a "query," or more elaborate expression of doubt, confesses his inability to decipher. Not long ago a blunder of this sort caused a run upon the leading bank at Colombo (Ceylon), and by way of sequel an animated and expensive lawsuit to determine the responsibility attaching to the paper first publishing it. Not unnaturally, therefore, the communities of the Eastern settlements are favourably disposed to the establishment of a rival telegraphic line which would both lower the existing tariff and induce greater care in transmission. The fact that two breaks only would, by the Pacific line, intervene between Shanghai and London would form a powerful inducement to avail themselves of its services in preference to those of the many-sectioned cable via Galle and the Red Sea.

The trade between China, Japan and the United States is so obviously in its infancy that the least enthusiastic admit a probable development which will exert an immense influence upon both the social and religious status of the vast populations of Eastern Asia. Everything tends to favour the assumption that before many years have elapsed this country will possess a preponderating influence among peoples who will owe their first lessons in material improvement to our machinists and metallurgists, our civil engineers and our shipwrights. Our moral triumphs in the same direction are already matters of record. The pioneer in the field of Japanese literature is an American missionary. The translator of Wheaton's International Law into the language of Confucius is also a member of our missionary body. Pampelly has first explored and thoroughly mapped the geology of Nippon and North China. Turning to the material advances so recently made by both nations, we may note that the superintendent of the leading Chinese arsenal is an American. There is, in short, scarcely a single department of business or commerce, in either China or Japan, uninfluenced or unrepresented by American agents. It is too much the fashion to ignore the immense and ever-increasing interests we have at stake in those countries; and the apathy regarding telegraphs and steamers making Asiatic ports the termini of their lines must give way to judicious action, if we would secure the advantages already within our grasp. The wonderful strides in this direction made by British enterprise within the past twelve months should awaken us to a sense of what we shall lose if we permit it to exclusively occupy a field so easily made our own. Americans have unfortunately been able to boast of but little support from their Government towards schemes such as that under consideration; but Mr. Ruggles's report will, it may be hoped, do some good in directing public attention to so imperfectly understood a matter as the actual conditions of our Asiatic trade. Time and a judicious policy are alone wanting to make the United States its great mart, whence supplies would reach every quarter of Europe.

Monetary and Commercial.

The Bill for the reconstruction of the Albert Life Assurance Company and for the settlement of all matters in dispute, through the agency of an arbitrator to be named by Parliament, has been heard before the Committee of the House of Lords, of which the Duke of Richmond is chairman. The case of the opposition to the Bill having been brought to a close, Mr. Denison, Q.C., replied. It had been admitted by the official liquidator, who opposed this Bill, that he did not remember a single case of an insurance company in liquidation being finally wound up. There were fifty-eight of such companies in the Court of Chancery, and some of them had been there for fifteen years and upwards, but in no one instance had the winding up been completed. On the ground of expense, too, there could be no dispute. On the general question of expenses incurred in liquidation the Lord Chancellor had stated in evidence before a committee that "the expenses incurred in liquidation were even beyond his discernment and altogether beyond his control." Lord Romilly and Lord Justice James had been equally emphatic on the same subject. In the case of the liquidation of the Albert Company in Chancery, up to October last £21,000 had been paid, and this included a solicitor's bill of £6,000 made up to the previous June only. At the rate at which it had hitherto proceeded the liquidation expenses would amount to something like £30,000 per annum. Upon every ground, both of time and expense, he trusted their Lordships would be of the same opinion as that expressed by Lord Justice James, when he said that "nobody but Parliament can find an extrication for this matter, and I hope they will." With respect to the large sums paid for amalgamations and compensations, which had been so prominently stated in the evidence, the promoters of the Bill would accept any clause that may be framed to put the law in force against those who had levied the "black mail." The room was then cleared, and on the readmission of the public the Chairman announced that the Committee considered the preamble of the Bill to be proved. The arbitrator to be named by Parliament was announced by Mr. Denison to be Lord Cairns.

The report of the Agra Bank (Limited), to be submitted on the 4th proximo, states that the net profits during the past twelve months, including the balance brought forward, amounted to £47,171, and that the available balance is £33,791, after deducting the interim dividend paid in October. Owing to the heavy decline in cotton and silk during the war, and to the consequent failure of some of the customers of the bank, the directors have determined to reserve out of the profits the sum of £14,000. After making this provision, there will remain £19,791, out of which a dividend is recommended at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, free of income-tax, leaving £75 to be carried forward. It is hoped that the improvement of trade and the stimulus that will be given to commercial transactions of all kinds by the cessation of hostilities on the Continent will afford better opportunities than have recently been available of employing the funds of the undertaking to advantage. A payment of £1 5s. per share on account of return capital is announced on the old shares of the late Agra and Masterman's Bank. The progress made in the realisation of the assets of the old bank in India has fallen short of expectation.

A letter to the Shipping Gazette complains of the system adopted by the China houses of compelling shipmasters to reduce the freight on tea after the bargain is actually made. The writer adduces the following instance:—

The ship — was de-patched from Shanghai early in December last to Foochow, freights there being £2 10s. On arrival the master was led to believe that his ship was engaged full at that figure. About ten days after that freights drooped, and a party who had 150 tons "on refusal" wrote that he would not require the room. Another did the same, and the consequence was that, in order to fill up, the ship had to take the balance of the cargo required—some 400 tons—at £2, and at which rate the shippers of the 900 tons, for which bills of lading had been signed at £2 10s., now require their tea to be carried; whereas, had freights advanced to £5, not another shilling would they have paid! Representations have been made by the London and Liverpool Shipowners' Associations to the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce, but without success, and the extortion (for it is nothing else) is still practised by those of whom I once heard it remarked "it was their pride to have it thought they never did anything shabby." The remark applied to the China merchants, of whose liberality, &c., in mulcting the unfortunate shipowner of some £500 or £600 on a cargo valued at £50,000 or £60,000, I leave your readers to judge.

There is no truth in the report alluded to by a contemporary as to the difficulties of a firm of wholesale tea dealers, certainly not with a firm of any importance.

The amount of bullion by the P. and O. Company's steamer Massilia, from Southampton on the 1st inst., was in gold to Calcutta, £10,000; in silver to Aden, £5,000; to Singapore, £10,000; to Hong Kong, £44,500; to Shanghai, £7,435; to Penang, £22,000; total in gold, £10,000; in silver, £88,935.

BULLION AND SPECIE.

GOLD is now not in so much demand, and although the supplies to hand during the week have nearly all been absorbed, we may look for an influx of gold to the Bank ere long, more particularly as there is a probability of some important sums being received from America shortly, the first shipment thither having been already notified.

SILVER.—We have received several amounts from New York and India, amounting in the aggregate to £217,000. This sum has been sold for the Continent at prices varying from 60½d. to 60 5 16d.; the demand not being now so active, the former price may be considered as the nearest.

MEXICAN DOLLARS.—About £65,000 have been received from New York during the week, and these, together with previous arrivals, have been taken chiefly for the East; the Nubia having sailed with about £88,710 for China and the Straits.

EXCHANGE on India for Banks Drafts at sixty days' sight is 1s. 10½d. to 1s. 10 11-16d. per rupee. India Government Loan Notes show no alteration. The Four per Cents. are 92½; the Five per Cents. 100; and the Five-and-a-Half per Cents. 107½.

ARTICLES OF IMPORT.

The market for TEA and SILK has been quiet, without change in prices. COTTON has been in moderate demand, at a slight advance upon the prices current last week. Plantation Ceylon COFFEE has gone off in small quantities, with more steadiness, though without actual improvement in value; Native Ceylon and other East India have not been dealt in. The market for Ceylon COCOA NUT OIL is steady, at £40 to £40 5s. Business has been done in GAMBER at 18s. 6d. for Cubes on spot, and in bales to arrive at 15s. 9d. ex ship, with all faults. There is still an absence of business in MANILA HEMP PEPPER exhibits a declining tendency, with large supplies of Black on the market. RICE is quiet, the business done being scarcely sufficient to afford a fair test of values. There has been scarcely a single transaction in SUGAR, and quotations for all descriptions are absolutely nominal. With regard to other articles there is nothing to report.

ARTICLES OF EXPORT.

MANCHESTER GOODS.

Owing to large sales of Cotton in Liverpool at slightly higher rates this market has been very steady during the week, and an average amount of business has been done. Producers generally endeavour to obtain some advance upon the rates ruling a week ago, but, as a rule, are only successful in doing so where immediate or early delivery can be given.

CASUALTIES.

The County of Forfar, Lamont, from Java to Rotterdam, put into Plymouth with loss of jibboom and bow damaged, having been in collision, March 23, 37 miles S.E. of Portland.

The Diane (French ship), from Saigon, which put into St. Helena, Jan. 27, with damage, had discharged about 100 tons rice, of which 245 pockets and 115 sacks were damaged and had been sold. Her repairs would be completed very shortly.

LAUNCH OF THE "SUN FOO."—An iron three decked steamship, named the Sun Foo, was launched last week on the Clyde by Messrs. Alex. Stephens and Sons. The vessel is 255 ft. in length, 33 ft. beam, and 24 ft. 6 in. in depth, of 190-horse power nominal, 1,500 tons burthen, and is classed A 100 at Lloyd's. She is barque rigged, has a teak deck, and is fitted with shifting blades to the propeller. The Sun Foo is designed for the China coasting trade.

The Enterprise, from London to China, arrived at Galle on the 25th March, performing the passage from Suez in fifteen days, and thirty-three from London, notwithstanding a loss of four days in passing through the Canal, and a succession of gales from London to Port Said.

The Lord of the Isles, which left London on 4th March for China, passed the Canal in two days, and left Suez on the 23rd.

THE TANJONG PAGAR DOCK COMPANY (LIMITED).

REPORT OF THE DIRECTORS.

The Balance Sheet for the half-year ending 31st December, 1870, and the Profit and Loss Account now laid before you sufficiently show that your Directors' anticipation of a steady increase of business has been realised, for although you will observe some of the charges, such as repairs to the Wharf, are exceptionally heavy, the profit is greater than that shown in our previous report.

The Net profit for the half-year is $12,918.50, which enables your Directors to recommend the payment of Dividend: at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum on the Original Shares, and of 8 per cent. per annum on Preference Shares, which will dispose of $11,028.00, leaving a balance of $1,890.50 to carry forward to next year.

The agreement made in June last with the Patent Slip and Dock Company has, although attended with some difficulties, on the whole worked well, and while each Company gets a fair share of the work, both benefit by the arrangement.

On the 10th October last the first series of Debentures, amounting to $180,000, fell due and were redeemed by the issue of a third series to the same amount, but bearing interest at the lesser rate of 7 per cent. per annum and maturing 10th October, 1873.

On the 20th of March proximo the second series of Debentures, amounting to $46,400, become payable, and it is intended to replace them by the issue of a fourth series, bearing the same rate of interest and maturing at the same date as the third series.

Nearly all the holders of the above Debentures, second series, have applied for a renewal of their loan, at the reduced rate, while applications for the investment of considerable sums in these securities have been made, showing the increased confidence of the public in our undertaking.

During the half-year there have been berthed at the Wharf:—135 Steamers of register tons 94,062; 45 Sailing Vessels register tons 23,037; while the Dock has accommodated 10 Steamers of register tons 6,196; 16 Sailing Vessels of register tons 9,151; these vessels occupying the Dock 165 days.

Coal stored on account of constituents, was on December 31st, 19,452 tons, while 35,315 tons of coal and 42,982 tons of general cargo have passed over the Wharf during the half-year.

To meet the increasing traffic and to specially afford accommodation for the coaling of the China tea steamers, your Directors consider it necessary to extend your wharves at once and have already commenced such extension to the westward. It is their intention to construct 300 feet in the above direction and 200 feet on the east side of the Dock to afford accommodation to vessels while under repairs without interfering with the cargo wharf. Other godowns will also be required, and these it is very desirable should be of brick. Permanent coal sheds in place of the present temporary ones, as well as other improvements, are also necessary; entailing a considerable outlay. And it is the intention of your Directors to defray the cost of these by the issue of additional Preference Shares as authorised at an Extraordinary meeting held for the purpose on the 28th June, 1869, and which authority was confirmed at a subsequent meeting held on the 17th July of the same year. At the above mentioned meeting, the issue of 2,500 of these Shares was sanctioned, while up to the present time only 1,267 have been placed.

Your Directors are convinced that these additional works will prove a benefit to the Shareholders, but before incurring so considerable an expense they are desirous of obtaining your approval.

The efficiency of the staff and plant has been maintained.

THOS. SCOTT, Chairman.

ART, PICTORIAL AND INDUSTRIAL. In Illustrated Magazine.

THIS Publication was commenced on the 1st of July, in the belief that an ample field existed for a high class monthly magazine devoted to Art; and already the result has fulfilled this expectation. 'ART' is produced in a form eminently adapted to the drawing-room table. It is handsomely printed on fine paper, in super-royal quarto, and each Number contains four or more Full-page Heliotype Illustrations, being reproductions of Ancient and Modern Pictures, Engravings, Designs, Sculpture, and objects of Industrial or Decorative Art.

PROSPECTUS.

The "Realm Marine Insurance Company" is established for the purpose of supplying merchants with additional facilities for effecting marine insurances.

The completion of the Suez Canal, and the establishment of telegraphic communication with the East, have given a new and powerful stimulus to European trade with India, China, Japan, and Australia.

The chief shipbuilders of the United Kingdom are at present turning out every three months upwards of 250,000 tons of steam shipping suitable for the Canal.

British commerce in the East during the last thirty years has advanced in annual value from 17 to upwards of 200 millions sterling, and is steadily increasing. The trade of Egypt, India, China, and Australia with Great Britain is, however, still in its infancy.

Guarantees for the protection, by insurance, of this immense and advancing trade have not increased in corresponding proportions.

The Realm Marine Insurance Company will, therefore, in addition to general business, give special attention and provide adequate means for the protection at sea of Indian and Chinese commerce.

The large profits which the leading Marine Insurance Companies realise are expressed in the prices of their shares.

	Amount of Share.	Amount paid.	Present Market Value.
The Indemnity	£100	£5 13 6	£115 0 0 x d.
Marine	100	15 0 0	85 0 0
Ocean	25	5 0 0	19 0 0 x d.
Thames and Mersey	20	2 0 0	5 10 0 x d.
Universal	20	5 0 0	11 5 0 x d.
British and Foreign	20	4 0 0	8 0 0 x d.
Union	50	5 0 0	10 5 0 x d.

The "Thames and Mersey," at the close of 1869, after paying all office expenses out of interest on investments, declared for distribution a net profit of £135,000. Shares in the Thetis, established last April, on which £5 was paid, are already quoted at £4 premium, or at an advance of 80 per cent. on the amount paid.

The Realm Marine Insurance Company, in providing increased facilities for Inurance, will render service to trade and afford favourable opportunities for the investment of money.

The services of Henry Woodfall, Esq., the well-known Underwriter and Average Adjuster, have been secured as Underwriter to the Company.

A copy of the Memorandum and Articles of Association may be seen at the offices of Messrs. Newman, Dale and Stretton, solicitors to the Company, 75, Cornhill.

Applications for shares, addressed to the Directors in the accompanying form, may be made to the Bankers and Secretary of the Company, at the temporary offices, No. 2, Austin-friars, London, E.C., and to all stock-brokers in the United Kingdom; but no application will be considered unless a deposit of £1 for each share applied for shall have been previously made with the Bankers of the Company. Should a smaller number of shares than that applied for be allotted, the balance of the sum deposited with the Bankers will be appropriated towards the payment of the £3 per share, or in the event of no allotment being made the whole of the deposit will be returned.

An agreement, dated 1st March, 1871, made between William Preston Willins, as agent for and on behalf of the Realm Marine Insurance Company (Limited), of the one part, and Henry Woodfall, of London, of the other part, has been entered into, engaging Mr. Woodfall as Underwriter.

ELEVENTH REPORT

Of the Court of Directors to the ORDINARY HALF-YEARLY GENERAL MEETING of Shareholders, held at the CITY HALL, HONG KONG, on WEDNESDAY, the 15th February, 1871.

TO THE PROPRIETORS OF THE HONG KONG AND SHANGHAI BANKING CORPORATION.

GENTLEMEN,

The Directors have now to submit to you a General Statement of the affairs of the Corporation, and Balance Sheet for the half-year ending on 31st December last.

The net profits for that period, including $99,398.33 brought forward from last account, after paying all charges and deducting interest paid and due, amount to $465,968.82, of which, after taking out Rebate on Bills not yet due, and remuneration to Directors, there remains for appropriation $451,141.46.

From this sum the Directors recommend the distribution of a Dividend of $5 per share on the Paid-up Shares, and of $3 per share on the New Shares, being equivalent to Four per Cent. for the half-year; this will absorb $160,000, and of the balance, the Directors propose retaining $268,587.13 to meet eventual losses on present outstandings, carrying the balance of $22,554.33 to the credit of New Profit and Loss Account.

If this appropriation of profits be confirmed by the Meeting, the Shareholders will have received as Dividend for the year 1870 the sum of $370,000 (Ten per Cent. on the paid-up Capital), all bad and doubtful assets will be amply provided for, and undivided profits of $22,554.33 will be carried forward.

The Directors regret that the depreciation on previous valuations of some of the Bank's securities, together with the position of some transactions entered into during the Six Months under review, compel them to recommend the retention of such a large sum as $268,587.13 out of the half-year's earnings, and, in consequence, to reduce the usual dividend of Six per Cent. for the half-year to Four per Cent.; but they deem it best for the interest of the Shareholders to make full provision for all doubtful outstandings, and at the same time to leave the Reserve Fund intact.

Although the Dividend for the Six Months is not so favourable for Shareholders as in previous half-years, still, the Directors think the general result is extremely satisfactory, if Proprietors will bear in mind the stagnation in trade, the depreciation of securities, and the unremunerative turn taken by Exchanges in consequence of the Franco-German War.

The Proprietors may be congratulated on the strong position held by the Bank at all places where its business is carried on. Its resources have increased materially during the past year, the Deposits alone showing an increase of $3,400,000, and in every way the Bank's business has most successfully progressed in proportion with the increase of the Paid-up Capital.

AGENCIES.

A new Agency has been established at Saigon, and is working satisfactorily.

CALLS.

The fourth call of $25 per share on the New Shares in the Capital of the Corporation will fall due on the 1st July next, and the fifth and final call of the same amount on the 1st July, 1872.

DIRECTORS.

The Hon. R. ROWETT has been appointed Chairman of the Corporation for the year 1871, vice Mr. H. B. LEMANN, whose term of office has expired, and Mr. THOMAS PYKE has been elected Deputy-Chairman.

According to the provisions of the Deed of Settlement, three members of the Court, Messrs. R. ROWETT, J. MENKE, and G. F. HEARD, retire from the Direction, but they are eligible for re-election, and offer themselves accordingly.

AUDITORS.

The Directors have much pleasure in recommending the election for the year 1871 of the present Auditors, the Hon. PHINEAS RYRIE and Mr. J. M. VICKERS.

R. ROWETT, Chairman.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT

AND PILLS.—RHEUMATISM and GOUT.—These purifying and soothing remedies demand the earnest attention of all persons liable to rheumatism, gout, sciatica, or other painful affections of the muscles, nerves or joints. The Ointment should be applied after the affected parts have been patiently fomented with warm water, when the unguent should be diligently rubbed upon the adjacent skin, unless the friction should cause pain. Holloway's Pills should be simultaneously taken to reduce inflammation and purify the blood. This treatment abates the violence and lessens the frequency of gout, rheumatism, and all spasmodic diseases which spring from hereditary predisposition, or from any accidental weakness of constitution. The Ointment checks the local malady; the Pills preserve the vital power.

TANJONG PAGAR DOCK COMPANY

VICTORIA DOCK, SINGAPORE.

This Company's Granite DRY DOCK, 450 feet in length, 65 feet width of entrance, and 20 feet depth of water on the sill, was OPENED on the 17th October, 1868. In the high tides of the North-East Monsoon there is a foot to eighteen inches more water.

In connection with the Dock is a complete range of workshops, fitted with steam machinery, driving all descriptions of engineers' tools required in the construction and repair of vessels and machinery, and a foundry for iron and brass castings.

The Company's extensive Wharves and Godowns for receiving and storing cargo immediately adjoin the Dock.

Having an efficient European staff in each department, the Company is in a position to guarantee the best workmanship, executed with every possible despatch, as well as low rates of charges.

These advantages, and the great facilities which the proximity of the Dock to the town offers for the transport of materials, &c., enable this Company to adopt a very low scale of charges for ships' work of all classes.

Summary of News from the Far East.

JAPAN. YOKOHAMA.

Dates via San Francisco extend to Feb. 22, the Pacific mail steamer Japan arriving at that port on March 18.

The following summary of news is from the Japan Mail of February 22:—

There has been a little excitement with regard to the movements of the French man-of-war in harbour here, owing to a rumour that several North German vessels intended making an escape. At the present moment there are some fifteen North German vessels in port, and so far as we can foresee there does not appear to be much chance of their sailing before the conclusion of the war in Europe. The report as to the proposed escape was current on the 10th inst., and although generally discredited it received apparent confirmation in the fact that the French man-of-war in port, the Alma and the Dupleix, sailed for a cruise on the following day. However, none of the German ships left, and the Alma and Dupleix have now returned.

In connection with this superabundance of North German vessels some little difficulty has arisen, owing to the different interpretations the French and German authorities place upon a point in international law. The German merchants, naturally anxious to avoid any unnecessary outlay, have in several instances attempted to dispose of their vessels. The French authorities, however, insist that any ship, the property of a belligerent, being sold to a neutral, is still liable to capture. Upon this plea two ships sold to British merchants have been seized and condemned, while the Japanese, who were most anxious to purchase, are now afraid to touch German ships. The news of the taking of Paris, which reached us by the last mail, however, gives us some hope that the North German merchant fleet will shortly be free from the supervision and watching of the French navy.

Two rival gas companies are canvassing the settlement for support. The first formally announced was a German company, introduced under the auspices of Messrs. Schultze, Reis, and Co., a firm of high respectability. The other is a company started by Japanese capitalists for the purpose of lighting the Japanese town, and has promise of the support of the Government for this purpose. This gives it an advantage at starting which the German company will have much difficulty in contending against, and the question fairly arises of how far we require two companies. The consumption in the Japanese town will be large, and if the consumption of the settlement be added to this it will enable the Japanese company to work more cheaply than its rival. It is already prepared to supply gas fifty cents per thousand cubic feet cheaper than the German company, and as foreign trustees have been appointed by the Government to direct it, and it will be managed by a foreign overseer and foreign workmen, there is as much guarantee for its efficiency as the other company can hold out. The majority of the Fire Insurance Offices have expressed an opinion that the Japanese Company will be a source of so much danger to the settlement as to necessitate a probable increase in the enormous rates already charged for fire-insurance. And they would undoubtedly be right were the company under Japanese management. But its direction by foreigners certainly disposes of most of the objections brought against it, and a small minority of the insurance offices, by refusing to subscribe to the manifesto, has undoubtedly shown a wise discretion.

On the 15th a trial of the new steam fire engine imported by the Victoria Fire Insurance Company was held on the Bund. The trial was in every respect satisfactory, and the value of the engine, which has been questioned by several parties, is beyond doubt. We only hope that no jealousy or ill-will will prevent its being made as useful as it should be.

At a meeting of the Y. U. Club, held on the 15th, it was decided to hand over the management of the club to Mr. Smith for another five years, with option for a succeeding five. Various changes were made in the rules, which we regret to say have had the effect of making the club nothing but a subscription hotel.

A marked improvement is observable in the general appearance of the settlement. The drainage works are being pushed on gradually, and as fire sweeps away the ill-built houses in the streets leading towards and in the Homura-road, they are replaced by buildings of better construction. But the want of some sound system of municipal government is manifested in the number of idle vagabonds who infest the settlement, and who are becoming more and more the terror of the orderly population.

Rumours of very uncertain foundation are afloat that it is highly probable there will be an outbreak among the Japanese during the next few months. At the "Nippon Bashi," a bridge in Yedo, the proclamations of the Government have been torn down, and there has been a disturbance among the peasant farmers in Sinchiu, which was, however, soon quelled.

Mr. Hannen, the new Judge for this port, has recently arrived, and will shortly relieve Mr. Russell Robertson from the heavier cases which come before the Court. The change is expected to give universal satisfaction.

Messrs. Dallas and King, who were attacked in Yedo last month, have recovered from the effects of their wounds. The assassins have been captured and are awaiting punishment. The exertions made by the Government to arrest them and the attention it has in various ways shown to the sufferers deserve the highest commendation.

Small-pox has raged with great violence and malignity both amongst the native and foreign population; it is now disappearing. The Government has taken measures for the vaccination of the people, and large numbers of them have submitted to this salutary process.

Mr. Longford of H. B. M. Legation met with a severe accident while riding. His horse shied suddenly and threw him with much violence, the effects of the fall being to break his right arm badly. The limb was set by Dr. Purcell, of H.M. 1st-10th Regiment, and Mr. Longford is doing well.

Directly the armistice between France and Germany was declared, the Willie Rickmers with the new organ for the church at Yokohama left Singapore, where she has been lying for some months, for Hong Kong. It is probable, therefore, unless the Rickmers meets with contrary winds and fails to make Hong Kong within the duration of the armistice, that the organ will arrive here within the course of a few days.

The committee of the concert given in aid of the French wounded have rendered an account of their receipts and expenditure, and it affords us sincere pleasure to state the following results.

Gross receipts.....	$3,393
Expenses.....	193

This sum has been remitted to the French Minister for Foreign Affairs in a bill on Paris for 17,500 frs., and will be handed over by him to the Society for the Aid of the Wounded.

We have also to state that Mr. Rothmund, as almoner for the Freemason's Lodge, has handed to the French Minister a sum of $107, the offerings of the Lodge in aid of the same good cause. This has also been remitted to the French Minister for Foreign Affairs in a draft for $588.90. A similar sum was subscribed, if we understand rightly, in aid of the wounded German soldiers.

The Japan Mail devotes several columns to the description of some misunderstanding which appears to have followed Mr. Geisenheimer's resignation of the Belgian Consulate, and led to an exchange of hostile messages between that gentleman and Mr. Strauss, without, however, as it appears, leading to any breach of the peace.

HIOGO.

Dates extend to the 18th Feb. The following items are from the Hiogo News :—

Another explosion of a Japanese steamer, the Habicht, has taken place. The Osaka correspondent writes :—

I am told that the accident has probably occurred from the grossly rash conduct of the engineer in working the boiler at an excessive pressure. The steamer is the new one whose appearance I described in my last letter. It appears she was intended to run from Simioishi to Sakai, and this afternoon was making a trial trip down the Katsugawa, whence she was to go round by Temposan and return here by the Adjikawa. Soon after she had left the mouth of the former river she exploded, and with such violence that one report says that she was blown literally to pieces, and sank almost immediately. I expect to know the exact state of the matter to-morrow, but at present cannot understand how so few as only four persons were killed. The boiler and engines, I am told, were originally intended for land use, but were bought for some $5,000 or so by the Tsusho from the Netherlands Trading Society, and adapted by the former for their new steamer.

Another steamer accident happened this afternoon. The Japanese owned steamer Adler ran upon an anchor when near the old guard house on the Adjikawa. A hold having been made in her iron bottom, she commenced to take in water rapidly; it was well she was so near home.

After a long spell, the saw-mills on the other side of the bay are again at work. If the whole of the cutting were done at this establishment it would probably have a good effect on the length of building contracts, but most of the Japanese master builders prefer to jog along in their old style, with bad saws and lazy sawyers.

The Japanese appetite for small steamers is not yet thoroughly sated. Messrs. Fitzgerald and Strome have lately built two boats, and Mr. J. H. Wignall another, all of them being about forty feet long. The engines for two of them were turned out from Mr. Wignall's yard, whilst the other has been supplied by the Vulcan Iron Works.

The railway works appear to necessitate an alteration in the course of the river Ikuta-ngawa, and, judging by the line at present staked out, the proposed course is to run a considerable distance from the present one, the mouth of the new river being a mile or more to the east of the present outlet. The alteration commences some little distance before the mills on the road to the waterfall are reached.

We hear that Lot 44 on the Foreign Settlement has been bought by the Masonic body, and that a Masonic Hall will soon be erected therein.

We have still to regret that no steps have been taken to cleanse the drain on the western side of the Concession, so glibly promised by the Vice-Governor at the last meeting of the Municipal Council. We must give over anticipating that this very necessary work will be done at all, unless it is done by foreigners. Japanese promises are evidently not made in sincerity.

NAGASAKI.

(VIA SAN FRANCISCO.)

NAGASAKI, Feb. 15.

Since my last, on the 16th ult., via San Francisco, the English and French mails of Nov. 25 and Dec. 2 have been received here—those of Dec. 16 and 23 should have come to hand yesterday by the P.M. steamer New York under the new arrangement made between the American and English postal authorities; but from some cause at present unexplained she did not bring them.

During the interval events of public interest have been few and unimportant, the chief one is the Amaza question, which has been taken up by the United States Minister at Yedo, who, I hear, has issued instructions to the American Consul at this port to notify by circular that American citizens may visit the island if they wish to do so, they having the right to do so by the Treaty, as Amaza is part of the Imperial dominions. It is said that the foreign representatives at Yedo take different views on the question, and on this, like many other subjects, they disagree.

The movements of the vessels of war have been as follows :—Russian corvette Almaz, from Kagosima, arrived Jan. 21; U.S. flagship Colorado, arrived from Hiogo on the 28th ult., and left for Hong Kong on the 3rd inst.; H.B.M. gunboat Elk sailed for Hiogo on the 30th ult.; French corvette Linois arrived from a cruise on the 7th inst., coaled, and left again on the 10th idem, destination unknown. U.S. corvette Alaska is hourly expected from Shanghai. Remaining in port—Russian vessels Almaz and Sobol.

The changes in the firms of Alt and Co., Nagasaki, Hiogo, and Osaka, have been announced by advertisement. In addition to these a circular issued to the firms at this port states that the interest of the Nagasaki firm is distinct from the other ones. Mr. J. M. Rainbow, of the late firm of Rainbow, Lewis, and Co., of this port, has compromised with the creditors on this side, and an official notification has been issued by H.B.M.'s Consul annulling the bankruptcy.

The Nagasaki Gazette (the first number of which appeared on the 11th inst.) gives the export of coals from Nagasaki, including supplies to America, European and native steamers, as follows :—

	Takasima.	Karatz and other kinds.	Total.
January	2,870 tons	10,154 tons	13,024 tons
February, to date ...	362 "	2,104 "	2,466 "
	3,232 tons	12,258 tons	15,490 tons

The memorial to Yedo respecting a reduction in the ground-rents at this port will not be presented by some of the Ministers, as they do not think favourably of it. Some hint that the matter will be attended to privately has become a rumour, but many renters look upon the question as indefinitely shelved. Whether anything will be ultimately done is doubtful—certainly not this year, as the land officers are now engaged in collecting the rents to December 31 next. Lot 25, Oura, recently sold as stated in a previous letter, has been returned to the Japanese after the purchaser had removed the buildings. Lot 30, Megasaki, has also been returned.

Shortly after one o'clock on the morning of the 13th instant a fire broke out in the house on lot 10, Decima, and extended to the one next to it on lot 11, the residence of Dr. van Mansvelt, superintendent of the Government hospital at this port, both of which buildings were consumed, as they were almost adjoining each other. Owing to the promptitude of the Russian men-of-war sailors in landing, and likewise those sailors who came from the North German merchant vessels, together with the native fire brigade, and nearly the whole of this community, who in their usual manner rendered good assistance, the danger to the surrounding buildings soon became very slight. The next house on lot 9, occupied by Messrs. Boeddinghaus, Dillmer and Co., is considerably scorched, but it was the means of preventing the fire from spreading, which shows that the Nagasaki style of building with plaster walls have great fireproof properties. Both the buildings and likewise the furniture in them is uninsured. The policy of Dr. Van Mansvelt has only recently expired, and as he intended to sell his furniture the day previous to his departure for Europe, he did not renew the insurance. Messrs. Boeddinghaus, Dillmer, and Co., whose damage is by water only, are insured.

Exchange on London 4s. 5d. nominal; Ne-bus 400. Freight to London, no vessel loading direct, but the agents here for the steamer Priam advertise that goods will be transhipped from the Nagasaki vessel to her at Shanghai, free of charge. Rate, Shanghai to London, Tea, 50s.; general cargo, 70s.

The paragraph in our last issue announcing the completion of the Oriental Bank buildings at Shanghai was by an error placed under the heading of Nagasaki instead of Shanghai.

CHINA.

SHANGHAI.

Dates extend to the 23rd Feb. The London Mail of Dec. 30 arrived 18th Feb.

We take the following items from the Shanghai Courier :—

The despatch addressed by the Belgian Minister to the Tsungli-Yamen is the first announcement of a definite determination on the part of any of the representatives of the outraged nationalities to reject the solution which the Chinese Government proposes that has been made known to the residents in China. The French Chargé d'Affaires has stated that he has neither rejected nor accepted the terms. Of the action of the Russian Legation we know little; while the British Minister is, we have long ago discovered, not given to official utterances for the information of his countrymen. The despatch of Baron Roodenbeek is commendable in its moderation and equally commendable in its firmness and distinctness. Having allowed the Chinese Government to argue the matter, and received its assurances at the outset that justice should be done, it is but fair to allow it to prove its sincerity by responding to a calm appeal to its honour. This leaves it no loophole of escape, it must take a straightforward path or show its colours as false and defiant.

This China New Year appears to be characterized by the number of announcements by Government and public offices and banks that they will be closed for three days during the Chinese holidays. This really indicates no new condition of things, as it is well known that in previous years these establishments were practically closed, that is, though the doors might be open there was almost no business done. The only difference this year is that, instead of this and that the other office keeping open lest one and another and somebody else should keep open, a general friendly understanding has been come to not to keep open, and the public duly notified, so that no one should be put to inconvenience by making arrangements in ignorance of the fact. Thus no damage is done to public or private convenience, while two or three days holidays will send the occupants of the offices back with a fresh stock of health to pursue their business with freshened energy.

The Shanghai Fire Department have made a claim on the Andromeda for salvage to the amount of Tls. 2,000.

It has, we understand, been fully notified that the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China will appeal against the judgment of the Acting Chief Judge, in the special case recently submitted to him as between the Bank and the Trustee in the liquidation of R. F. Thorburn and bankruptcy of W. Hargreaves.

The P. and O. Company have erected a new flagstaff at the head of the jetty in front of the entrance to their office. It consists of a lower and top mast, the extreme height from the street being 137 feet 6 inches; with a step buried ten feet in the ground. Ten feet below the truck will be four gilded compass points, while the vane will be formed by a model of a P. and O. steamer. The lower mast will be braced by four shrouds, the upper by three.

Among the news from Chefoo two items are of special interest. In an attempt to take the North German Pallas, the French gunboat Flamme fouled her, and the case being taken into Court, the war vessel had to pay the merchantman $75 damages! On the other hand there are no less than fifteen coasting vessels under the North German flag, detained in that single harbour, and that by the single gunboat Flamme, whose attempt at prize-making, as above mentioned, ended in a manner unique, we believe, in the annals of naval warfare.

We learn from the North China Herald that the Municipal Council have been straining their prerogative to impose a tax on Chinese tea-houses without asking the consent of the ratepayers. We incline to think their action illegal, and hear that it is likely they will be sued for damages. The tax imposed will oblige the closure of some tea-houses unless a reduction be made in the rental. Therefore the tax will come virtually out of the pocket of the property-owner.

We are glad to find that the condition of the river and its approaches is at length attracting the attention of the Consular body. The correspondence is not satisfactory, but we hope, now the matter has been taken up, it will be pressed to an issue at Peking.

A Ningpo correspondent writes :—"H.B.M.'s gunboat Oockchafer has just returned from a trip to Ohusan, whither she went to expend her three months' supply of ammunition. The trip was a pleasant one, despite the cold weather. The Chinese seem to be getting up a foreign drilled force in Foochow, for I hear that men are being bribed by offers of higher pay to leave the Anglo-Chinese force here for that port."

COCHIN CHINA.

SAIGON.

Dates are down to the 6th March.

From the Courrier de Saigon we learn that intelligence of the armistice between France and Prussia had been received. The Governor had, consequently, issued a proclamation restoring protection, under certain provisos, to German vessels at sea, but prohibiting them from entering Cochin China before the declaration of peace.

The eleventh list of subscriptions for the wounded raises the total amount subscribed in Saigon to f.70,625.

The news from the interior was generally favourable. The harvest was everywhere satisfactory. A fire had occurred at Mytho, destroying rice to the value of 8,000 or 10,000 piastres; it was the result of accident.

The cultivation of the sugar-cane is extending round Long-thank and Tay-ninh.

A strange disorder has broken out among the buffaloes; almost all the young ones die from fifteen to twenty days after birth.

Reports from Tan-an describe the harvest as abundant, and the district as undisturbed. Public works—bridges, markets, and pagodas—are everywhere being erected.

A sum of f.1,300 had been subscribed by the Annamese for the relief of the sufferers by the fire at Cholon, a fact which seems to show that the natives are well-disposed to the French.

BORNEO.

SARAWAK.

Dates are to March 2.

During the absence of Mr. Marten the business of the British Consulate will be conducted by Mr. O. St. John, postmaster, &c. Mr. St. John publishes a request that all stamps bearing the head of H.H. the late Rajah Sir James Brooke may be returned to the Sarawak Post-office, to be exchanged for those bearing the head of H.H. Charles Brooke, Rajah of Sarawak.

From the Sarawak Gazette we learn that H.H. the Rajah has appointed Edwin Sinclair, Esq., to do duty as Acting Resident of Bintulu, in the place of A. R. Houghton, Esq., recalled to Sarawak; George Gueritz, Esq., to do duty in the Bintulu Presidency; and Ed. Cocks, Esq., to do duty on extra service in the Sarawak Residency.

The report of the Resident at Bintulu describes the result of the Brunei expedition against the unfortunate people on the Barram river as a complete failure, only about forty Kayans turning out from the three villages noticed in the report, so that it is evident that Nakoda Raman's influence can be but very slight; as also that of his Government when relating to affairs connected with Barram.

A new harmonium by Alexandre, presented to St. Thomas' Church, Sarawak, by the Rajah, arrived on Saturday, Jan. 28th, and was used for the first time on the following Sunday.

Commercial Report.

IMPORTS.

YOKOHAMA, FEB. 22.*—The market for both Cottons and Woollens had been steadily active, and large transactions had taken place in both Grey Shirtings and Yarns, the former more than maintaining previous quotations, the latter showing a slight decline. T-Cloths had also been inquired for. Black Velvets, Taffachelass, and Turkey Reds had continued in moderate request, and sales of various descriptions of Worsted and Woollen Goods, viz., Orleans, Black and Scarlet Camlets, Lastings, and Blankets, are reported. The current quotations were as follows :—G.E. Grey Shirtings, 7 lbs., per piece, $2.40 to 2.45; 8 lbs., $2.80 to 2.82½; 9 lbs., $3.20 to 3.22½; G.E. White Shirtings, $2.65 to 3.5; T-Cloths, 6 to 7 lbs., $1.80 to 2.15; Handkerchiefs, Assorted, per doz., 65c. to $1.10; Brocades and Spots, White, per piece, $2.90 to 3; do. Dyed, $3.50 to 3.75; Chintz, Assorted, $2 to 2.50; Turkey Reds, 80c. to 90c.; Velvets, Black, $8 to 8; Muslins and Cambric, $1.15 to 1.25; Taffachelass, Double Weft, $2.85 to 3.10; do. Single Weft, $2.30 to 2.70. Cotton Yarn, 16 to 24, per picul, $39 to 39.50; 28 to 32, $40.50 to 41.25; 38 to 42, $41 to 42. Camlets, SS, Assorted, per piece, $11 to 12; do. Black, $9.50 to 10; do. Scarlet, $13.50 to 14; Lastings, $11 to 11.50; Long Ells, Assorted, $6 to 6.50; Blankets, per lb., 33c. to 36c.

HIOGO AND OSAKA, FEB. 18.*—There had been a somewhat improved demand for Cotton Goods during the month, and prices in some instances showed a slight advance. Grey Shirtings: The demand for both 8½ lbs. and 7 lbs. had improved, sales having been made at an advance upon previous rates, and the market closed firm. Cotton Yarn :

* Via San Francisco.

28-32 continued saleable, and for best chops higher prices were offered; other counts still neglected. Turkey Reds: Good colours wanted at about former quotations. Black Velvets sold to a fair extent, but at the close the market appeared somewhat weaker. Taffachelas: Best patterns continued in fair demand. Camlets: Slightly improved, favourite colours being blue, green, and orange. Black Lustres: Best quality somewhat higher. Mousellines de Laine: Good patterns readily saleable, and a further advance established. Black Cloth in rather less demand, but Grey wanted at advancing rates. Blankets without improvement. Nail Rod Iron: Small sizes inquired for. The native New Year holidays would commence on the 19th February, and business would consequently be suspended for some days.

NAGASAKI, FEB. 14.—Grey Shirtings, 8½ lbs., $2.86 per piece. Dyed Shirtings, dark blue, $3.50; light blue, $3.38 per piece. T. R. Cambrics, 2½ catty, $2.75. Chintzes, $2.25 to 2.75 per piece. Camlets, 88 assorted, $14.50, but black are worth only $10.50 to 11 per piece. Lustres, plain black, $5 per piece. An improved demand and better prices after the holidays were anticipated. Metals: Nail Rods, small sizes, $3.50; medium, $3.25 per picul. Steel: in tube, $4.75 to 5 per picul.

SHANGHAI.—The market had been closed during the week in consequence of the Chinese new year holidays.

EXPORTS.

TEA.

YOKOHAMA, FEB. 22.*—The business had been irregular; at first the demand was quiet, settlements were small, and were made at easier rates; but subsequently a somewhat brisk demand sprung up, resulting in fair settlements at from $1 to 1½ per picul rise on last quotations; since then, however, the approach of the Japanese New Year had caused native dealers to be more anxious to clear stocks, and prices had again receded to about those last quoted, but the market closed firm, more especially for the finer grades. Settlements, principally of good medium and fine leaf, amounted to about 11,000 piculs, including some common leaf inferior to that quoted, almost entirely for the New York market; the quality, more particularly of the medium kinds, had been much mixed with inferior; supplies had been fair, and stocks remained with little or no change. The Coulnakyle with 617,819 lbs., the Royal Minstrel with 390,297 lbs., and the Solent with 805,882 lbs., had sailed for New York. The Asphodel was about to sail; the Lothair, 795 tons, had her cargo fully engaged for New York. Quotations:—Common, $20 to 23 per picul; good common, $24 to 26; medium, $28 to 30; good medium, $31 to 34; fine, $35 to 38; finest and choice, nominal.

HIOGO AND OSAKA, FEB. 18*—Business since last American mail had been limited; for the commonest descriptions holders had shown more anxiety to realise, and purchases had been made at easier rates, but the better grades were scarce and firm at former quotations. The Vigil sailed for New York on Jan. 31, with a cargo of 597,840 lbs. Settlements, 1,800 piculs. Arrivals, 3,000 piculs. Stock, 3,000 piculs. Quotations: Common, Rios 15 to 19 per picul; Good Common, Rios 20 to 25 per picul; Medium, Rios 26 to 31 per picul; Good Medium, Rios 32 to 38 per picul.

NAGASAKI, FEB. 14.*—Holders had shown a strong disposition to realise during the month, and some large settlements had been made of medium sorts at some reduction on last quotations, but best kinds were still firmly held. Stocks of good leaf consisted of 11,000 bales. Common to good were quoted $14 to 17; medium to fine, $18 to 21; and fine to finest, $23 to 26 per picul.

SHANGHAI.—The market had been virtually closed during the week, owing to the intervention of the Chinese New Year holidays. Settlements were, however, reported of 886 chests Congou at Tls. 14½ to Tls. 18½, and about 1,000 chests Green Tea. In face of continued favourable advices from home, and small stocks here, quotations were not likely to be reduced on the reopening of the market. Stock of Congou, 6,200 chests; ditto of Green Tea, 13,800 half-chests.

SILK.

YOKOHAMA, FEB. 22.*—There had been considerable activity in the market during the month, and large quantities had been purchased, but owing to the inferiority of the parcels to muster nearly one-half had been rejected on inspection, and actual settlements only amounted to 700 bales, of which Hanks formed the greater proportion. A parcel of Soda had been purchased at $755 per picul, and a few bales of Ida Hanks at $860. At the close of the market for the native New Year holidays prices were firm at former quotations. Settlement—Hank sorts, 400 bales; other sorts, 300 bales; total, 700 bales. Stocks, 3,000 bales.

HIOGO AND OSAKA FEB. 18*—No business had been done; holders had remained firm; prices demanded having been higher than buyers would accede to much of the Silk lately on offer had been withdrawn until after the native New Year holidays.

SHANGHAI.—Since the departure of the last mail the market has remained closed owing to the intervention of Chinese New Year holidays. Sellers were not anxious to realise, and stocks continued very small.

THE SINGAPORE RAILWAY.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—We must trespass on your space to correct a misapprehension of the objects of the above company, apparent in a letter published in your paper of the 3rd inst., under the signature of "A Merchant."

The "dwarfed scheme" to which he individually objects, has met the approval of the chief mercantile residents in the settlement, as was evidenced by the reception given to it at a late public meeting in Singapore, and by the fact that the capital required for its completion was subscribed in a few hours.

The advocacy of a scheme defined by your correspondent as "The Singapore and New Harbour Railway in its Integrity" is, rightly or wrongly, understood to involve the appropriation of the profits clearly derivable from the line to Tanjong Pagar, not as a dividend to shareholders, but to the continuation of the railway to a point at which there exists little, if any, traffic with the town.

A railway throughout New Harbour is only a thing of time, and our company is doing good service in undertaking the construction of the first section of it, viz., from the city to Tanjong Pagar. The traffic on this part of the line shows an estimated return of 10 per cent on the capital invested; but, so far as we are aware, no figures are forthcoming as to the dividend likely to be earned from an extension beyond Tanjong Pagar.

Our directors are merchants, not philanthropists; so are our shareholders; and both will probably be borne out by public opinion in their determination to restrict their operations within safe and profitable limits. We have only to add that it is open to any one who is so disposed to carry on a line of railway from Tanjong Pagar westward, and that every facility for doing so has been promised by our directors.—We are, Sir, your obedient servants,

MACAGGART, TIDMAN, AND CO.,
Agents for the Singapore Railway Company.

FREIGHTS IN CHINA.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—In your issue of the 3rd inst., under "Monetary and Commercial Intelligence," is an extract from the Shipping Gazette, which reflects strongly, and I think I can show unjustly, upon the conduct of merchants in China in regard to a long-established custom as to loading tea-ships homewards, viz., that if a vessel after commencing her loading reduces her rate of freight to fill up the earlier shippers are to have the benefit of such reduction. This has long been the rule, and I cannot see that its abolition would benefit the shipowner at all, inasmuch as in that event the shipper, when offering his freight, would make what is now never disputed a distinct part of his offer, and if one vessel would not take the teas on those terms another would; or if the captains were so sure of their ground that they could afford to turn away freight so offered, it is obvious that there could be at the time no risk of freights declining.

Supposing a shipper has 500 tons ready, and offers it to a vessel carrying 1,200 tons at say £3. The consignee thinks that with so good a start she is sure to fill up shortly. However, she does not; freights come down, and she lowers her rates. Is it fair that the shipper who first started her, and who has had his teas detained by her not filling up, should be the man whose goods are landed in London on the worst terms out of her?

As regards freights rising after a vessel has commenced to load the cases are so extremely rare that they could scarcely form a precedent, and when such a thing has occurred it has usually been for quite the filling up "chops," and the consignees have been able to get a little more at the end, because previous shippers have made her the "going" ship. The case quoted as possible, viz., a rise from £2 10s. to £5 by the same vessel, is one that could only happen under most exceptional circumstance, and cannot fairly be made a basis of argument for the usual run of shipping affairs in China or anywhere else. Certainly merchants in China are not open to the charge of illiberality to shipowners. How often does it happen that a ship consignee having freight to offer starts his ship at ten shillings per ton or more over what he could get tonnage at elsewhere, rather than reduce the rate to the shipowner's detriment? and all conversant with the trade know how often consignees buy to fill up a vessel in their hands, and lose money on the teas so bought rather than see her detained or lower the rate.

If shipowners are not satisfied with the way their business is done, let them start ship-brokers at the principal ports, and I am much mistaken if the result would not be lower freights than under the present system.

Doubtless last season was very disastrous to sailing shipowners, who would not see the great revolution that was imminent in the carrying trade by reason of steamers and the Suez Canal, and who sent their vessels on to China precisely as in former days, when the Canal did not exist, and when steam for the long voyage was a rarity.

Apologising for the length of this letter, I am, Sir, yours faithfully, OLD CANTON.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS ASSOCIATION.

A meeting was held on Tuesday, the 28th March, for the purpose mainly of considering a letter, numerously signed by residents in Singapore, and calling on the Association to take immediate action with regard to the appointment of a Chief Justice in the Straits, as successor to Sir Benson Maxwell, should he elect to retire. The opinion of the writers was strongly to the effect that only a man of standing and first-rate legal attainments in this country should be selected, and, to widen the sphere from which such selection was to be made, it was suggested that the present salary of £2,500 might be increased to £4,000 per annum.

A long discussion ensued, and eventually a resolution was carried by a majority of the meeting, to the effect that the Association deemed the proposed increase fit and proper, provided that no pension were in future to attach to the office. The only dissentients were Messrs. Shaw, Gilfillan, and Tidman, who voted against the motion on the ground that by the Pensions' Ordinance passed last session a scale of pensions had been laid down for all officers of the colony, including the judges, and that in making any suggestions to the Colonial-office it was necessary to recognise the existence of this Act, and its bearing upon the amount of salary to be hereafter attached to the office of Chief Justice. The letter from Singapore did not allude to the Pensions' Ordinance, and it was a matter of conjecture whether the writers contemplated an advance of salary to a maximum of £4,000, coupled with the usual pension, or in place of it.

The rumours as to the proposed increase of expenditure on steamers in the Straits were then referred to, and it was determined to bring the matter to the notice of the Secretary of State.

It appears that there is an old resident of the Straits now in Manchester, who has always written under the signature of "P. W. A.," and he wishes us to state that he is not the author of the letter which appeared in our last, signed "P. W. A."

NAVAL AND MILITARY.

THE RELIEFS FOR THE CHINA STATION.

The troop-ship Tamar, which is to take out the officers and crews for Her Majesty's ships Avon, Dwarf, and Ocean, on the China station, has been at Plymouth, embarking a portion of the seamen and others. She has arrived at Portsmouth, where she will embark the remainder of the officers and men appointed to sail, and it is expected that she will finally leave this day, the 10th inst. The appointments to the vessels to be re-commissioned are detailed below, and in order to render the list complete, we repeat those which were given in our issue of the 27th ult. In addition to the naval officers and seamen, one corporal and two gunners Royal Marine Artillery, and seven privates Royal Marine Light Infantry, for the Avon; and one chaplain and two gunners Royal Marine Artillery, and seven privates Royal Marine Light Infantry, for the Dwarf, will be embarked in the Tamar.

Commander.—Henry T. Boger, 1864, to Dwarf, vice Walker, whose period of service has expired.

Staff-Commander George Raymond to the Princess Charlotte.

Lieutenants.—R. W. Forster to Dwarf; Edward W. W. Noble to Nassau; Robert G. Baker to Ocean; Henry J. Fairlie to Ocean (for disposal.)

Sub-Lieutenants.—C. W. H. Hutton to Avon; Robert B. Macnochie, Arthur S. Hamilton, R. H. Gasley, J. Durnford, W. A. Madan, John Edwards, Charles W. Sleeman, Owen H. H. Bentley, D. McN. Riddell, and Walter H. B. Graham to Ocean (for disposal).

Navigating Sub-Lieutenants.—Alfred E. Joll, Alfred Doorly to Ocean (for disposal); George A. C. Webb to Avon.

Assistant Surgeons.—Dr. A. M'Donald, M.D., 1863, to Hong Kong Hospital; Henry Macdonell, 1861, to Ocean.

Assistant Paymasters.—Bernard F. Meyer to Dwarf; John J. A. Sloan and Dixon P. Sambell to Ocean (for disposal).

Engineers.—Peter Robertson, George N. H. Michell to Avon; John Crichton, Nicholas H. Rowe to Dwarf; George Sullivan to Ocean (for disposal).

Assistant Engineers.—First Class: James F. Lewis, Courtney O. Weeks to Ocean (for disposal); Second Class: William Broad to Dwarf; Charles W. Thorne, Edward R. Vine to Ocean (for disposal).

Midshipmen.—Arthur C. A. Bacon, Bernard Dickinson, S. W. A. H. Gray, W. H. H. Montreover, George H. Thunder to Ocean (for disposal).

Navigating Midshipman.—Herbert N. Rolfe to Ocean (for disposal).

Clerks.—James W. Dixon, Andrew Hume to Ocean (for disposal).

Assistant Clerk.—William R. Dodridge to Ocean (for disposal).

The Curlew, double-screw gun-vessel, 3 guns, 665 tons and 160-horse power, which has been commissioned for the China station, to take the place of the Icarus, will probably sail about the end of next week. The following are the appointments which have been made to this vessel up to the present time.

Lieutenant.—Ernest F. Bricdale (1867).

Assistant Surgeon.—Dr. F. M'Clement.

Assistant Paymaster.—Gervase F. Mathew (in charge).

Engineers.—James Bowman, William Williamson.

Sub-Lieutenant.—H. A. Ogle.

Foreign Intelligence.

GERMANY.

HAMBURG, April 4.

The intelligence with which I commence this letter will no doubt prove interesting to many of your readers in the Far East. It is simply that they may shortly expect to see a German merchant steamer from this port as the pioneer of a regular service to China via the Suez Canal. Several of the leading merchants of this city trading to the East have resolved to take advantage of the new route so admirably adapted for steamers, and looking ahead whilst the war was being carried on with France, had quietly taken all the needful measures for carrying out their plan. The requisite capital having been subscribed, the company was formed and the order given to Messrs. Godeffroy's Iron Works to build the first steamer of the new line. The principal firms who have been instrumental to the formation of the company, and who form the board of management, are Herr G. Th. Siemssen, Messrs. Ross, Vidal and Co., and Herr August Bolten, one of our largest shipbrokers. The vessel is called the Sedan; she was successfully launched from the Godeffroy building-yard last week, and is now fitting out, being advertised to sail on the 15th of May for Singapore, Hong Kong, and Shanghai. The following are the particulars I have been enabled to learn through the courtesy of one of the above-named firms:—The dimensions of the Sedan are as follows: length, 225 feet; breadth of beam, 32 feet; and depth of hold, 22 feet. She is able to carry 1,000 tons of cargo, besides fuel for her own consumption, and she has an iron ballast tank that can contain 220 tons of water. Her engines are on the so-called compound principle, of 180-horse power, on the system of Wolf's patent, combining the advantages of the high-pressure engines, and taking up but little room, with the safety of the low pressure and consequent freedom from the danger of explosion. She is fitted out with lifeboats and all the appliances and improvements of modern ship-building, has a reserve screw on board in case of accidents, will draw fifteen feet of water when fully laden, and has accommodation for ten passengers in the chief cabin and twenty second class. She will be commanded by Captain Winter, who is stated to have great experience of the navigation of the China Seas.

COMMERCIAL.

The Tea market is firm, with a moderate amount of sales in execution of shipping orders for the north of Europe. Among the sales of Sugar reported this week is one of 11,827 kranjangs of Java at 12½ mks. bco.

per centner. Cassia Lignea is quiet, but not to be obtained under 13 sch. bco. to 13½ sch. bco. Of Flores 100 chests have been disposed of at 17½ sch. bco. to 18 sch. bco. Pepper dull of sale, and somewhat lower; Singapore quoted nominally at 6 sch. bco. to 6½ sch. bco., and Penang 5½ sch. bco. to 5½ sch. bco. In Spelter no alteration; the article again totally neglected.

HOLLAND.

ROTTERDAM, April 6.

You will remember that last year the First Chamber rejected the East India Budget, including the important measure for the reorganisation of the Preanger regencies. While acknowledging that this measure was most necessary, the Chamber rejected it, because the Governor-General had promulgated the decree without Parliament having granted the necessary credit. Thus the native population, already delighted with the higher wages given for coffee-planting, were disappointed to satisfy the nice susceptibility of the Chamber. Months elapsed, the measure was again laid before the Second Chamber, and, as you know, carried by a larger majority than at first. The Budget passed on to the other House, and, after a discussion of two days, in which not one new argument could be brought forward, it was approved of by 25 against 5 votes. In the same sitting the members had the wisdom to give their adhesion to the Bill regulating the promotion and retirement of naval officers, after which they took their well-deserved Easter recess. The Lower House will meet again on the 11th inst.

The Ministers are now busy with their replies to the section reports on the several Budgets. That of the Premier is, as usual, most laconic, but it is in so far important that he states positively that the Cabinet is quite homogeneous, which, of course, means that Mr. Thorbecke has not changed his principles, as was stated some time ago. The programme for Java is stated; the Ministry declares that it adheres to the principle that Java is a part of the State, whose material and moral welfare is to be studied as much as that of the mother-country. This, of course, is the whole aim of the Liberal party, and the only difference of opinion can be as to the means by which it is to be realised.

The better appearance of our Stock Markets has been rudely interrupted by the insurrection in Paris, which has also tended to change public opinion, which is now more in favour of Germany. The shock to confidence has been very great, and the old feeling of suspense which lately prevailed has revived. For some stock, however, there is still a tendency towards improvement, but upon the whole only a trifling business is doing. Money is very abundant, and is in the open market somewhat cheaper than before the success of the Red insurrection of the Red Republic in Paris.

In several towns agitation prevails among the workmen to obtain higher wages. There, however, is not the least revolutionary spirit amongst them, as is stated by foreign papers. It is true an effort has been made to organise a League in Utrecht, but it resulted in a fiasco, the workmen being convinced that it was not by means of brutal opposition that they could ameliorate their position.

It is now stated that the first steamer direct from Nieuwe Diep to Batavia via Suez Canal, the Willem III., will sail on the 15th of May, and that his Royal Highness Prince Henry will proceed by the vessel as far as Suez.

The death of the Queen of Sweden, eldest daughter of Prince Frederic, has made a very painful impression. It is stated that the marriage of his youngest daughter, Princess Mary, with the Prince of Wied will be again delayed.

Count van Bylandt, now our ambassador at the Court of Berlin, is appointed to that post at the Court of St. James's.

The Radical daily paper, het Noorden, will cease to be published at the end of this month. Owing to want of sympathy, it cannot find the necessary capital to continue publication.

I am glad to state that small-pox is somewhat diminishing. The average number of fatal cases is much smaller now than a week ago.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

Although dullness continues the prevailing characteristic of our market for Colonial and Foreign Produce, the Trading Company's public sales of Sugar, Tin and Rattans, the result of which is communicated below, have all gone off pretty satisfactorily. The tone of most of our leading articles remains unaltered, but Coffee has assumed rather more firmness, and confidence begins to be shown in the article at the late decline.

COFFEE.—The market exhibits upon the whole but little activity, but the returns of last month's deliveries from the Trading Company's stores have turned out in excess of the general expectations, under the influence of which the market looks rather stronger, and several numbers of the public sale are sought after in vain at the prices paid therein. The business done by private treaty embraces 638 bales Java, ex Insulinde, 240 bales do., ex Anna and Sophia, 682 bales do., ex Singapore, at various prices, 1,600 bales, ex Henriette Adriana, at 32½c., 85 bales do., ex Nestor, at 32½c., 440 bales do. ex County of Berwick, 1,108 bales do., ex Henriette Adriana, 308 bales do. ex Satara, 325 bales Bali, ex do. Total stock in Holland, 694,100 bags; against 607,200 bags. Floating supplies to Holland, 400,000 bags.

SUGAR.—Although the result of the Trading Company's public sale held at Amsterdam, turned out upon the whole better than had been anticipated, the prices realised have been very irregular, an advance of ¼ to ½ above the brokers' valuations having been paid for lots of good quality, whereas weak and moist descriptions were less competed for, and sold slowly at from ½ to 1 below the valuations. About 1,500 baskets were secured for export, and the balance has mainly been bought for our own home refiners. No sales have been closed since the public sale, but the market looks firm, and there is very little offered; according to the prices paid, the value of the Dutch standard has been fixed by the brokers as follows—to which I add, for the sake of comparison, the currency established at the November sale, but as the same has taken place on the old conditions, which were 6 per cent. more advantageous for the buyers, than those brought into practice at the last public sale, I add thereto a calculation of the November prices, based on the new conditions to show the exact difference between the currency established at the two public sales.

Stock of Sugar, 1,250,000 kilo.

TEA.—In waiting for the coming auctions of China and Java the market is inactive.

SPICES.—Sales have been closed of the following small shipments of private importation, viz.: 7 casks Nutmegs and 2 chests Mace, ex Insulinde; 5 casks and 16 chests Mace, ex Concurrent. The following parcels sold by public auction, viz.: 73 casks Nutmegs, at 54c. to 131c.; 6 casks Mace, at 218c.; 385 bags Amboina Cloves, at 21c. to 21½c.; 8 chests Stems of ditto bought in at 12c. Under the influence of advices from London Black Pepper looks quiet; good Lampong is quoted 31c. to 31½c., but buyers keep backward. Stock on warrants: Nutmegs, 2,836 casks; Mace, 178 casks; Cloves, 2,726 casks; Cinnamon, 29 packages; Pepper, 937 bags. Deliveries in March, 190 cases Nutmegs, 16 casks Mace, 46 casks Cloves.

RICE.—Without change. The article continues to attract but little attention.

RATTANS.—I have to report the sale by private contract of 250 piculs, ex Nestor; whilst the Trading Company's public sale, of about 95,100 bundles, which took place here to-day, went off as follows, viz.: Borneo at f.9.40 to f.14.70, Padang at f.8.90 to f.13.30, mixed parcels f.8.20 to f.12.50.

TIN.—The whole of the 80,791 slabs Banca put up for sale by public auction for account of the Trading Company at Amsterdam on the 30th ultimo has found buyers. The biddings ranged from f.73½ to f.75½, and the price of the public sale has been fixed at f.75, at which figure the orders collected by the brokers have had to be curtailed by 48 per cent. Shortly after the public sale transactions took place by private treaty at f.76½, f.76½, f.76½ for public sales' prompt, but sellers offer now at f.76. Stock of Tin 109,615 slabs.

INDIGO.—About 60 chests have been sold at steady prices, making the aggregate sales closed last month in our market 138 chests, leaving a stock in the hands of private importers of about 400 chests.

HIDES.—A fair business has been doing in this article, the following parcels having been sold by private contract:—3,600 Java Buffaloes, ex Energy; 1,060 do., ex Weljekset; 2,494 do. Cows, ex Gutenberg; 95 do., ex Gerredina Wilhelmina; 245 do. Buffaloes, ex St. Jan; 74 do. and 310 do., ex Gladstone; 329 do., ex Catharina Maria; and by secret tender, 307 Java Buffaloes damaged and 62 do. Cows do., ex Magdalena.

DIRECTORIES FROM THE FAR EAST.

We lately had the pleasure of noticing the appearance of the Hong Kong Directory, and the various improvements and additions it exhibited. We are now able to add to the list of Chinese directories the Desk Hong List, a general and business directory for Shanghai and the Northern and River ports. This volume, which is published at the office of the North China Herald, is very creditably got up, and well illustrated with a street plan of the settlement. The Penang Almanack and Directory is another work of the same kind, published at the office of the Penang Gazette. It contains a great deal of information, and bears evidence of care and accuracy. The Colonial Directory of the Straits Settlement, including Sarawak, Labuan, and Saigon, is a handsome volume published at the Mission Press, Singapore. It makes its appearance somewhat late in the year, but the compiler explains that the delay was unavoidable, owing to the difficulty of getting the required information from Saigon; and certainly the completeness with which the work is now issued is a most satisfactory way of accounting for the slight loss of time.

BREAKFAST—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Each packet or tin is labelled—JAMES EPPS & CO., Homoeopathic Chemists, London. Epps's Cocoa is also prepared with condensed milk, and sold in tins, labelled Epps's Milky Cocoa.

MINERAL RESOURCES OF CHINA.

II.

IN a former article we pointed out the extraordinary distribution of coal and iron in the various provinces of China; but the diffusion of the precious metals appears to be on a scale of equal magnificence. There is not a province without one or other of them; while in many of the provinces gold, silver, copper, tin, lead, and quicksilver are all found, often in great profusion. Gold is known to exist in fourteen out of the eighteen provinces, and in order to set the degree of its diffusion as vividly as we can before the reader we shall point out the number of places in the several provinces where it occurs. And here we shall be guided mainly by PUMPELTY's table. In Chihli it is found in three places, in Shensi at four, in Kan-suh at six, in Shantung at ten or twelve, in Hupeh at three, in Szchuen at twenty-two, in Chehkiang at four, in Fukien at two, in Kiangsi at four, in Kwantung at four, in Hunan at eight, in Kwangsi at ten, in Kweichow at two, and in Yunnan at seven. These figures of course give us no idea of the quantity or quality of the gold at the respective localities, and on this point our information is somewhat scanty; but we know sufficient to guide us to an approximation. Nuggets are often found in Shantung and in other districts, sometimes of considerable size. Mining is employed in several places, and the quartz and sand are said to be often of great richness, as may be seen from recent accounts of North China. But the common way of procuring gold is by searching the streams and washing the sand of the rivers, and here we have a key to the quantity of gold in the country. Many streams are known to have yielded gold for centuries, and every heavy fall of rain even yet brings down its fresh burden of gold. Now, this tells its own tale, and speaks of the inexhaustible supply which must be stored in the hills. The Jesuit Fathers say that in Shen-si "an infinite number of persons gained their livelihood in this way," and this we can well believe. Chinese gold differs in quality and colour. Some of it is bright yellow, and other kinds light in shade. Samples from Shantung have been assayed by the banks in Calcutta and Bombay, and pronounced excellent. We regret we have not the two deliverances at hand for quotation. But not only is gold found in China Proper, European travellers have come upon it in Manchuria; at Jehol, in Inner Mongolia, and in enormous quantities in Siberia. It has also been discovered in the Chinese dependency of Thibet. Major MONTGOMERIE sent out some pundits to investigate this matter. They returned, and have given minute descriptions of no less than seven gold-fields, so that the Major pronounces the gold-fields of Thibet "as practically inexhaustible." The distribution of the other metals will be most easily and effectively set forth in the following table:—

* At Yin-kung, in Chang-shan-hein, yielding $300 to the ton of ore.

As we remarked, in reference to the gold, these figures can give us no idea of the richness of the ores; but, judging from specimens we have seen in North China, and from reliable native reports, there can be no doubt as to their value. We may further observe that the number of the localities where these metals are found is rather below than above the mark; the Government, with whom the jus metallorum rests, have shut up many mines, and skilled explorers who go out "prospecting" always discover new localities—giving one the idea of indefinite abundance. The veins known are often very rich and extended.

Lime is found in many forms throughout every province in the Empire. Marble of all colours and degrees of quality is met with, often in immense quantities, in many places, but more especially at King-yuen-foo, in Kwang-si, and in North-West Chihli, and Shan-si. Alum is produced in all directions, generally from pyritiferous shales. Salt is not only prepared from sea-water, but there are innumerable salt wells in different parts of the Empire. This is true in a most extraordinary manner in the province of Szchuen. Here at Wu-tung, near Kia-ting-foo, some ten thousand of these brine pits are found in a space of about 30 miles long by 13 broad. Within the department of Tszchowfoo, in the same province, there are 333 salt wells, and so on in the same way in the various districts. These wells also abound in Yunan. In Shan-si and Shen-si are salt lakes, some of which yield an immense supply of that commodity for the inland regions of North China. Petroleum is found in Shen-si, but the great seat of this oil is Szchuen; here it springs up in many places, apparently in inexhaustible quantities. At Wu-tung are four pits, said to be 3,000 feet deep, which produce tremendous supplies. They use it chiefly for evaporating the salt brine, and in this respect the natives are enabled to produce salt most economically. We need hardly refer to the clays of China, for their variety, richness, and importance have been long appreciated; we may only remark that their distribution is found to be much greater than was anticipated, and add that Major MONTGOMERIE's pundits met with immense quantities of borax in Thibet, of which he says, "As to borax, there is enough to supply the potteries of the world if the Tuscan supply is exhausted."

The soil, more especially of Chihli, Honan, Kansuh, Hupeh, and many parts of Szchuen, Hunan, and Yunan, yields abundant supplies of nitre. Sulphur is produced in great abundance in Fukien, Shansi, and Shantung. Amber is found in many localities in Shensi, Shansi, Szchuen, Kwantung, and Yunan, as well as in Shantung and other places. Precious stones, such as agates, jade stones of many colours, amethysts, rock crystal, lapis-lazuli, topaz, and most beautiful sapphires are often met with; rubies are common, emeralds are rare; malachite, serpentine, aqua marine, tourmaline, and garnets are common; diamonds are known, but are rare. Districts are noted for their specialities—as Shantung is famed for its amethysts and cairngorms, Shensi for jade stone, Chehkiang and Shansi for lapis lazuli, and so on. Much might be said in reference to these minerals, but we content ourselves in the meantime with one observation—one hundred and thirty generations of Chinamen have been gathering these precious metals year by year. In China, therefore, at the present moment, we have the accumulations of four thousand years. But this is not all; we have also the tribute which has been received from outside nations, the taxes which have been levied on the neighbouring peoples, as well as the proceeds of trade and commerce, for very many centuries, with the islands of the Malayan Archipelago and distant countries. The wealth of China is therefore absolutely enormous; and travellers know that it is not confined to a class, but very generally distributed among the people: for we have often been surprised to discover what immense sums comparatively obscure persons could produce when required. But this wealth is, for the most part, buried in the earth. The rebellions which have prevailed for the last twenty years, the consequent disorganisation, the present corruption and rapacity of the rulers, and the wide-spread want of security, have led wealthy men to conceal their treasures in their gardens and elsewhere, and to put on the mask of poverty. This is emphatically the case in the interior of the country. Commerce, therefore, has not had fair play—especially under the exclusive regime of the Tartar dynasty. But this cannot last; and when we reflect upon the genius of the Chinese; their propensity to trade, being as ready to buy as we are to sell; their capacities; their keen appreciation of whatever is for their own advantage; their taste for things good, useful, beautiful, and cheap; their delight in profuse expenditure when occasion calls for it, as in their marriage processions, feasts, equipages, funerals, furniture, dresses, and ornaments, we may reasonably anticipate a day when China shall be, beyond all question, the largest market in the world.

Yet another telegram, forwarded by Mr. WADE from Peking on the 16th March, was issued by the Foreign-office on the 3rd inst. We are particular about the date, because there is nothing in the matter of the present despatch to distinguish it from the many messages which our Chargé d'Affaires has sent home since the dangers of which such long and ample warning had been given burst forth in the massacre at Tientsin. "All's well," is still the stereotyped assurance of Her MAJESTY's philosophical representative at Peking. We devoutly hope that he may not be mistaken, but we feel that his confidence is very far from being shared by those who are most certain to suffer in the event of another outbreak, and we must own that we should place more confidence in Mr. WADE's assurance of the perfect safety of others, if he were in a position of the slightest danger himself. Meanwhile, in painful contrast with the complacent and euphuistic language of our Chargé d'Affaires appears the protest of the Belgian Minister, expressed in no uncertain terms. In a despatch to the Chinese Foreign Board, Baron KINT VON ROODENHEEK tells them plainly that nothing short of a strict inquiry, with a view "to convict the real authors of the plot, whoever they may be," will satisfy him. At the same time he has no hesitation in giving it as his own opinion that the real culprits are the two civil magistrates of Tientsin and a military officer.

THE Directors of the Messageries Maritimes have decided on a reduction of their rates of passage-money, on a similar scale to the P. and O. Company. The rates from Marseilles to Galle will be for first-class, £60; Calcutta, £65; Singapore, £75; Batavia, Saigon, and Hong Kong, £85; Shanghai and Yokohama, £95; including vin ordinaire or table claret. All passengers at these rates will be entitled to a berth in a cabin not exceeding two berths. A new class has been introduced, viz., "second cabin passengers," who will be provided with berths in cabins containing three or four berths, in the fore-part of the steamers, and have a separate saloon on the main deck, for their meals and general use. The rates for this class will be one-fourth less than the first or premiere class. The rates for steerage passengers will be about one-third less than the second cabin rates.

We learn that the whole of the plant of the Colombo Gas Works, the shipment of portions of which we have noticed from time to time, has at length been despatched. Arrangements have been made for a supply of coal, and, according to present prospects, both the town and the pettah will be lighted by July next, and Colombo will be redeemed from the reproach of being the slowest place in the Far East to introduce gas, in which it has long been anticipated by Hong Kong and Singapore.

It will be remembered that in a recent issue we stated that the laying of the Great Northern Telegraph between Hong Kong and Shanghai was suspended, after 250 miles of cable had been laid, through the strength of the north-east monsoon. We are glad to learn that a telegram has been received, announcing that the whole line was successfully completed on the 29th March, and that the cable is in perfect order.

In answer to a suggestion made in the House of Commons, that a parcel post be established for India and the Colonies, the POSTMASTER-GENERAL stated that the present contract with the P. and O. Company did not admit of such extension without an increase in the subsidy, which he had no intention of recommending.

Monetary and Commercial.

The traffic receipts on the Falmouth, Gibraltar, and Malta Telegraph (Limited) Company's line for the month of March amounted to £9,276.

The traffic receipts on the British Indian Submarine Telegraph (Limited) Company's line amounted for the month of January to £5,462; for the month of February to £7,419; and for the month of March to £11,901—together, £24,782. During the month of January and the first eleven days in February the Falmouth cable was interrupted.

The traffic receipts on the Marseilles, Algiers, and Malta Telegraph (Limited) Company's line for the month of January amounted to £939, and for the month of February to £1,071. The disturbed state of France still continues to affect the company's revenue.

The annual meeting of the Great Northern Telegraph Company will be held on the 26th of April, at Copenhagen, to declare a dividend.

The export of shirtings to China has been enormous, up to one hundred and twenty-two million yards for the quarter, being double the quantity at the corresponding period last year.

The meeting of the Chartered Bank of India will be held on the 19th, but it is not announced what dividend will be declared. The meeting of the Chartered Mercantile is to be held on the 18th, when a dividend of 2 per cent. will be declared, making 6 per cent. for the year. The directors' report says:—

"As announced at the last interim meeting, provision is now made for the final extinction of the bad and doubtful debts of previous years, to which have been added those appertaining to 1870. The sum of £117,411 13s. 11d., representing the aggregate amount of those losses, has been debited to the reserve fund account, which, after crediting it with the above sum of £4,479 14s. 3d., will then stand at £37,068 0s. 4d. The directors regret on this occasion being obliged to reduce the dividend. The year, as a whole, has been the most unfavourable for Eastern exchange operations within the experience of the bank. On the other hand, it is matter of congratulation that in the midst of such trying difficulties the losses of the year have been comparatively small. The business of the bank at its several branches for the current half-year is more satisfactory and encouraging than for some time past, and leads the directors to believe in a better result than they have lately been able to show."

At the meeting of the National Bank of India (Limited), noticed in another column, the chairman stated that by the transactions of the late manager at Hong Kong about £60,000 has been placed in jeopardy, but it is hoped that by the favourable realisation of securities part of that sum may be recovered. £22,000 has been transferred from the reserve fund to provide for ascertained losses, and to wipe off the balance at debit of profit and loss account. Under these circumstances no dividend was declared.

The P. and O. Company have decided on despatching the Indus and Khedive from Liverpool, through the Suez Canal, to Bombay and Hong Kong respectively, with general cargoes.

The tenders for £400,000 in bills on India were received at the Bank of England, when the amounts allotted were—to Calcutta, £287,500; to Bombay, £100,000; and to Madras £12,500. The minimum price was fixed as before at 1s. 10½d. on all the Presidencies, and tenders on Calcutta and Madras, at 1s. 10½d., will receive about 25 per cent., on Bombay, at 1s. 10½d., about 91 per cent., and those above in full. These results show a diminution in the demand for means of remittance to the East.

The meeting of the Singapore Gas Company is announced for the 25th inst., when a dividend will be declared.

ARTICLES OF IMPORT.

TEA.

The market has been very quiet during the past fortnight, the demand from the trade being very limited, whilst exporters, though shipping largely from previous purchases, have only bought sparingly. Prices for all good Teas have been fairly maintained, but low to common grades have sold heavily at a further slight decline, the supplies being in excess of present requirements. The deliveries from London for the month have been very large, exceeding 15,500,000 lbs. Public sales of the 4th instant comprised 8,124 packages, of which 5,456 packages were sold without reserve.

SILK.

Messrs. Kilburn, Kershaw, and Co. report as follows:—

The market has been very quiet during the last fortnight; this to a great extent is owing to the recent insurrection in Paris, arresting as it does the confidence of the trade, and absolutely checking for the time being operations with Lyons and elsewhere, which would otherwise take place; meanwhile, business is doing chiefly in China and Canton Silk for home consumption and for certain Continental markets, but only to a moderate extent, and where holders desire to make sales they have to submit to a reduction of 6d. to 1s. Importers generally, however, decline to make such concession. Japan Silks are extremely quiet. From China, the last advices per telegram point to an early closing of the season's export, 800 bales only remaining on hand, prices had advanced under the more favourable political news from Europe. The deliveries last month were wonderfully good—indeed, larger than for many months past—and April has opened with equally good clearances. Deliveries, 1st to 4th inst. inclusive:—China, 320 bales; Canton, 91 bales; Japan, 55 bales; total, 466 bales.

COFFEE.

A slight improvement is noticeable in the market for Plantation Ceylon, and though prices do not exhibit any actual advance they are maintained with more steadiness than has lately been observable.

The improvement has chiefly originated from the smallness of the supplies placed on offer. There has been no business in Native Ceylon. Transactions comprise, on the spot, 574 casks, 197 tierces and barrels, 594 bags Plantation Ceylon, low middling to good middling bold palish and greyish 59s. to 65s., good middling to superior bright 70s. to 90s. 6d., small 54s. 6d. to 58s., peas 75s. to 82s. 6d.; and 200 bags Singapore at 56s. 6d.

The deliveries are much smaller than for several weeks past, but are still 140 tons larger than last year, and as the landings are fully 500 tons less, the deficiency in the stock is further enlarged to 2,550 tons. The quantity of Ceylon Coffee afloat for Great Britain is estimated as follows:—Plantation, 295,408 cwt., against 304,246 cwt. at the corresponding date of 1870; Native 38,406 cwt., against 30,194 cwt. The quantity afloat for the Continent is nil. The quantity of Coffee landed in the thirteen weeks ended April 1, 1871, was, of Ceylon, 4,443 tons, against 4,687 tons during the corresponding period of 1870; of all descriptions, 9,258 tons, against 6,935 tons. The quantity entered for home consumption was, of Ceylon, 2,498 tons, against 2,033 tons; of all descriptions, 4,821 tons, against 3,685 tons. The quantity exported was, of Ceylon, 5,876 tons, against 5,623 tons; of all descriptions, 13,093 tons, against 8,820 tons. The stock on April 1, was, of Ceylon, 9,674 tons, against 11,495 tons; of all descriptions, 16,092 tons, against 18,649 tons.

SUGAR.

A better demand has appeared for common brown qualities, and a slight recovery from the recent depression has been established, but, as holders show greater firmness, sales are not so extensive as they might otherwise have been. Other qualities have met a moderate inquiry at an advance of about 6d. per cwt. above the recent lowest point. Holders, however, generally require a further advance. The following are the transactions reported:—Penang: By private contract 1,000 baskets common date (duty 4s.) sold at 19s. Manila: At auction 10,000 bags unclayed No 110 sold at 21s.; also for arrival 500 tons Zebu February shipment at 21s. 6d., and 50 tons unclayed Taal at 21s. landed. Java: 1,600 bags low sirops sold at 18s. per cwt.

The landings for the week, although including 1,300 tons Beetroot, are 1,800 tons less than in 1870, and as the deliveries are 2,400 tons in excess, the deficiency in the stock is increased to about 22,000 tons. Stock, March 25, 52,642 tons, against 70,791 tons; April 1, 51,476 tons, against 73,335 tons. The quantity of Sugar landed in the thirteen weeks ended April 1, 1871, was, of Penang, 141 tons, against 313 tons in the corresponding period of 1870; of Manila, Java and China, 5,406 tons, against 4,498 tons; the quantity entered for home consumption was, of Penang, 708 tons, against 726 tons; of Manila, Java, and China, 7,620 tons, against 6,588 tons. The quantity exported was, of Penang, 98 tons, against 32 tons; of Manila, Java, and China, 614 tons, against 1,107 tons. The stock on April 1 was, of Penang, 2,311 tons, against 1,835 tons; of Manila, Java, and China, 24,966 tons, against 32,593 tons.

CHINA MATTING.—At auction 190 rolls were bought in, 3/4 white at 45s., 4/4 at 43s. 6d., 3/4 red check at 48s. 6d., 4/4 at 45s., 5/4 at 61s., 4/8 at 75s., also 186 rolls Gowqua's extra contract, 4/4 check at 45s., 5/4 at 55s., 6/4 at 60s. per roll.

CHINA GRASS.—There have been no transactions; the nominal quotation is £52.

CINNAMON.—Ceylon has barely maintained previous rates; at auction 44 bales Plantation kinds realised 1s. 10d. for fourth, 1s. 6d. to 2s. 2d. for third, 2s. 7d. for second, and 2s. 9d. for first sort; 105 bales low coarse were withdrawn; 146 boxes China, coarse quality but strong flavour, were mostly bought in; a few boxes stained sold at 10½d. per lb. Of Chips 310 bags coarse bark were offered and bought in at 2½d. per lb.

CAMPOR.—China: The market is exceedingly dull, and 257 boxes at auction were retired at 72s. 6d. per cwt.; quotations are purely nominal. Japan: the entire stock of this description being held by a few firms, the nominal value is 77s. 6d. to 80s. per cwt., but with supplies, a decline would occur.

COCOA-NUT OIL.—There is less demand for the common and medium qualities of Ceylon, but fine descriptions being very scarce command extreme prices. At public sales about 50 tons have been sold at £40.

CURCH.—There is a moderate enquiry at prices corresponding with those ruling a fortnight since; at public sale of 985 boxes Pegu offered a small part sold at 21s. 3d. to 21s. 6d. for SM and Co.; Fish mark is held at 21s. 6d.; 216 cases fine Penang have been partly sold at 21s. per cwt.

CUBERS continue steady, with but limited business.

CORR GOODS.—At the last sales small quantities of Yarn offered went off with some irregularity, but no material alteration can be reported in prices; 69 bales Ceylon Yarn sold—common to middling, £25 10s. to £30; good middling, £33; of 112 tons Ceylon in dholls offered, 85 tons sold—low coarse to common at £20 10s. to £25 10s.; low middling to middling, £26 to £30 10s.; good middling to good, £31 to £34 5s. 2,241 ballots Ceylon Fibre sold at £15 15s. per ton.

DRAGON'S-BLOOD.—The supply continues far in excess of the demand, and sales can only be effected from time to time at a reduction in price; 9 cases good reed at auction were withdrawn at £9, 1 case fine at £10 10s., and 16 cases fair bright lump at £6.

ESSENTIAL OILS.—Aniseed: 15 cases were sold at 8s. 7½d., at which there are sellers afloat. Cussia dull, and 40 cases have been sold at 4s. 3d., but 4s. 6d. is now asked. Nutmeg flat; 3 cases at auction retired. Cinnamon very scarce and wanted; 7 cases Leaf at auction retired. Citronelle firm; 11 cases at auction sold at 2d. to 2½d. per oz. Lemon Grass steady; none offered.

GALLS.—China: have remained very firm, although only a few Continental orders have yet come forward; privately moderate sales have been effected at 47s. 6d., and at auction 225 cases have been placed at the same figure for good. The quantity at present afloat from China appears to be very small, so with any good demand the market should improve. Japan are in good inquiry, but there is no supply.

GAMBIER.—A rather active demand has prevailed, and prices have risen 3d. to 6d. per cwt. At auction 135 bales block sold at 15s. 9d. to 16s., 6 tons broken at 14s. 6d. to 15s. 6d., and 1,085 bags Cubes were bought in at 21s. per cwt.; privately, on the spot, small parcels of fair pressed Cubes have sold at 18s. 6d., and some quantity of free at 19s. 6d. to 19s. 9d.; and for arrival about 500 tons block at 15s. 7½d. to 16s. 1½d., closing at the latter figure.

GUMS.—Benjamin: Sumatra firm, good qualities scarce; of 59 packages (chiefly 3rds) at auction, a few fine 2nds sold at £10 10s.; middling to fair white £8 17s. 6d. to £9 10s.; TT and Co. 3rd Penang dull at 85s.; Siam is neglected, and 3 cases 3rd sold at £8 10s., parcels are advertised. Manila Copal is dull of sale, and arrivals; 14 cases at auction sold at 30s. for fair soft. Damar in good demand, and stock reduced; of 543 cases Singapore at public sale, about three-fourths sold at 60s. to 61s. 6d. per cwt. for fair to good, in sorts. Gamboge steady; 9 cases at public sale retired.

GUTTA-PERCHA.—There is a fair inquiry for good and fine quality, but in sale 1,843 packages mixed and white mixed were nearly all withdrawn; privately ordinary mixed have realised 1s. 2d.

HUMP.—The market for Manila continues very dull, and about 1,000 bales have changed hands privately, chiefly at low figures; Sorsagon at £50 included. Auctions have embraced 2,240 bales, nearly the whole of which were retired.

HIDES.—At the last sales there was an inactive demand for East India Hides, but importers generally being willing to meet the market, a considerable business was done. Occasionally previous sale prices were obtained, but the bulk of those sold were ½d. and in some cases ¼d. per pound in favour of buyers. 751 Ceylon Hides offered and sold—Light and Small, 5d. to 6½d.; Heavy 6d.; Thirds 4d.; Buffalo 4½d. to 4¾d. per lb. 2,060 Singapore and Penang Buffalo Hides offered, 1,353 sold. Best Heavy 4½d.; Seconds 4½d. to 4¾d.; Light 5½d. to 6½d. per lb. 625 Java Buffalo Hides offered, none sold. 456 Siam Buffalo Hides offered, none sold.

INDIA-RUBBER.—The market is generally very steady; of Java and Singapore 280 packages have been offered at auction, and the fine was held for 1s. 11d. to 2s. per lb., and good but rather foul for 1s. 9½d.

ISINGLASS.—The demand at the moment is very small, and prices are lower, though fine qualities are still scarce. Of 61 packages offered in public sale only a few sold.

JAPAN WAX.—An advance has taken place, and all offers are taken off at 70s. to 77s. 6d., according to quality; as stocks are low the rising tendency is likely to continue.

MUSK.—The market is steady, and prices still high for fine quality, but common is difficult to sell. At auction, of 36 caddies Tonquin, a few only sold at 30s. 6d. to 31s. 6d. per oz. for fine, and 17s. to 21s. rough and bally; 5 caddies Cabardine mostly sold at 17s., and 7 tins finegrain retired; but privately parcels have been sold at 52s. 6d. to 56s.

PRESERVES.—At public sale 180 cases Chyloong China Ginger sold at 7½d. to 8d., and 96 cases Shingloong at 7½d. to 7¾d.; 30 casks were bought in at 6½d. and 97 cases Chow Chow at 8d.; 24 cases Comquats sold at 7½d. to 8½d. per lb. in bond.

PEPPER.—Black: The movement by bear speculators noticed in our last continued for a week, as low as 4d. being accepted on same terms for delivery at the end of the year; many buyers showing a disposition to take anything at these rates, the parcels offering were withdrawn, and with improved prices on the spot higher rates have been paid afloat—say, up to 5½d. for Singapore. In auction the same operators accepted 4½d. for Singapore, and 4½d. for Penang, about one-third of 9,509 bags offered being sold, but there has been a large demand since for export, and some 5,000 bags have changed hands up to 5½d. for Singapore, and 4½d. for Penang. White is dull, but held firmly; in public sale 257 bags Singapore and 104 bags Penang were offered; a few of the former only sold at 7½d. per lb. for very low.

PLUMBAGO.—Rather easier prices are still accepted, but there is not much disposition to purchase. Public sales have embraced 1,085 barrels, about half of which were quitted; Lump at 16s. 6d. to 27s. 6d., drossy to very fine bright bold; chips 13s. to 14s., middling to good; and dust 7s. to 13s., ordinary to very fine.

RATTANS.—Steady; at auction, of 13,295 bundles Singapore offered half sold at 3s. 4d. to 3s. 6d. per 100 canes; 2,288 bundles Penang sold at 3s. 4d. to 3s. 11d.

RICE.—A recent decline in the value of White Bengal has led to a better demand for this description, and about 10,000 bags middling to good middling have been sold at 10s. 3d. to 10s. 10½d., a little broken Askoolie, 9s. 9d., 50 tons fine white at 12s. 6d., ex quay, and 150 tons yellow Bengal at 9s. 3d., ex quay; in other descriptions there has been little doing, sales being limited to 18,000 bags Rangoon at 9s. 1½d. to 10s. per cwt. For arrival, several cargoes soft grain have changed hands, Bassein at about 10s. 3d., and Rangoon at about 10s. 7½d. for the Continent.

RHUBARB.—There is little change in the market for China; at auction, of 197 cases (mostly new lots) offered the bulk was sold at firm rates, viz., selected hold fair fracture, 5s. 4d. to 5s. 9d.; duller and smaller, sound grey, 3s. to 4s. 7d.; fair root, rather small and horny, fair fracture, 2s. 2d. to 2s. 5d.; dull and grey (very cheap), 11d. to 1s. 1d.; high dried inferior, 6d.

ROOTS.—China: Private business in good quality continues to be done at 18s. Colombo: Without alteration.

SAGO.—The only demand is for large and medium grain, small in superabundance, and most difficult of sale, even at 6d. decline; a few lots of very fine have proved the exception, and have sold at 18s. 6d., one lot at 19s. for bags; of 2,255 bags small, and 258 boxes offered only 800 bags sold, fair current and good quality at 17s., very good at 17s. 6d., and occasionally 18s.; at the last auction there were ready sellers of good small at 17s., but no buyers over 16s. to 16s. 6d. Flour has declined; privately 850 to 1,000 bags have been sold at 15s. to 15s. 1½d. full terms; 2,086 bags Borneo were retired from auction at 16s. 6d., and 560 bags Singapore at 15s. 6d.

SAPANWOOD.—Higher prices paid for all sorts, and little offering; 15 tons Manila damaged sold at auction at £6 10s., and 15 tons Siam retired.

SHELLS.—Mother o' Pearl: The market is steady, but the demand is somewhat inactive, consequent upon the disturbed state of Paris; quantities brought to auction have been moderate. Macassar: 32 cases at auction, part not ready, were all withdrawn, present nominal value £11 10s. per cwt. Manila: 17 cases indirect were offered at auction, and retired at £9; sales have been made at £7 10s. per cwt. A large arrival has just taken place. Tortoise: Prices are fairly steady, but the present disturbances in Paris cause a slight flatness; auctions have been comparatively unimportant; 8 cases Singapore offered in previous auctions were again retired above value.

SOY.—Market quiet; parcels of China offering at 2s. 1d. without finding buyers.

SPICES.—Cassia Lignea: Private sales of unworked are reported at 110s. to 112s., and the stock is reduced. Buds are again lower, further arrivals of 155 cases were quitted at auction at £7 7s. 6d. to £7 12s. 6d. per cwt. for fine Cloves. Prices higher, and the market has been cleared of Penang up to 1s. 5d. per lb. for fine; Amboyna are dull, no fine offering. Mace: Very firm, and with decreasing stocks, in demand; auctions have embraced 18 cases of new import sold at 2s. 9d. to 3s. 6d. per lb. for middling broken red to fine. Nutmegs: Steady, and public sales have comprised 45 cases, chiefly quitted—63's at 3s. 9d. to 3s. 10d., 66's 3s. 6d., 76's to 86's 2s. 8d. to 2s. 4d., 104's to 144's 2s. 3d. to 2s.

STAR ANISEEDS.—China continue steady and firm; 45 cases at auction were retired.

STICKLAC.—Siam is still scarce, and rates for that description continue to be firmly maintained; small transactions are reported at 73s. to 75s. for fine quality.

TAPIOCA.—There is no improvement in value, but more doing privately; of 1,650 bags Penang in auction (a large portion old import), only 400 bags found buyers at 2d. to 2½d. per lb. for good fair quality. Singapore. Of 1,228 bags offered, only 900 bags sold, fine and very fine white Rio kind at 2½d. to 2½d. per lb., lump being retired at 2d. Pearl: Of 462 bags offered at auction, the bulk was sold—large and medium grain of fair colour at 18s., bullets at 17s. 6d., and extra large at 17s. 6d. The article is low in price as compared with former years. Flour: Of 1,424 bags Singapore offered, only 320 bags damages sold at 1½d. to 2½d.; sound at 2½d. to 2½d. Of 363 bags Penang offered, 100 bags middling sold at 2d.; damages, 1d. to 1½d.

TIN.—The demand continues steady, but with no excitement. Until the result of the Dutch sale of 30th ult. was known, there was some uncertainty, but when the news came that the whole quantity, 80,791 slabs, was sold at 75 guilders—equal to £129 to £130 laid down here, and that the orders were considerably curtailed, the price became very firm. Here there is no disposition to advance, as dealers will not operate largely, the rapidity of telegraphic communication with the East equalising prices so nearly that there is but little margin of profit. The actual quantity taken out of stock, notwithstanding the disturbed state of the Continent, amounted, during March, to about 750 tons. The current quotations are Straits on the spot £129, afloat £128 to £128 10s., Banca £130, Billiton £129.

TOBACCO, &c.—The following were the transactions at the last sales. Tobacco. 1 bale Japan overtaker sold at 2½d., 1 ditto repacked damaged at 2d.; 42 ditto Java offered and withdrawn. Cheroots: Of 5 cases Manila offered 1 case 2a sold at 6s. 3d., 2 cases Manila Cigars 3a sold at 7s. 3d. to 7s. 9d.

TURNERIO.—Market dull.

VERMILION.—China is still held firmly for advanced rates, and but little business has been done.

— TEA.

The following is from Messrs. Beebe's Circular of the 20th ult.:—Since our report of the market under date of February 17th, transactions have continued on a fair scale in Greens and Oolongs, but to a limited extent only in other descriptions. The tendency to a lower scale of prices then noted in Greens and Japans became more marked after the departure of the mail, and a decline has since been realised of fully 5 cents average on the former, and 2 to 5 cents on the latter. Oolongs, while held with more firmness, as a rule, are only fairly quotable at 1 and 2, and offered, the trade at the close showing but little disposition to operate, unless at a further concession in prices of common to good cargo grades. Sales reported from first hands since our last, include 27,500 half-chests Green, 6,000 half-chests Japan, 23,500 half-chests Oolong, and 3,400 half-chests Souchong and Congou. We revise our quotations to make the figures correspond with prices accepted in the more recent sales.

The question of duty, we regret to say, has again become a disturbing element in the market, the House of Representatives having recently voted to place Tea and Coffee at once upon the free list. While there is little or no expectation that the Senate will concur in the measure at this time, the fear they will do so at their next meeting is likely to check consumptive or duty-paid buying materially during the last half of the year.

The following are the current quotations (in gold, duty 15c. paid):—Greens, new crop (Moyune, Teenki, and Fychow): Gunpowder, fair to good, 60c. to 95c.; fine to finest, 68c. to 110c.; Imperial, fair to good, 38c. to 80c.; fine to finest, 43c. to 95c.; Young Hyson, fair to good, 33c. to 85c.; fine to finest, 36c. to 100c.; Hyson, fair to good, 35c. to 65c.; fine to finest, 38c. to 75c.; Hyson Skin, 25c. to 33c.; Foochow Oolongs, common and good, 42c. to 53c.; superior and fine, 55c. to 62c.; finest, 80c. to 100c.; Amoy Oolongs, common and good, 40c. to 52c.; superior and fine, 55c. to 62c.; finest, 65c. to 70c.; Souchong and Congou, common and good, 27c. to 38c.; superior and fine, 43c. to 55c.; finest, 60c. to 80c.; Japans, common, 45c. to 48c.; medium, 52c. to 55c.; good medium, 57c. to 60c.; fine and finest, 63c. to 70c.; choice, 73c. to 80c.

The total receipts of Tea from China and Japan at the port of New York from Jan. 1 to March 18, 1871, were as follows:—Greens, 10,411,747 lbs.; Japans, 4,257,495 lbs.; Souchongs, 1,803,732 lbs.; Oolongs,

5,717,116 lbs.; other sorts, 89,720 lbs.; total, 21,779,810 lbs. The stock on Jan. 1 was 16,748,661 lbs.; which, added to the above total, gives a result of 38,528,471 lbs., as the total supply. Subtracting from this total the exports from Jan. 1 to March 18, 1,537,226 lbs., and the withdrawals for home consumption during that period, 15,770,806 lbs., there remains a total of 21,220,439 lbs., representing the stock on the last-named date. The receipts from Feb. 15 to March 18 amounted to 9,831,841 lbs.; the withdrawals for home consumption to 4,888,092 lbs.; and the exports to 784,855 lbs.

SILK.

The following is from Mr. O'Donoghue's report:—The market continues satisfactorily active, and fine silks are in good demand, prices remaining firm, with an upward tendency. The late arrivals of re-reeled Taitlee and Haineen are not up to the standard in regard of quality. I would again draw attention to the absolute necessity of ordering silks free from weighting matter, and more care should be paid to the reeling, manufacturers requiring, particularly for piece goods, now becoming a large interest, good clean stock. Re-reeled Taitlee and Haineen, good quality, meet a steady sale at quotations; inferior grades neglected. Usual reel Taitlee and Taysaam have been in more favour lately, prices remaining unchanged. Re-Reeled Canton; The demand has been fair, confined principally to Cotisgown and No 1 Cumchook. Japans: Nominal; no sales.

Currency prices (six months' terms):—Taitlee, No. 2, $9.25; No. 3, $9; Nos. 4 and 5, $8.25. Taysaam, No. 1, $8; No. 2 and 3, $7.25 to 7.50; Nos. 4 and 5, $6.75. Canton, re-reeled, good, $6.7-8 to 7; fair, $6 to 6.3-8; coarse, $5.75. Taitlee, re-reeled, best, $9; fair and medium, $8.3-8 to 8.5-8. Haineen, best, $9; fair, $8.50; Canton, re-reeled, extra fine, $7.1-8. Japans: Nominal; no demand.

Imports:—In February, 1,100 packages—gold value, $506,813; corresponding month last year, 302 packages—gold value, $185,104. Total imports: From Jan. 1 to Feb. 28, 1,642 packages—gold value, $811,304; corresponding period last year, 766 packages—gold value, $379,045.

COFFEE.—The current quotations for East India kinds are, Java Government bags, 18c. to 20c.; Java mats, 18½c. to 22c.; Singapore, 17c. to 18c.; Manila, 14c. to 15c.; Native Ceylon, 15½c. to 17c. The market for all kinds is very dull, purchases being only made for immediate requirements, owing to the doubts which exist as to whether the Senate will confirm the action of the House of Representatives, and abolish the import duties. The only sales of East India have been 2,000 mats Singapore, per Janet Ferguson; 4,809 mats do., per W. A. Farnsworth; and 103 bags Government Java—all on private terms.

CORDAGE.—Prices have been reduced half a cent per lb., at which there is a good demand. We quote Manila 17 cents, do. 6 thread and 9 thread (¼ inch and 5-16th inch diam.) 18, do. 12 thread (¾ inch diam.) 17½, do. Hay Rope, 17½, Manila Cordage bolt rope yarns 19, do. 6 thread and 9 thread 20, Tarred Manila 16½, fine Tarred Manila Lath Yarn 18, cash.

CAMPOR.—China is quoted 15c. gold (in bond).

ESSENTIAL OILS.—Aniseed is quoted $2.30; Cassia, $1.5 gold (in bond).

FIRE CRACKERS.—There is a heavy supply, and prices show a declining tendency, No. 1 being quoted $2.45 to 2.50; 2,000 boxes are reported sold on private terms.

GAMBIER.—The current quotation is $8.75 to 8.80 gold (duty paid). GUNNY CLOTH.—Is inactive, but prices remain steady. Sales have been made, in bond, of 100 bales Borneo at 12½ cents gold.

HEMP.—The dulness in the market for Manila, which we noticed as having set in at the close of our last report, has continued throughout the fortnight; the nominal quotation is 9½c. to 10c. gold; no transactions have been effected.

INDIGO.—There is a moderate but not active business doing in Manila at our last-quoted rates, viz., $1.10 to 1.25 currency.

PRESERVED GINGER.—China is quoted $7 to 8 currency (duty paid). RHUBARB.—The quotation for China is $1 to 1.25 currency (duty paid).

RICE.—There has been a continued good inquiry for Rangoon, and prices show a slight advance; the sales have been about 900 bags in bond at $3.40 to 3.50 gold, and 1,600 bags, for home consumption, at $7 to 7.50 currency.

SUGAR.—Considerable attention has been paid to Manila, a description which a few months ago was in excessive stock and scarcely marketable at any price, but which has recently been taken freely for refining, the change being accounted for by the arrivals of Melado and new crop Cuba Sugar, enabling the refiners, by mixing, to use it to advantage, and the stock, though still large, has become quite manageable; the sales include the following:—28,100 bags, per Her Majesty, at 7½c.; 14,574 do., per Mountain Ash, 7½c.; 11,409 do., per Rattler, 8½c.; and 19,734 do., per Monkchester, on terms not reported.

SPICES.—The market for Pepper is firmer, owing to the receipt of accounts advising a continued scarcity, and a high range of prices at the ports of delivery, together with a more active demand in this market. We notice sales of 800 piculs Singapore, to arrive at Boston, on private terms; and 2,000 bags, in lots to the trade, at 16½ to 17 cents gold for Sumatra and Singapore. For other Spices the market is quiet; Nutmegs are very firm; other descriptions steady. We note sales of Mace at $1.15; Cassia, 32; Cloves, 12½; all gold, duty paid.

TIN.—The market for Straits is still very dull, and the only transaction reported during the fortnight consists in the sale of 500 slabs at 32½c. to 31½c. gold; at the close Straits is held at 32½c. to 32½c., and Banca is nominally quoted 38c. to 39½c. gold.

SHIPPING.

ARRIVALS.—March 18, at New York from Yokohama, Abby Bacon; 28, from Hiogo, Oberon; from Singapore and Penang, W. A. Farnew.

CASUALTIES.

Advices from Surinam, dated March 7, state that the Vrede, van der Plas, from Batavia to Amsterdam, which put into Brampoint, Feb. 17, leaky, was, after an ineffectual attempt on the part of the Dutch war steamer Svestdyk, and the discharging of part of her cargo into schooners, towed up to town March 3rd by the Dutch war steamer Schonwen. The cargo would be further discharged.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Advices from Amsterdam, dated April 1, state that the Dageraad, v. Striemen, from Birkenhead to Sourabaya, stranded on the coast of Madura, was sold, Feb. 14, for 380 florins; the materials were sold at the same time for 4,000 florins.

ART, PICTORIAL AND INDUSTRIAL. In Illustrated Magazine.

THIS Publication was commenced on the 1st of July, in the belief that an ample field existed for a high class monthly magazine devoted to Art; and already the result has fulfilled this expectation. 'ART' is produced in a form eminently adapted to the drawing-room table. It is handsomely printed on fine paper, in super-royal quarto, and each Number contains four or more Full-page Heliotype Illustrations, being reproductions of Ancient and Modern Pictures, Engravings, Designs, Sculpture, and objects of Industrial or Decorative Art.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT

AND PILLS.—RHEUMATISM AND GOUT.—These purifying and soothing remedies demand the earnest attention of all persons liable to rheumatism, gout, sciatica, or other painful affections of the muscles, nerves or joints. The Ointments should be applied after the affected parts have been patiently fomented with warm water, when the unguent should be diligently rubbed upon the adjacent skin, unless the friction should cause pain. Holloway's Pills should be simultaneously taken to reduce inflammation and purify the blood. This treatment abates the violence and lessens the frequency of gout, rheumatism, and all spasmodic diseases which spring from hereditary predisposition, or from any accidental weakness of constitution. The Ointment checks the local malady; the Pills preserve the vital power.

SINGAPORE DOCKS.

THE PATENT SLIP AND DOCK COMPANY execute SHIPS' REPAIRS of all descriptions in the most efficient manner, under the supervision of European Engineers and Shipwright.

There are TWO DRY DOCKS, each capable of admitting two vessels at the same time, being over 400 feet in length, with depth of water ranging to 20 feet.

Adjoining the above there is extensive WHARF WAREHOUSE, and other accommodation, including every convenience for coaling Steamers, discharging cargo, and storing goods, together with ample MAHINERY and appliances for repairing iron steamers, &c.

Apply at the offices of Messrs. PATERSON, SIMONS and Co., Singapore: or 21, St. Swinfin's-lane, Cannon-street, London, E.C.

WM. CLOUGHTON, Managing Director.

PORT OF AMOY.

SHIPOWNERS, AGENTS, and COMMANDERS are informed that the Dock Company's establishments at the above port afford every facility, at moderate charges, for REPAIRING and FARRING VESSELS, cleaning and painting iron ships and steamers.

Their large Granite Dock has 286 feet length on the blocks, and at average spring tides can receive vessels of 16 to 17 feet draught. It has a caisson-gate and a powerful centrifugal steam pump, and an engineer's workshop fitted with lathes and tools, driven by steam; iron and brass foundries, boiler-makers' shop, a large smithy and carpenters and boat-builders' sheds. All superintended by resident Europeans.

Their two smaller GRANITE DOCKS can receive, at spring tides, vessels drawing 12 feet.

Spars, timber, and other Dockyard material kept in stock.

Quarters for officers and a DRY GODOWN for stores of vessels under repair.

SHANGHAI.

The dates by the present mail extend to the 1st March. The London mail of Jan. 13 was expected on the 3rd March.

A meeting of the Shanghai Race Club was held on the 27th, at which the accounts for the past year, showing a total receipt of Tls. 12,519.78 and expenditure of Tls. 9,767.34, were passed. It was agreed to devote Tls. 1,000 of the balance towards reducing the mortgage on the Grand Stand. Messrs. Annecke, Dallas, Higson, King, Markham, Low, and Ringer were elected stewards for the current year.

The owners of Messrs. Bower and Hanbury's compound consent that the objectionable corner shall be rounded off, and agree to make the alteration at their own expense, claiming only that the municipality shall pay one cash per annum as rental for the ceded ground. Mr. Bower explains that his previous demand for the restoration of the wall arose from no desire to inconvenience the community, but from an impulse to resist what he considered as an act of aggression. As Mr. Bower's letter may convey an impression that the wall was pulled down without previous application to his local agents for permission, we are requested by the Municipal Council to say that a written application was addressed to Messrs. Bower, Hanbury and Co. as far back as the 12th July, 1869, though it does not seem to have been forwarded by that firm to the owners; further, that Mr. Hanbury's consent was personally asked by the chairman of the Public Works Committee, on the day before the wall was pulled down, and a letter based on that conversation was written on the day following, asking, formally, for the permission which was understood to have been verbally accorded.

A paper was read at the meeting of the Asiatic Society, by Mr. J. B. Robertson, communicated by Dr. Williams, of the United States Legation at Peking, giving an extremely interesting account of a visit to Loochoo at the commencement of the present century, made by a Chinese statesman who was sent to that State for the investiture of its king. One of the Imperial envoys kept a journal in which he noted, from day to day, all incidents of travel which transpired from the day of his departure from Peking to the termination of his mission. On his return he published his diary, which Dr. Williams has translated and enriched by explanatory notes.

The stained glass for the windows in the south transept of Trinity Church, subscribed for as a memorial to the late Mr. Hobson, arrived in the Priam, and is being put up.

The British Post-office has been moved from the house at the foot of Nanking-road to one of the rear houses of the Commercial Bank-buildings. The Local Post-office, we hear, will follow in about a month's time to the front house of the same premises. It occurs to us, in connection with these movements, to ask whether an arrangement could not be made that the American and French Post-offices, the British Packet Agency, and the Local Post, should all occupy one building. The convenience to the community would be very great; the position of the Commercial Bank-buildings is very central, and there must be room there for all.

A gentleman who has lately returned from Sookong informs us that the marble slab marking the vault where the foreign officers killed at or near that city were buried has been removed, and that Ward's grave has been covered over with earth, so as to resemble an ordinary native mound. Those who know the spot will remember that Ward's coffin was first placed in the grounds of the Confucian temple, but was subsequently removed by the Chinese to a field, where it seems to be much neglected. We are glad to hear that the U.S. Consul-General intends to move in the matter.

The new year seems to have passed off at Hankow without any failures. There has been next to no business done during the fortnight, and the market had not re-opened on the 24th. Business was expected to recommence with the current week.

From Peking we learn that a memorial has been presented to the Emperor by a high official, charging Tseng-kwo-fan with being afraid of foreigners, and therefore acting in concert with them. The particular case mentioned is that he has misrepresented the real state of affairs in his account of the investigation of the Tientsin Massacre. He is charged with knowing full well that the charges of kidnapping children, plucking out their eyes, &c., are perfectly true. Hence the Imperial Government is urged to give that affair a further and more satisfactory investigation.

We have letters from Newchwang to the 27th January, reporting everything quiet. The thermometer had fallen to 9 deg. below zero, and the weather was fine and cold. Skating consequently was active, but opium dull—at Tls. 600 nominal, and no buyers. Produce remains high.

A Consuls' meeting was held at Her Majesty's Consulate on the 27th of February. Present:—Messrs. Mejan, Medhurst, Redding, Schlik, Kroes, and Seward. The Commissioner of Customs and Harbour-master were also present, by invitation. The inability of the Consul for North-Germany to attend the meeting was stated. It was resolved:—That the Consular Body accept with thanks the exertions of the Harbour-master in sketching out a survey of the best channel across the Woosung bar; that they consider, with him, that a verification of the survey will be a desideratum in the interests of all concerned; and that they will invite the commanders of vessels-of-war in port to verify the survey, and to consult with him upon the best method of marking the channel.

The charts of the Yang-tse from River Point to Woosung, from the recent survey by the United States ship Alaska, were laid before the meeting. It was resolved: That the survey of the Yang-tse-kiang from River Point to Woosung, by Commander H. C. Blake, U.S.N., be laid on the table; and that the hearty acknowledgments of the Consular Body, on behalf of their respective flags, be presented to Captain Blake, Lieutenant Commander Chester, and the officers of the Alaska, for their energetic and useful services in the cause of navigation and commerce in these waters.

A sketch chart of the new or northern channel between Woosung and the sea was laid on the table, and the general question of a re-survey of the approaches to the port was considered. It was resolved:—That a re-survey of the approaches to the port of Shanghai is very much needed, and that a survey of the northern channel, between Woosung and the sea, is to be desired.

In response to questions put to them, the Commissioner of Customs and Harbour-master stated that the lightships and buoys on the Confucius and Lang-shan crossings will be placed as recommended by Captain Blake, so soon as the changes needed at Woosung can be effected.

The judgment of Chief Judge Goodwin in the case of Chung-Chin-Lien v. Jardine, Matheson and Co., agents of the S.S. Lismore, was delivered on the 27th Feb. After a careful summing up of the law and evidence in the case he found for defendants on the ground that plaintiffs manifestly knew that the mate's receipt was treated as in all respects the same as a bill of lading. The judgment, however, did not carry costs, except costs of Court; but, at the instance of Mr. Rennie, it was stated that this was not to be taken as a precedent.

It is rumoured that the Chinese authorities at the Kaou-Chang-Meaou intend inaugurating their operations for this year by beginning the manufacture of needle guns; but we are unable to vouch for the accuracy of the report.

Among the passengers arrived per Costa Rica from Japan last week we observe the name of John Markham, Esq., H.B.M. Consul at Chefoo.

A preliminary meeting of the North China Steam Carriage Company (Limited) was held, Mr. Hanbury in the chair. Present: Messrs. R. L. Fearon, David Maclean, F. Porter, J. B. Tootal, R. S. Gundry, D. Partridge, Osar Stamenan, F. C. Adams, Wm. Harwood, F. Boyce, J. S. Robison, W. J. Blydenburgh, James Henderson, H. Hertz, F. King, and J. F. Leaman, Jun. After some discussion as to the value of the company's scrip, the chairman proposed that the shares should be for Tls. 250 instead of Tls. 500 as originally intended, which was carried. Mr. Adams proposed, and Mr. Boyce seconded, a resolution approving of the action taken by Mr. J. Henderson, in ordering a road steamer, omnibus, and trucks, which was also carried; and the rules and regulations, adopted as a preliminary constitution of the company, the object of which is to carry goods and passengers to the province of Chihle, principally between Taku, Tientsin, and Peking, and the surrounding districts. Mr. Henderson will take the full management for twelve months after the arrival of the road steamer at Tientsin. The capital is at present fixed at fifty or more shares, of Tls. 250 each, with power to increase it, if the enterprise is found to answer.

The third annual report of the American Episcopal Mission Hospital exhibits subscriptions from foreigners Tls. 1,742, from Chinese Tls. 372. The committee also acknowledge with thanks the valuable and gratuitous services of Drs. Henderson, Jamieson, and Thin, to Messrs. Churton and Co. for a gift of medicines, and to Drs. MacGowan and Forrest for assistance in time of need.

The public examination of Mr. Wm. Hargreaves, adjourned from the 21st. Jan. to enable bankrupt to separate furniture bought after his arrival in Shanghai in 1867 from that previously in his possession, was held on the 25th Feb.

Bankrupt deposed:—I have three marriage settlements, re-settling the furniture, last is dated in 1857. When I left China in 1862, the whole of the furniture set out in the schedule to these settlements was sold, except engravings and paintings. The money I received for the furniture I paid in to my agents, and when I got home I re-invested it in furniture, along with moneys of my own, to the extent of £6,000. None of the proceeds was paid over to the trustees under the marriage settlement, but they were informed of the sale of the furniture. No fresh settlement was made for the last investment. The furniture, plate, pictures, &c., amounting to £6,000, which I bought in London, was sold there again, and the proceeds paid to Hyde and Jones, to account of my indebtedness with them. In regard to local operations here, I did not speculate on my own account, it was on account of the firm, and I kept no separate one. The transactions were always entered in the bank pass-books of the firm. I had no particular reason for not entering certain of them in the business books, except that the books were behind-hand. I told Mr. Price when the local transactions were finished to enter up the results as profit or loss, but up to the time I left China this was not done, as Mr. Price's books were behind. I never told him not to enter them at all.

Mr. Thorburn handed in a note of Tls. 4,000 not entered. He also mentioned a sum of Tls. 60,000 drawn but not entered in the cash-book, and put in a memo. of cheques drawn by Mr. Hargreaves on the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, the sum total reaching Tls. 320,000. Being asked if it was true that these were not entered in cash-book, witness said he supposed it was true.

In the course of his subsequent examination the bankrupt said:—I entirely deny having put any profits to my own private account. I was allowed to draw £2,500 a-year to my private account besides table allowance. The balance at my debit for the two years till January, 1869, was Tls. 17,948, and in 1869 Tls. 8,912.99. From the 1st January to April, 1870, my credit was more than the debit, being Tls. 2,789 to Tls. 2,064. The whole balance of my debit, without crediting myself with anything, is Tls. 26,135.99. That amount I had spent by paying Mr. Liebert £2,000, life insurance, £210 a-year, education of my children at home, £300 a-year, £200 a-year allowance to my sister, and I bought gas shares to Tls. 1,200. The annual payments I have mentioned were made for three years. The rest I used for personal expenses here in Shanghai. I believe my balance still owing to Mr. Liebert to be about £1,200. My indebtedness was reduced by Mr. Liebert collecting in London, on account of insurances, particular averages, &c., for the firm of R. F. Thorburn and Co., a sum of about £1,500, which he passed to my personal credit, without my authority in the first instance. That amount should have been entered to my debit here. That makes about Tls. 4,500 more I received, altogether about Tls. 31,000. I also received the payment of a draft of Mr. Higson's for £1,500, which Mr. Higson was afterwards repaid out of the business. The total amount of my drawing was therefore about Tls. 37,000, and that does not include my table allowance up to June 1868, or house rent, which were always put to charges account. I owed Mr. Liebert £4,500 for losses on goods sent out to Shanghai, and he sent me some just before I went home in 1867, part of which remained unsold till I came back. I remitted for them. My family's expenses while I was at home were paid by Rice and Co., out of goods sold here, partly at least out of proceeds of Liebert's. I hypothecated certain gas and dock shares to Mr. Liebert as security for his advance of £5,000. The dock and part of the gas shares were mortgaged to some of the banks in Shanghai. In 1867 I took money out of the business to redeem them, in order to enable me to hypothecate them to Mr. Liebert—about Tls. 1,500. The local operations were always carried on in my own name. I usually give promissory notes for loans in connection with them in my own name. Only three of these, as far as I know, are outstanding, two to the Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China, and one to the Oriental Bank. The securities for these loans were goods bought in the Shanghai market. The operations resulted in considerable losses. My life insurance policy lapsed in January.

HONG KONG.

Dates reach to the 8th March. The London mail of Jan. 20 (French) arrived out on the 2nd inst.

A memorandum, handed in by Chief Justice Smale, at the last meeting of the Legislative Council, namely, in November last, has been the subject of some comment. The Chief Justice condemns the licensing system in practice, and also questions its legality under the existing ordinances. With regard to the police force, he expresses a strong opinion as to its inefficiency and corruption, and holds that it ought to be placed under one efficient head, instead of being partly under the Registrar-General, and that it is essential that the inspectors be acquainted with the Chinese language more than they are at present.

The proceedings on habeas corpus before the Chief Justice in Chambers with reference to the rendition of one of the men concerned in the coolie rising on board the Nouvelle Penelope have terminated, but judgment has not yet been delivered.

The cross-actions in Admiralty between the British ship Black Adder and the Messageries Maritime steamer Volga, are still before the Court. They will be terminated to-morrow, when the Attorney-General will give his argument for the Volga.

The annual race meeting took place from the 2nd to the 4th March, and went off favourably. The race in the Challenge Cup was that which excited most interest, but their was no competition; Exeter, who was to oppose North Australian, having no chance, and being withdrawn, so that the long contested prize goes to the owner of North Australian. It has been well run for, though it is to be regretted that the last race was not more interesting.

The anniversary of Washington's Birthday was celebrated by the officers of the U.S.S. Colorado, who got up some good scratch boat-races, and received a large number of visitors on board.

The Bishop of Victoria has returned to his diocese. The Rev. J. Piper, who has acted as Colonial Chaplain during the Bishop's absence, has resigned.

News has reached this port of the total loss of the ship Andromeda, bound to this from Shanghai, in ballast, on Fisher's Island of the Pescadores on the 21st February. One of the mates, and sixteen of the crew escaped in a boat to Tai-wan-foo, Formosa. The captain and the remainder of the crew were last seen by the mate who escaped, endeavouring to land on one of the Pescadores, and no further news of them has yet come to hand.

The annual meeting of shareholders in the Hong Kong and Whampoa Dock was held on the 25th February. The chairman stated that every effort should be made to reduce the expenditure of the concern, and that arrangements would be completed for in future getting out material from home. The Aberdeen Dock, which was temporarily closed has been again opened. A dividend at the rate of only 3 per cent. per annum was declared for the half-year ending 31st December, 1870, but the report notices that exceptional circumstances had diminished the amount of docking business during that period.

The first ordinary meeting of the shareholders in the China Fire Insurance Company took place on the 22nd Feb. The alteration in the deed of settlement for the purpose of facilitating the transfer of shares, which it was proposed to make at an extraordinary meeting called for the same day, could not be effected, in consequence of the absentee shareholders not sending in their proxies. Another meeting will be called shortly, and it may be hoped that shareholders who are away will take care to send in proxies for that occasion, as the alteration to be made is one obviously necessary, and regarding the advisability of which there can scarcely be two opinions.

The Gazette of the 4th March contains two "statements" made by the Hon. the Chief Justice, which were read and confirmed in the Legislative Council on February 23, but which were officially minuted so far back as Nov. 11, 1870. One relates to the gambling license system and its effects; the other to the state of our local police force. The former of these has attracted a good deal of public attention. It is undoubted that a tone of dishonesty has been engendered by gambling-houses, which it is within the province of stringent statutes to deal effectually with. But this revives the question of police, and his Lordship, on this issue, raises a very serious issue. The police have, for four years at least, been the subject of much hostile criticism. The Chief Justice says it has become demoralised mainly through the influence of the gaming-houses, and, in fact, that the police have "concurred in originating conspiracies to convict innocent men of murder," in the hope of obtaining Government rewards. This is a heavy charge, but the assumption seems to be borne out by the conduct of the Government. A commission was appointed to inquire into the abuses of the police force, and they made a report and an amended report, which were both burked, as we gather from the Gazette. The item for police expenditure for last year was $172,395.20. If any portion of this amount—the police system being still unamended—is to be spent in the payment of policemen who will join in "originating" charges of murder against innocent men, the Editor of the China Mail is justified in exclaiming as he does, "How will this thing read at home?"

It should be mentioned that 917 firms and individuals, Chinese, have signed a petition to the Home Government, praying for the abolition of licensed gaming-houses, "as being extremely injurious to the people." This interesting petition, and the papers relating to it, have been moved for in the House of Commons by Mr. Edgar Bowring.

The British Consular Chaplain at Foochow, the Rev. George Hamilton, M.A., having resigned his position, and being about to return home, the residents at Pagoda Anchorage have taken the opportunity to testify their appreciation of the rev. gentleman's ministerial labours among them. Their testimonial is in the shape of a handsome silver salver from Messrs. Falconer and Co.

Messrs. Spratt and Co. shipwrights at Wanchi, are at present engaged in finishing a spar which is something of a novelty in this part of the world. The spar, which has been put together as a main-yard for the U. S. flagship Colorado, measures 110 feet 6 inches in length, and 28 inches in diameter. It is made of Oregon pine logs, and consists of about half-a-dozen of those slices of timber fixed together by coaks, and welded by means of a series of iron bands. It is said to be the largest spar ever "built" in the East, and is unquestionably six inches ahead of the Red Jacket's main-yard. The same firm is about to make a foreyard for the Colorado; and we are only glad to see that the Colony has the means to perform and the demand for, pieces of work of such unusual dimensions.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

SINGAPORE.

Dates extend to March 15. No mail from Europe had arrived since the last despatch, but the Behar, with the English mail of Feb. 10, was expected the following day.

The following items are from the Straits Times :—

The last mail steamer conveyed home his Excellency the Governor, who has obtained twelve months leave of absence, and on March 4 Colonel Anson, Lieutenant Governor of Penang, was sworn in as Administrator of the Government. Colonel Anson went to Penang the same afternoon, in the Pluto, intending to remain there until the 10th or 11th. Hardly had he left, however, before events occurred which accelerated his return.

CHINESE RIOT.

It would almost appear as if the heads of two turbulent Chinese Secret Societies had been awaiting his accession to office to mark it by disastrous riots, similar to those which occurred so shortly after his advent at Penang. Whether this be so or not, they have found out their error, and have been convinced, we trust, that the Government is not only able but determined to put down any attempt of the kind. There have been in reality no riots, but there were gatherings of armed men in the country, who night after night committed robberies with violence, and arson, and forcibly resisted the efforts of the police to recover the property thus unlawfully taken or to arrest any of the offenders. Matters began to assume a serious aspect. Firearms were used, first against the police, and then in their raids. The police were worn out, and the military came to their assistance, mounting guard in the disturbed districts, and acting as a reserve guard at the stations in case of a riot in town.

LANDING OF MARINES, ETC.

A detachment of seamen and marines from H.M.'s Barrosa were placed at the Central Police-station, a number of the European residents volunteered their services as special constables, and the Singapore Volunteer Corps also showed themselves ready to assist in preserving the peace. This display had the desired effect, and deterred the marauders from further demonstrations. News of the disturbances was at once telegraphed to the Acting Governor at Penang, and he hastened to return, but found on his arrival that all danger had passed for the present. Active search has been and is being made for the headmen, some of whom are still at large, and until they are got hold of the public peace cannot be said to be fully secured. The display of strength made, however, cannot fail to have a salutary effect.

The principal other topic of interest is the visit of his Majesty the King of Siam. His Majesty will be the guest of the Acting Governor at Government House, and a portion of his retinue will be accommodated at Raeburn House, on the New Harbour road. He will land at Johnston's Pier, where he will be received by the Acting Governor and officials, and will then proceed to the Town Hall, where he will hold a levee, and thence to Government House, where a reception will be given in the evening. The programme of arrangements are varied, and include an official dinner at Government House, theatricals and a ball at the Town Hall, a visit to the flower show at the Gardens—which occurs very opportunely—and we suppose other entertainments not yet decided upon. It is certain that no effort will be wanting on the part of the community to make his visit as agreeable as possible, and no means at their command left untried that might contribute to his amusement or enjoyment.

The Chief Justice left for Malacca on the 6th March to hold the criminal session, which is a heavier one than has been held there for some time past. The case exciting most interest is a trial for piracy committed on the schooner Sree Singapura, in Malacca Straits, on the voyage hence to Penang. There are forty-three prisoners in this case, most, if not all, of whom, were captured by H.M.'s gunboat Algerine, whose men had to fight to retain possession of the schooner after she had been retaken from her plunderers. The result of the trial is not yet known, but it awakened a very considerable interest among the natives, who, we are told, crowded the Court-house to excess during its progress.

The British barque Amazon, Captain McLeod, from Cardiff for Singapore with coals, is a total loss. The hull and cargo were sold at public auction on the 7th March for $395, and the stores saved brought about $1,300; in all barely more than sufficient to pay the expenses incurred.

A little steamer of some forty tons burthen was on the 8th launched from the ship-yard of Messrs. Buyers and Robb at Teluk Ayer. She is built for Messrs. Riley and Hargreaves, engineers, and is fitted with vertical direct-acting engines of twenty-horse-power nominal, working up to about eighty-horse power. She is named the Bintang, and is expected to attain a speed of from eight to ten miles an hour.

The arrivals of steamers via the Suez Canal during the fortnight have been the Sanspareil on the 6th, Agamemnon from Liverpool on the 8th, and the Sea Gull from London on the 13th. There have been no departures.

An experiment is now being tried in Singapore, which, if successful, may have a very beneficial result in creating a field for local industry. Having a number of thriving mulberry trees, Mr. G. H. Brown determined upon attempting the production of silk. For this purpose he procured some eggs of the silk-worm moth from Japan, which were carefully hatched, and with such success that he has now more than three thousand healthy silk-worms. It is his intention to send some of the cocoons home for examination and report upon their quality. The mulberry tree thrives well here, and the evenness of the temperature during the year is believed to be remarkably favourable for the silk-worms. It remains to be seen whether the climate favourably affects the quality of the silk. We understand Mr. Brown intends experimenting also with the China silk-worm.

Commercial Report.

IMPORTS.

HANKOW.—Business had been entirely suspended during the past week, the Chinese being engaged in celebrating their New Year festival. Arrivals of Grey Goods were heavy, and there would be no lack of stocks to meet the anticipated demand on the re-opening of the market.

SHANGHAI.—Cottons: Business recommenced after the holidays at about previous rates, though for Grey Shirtings the market had shown weakness, owing to great readiness on the part of importers to meet buyers. Two steamers for the north were to leave on the 1st March, though it would be the end of the month before the inland water communication at Tientsin could be thoroughly re-established. There was a fair inquiry for T-Cloths. White Shirtings and Jeans were obtainable at previous rates. Woollens and Worsteds: There was more disposition to buy Long Ells, and a good inquiry for Camlets and Figured Orleans existed; Medium Cloths remained dull of sale, with a heavy stock. So little change having occurred, owing to the native New Year holidays having altered occupied most of the fortnight, quotations are generally unaltered.

AMOY.—Messrs. Brown and Co.'s Circular contains the following, under date March 4:—Cotton Yarn.—Receipts, 40 bales. Sales, 177 bales; 16-24's at $114.50 to 127; 25 bales 28-32's at $127; and 123 bales Singapore at $80 to 81. Stock, 318 bales. We quote 16-24's $118 to 128; 28-32's, 122 to 132. Cotton Piece Goods.—Grey Shirtings: Receipts, 3,200 pieces. Sales, 800 pieces; 7 lbs. at $2.30; 1,650 pieces 8½ lbs., $2.82 to 2.77. Re-exports, 500 pieces; stock, 9,950 pieces. We quote 7 lbs. $2.30; 8½ lbs., $2.85 per piece. White Shirtings: No receipts or sales; stock, 300 pieces. We quote 60 reed $2.85; 64 reed, $3.15; 68 reed, $3.45. Spotted Shirtings: No receipts, sales, or stock. Quotations $3 per piece. T-Cloths: Receipts, 100 pieces; sales, 650 pieces, 6 lbs. at 1.68; stock, 750 pieces; 6 lbs. are quoted at $1.65; 7 lbs., $2.05; 7½ lbs., $2.20 per piece. Turkey Reds: No receipts, sales, or stock. We quote 3 lbs. $2.80; 3½ lbs., $2.95 per piece. Brocades: No stock; White at $3.20; Dyed, $4.30 per piece. Drills: Stock, 570 pieces; 40 yards, $4.20; 30 yards, $2.30 per piece. Woollens.—Camlets: No receipts or sales; re-exports, 30 pieces; stock, 299 pieces. Scarlet at $16.50 to 17; assorted, $15.50 to 16 per piece. Spanish Stripes: No stock. We quote Scarlet 80c.; Dyed, 70c. per yard. Lastings: No stock; 30 yards are quoted at $15.50 per piece. Long Ells: Receipts, 1,000 pieces; sales, 20 pieces at $7.70; re-export, 100 pieces; stock, 1,419 pieces. HH Assorted, $5.50 to 6.50; Scarlet, $6.70 to 7.50 per piece. Metals.—Lead is quoted at $6.20 per picul.

HONG KONG.—With the exception of Cotton Yarn, for which (for the lower counts especially) a fair inquiry had been shown, the market had been very quiet both for Cottons and Woollens, and only a very limited amount of business had been transacted; prices exhibited but little alteration from those ruling previous to the Chinese holidays. Cotton Yarns: Nos. 16 to 24 in fair demand in the absence of good spinnings; medium qualities slightly higher. Nos. 28 to 42 difficult of sale, without change in value. Grey Shirtings: 7 lbs. in moderate demand; 8.4 lbs. quiet, for heavy goods no inquiry. White Shirtings: Common qualities generally declined, owing to some exceptionally low sales; medium very firm, but with little demand, while for fine there had been somewhat better inquiry. T-Cloths: 6 lbs. common readily saleable, but holders were disinclined to sell; 6 lbs. Mexicans, neglected; 7 lbs., both common and Mexican, in but moderate request. Heavy goods commanded ready sale, both on the spot and for arrival. For other Cotton goods there was hardly any demand. Woollens: All kinds in scarcely any request; prices nominal.

SINGAPORE.—Messrs. Boustead and Co. report as follows under date March 15:—During the past fortnight there have been large sales of 8½ Grey Shirtings, and moderate transactions in 5 lb. to 6 lb. T-Cloth. Fine White Shirtings of favourite makes have also been dealt in to a fair extent. Other goods have only been in a limited demand. Prices generally show very little change. 30-inch Grey Shirtings—6 lb. no improvement and nominal, at $1.77½; 7 lb. limited request, at $2.05 to $2.10; 8½ lb. placed to a large extent at $2.62½, but with late arrivals demand fully supplied, and at the close enquiry slack and price weaker. 45-inch Grey Shirtings: no enquiry for 9 lb., 10 lb. sold to a small extent at $3.15 to $3.20. Light weights neglected. 36-inch White Shirtings: Fine qualities of favourite makes in very good demand, and fair sales at about last quotations, dealers refusing to give any advance. In low and medium qualities not much had been done. 45-inch White Shirtings only bought for immediate wants at $3.52½ to $3.55 for 64 reed. 30-inch White Spots saleable to a limited extent at $2.55 to $2.57½ for 14 to 15. 36-inch White Brocades: Without demand—nominal at $2.80 for 66 reed. 45-inch White Cambrics: Ordinary 15-16s without any improvement, demand being limited at $27½. Other qualiteis dull, and low offers made. White Maddapollams in no demand. 32-inch Grey T-Cloths: 4 lb. to 4½ lb. very dull at $1.10 to 1.20; 5 lb. and 6 lb. in moderate demand at $1.27½ to 1.30 and $1.50 to 1.52½; little inquiry for 7 lb., with small sales at $1.75 to 1.80. Grey Maddapollams only placed at low prices; demand very small; 2½ lb. $17 to 17½, and 3 lb. $18 to 18½. 30-inch Grey Drills are in better inquiry, but at low prices; small transactions are reported in 30 yards, 9½ lb., and 9½ lb., at $54½, and 40 yards, 15 lb., at $73, both of superior make. 32-inch Turkey Red Cambrics firmly held for higher prices; small sales of 2½ lbs. at $2.15, 3 lbs. at $2.55, and 3½ lbs. at $2.75. Turkey Red Mulls in no demand. Grey Yarn: 40's in moderate demand and lower, sales at $115 to 116; 30's, little doing at $107½ to 110, but higher quotation now obtainable; 18-24's, firmer, and quoted $95 to 97½. Woollens: Without improvement; all descriptions very dull of sale. Metals: Some little business done in Iron; Nailrods placed to a considerable extent at $2.27½ to 2.25. Govan Flat Bars sold at $2.65.

EXPORTS.

TEA.

HANKOW.—The season was considered closed.

KIUKIANG.—No business done; quotations nominal.

SHANGHAI.—Black: The business of the fortnight had been almost nil, a few hundred chests only having been purchased, and the same remark applies to supplies, which had been confined to an odd lot or two. The stock was very small, and it was said that perhaps 2,000 chests of Tea from Kiukiang would be all of the production of the season to be expected. Settlements for the fortnight, 886 chests; stock, 20 chops, or 5,692 packages, 886 chests. Green: Owing partly to the intervention of the holidays, and to the undesirable quality of the stock on offer, a very trifling business had been done. About 3,000 half-chests of inferior and common Moyune and Fychow had been taken at prices showing no change from those last quoted, and the market continued very dull at the close. The Satsuma was loading Tea for either New York or Montreal, but her ultimate destination had not transpired. It was not probable that any other vessel would be placed on the berth for the United States, as the bulk of the Teas on hand were totally unsuited for that market. Settlements for the fortnight, 3,059 half-chests; reshipments on owners' account, nil; stock, 29 chops, or 11,280 packages, of Fychow, Teenkai, and Moyune Teas, 3,059 half-chests; 5 chops, or 1,909 packages, of Shanghai-packed and Pinguey Teas.

FOOCHOW.—Business had been entirely suspended during the week, on account of the Chinese New Year holidays, which commenced on the 18th February.

CANTON.—Business suspended during the fortnight on account of the holidays, and no settlements reported. Stocks remained as last reported, and consisted of qualities wholly unsuited to the requirements of the London market. The last Tea cargo had left, and the season was considered as entirely closed.

SILK.

SHANGHAI.—The following is from Messrs. Skeggs and Co.'s Circular:—The China New Year holidays commenced on the 18th February, and cannot be said to be fairly over yet, although some few brokers and dealers are going the round of the market, apparently more with the object of learning foreigners' ideas than with the intention of doing business, as the prices they ask are fully Tls. 10 to 20 over those paid last mail. Notwithstanding these excessive demands, buyers have been found for about 200 bales (100 of which should have been included in our last report), mostly 4 and 5 Tsatlee, with a few Hangchow and Long Reel. Some few bales of Dragon chop have been taken at Tls. 590, equal to 30s. 2d., and Eukefong Blue Elephant chop at Tls. 532½, equal to 27s. 3d.

CANTON.—During the early part of the fortnight, the Chinese holders withdrew their stocks from the market, and when business was resumed after the holidays, advanced their prices. In some instances the advance was obtained, and at the close they seemed inclined to hold their stocks rather than submit to any reduction, with the hope, no doubt, of obtaining better rates later on. Transactions on the whole had not been extensive. There had been a few settlements in Re-reels for America.

COCHIN CHINA AND STRAITS PRODUCE.

SINGAPORE.—Tin, after having declined to $31.12½, gradually advanced to $31.62½, at which 500 slabs had been taken for England. About 2,000 piculs placed during the fortnight, the greater portion being taken for America. Gambier sold to a moderate extent at $2.87½, and at the close was very firm. Black Pepper: Nominally worth $9.85 per picul, there being no buyers at this price, but dealers being well engaged with old contracts were not anxious to sell. Large supplies expected, when the price would probably give way should advices from Europe not in the meanwhile improve. White Pepper: In good demand, arrivals all taken at $14.50 to $14.60. Sago Flour: Sales of Sarawak at $2.54 to $2.55. Pearl Sago: In good demand at $3.15 for small grain. Tapioca: Flake, $3.50; pearl, $3.40; flour, $3.15. Coffee: Sales of 300 piculs Bontyne at $13.55; market cleared, and no further supplies expected before August. Buffalo Hides: In good request at $9 per picul for best. Buffalo Horns: Sales at $8½ per picul. India Rubber: Very scarce and worth $41 per picul. Borneo Rubber, $33. Gutta-percha: Best picked worth $75 per picul.

SAIGON.—There had been great excitement in the market, owing to a heavy demand for Rice from China and Japan, upwards of 25,000 tons of shipping having arrived to load for those countries; the price had risen to $1.95 per picul. Owing to this condition of affairs there was no prospect of business being done for Europe.

La Situation (the daily representative paper in London of the ex-Emperor's party) in an article entitled "La France et Angleterre," says:—"Nous n'avons en France qu'une seule usine où la préparation du Cacao emploie un matériel, et un personnel aussi considérables que ceux que nous avons vus dans l'usine de Messieurs Epps. C'est une véritable curiosité dans son genre que cette immense fabrique." Each packet of Cocoa prepared by this firm is labelled "James Epps and Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, London."

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Each packet or tin is labelled—JAMES EPPS & CO., Homoeopathic Chemists, London. Epps's Cocoa is also prepared with condensed milk, and sold in tins, labelled Epps's Milky Cocoa.

MISCELLANEOUS.—The Levant, Sangster, from Sourabaya to Amsterdam, which arrived at Table Bay Feb. 18, put in on account of sickness among the crew. Suez Canal, March 23.—April 4, Craigforth (str.), from London, for Singapore, China, &c.; Nile (str.), from London, for Colombo, &c.; Europe (str.), from London, for Colombo, &c.; William Cory (str.), from Singapore, for London; Bengal (str.), from Singapore, for London; Evora (str.), from China, for London. At Aden: —, Hector (str.), from Liverpool, and left, April 13, for Singapore, China, &c. Off Aden: April 13, Europe (str.), from London, for Colombo, &c.; Suez Canal: passed Ismailia, since April 4, Glen-sannox (s.s.), London to Japan; Emblehope (s.s.), Liverpool to China.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS.

BIRTHS.

ALLEN.—On the 2nd Feb., the wife of Mr. J. W. Allen, of a son.
BAKER.—On the 14th April, at Claremont-lodge, Eaton, Norwich, the wife of Samuel Wright Baker, late of Hong Kong, of a son.
BOWRING.—On the 6th April, at Torquay, the wife of Lewin Bowring, Esq., C.S.I., of a son.
CAMERON.—On the 25th March, at Rathoongodde, Ceylon, the wife of Ewen Hay Cameron, Esq., of a son. (Per telegram.)
DROEGE.—On the 20th Feb., at Shanghai, Mrs. A. Droegge, of a son.
ISEMONGER.—On the 11th March, at Fern-hill, Singapore, the wife of E. E. Isemonger, Esq., of a daughter.
OZORIO.—On the 26th February, at No. 8 Shelley-street, Hong Kong, the wife of Mr. C. A. Ozorio, junr., of a son.

PARKER—On the 28th Feb., at Shanghai, the wife of Franke H. Parker, Esq., of a son.
SOUZA—On the 6th March, at Hong Kong, the wife of Mr. A. J. da Silva e Souza, of a daughter.
SWINHOE—On the 8th April, at No. 33, Oakley-square, Chelsea, the wife of Robert Swinhoe, Esq., H.M.'s Consul, Formosa, China, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

DAVIES—KEUN—On the 7th March, at St. Andrew's Cathedral, Singapore, by the Rev. Canon J. A. Beckles, assisted by the Rev. J. Perham, John Charles Davies, of Swansea, to Nancy Lucretia, youngest daughter of the late Philip Jacob Keun.
GUTHRIE—BURNS—On the 11th April, at the Free Church Manse, Corstorphine, by the Rev. Dr. Guthrie, of Edinburgh, Capt. R. D. Guthrie, late of P. and O. Company's service, to Esther Struthers, youngest daughter of the Rev. George Burns, D.D., senior clergyman at Corstorphine. No carriages.
HOWARD—MAU—On the 18th Feb., at the British Consulate, Shanghai, by W. H. Medhurst, Esq., H.M.C. Consul; and thereafter at Trinity Church, by the Rev. Canon Butcher, Mr. W. C. Howard, of the Imperial Maritime Customs, to Miss Maria Martha Theresa Mau, eldest daughter of Frederic Christian Mau of Stuttgart.
LANGLEY—MITCHELL—On the 11th April, at Modbury, Devon, by the Rev. Prebendary Lyne, assisted by the Rev. George Green, vicar of Modbury, William Savage Langley, Esq., Royal Artillery, son of Charles Langley, Esq., of Chudleigh, to Cordelia, Catherine, eldest daughter of Sir William Mitchell, of Strode, Ivybridge, Devon, proprietor of the Shipping and Mercantile Gazette.
WILKIN—RIZ—On the 18th April, at East Meon, Hampshire, by the Rev. Wm. Brodie, Alfred J. Wilkin, of Yokohama, second son of C. J. Wilkin, Esq., of Layer Marney, Essex, to Lucy Emma, eldest daughter of the late Samuel Shoen Riz, Esq., of Tunbridge Wells.

DEATHS.

HANDLEY—On the 7th March, at Hong Kong, Louisa, the wife of Mr. E. R. Handley, aged 33 years.
MOSES—On the 12th March, at the Pavilion, Singapore, Mr. Malcolm Moses, aged 48 years.
RAYMOND—On the 3rd April, at Liverpool, of small-pox, to the intense sorrow of his unhappy wife, Alfred Raymond, late 2nd Officer P. and O. Co.'s Service, and son of the late Commander George Raymond, R.N., aged 31.

NAVAL AND MILITARY.

DEPARTURE OF THE TAMAR.

The screw troop-ship Tamar, Captain Hickley, sailed from Portsmouth on the 11th inst. with the naval officers and crews for the Avon and Dwarf, on the China station, as well as officers and men for the flag-ship Ocean, for disposal among the other vessels in the place of those whose periods of service have expired. The names of the officers who have sailed in this vessel were given in our issue of last week. In addition to the marines for the Avon and Dwarf, one sergeant and eight privates Royal Marine Light Infantry of the Gosport Division were embarked to join the marine battalion at Yokohama.

The Tamar will call at St. Vincent, Ascension, and St. Helena to coal, and proceed to the Cape and Natal, where she will disembark troops; thence to the Mauritius, Singapore, Hong Kong, and Yokohama, whence after having been employed in the removal of troops between the two last named places, she will embark the officers and crews of the ships recommissioned, and, with any naval and military invalids for whom passage may be required, return to England. This round of service is expected to employ her about seven months.

Commander B. W. Bax has been appointed to the command of the Dwarf, vice Commander Walker, whose period of service has expired. The appointment of Commander H. T. Boger, reported in our last issue, has been cancelled.

The Curlew, twin-screw gun-vessel, Commander D. Boyle, which will shortly sail for the China station, has made the official deep-load trial of her machinery and speed at the measured mile, Maplin Sands and attained at full-power a speed of 10.79 knots, and at half-power, 8.73 knots, which was considered highly satisfactory. We have to add to the list of appointments to this vessel recorded last week, the name of Archibald Court, as Assistant Paymaster.

We have received the Chronicle and Directory for China, Japan, the Philippines for 1871, published at the Daily Press Office, Hong Kong, London, F. Algar, 8, Clement's-lane. The "Chronicle and Directory" is published in two forms, as customary, the smaller one being the Directory, strictly so called, at the price of $3, and the other the complete volume, with records of nine years, at the price of $5, which will be found to include all the information, local, statistical, and topographical, likely to be required in public, mercantile, and general offices. Special care has been devoted to embrace the latest changes in the staffs of the various public offices, banks, companies, and mercantile firms in China, Japan, and Manila; and several additions have been made, among which may be noticed maps of Hong Kong, Japan, and the coast of China; the Coloured Code of Signals used at the Peak; and the plate of Private House Flags. The book is well printed, and a very creditable production for Hong Kong.

The amount of bullion by the P. and O. Company's steamer Candia, from Southampton on the 15th inst., was in silver to Penang, £8,850; to Singapore, £32,200; to Hong Kong, £49,900; to Shanghai, £124,705; total in silver, £215,655.

Mr. MacPherson, of the Chinese Customs, left Liverpool last week for Shanghai, via New York and San Francisco.

In the American Senate, on the 22nd ult., Mr. Trumbull, Republican, presented a remonstrance from the American Free Trade League against the repeal of the duties on tea and coffee, as making more difficult a repeal of the duties on iron, salt, &c., which are far more burdensome, and take away millions from the people, only a small portion of which is received by the Treasury, the larger part going as tribute to manufacturers. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

The Edinburgh, which laid the Straits Cable, has arrived at Portsmouth from Madras.

Foreign Intelligence.

HOLLAND.

ROTTERDAM, April 12.

Both the Chambers are now in recess, and the Lower House will not meet until the 18th inst., when the Budgets will be discussed. Our papers are preparing themselves for the election struggle, which must take place in the month of June next, when one half—say forty—of the members of the Chamber must resign. There will be a very warm fight, especially in Amsterdam, where there are three members, all Conservatives, who will resign, but who will of course offer themselves for re-election.

In a recent letter I told you that his Royal Highness Prince Henry would proceed to Suez by the steamer Willem III. on its first voyage to Batavia via the Suez Canal. It appears that this statement was premature; it had indeed been the intention of the Prince to make this trip, but subsequently the idea was given up. It is stated that a very large number of passengers have already arranged with the Nederland Company to make the passage by this steamer. It is probable that all the first class cabins—ninety in number—will be taken. This will greatly interfere with the interests of private shipowners, who make large profits by the transport of passengers to Java. Many East Indians are consequently advertised for sale, and it is very rare for a new Indianman to be launched. The other steamers of the Nederland Company are named the Prins van Oranje, Prins Hendrik, and Conrad.

An advertisement has been published in our principal papers, urging the creditors of the "Oost Indische Maatschappij van Lyfrenten" to come to some arrangement in order to prevent a bankruptcy, which will accrue if the 9th of June next, when the surséance of payment will expire, is allowed to pass without an arrangement being effected. I need not add that this advertisement has made a painful impression; it is a new proof that there is but very little chance of avoiding total failure.

The holidays are causing a lull in politics, as well as in trade and finance. The very cold weather which has lately prevailed has had a very bad effect in the spread of small-pox, and the number of persons attacked has much increased. In the neighbourhood of Tongeren (Limburg) the rinderpest has again made its appearance, but at present it is limited to one farm.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

In the face of the Easter holidays the dullness lately reported in the market for Colonial and Foreign Produce has increased, and transactions have been limited. No change of note has occurred in the market value of any of the leading articles, except Cotton and Tin, which have undergone some decline.

COFFEE.—Continues to exhibit but little activity, but prices keep steady, and many numbers of the late sale are sought after at the prices ruling thereat. The following transactions are reported: 1,091 bags Java, ex County of Berwick, and 204 bags ditto, ex Henrietta Adriana, at various prices.

SUGAR (RAW).—Since the public sale a firm tone continues to pervade the market, but there has been little on offer; only a couple of small lots have found buyers at about the parity of the March sale. The demand for export exceeds considerably the stock on hand of suitable sorts to meet the same.

TEA.—The attention of the trade has been engrossed of late by the public sales to be held here to-day, and no business worth notice has consequently been doing. The public sales of 15,238/4, 707/8, 725/12, and 130/16 chests Java, announced at Amsterdam on the 2nd and 3rd of May, will take place two days later.

TOBACCO (JAVA).—The following parcels have been disposed of by secret tender or by private contract, viz.:—432 bales Java, head mark Kedirie/P; 45 bales do., head mark Djaiah/K; 104 bales do., head mark Djaiah (Apenhaar); 13 bales do., head mark Djaiah/Kota; 246 bales Sumatra, head mark Paya Combo; 697 bales Java, head mark Djarit; 500 bales do., P. A/Malang; 310 bales do., head mark B. L. C.; 100 bales do., head mark WP/F; 258 bales do., head mark Kidol.

SPICES.—Nutmegs and Mace sell readily at steady prices. Black Pepper is dull; about 2,200 bags Batavia arrived last week per Jason; these had been sold previously afloat.

RICE exhibits a quiet appearance, without any change in prices.

RATTANS.—Sales have been closed since my last of 258 piculs, ex County of Lancaster, and 183 piculs, ex Gladstone.

ARRACK.—31 casks Tagal Alcohol, ex Glenduror, changed hands at prices that did not transpire.

JAVA INDIGO.—The business from first hands is confined to 20 chests at former rates.

DRUGS, &c.—Camphor: Nothing doing for want of buyers. Cubes remain depressed, and not higher than 12c. can be quoted. Long Pepper meets with no demand, 27c. to 28c. is the nominal quotation; Cassia Fistula, f.6½; Vanilla has not been dealt in of late; Preserved Ginger, 70c. to 72c.; Cassia Oil, f.2½; Gum Benjamin is slow of sale, and is quoted 85c. to 100c. according to quality; Gutta-percha does not attract any attention; Fine Batavia India-rubber would meet buyers at f.130; Gum Damar looks quiet, and fine quality is offered in the market at 37c.

HIDES.—Continue to meet ready buyers. Sales have been closed by secret tender, at full prices, of several important parcels ex Gutenberg, Catharina Maria, Concurrent, Oceana, Harwich, Californie, Imatra. The market closes firm.

TIN.—A dull tone prevails for this article, and prices have a downward tendency. Banco has sold for public sale prompt at f.76½, and has been offered since at f.76, whilst Billiton on warrants has changed hands at f.75½. There are sellers of Banca for delivery, ex the coming autumn sale, at f.74, and of Billiton on the spot at f.75½, and afloat at f.75.

TURMERIC.—Sales have been closed of 300 bags Java on the spot at f.7½.

SHIPPING.

ARRIVALS.—April 5, at Texel, from Batavia, Hollands Trouw; from Macassar, Catharina Elizabeth.

DEPARTURES.—April 6, from Brouwershaven, for Batavia, Philips van Marnix, Noach II.; for Singapore, Wilhelmina; from Texel, for Batavia, Antje, Bastiaan Pot (via Cardiff); 7, from Zierikzee, for Batavia, Catharina Maria; 8, from Texel, for Batavia, H.M.'s str. Vice-Admiral Koopman; 9, from Brouwershaven, for Batavia, Bezoekie; 10, from Brouwershaven, for Batavia, Ary Scheffer; 11, from Brouwershaven, for Samarang, Jonge Jan; 10, from Texel, for Macassar, Kobe; 11, from Texel, for Hong Kong, Singapore.

PASSENGERS OUTWARD.—For Java: per Philips van Marnix, Messrs. Schuurman and family, Megelink, van de Bly, Heldewig, Mrs. Moorland; per Ary Scheffer, Mr. Gumley and family, Mrs. Kooy and family, Miss van Drimmelen; per Catharina Maria, Messrs. Adelerhoff and family, J. F. Hekking, Nelissen and family, Miss Ahrens; per Bezoekie, Messrs. Schram and family, H. F. Dikhuis, J. van Duyn, J. J. Looye, J. F. den Hollander, H. B. H. Horsker; per Kobe, Mr. Mess.

RUSSIA AND THE FAR EAST.

We extract the following with reference to Russian commercial enterprise in the Far East from a Moscow correspondent's letter:—The restoration of Sebastopol to its natural position as the first of the Black Sea trading ports; the substitution of a direct communication by sea, via the Suez Canal, for the overland route to China; the connecting of the Black Sea ports with those of the Baltic, as well as with the great commercial centres of the interior, by a series of cross lines carried from one to the other of the great central railways; the establishment of a closer mercantile connection with Turkey and the Levant. Such are the main features of the vast commercial enterprise which has been inaugurated in Russia. Turkey is about to meet her neighbour half way, by starting on the Black Sea a line of steamers in direct correspondence with those of the Russian Navigation and Trading Company, as well as those of the Austrian Lloyd. Taken merely per se, this intelligence is highly gratifying. It shows that the spirit of Muscovite enterprise is fairly aroused at last. It clearly proves that Russia has sufficient courage and foresight to bear without desponding the progressive decay of her Asiatic commerce, and to look round, coolly and patiently, for some means of retrieving her losses. It portends the opening up of a hitherto neglected region, the tracing of a new line of Eastern traffic, the forming of a fresh link between Europe and Asia, the commencement of another chapter in the history of human enterprise and human perseverance.

Nor is Russia's scheme of establishing a great commercial ascendancy in the Far East by any means so chimerical as many are at present disposed to consider it. In India, it is true, where British commerce and British enterprise are foremost in the field from Dhawala Giri to Cape Comorin, Russia has little chance, but China offers to the Muscovite trader a harvest of gain which Nature herself has qualified him to reap in unstinted measure. Few men are better fitted than the Russian to win favour with the Chinese. Both have the same love of sharp dealing, the same sluggish, unwarlike temperament, the same childish superstition, the same jealousy of innovation and of foreign influence, nay, even the same mere animal love of gross pleasures, of eating fat substances, and drinking vast quantities of tea. Between two such races the bond of brotherhood is already formed, more especially as there exists no element of inbred pugnacity to mar it. The Chinese have a proverb, "How ti pu too ting—How jin pu too ping" (Of good iron one does not make a nail—Of a good man one does not make a soldier); and they are more inclined, both by nature and by traditional policy, to traffic with the "children of the Grecian Czar than to meet them in battle.

With a flourish of trumpets which has found an echo in a portion of the English press, the China newspapers have announced with applauding comments that the Bishop of Peking, acting as "a brave Christian gentleman" should, has refused to accept the "blood-money" offered by the Chinese Government for the murder of the missionaries at Tientsin. A translation of the bishop's letter to the French Minister, in which is contained this refusal, has been published in the Hong Kong papers. After having carefully perused it we are bound to remark that either his commentators have entirely mistaken the drift of the communication, or that the bishop has purchased a character for magnanimity at a very cheap rate. He begins by asserting his right "to demand that a determined line of action should be adopted, so that a solemn and durable guarantee may assure for the future [the tranquillity of our establishments;]" and to accomplish this end he proposes that a marble monument, with tiles of Imperial yellow, should be erected on the site of the massacre, bearing an inscription "reproaching and stigmatising the acts of the perpetrators and instigators of the massacre of June, and energetically denying the calumnies which are still allowed to fall on our mission and our Sisters of Charity." This being done, he will be willing to enter upon the indemnity question. The money offered by the Chinese Government is divided into two sums, one of 90,000 taels (about £30,000), as indemnity for the real loss sustained by the mission, and the other of 130,000 taels (about £43,000), as compensation for the murder of the victims. This first sum, the bishop says, "is believed by the public" to exceed the value of the loss sustained; and with candour he adds that "one of our own missionaries" has said that 50,000 or 60,000 taels would have been sufficient compensation. It was perhaps unnecessary to have mentioned these various estimates, but having done so we should have expected that the bishop would have brought forward some well-considered grounds for the contrary opinion which he holds. This he does not do, but appears to think that the minister should be satisfied with the following slightly illogical reasons:—"1st. This missionary was contradicted by all the rest." So far the weight of evidence is decidedly against the missionary; but, unfortunately for the bishop, he destroys the advantage thus gained in the very next sentence. "2nd. Can they estimate the value of things stolen?" he asked. If by this he implies that they cannot, then the "one" missionary is as likely to have been right as the rest of his brethren; and by the terms of his third reason the bishop unwittingly but fully confirms the views of the solitary. "Lastly," he says, "when we possessed influence and commanded respect we were then in a position to replace our loss with say Tls. 50,000 or Tls. 60,000; but now, resting as we do under the ban of the people (who are almost debarred from selling anything to us), it is impossible to replace our material losses except at double or triple the ordinary cost." But the bishop must either have forgotten that he had declared he would have nothing to say to money until the Imperial monument had been erected which was to restore his influence, or he implies that he has been in the habit of using his influence to obtain goods under their market value. The long and short of this part of the business is, however, that the bishop will be very glad to get the Tls. 90,000 as soon as the monument (which it is said has been promised) is erected.

In discussing the question of the second sum of Tls. 130,000 the bishop gives way to his indignation, and says that the mere idea of receiving this "price of blood" makes him shudder. "We will not accept this," he says, because "when missionaries or Sisters of Charity devote themselves to missions it is to give their labour, their service, their life—to give, not to sell." "Secondly. For our part, we will never authorise any dictum that threatens to become an axiom, even a political axiom, in China, to the effect that all European affairs can be arranged or settled financially." These reasons embody two admirable principles; and when we had reached this point in the bishop's letter we began to think how much nobler was the ground he had taken up than that occupied by the French and English Ministers, who had already accepted the money from the Chinese Government. But our admiration of the bishop's magnanimity was considerably reduced on finding that his third and last reason for not accepting the money was, that it had never been offered to him. "Thirdly," he says, "according to the terms of Prince Kung's despatch the sums allowed for the victims are to be divided among the families, &c. Concerning this price of blood, it does not concern me; it regards the families and the society of the victims, who have not charged me to represent them under such circumstances." Diverged, then, of all unnecessary verbiage, the bishop's letter is to the effect that he is anxious to get the Tls. 90,000, notwithstanding that the public and one of his own clergy consider the sum disproportionate to the loss sustained; and that since it was never contemplated to offer him the further sum, he will do without it.

THE TIENSIN DEBATE.

(GUARDIAN.)

Nine months ago a tragedy was enacted at Tientsin, on the Peiho river, leading up to the Imperial city of Peking, which would have filled all Europe with horror if Europe had not been already pre-engrossed at the moment when the information arrived with the fresh outbreak of the great Franco-German war. As it was, a sharp shock was felt and then forgotten. The startling incidents of the European conflict developed themselves so rapidly, and were evidently fraught with such tremendous and immediate consequences, that a few murders on the other side of the globe, the particulars of which only reached us by detachments and at distant intervals, failed to secure the attention which they deserved. Yet the incidents themselves were as atrocious as any in the Indian Mutiny. The scenes of Delhi and Cawnpore were acted over again at Tientsin. Men and women were murdered in the streets by a furious mob; the French Consul was cut to pieces in front of the residence of a high Chinese official, and almost under his very eyes; the Sisters of Mercy of a large Roman Catholic establishment were seized, stripped, mutilated, horribly murdered, and finally burnt to a heap of ashes in the flames of their own buildings, in which not a few Chinese victims also, orphans and converts, perished miserably. And all this was done in such a way as to produce an almost universal impression among the foreign residents that the mob was excited, directed, and controlled, by the gentry, mandarins, and high local authorities. Our Minister, Mr. Wade, acting under Lord Granville's express instruction, has loyally seconded M. de Rochechouart's representations to the Chinese Government, but that is all that we can do. We cannot act till France acts. But the conversation enabled Lord Carnarvon to raise the question of our general Chinese policy, and offered a welcome opportunity to the Duke of Somerset for a shot at the missionaries. Our Chinese policy consists in holding the central Government alone responsible for the misdeeds of its officers, and seeking reparation only at Peking, and not on the spot where the injury has been committed. This is, of course, the only proper way of dealing with a regularly constituted nation; but the Peking Government is unfortunately very far from answering to that description, and, as Lord Salisbury observed, there is imminent danger lest, "while the ideal policy was being carried out, horrible catastrophes might recur again and again." The Duke of Somerset had carefully extracted from the Blue-book the two or three passages, all taken from the letters of a single Consul, which alone throw some blame on missionary action, and found in these a complete vindication of the atrocities of Tientsin. "Was it surprising," he asked, "that the people should be easily excited, when they saw their ancient customs and religion attacked by the missionaries?" The answer to this is that it was not by any attack upon their customs and religion that they were excited, but by false reports, probably manufactured for the purpose, of kidnapping children. The universal testimony of travellers in China proves that the common people have not the smallest objection to missionary instruction. They are intelligent and inquisitive, and much interested in any new teaching. But the upper classes detest it. They see that it brings danger to their own authority by the introduction of new ideas, and they carefully foster the delusions which enable them now and then to turn the popular fury against it. That is the true explanation of the Tientsin massacre. It is an not an isolated act, but an indication of a state of feeling which, if it cannot be repressed, will probably yet lead to further troubles.

MISSIONARIES IN CHINA.

(TO THE EDITOR OF THE STANDARD.)

SIR,—I venture to hope that during the recess, your columns being somewhat less crowded than usual, you will allow me space for a few words on the subject of Protestant missions to China, a subject which has been presented to the public hitherto almost exclusively from a view hostile to those missions. They have been attacked relentlessly in the leading articles of a certain Liberal newspaper, and by numerous anonymous letters in the columns of the same journal, but no answer to these attacks has been allowed to see the light.

The truest words on this subject were uttered by Lord Salisbury and Carnarvon in the China debate three weeks ago, when they suggested that Protestant missionaries, from the supposition that they are weak in numbers and devoid of influential support at home and abroad, are made merely a convenient object for accusations which would light better on the heads of others.

Allow me in very brief recapitulation to notice these charges. I mention the more trifling accusations first.

Missionaries in China are gravely condemned by anonymous writers signing themselves "S." and "F." and so forth, with being "not gentlemen born." Then, if it be so, let the Christian gentlemen of England blush, and not the Christian men and women (for I must not call them ladies) who are gone to the front.

But these missionaries, whether gentlemen born or not, do not, as some assert, set themselves to revile and ridicule the dearest beliefs of the Chinese. The truest sympathy with their prejudices, and the highest appreciation of their ancient superstitions, may be united, as in St. Paul's case at Athens, and are I believe, united by most Protestant missionaries with the clearest exposure of the folly and sin of idolatry.

Young and opinionated missionaries are not, as is supposed, left to enforce their English ideas without control. They are met on their arrival and counselled and directed by older and more experienced men.

Protestant missionaries do not withdraw their converts from allegiance to the laws of their country. They never teach their converts to pray (as has been asserted) for Western emperors, kings, and potentates, as subjects for a sovereign. In the Church of England Mission, and I believe in all others, prayers for the Emperor of China and those in authority under him are offered as regularly as prayers for Her Majesty the Queen at home. The missionaries claim no protectorate over their converts—the Protestant missionaries I mean, for this right is notoriously exercised by the Jesuits. Chinese Christians are protected by treaty as distinctly as English merchants are allowed access to the treaty ports; and all that a missionary ever attempts is, through his consul, to draw the attention of the Chinese magistrates to cases of persecution and oppression, and to claim the rights guaranteed to them by treaty.

Protestant missionaries are charged with setting sister against brother, son against father, friend against friend; charged, too, by (I suppose) professing, though anonymous, Christians, who seem to be quite ignorant of such words as those uttered by the great founder of Christianity:—"I am come to set a man at variance against his father"—as though family disagreements were of more importance than a world in rebellion; or as long as there is friendliness and courtesy between man and man, and obedience to the devil, it matters little how men hate and disobey God.

Scarcely less wise and Christian is that entirely threadbare argument, that since a Buddhist or Mahometan preacher would not be tolerated in Cheapside, it is not fair to send Christian preachers to the bazaars of India and China, as if these three religions were of equal pretensions and authority.

Once more, it is not true that missionary difficulties have been the only ones of late years to disturb the amicable feeling between Chinese and Europeans. It is perfectly well known to all who have cared to study the subject, that at the time of the disturbances at Yangchow and in Formosa mercantile difficulties and outrages offered to merchants called for the action of the consuls as much as the assaults on mission premises. And is not the coolie traffic a mercantile difficulty? And is not the opium trade a mercantile question? The trade is legalised, I know; it increases daily I am aware; it is worth eight millions annually to the Indian Government all England can understand; but this legal narcotic has not, I fear, soothed or obliterated the irritation caused by the opium war. And the Tientsin massacre was, I believe, merely a sudden outburst of a long-cherished hatred against all foreigners, merchants, and missionaries alike.

It is, no doubt, a matter for grave doubt whether Christianity gains by rights extorted through war. But as cautious policy is the order of the day in dealing with China, I would merely suggest that it is extremely hazardous and impolitic to attempt to invalidate, either by newspapers, by anonymous letters, or in high debate, the rights guaranteed to missionaries by the treaty of Tientsin. These rights rest on exactly the same foundation as the rights of merchants; and Lord Granville must have spoken with less than his usual distinctness or with less than his usual caution, when he stated (if we may believe the reporters) that Protestant missionaries are less dangerous than Roman Catholics because "they have no treaty rights on which they rely." No special rights, he implied, no doubt, but the words were loose, and in another month's time they will be thus loosely rendered into Chinese, for the benefit of Chinese readers, and for the encouragement of Chinese anti-foreign speculators.—I remain, Sir, yours faithfully,

April 11.

THE CIVIL SERVICE ESTIMATES.

The Civil Service Estimates for the present financial year, which terminates on the 31st March, 1872, have been issued somewhat in advance of the customary period of publication. A glance at the total of the figures detailed shows that the aggregate of the estimates exhibits an increase of something over half a million sterling, the figures being £17,369,799 for the present year, against £16,851,644. The increased charges are, however, chiefly in connection with the Post Office Telegraphs and other Home departments, as with regard to the estimates in which our readers are chiefly interested, namely, those for the Consular and Diplomatic Services, the economical policy introduced last year, and carried out in almost every official department, is still pursued, and they show a decrease, which may be summed up in round numbers at £48,000; the actual reduction on the Consular Service being £42,454, and on the Diplomatic Service, £5,043. This decrease is considerable when we call to mind that last year's estimates showed a reduction upon those for 1869-70 of £72,655.

Turning to those figures which refer specially to China and the Far East, and commencing with the Diplomatic Service, we find a vote of £6,000 for the Minister Plenipotentiary in China, and one of £1,200 for the Secretary of Legation. As regards Japan, the figures present totals of £4,000 for the Minister, £900 for the Secretary of Legation, and £700 for the Japanese Secretary. In the case of these two establishments the estimates differ in no respect from those of last year.

We come next to the Consular Services, which, as regards China, exhibit the following figures:—Assistant Chinese Secretary, £600, assistant and accountant, £400, and surgeon, £600; these are the same as for last year. The Consuls' salaries and allowances amount to £11,700, divided thus:—Amoy, £900; Canton, £1,600; Chefoo, £900; Foochow, £1,300; Hankow, £1,000; Newchwang, £900; Ningpo, £900; Shanghai, £1,500; Swatow, £800; Taiwan, £800; and Tientsin, £900, with an additional allowance of £200; the total is £11,700, showing a decrease of £1,200, which is obtained by a reduction at Hankow of £300, and the omission of Kiukiang, which figured last year for £900. This is, however, partly counterbalanced by an increased charge of £700 for Vice Consuls, which posts are established at Canton and Kiukiang, and abolished at Tamsui (Formosa). The total under this head is £4,050, the details being Shanghai, Kiukiang and Whampoa each £750, Canton £700, Pagoda Island, Foochow, £600, and Taku £500; last year's estimate was £3,350. The remaining charges may be briefly summed up. Interpreters figure for £5,500, against £6,200—a decrease of £700; assistants for £6,900—the same as last year; writers or linguists for £2,506, against £2,812—a decrease of £306; teachers for student interpreters for £459; shipping clerk at Shanghai for £400, and student interpreters for £3,300, the three last named sums standing as in last year's Estimates. Passing on we find a small increase in the vote for the Supreme Court (for China and Japan), amounting to £25, the relative figures being £7,067 for this year and £7,932 for 1870-71, and a decrease of £239 in that for wages and allowances to gaolers, constables, coolies and others employed in the public service, which stands at £4,589, against £4,828 last year.

The estimated cost of the Consular Establishment in Japan is shown in the following figures:—First there is a sum of £500 for a Japanese interpreter and translator, and the same amount for the medical officer. The Consuls' salaries are Hiogo £1,000, Nagasaki £900, Neegata £800, Hakodadi £800, and Kanagawa £700. The last-named port is restored to the estimates after having been absent last year. The total charge for Consuls is £4,200, against £3,500. This is in fact an increase of £700, but it is exactly counterbalanced by a reduction to the same amount under the head of Vice-Consuls by the omission of Kanagawa, and a decrease at Yedo from £600 to £500, which together bring the total, including Osaka £600, to £1,100, against £1,800. There are some further small reductions:—Assistants and student interpreters figure for £4,000, against £4,500—decrease £500; writers for £484, against £647—decrease £163; and gaolers, constables, &c., for £2,072, against £2,274—decrease £202, while incidental expenses correspond with last year's estimate, and stand at £1,785.

The total reduction to be effected in the expenditure upon the Consular Service in China, Japan, and Siam can be readily appreciated from the following recapitulation of the figures as they appear in this and last year's estimates:—Salaries, allowances, and wages are charged £65,528, against £68,112—decrease £2,584; rent of Consular buildings, &c., £8,413, against £9,413—decrease £1,000; chapels and chaplains, £600, against £1,200—decrease £600. The following estimates are the same as those for last year:—Legation guards, £4,500; outfits and travelling expenses, £5,000; printing and stationery, £500; Postage, £600; prisons, £1,500; medical attendance, £1,100; relief of distressed British subjects, £250; and incidental expenses, £7,275. The total estimate this year for the Consular Service in the Far East is £95,266. The figures for 1870-71 were £99,450, consequently a reduction has been effected of £4,184.

THE POSITION IN CHINA.

It is satisfactory to be able to note the widely-extended interest in our relations with China which is daily evidenced by the number of articles on this hitherto unpopular subject which are now continually appearing in the leading reviews and magazines. In our present issue we give summaries of the last articles published in the Westminster Review and Fraser's Magazine, both of which will amply repay our readers' attention. In a subject so little understood it is but natural that some misapprehension should exist; but so long as their misapprehension is free from prejudice, it is desirable to encourage, rather than to repress, the inquiries of writers who appear to be open to conviction and fully convinced of the importance of the interests at stake. Our own opinions on the proper policy to be pursued in China have been so often enunciated, and are, moreover, so thoroughly in accordance with the views of the great bulk of our readers, that it would be superfluous to repeat them here. We therefore print the resumé of the articles under notice without any further comment than that which they will excite in the course of perusal. On the same principle we feel it to be needless to offer any remarks on the article which we reproduce from the Pall Mall Gazette. Our readers are well aware of the reasons that exist for this journal to encourage its friends by the repetition of statements which seem, though so often used, to have not yet accomplished their purpose. The writer cannot afford to be candid. "Others" (to slightly vary the satirist's couplet for the sake of an obvious truth)—

"To wit or judgment sometimes makes pretence,
The Pall Mall never deviates into sense."

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

WE understand that Sir WILLIAM HACKETT, who has been appointed temporarily to fill the post of Chief Justice at Singapore, vacated by Sir BENSON MAXWELL, will, for the present, discharge the duties of the Court at both Penang and Singapore. The Straits Association, who recommended at their last meeting an increase in the salary of the Judge—whoever may be appointed—has, we believe, been informed by Earl KIMBERLEY that such a course is calculated to rouse hopes of an increase in other departments, and to interfere with the exercise of that economy which the Colonial-office has endeavoured to carry out in the Straits Government, but that the recommendation should have his most careful consideration. In connection with the Singapore railway we may state that, owing to the delay of Sir HARRY ORD on the Continent, nothing further has been done, but it is now rumoured that the local Government are disposed to undertake the work in a similar way to the Ceylon railways. Mr. R. W. HULLETT proceeds by next mail to Singapore as head of the Raffles Institution. Mr. HULLETT has taken high University honours, and his appointment augurs well for the future of education in the Straits. The silence of late telegrams from Singapore on the subject of Chinese riots which had broken out when the last mail left leads us to hope that they have been quelled without any serious difficulty. The Right Rev. Bishop MACDOUGALL, whose illness some months since rendered necessary a stay of some length, has, we are glad to say, returned in greatly improved health. His Lordship has been recently on a confirmation tour for the Bishop of ELY.

THE JAVA BODE AND OURSELVES.

PERSONS who adopt the tu quoque argument are always liable to the suspicion of not having a very strong case of their own. The editor of the Java Bode is not an exception to this rule. But while we acknowledge the courtesy with which he describes our paper as generally deserving the position it enjoys in Java, we think that our contemporary must admit, in his turn, that we should do very little to maintain that position if we were to follow his example, and ignore the political advancement of our friends in the Netherland Indies. The Java Bode objects to an English newspaper speculating on Javanese politics, and triumphantly makes the allegation (in Dutch) that British India is the scene of greater abuses than Dutch Java, and that until these are remedied we had better keep our criticism of our neighbours to ourselves. We demur to both the positions which our contemporary takes up. We do not think that British India is worse governed than Java, and we believe that there is in its Government a far greater desire to inquire candidly into abuses, and rectify them, without consideration to persons, than has distinguished the recent administration of the Dutch colony. But, what is far more to the purpose, is, that, be the administration of British India ever so bad, it does not make the Government of Java any better. Two wrongs do not make a right, and, therefore, until the Java Bode attempts to show by fair argument that the state of things, which he is so resolutely bent on maintaining, should not be superseded by the reforms we have advocated, we shall continue to believe that the present condition of Java is not the acmé of perfection, which he would make it appear, and that the superior influence in the island, with which our contemporary credits us, is simply the result of the outspoken policy which it encourages us to persevere in, and which he may some day find it judicious to imitate.

THE German steamer Sedan, noticed in our last issue, is intended to run on the coast of China, and not on the direct route from Hamburg to China. The Sedan, like the China and Chukiang, which have been running for some time in China waters, will be under the management of Messrs. SIEMSEN and Co., of Hong Kong and Shanghai, and it is expected she will leave Hamburg, with a general cargo, about the 15th May, via Suez Canal. The Canton, which left London on the 6th inst., with a general cargo of about 2,000 tons, and the Hong Kong, to leave in May, will be consigned to Messrs. SIEMSEN and Co., and are intended to run on the direct line between Europe and China.

SIR HARRY and Lady PARKES have arrived in London from Japan. Sir HARRY and Lady ORD have also arrived in London from Singapore, via Brindisi. Sir HARRY has, we understand, been delayed in his transit through the Continent in searching for his son, Lieut. ORD, of the 93rd Regiment, who left London some months since, and has not been heard of; he has been struck off the Army List. Mr. HENRY ERNEST BULWER, C.M.G., lately Receiver-General of Trinidad and Administrator of the Government of Dominica, will succeed Mr. POPE-HENNESSY as Governor of Labuan.

WE understand that CHUNG HOW and suite remain inactive at Versailles, and that it is impossible, in the present distracted state of affairs, to get any appointment from M. THIERS for an investigation into the Tientsin affair.

ARRANGEMENTS have been made by Messrs. COLLINS, SMITH, and SON, of London, to despatch a vessel to Bangkok regularly every three months. The next will sail from London on the 30th inst.

Literature.

The Antipodes and Round the World. By Alice M. Frere (Mrs. Godfrey Clerk). London: Hatchards.—Our dear ideal of a travelling party who should produce a valuable and pleasant work, and a useful guide-book at the same time, would consist of a citizen of the world, who had read men as well as books, and an amiable well-informed woman of decidedly literary taste—though not quite so fastidious as the late Mrs. Trollope, nor so exalted and strong-minded as the present Miss Cobbe. Our travellers should have introductions to merchants, shopkeepers, and mechanics—or, at least, they should have the means of introducing themselves to those classes—as well as to consuls, artists, and men of science. Before setting out they should know something of the history and present condition of the various States through which they were to pass, and have made themselves acquainted with the experiences and impressions of their predecessors. They should journey leisurely, remaining for weeks at one station, and avoiding the "travelling English" as much as possible; mingle freely in the domestic circles and amusements of all ranks; and hear the preachers, visit the schools; and read the journals, and visit the amusements, addressed to the multitude. The travellers before us—for we cannot shut out from a large and valuable share in the present volume the accomplished father to whom the authoress has dedicated it, and in whose company the travels it describes were performed—have fulfilled all these conditions—except, perhaps, that they had not quite time enough at their disposal, or were not disposed to expend so much time as their readers could have wished, in the tour which was to conduct Sir Bartle Frere back to his native land after lengthened and distinguished public service in India, the last term of which was passed as Lieutenant Governor of Bombay. It fell to the lot of Sir Bartle Frere to attain, comparatively early in life, to a high place in the regard of the public of India—Europeans and natives alike—not more by reason of great administrative abilities than from the candour and high-mindedness which marked his public career, and the amiability, liberality, and sympathy with progress apparent in his intercourse with general society. The appearance of the present charming volume, the work of his daughter and companion, and a young lady evidently imbued with many of her father's highest characteristics, affords one more illustration of the benefits that result from the observation which the refined and accomplished female mind brings to bear upon phases of life entirely new, yet always certain of exciting its sympathy. Mrs. Clerk's travels include Australia, New Zealand, Ceylon, China, Japan, and California. Her accounts of all these countries are clear, definite, vivid, and kindly. Her style is never either affected or languid, and the scenes and incidents she describes are often interspersed with quiet, spontaneous, and perfectly unlaboured reflections. Witness this contrast:—

"The Chinese seem an essentially unprogressive, and hence, necessarily, a retrogressive, race; they have no ambition, no originality, but are perfectly content to live on upon the traditions of their forefathers, and think them perfection. The Japanese are exactly the reverse; there is nothing they see of good or expedient belonging to those nations who have effected a footing in the country that they do not adopt."

We know how true this is, but it is truth which is not only well expressed, but evidently keenly felt; and when we read it we are forcibly reminded of the humane and enlightened endeavours initiated by Sir Bartle and Lady Frere, some seven or eight years ago, to ameliorate the condition of the women of India by inviting their native visitors to bring their wives with them to Government-house on certain stated occasions, when great pains were taken to gratify those who accepted the invitation. Still in the prime of life and the full vigour of intellect, it requires only the appointment of Sir Bartle Frere to the Viceroyalty to make him the most popular Governor-General since Lord Dalhousie. The elevation of Lord Lawrence, who was formerly Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, to the Governor-Generalship of India is a precedent which it only requires ambition on the part of Sir Bartle Frere to repeat and rival. But this is digressing. We must not forget that we are, for the moment at least, critics, and not political or social reformers; and therefore, having ourselves, with much interest and delight, accompanied (by the fireside) Mrs. Clerk in her various excursions among the lonely uplands, the pastoral valleys, the busy towns, and the magnificent scenery that she so well describes, we sit down to recommend the same refreshing and invigorating ramble to other fireside travellers, as one of the most novel and inviting that has lately been laid open. The only uncharitable sentiment with which readers can rise from the perusal of this delightful volume may be a small tinge of envy that they have not been the writer's real companions amid the wild and picturesque regions which she has explored; but even this will be accompanied, in the minds of very many fireside travellers, by genuine admiration of the courage and perseverance of a young lady who could travel so long and so far, among such strange and trying scenes, without allowing her pen to betray in any of the accounts of her adventures the least sign of weariness or discontent. The small annoyances inseparable from travelling in strange lands seem to have been as little regarded by the fair author as the more serious risks to which she was sometimes exposed. Her father's valet did not take these adventures so philosophically. Mrs. Clerk says, "It was most amusing to see Lucien's face as we arrived at the various degrees of rough, rougher, and roughest, inns on our road." This reminds us of Byron's servant, Fletcher, who could not live without his tea, and whom his master found it a much harder matter to accommodate than to provide for his own simple wants. We should not omit to mention that the volume is gracefully illustrated, not only by some excellent engravings, but by numberless graphic little sketches, which argue an equal readiness with pencil as with pen.

In a volume written so rapidly, and not originally intended for publication, it would indeed be surprising if there were not occasional oversights. We are only astonished that there should be so few; and we notice one or two, not in any captious spirit, but only to give the author the opportunity of correcting them, if she sees fit, in a future edition—for we fully expect the book will become a standard work. Thus, in speaking of Shanghai, Mrs. Clerk says, "Of all the places I know, where scandal and gossip are rife, this seems the very worst." The young author's experience of "places where scandal and gossip are rife" is probably not very extensive; but her Indian recollections may perhaps remind her that every station in that favoured land enjoys this special distinction in the minds of those who live in it. Again, with such long experience of India, we are rather surprised to see Mrs. Clerk describing the persons whom she visited by their initials only —as Mr. R., Mr. and Mrs. K., and Mona. G. This thin veil of mystery is by no means complimentary, and, indeed, has the appearance of being in bad taste; while it is perfectly useless, since, as the author must be aware, every person of the least importance is very well known, and therefore easily recognisable, in every tropical station. These are trifling matters. There is one remark of Mrs. Clerk's, however, which seems to have been made under some misapprehension. She says:—

"Hong Kong itself would probably be without a resident chaplain, did it depend upon Government, or the inhabitants of the place to provide for his support. While we were at Hong Kong, the Bishop (who is paid by a benevolent lady in England) was away. The community was therefore entirely dependent for church services upon a chance chaplain belonging to some man-of-war, or a stray missionary passing through."

Now the facts are these, both Bishop Smith and Dr. Irwin had either resigned or were on the eve of resigning office in 1865-6, and, that being so, the responsibility of appointing another bishop and chaplain rested entirely with the Colonial-office; and it is a fact that more than a year was allowed to elapse after they had actually resigned before either office was filled up. The community cannot, however, in any case be made to bear the blame of this neglect, for it has no voice in the matter; and the naval and military chaplains cannot fairly be denominated "chance" persons in any sense, because for many years it has been the custom, both in the War-office and the Admiralty, to send a chaplain to take charge of their respective departments in Hong Kong. We have no doubt that Mr. Wilson kindly performed the duties of colonial chaplain during the two years that he held the acting appointment.

THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW ON CHINA.

In an article entitled "France, the Jesuits, and the Tientsin Massacre," a writer in the Westminster Review (evidently a resident in China) says that the pretensions of France in China are so baseless that nothing but its unscrupulous intermeddling gives it an excuse for the position it arrogates to itself. The Continent of Europe is set down in the returns of foreign trade for little more than three per cent. of the exports and imports of China, while Great Britain and its dependencies monopolise no less than eighty-six per cent. of the trade:—

"Yet, sharing with Hamburg about three per cent. of the foreign trade, and without merchants, France maintains an external show that cannot fail to impress the beholder. At Shanghai it has a settlement of its own, while all the other Treaty Powers are content to co-operate in maintaining a single self-governing Municipality. And for what purpose has this settlement been maintained? For nothing that we can divine but to minister to the prestige of Imperial France."

"The protection of Roman Catholic missions is the central and almost the sole object of French policy in China. Conscious of the absence of commercial interests, which the Chinese acknowledge as a legitimate source of influence, they are compelled to find in their protectorate of missions the lever of the political power which they desire to exercise."

"To the materialistic mind of the Chinese the presence of the French in China is almost incomprehensible. They perfectly comprehend the commercial motives that induce men to go abroad, and therefore the raison d'être of the presence of Englishmen, Americans, and Germans is self-evident to them. But they naturally ask why the French, who have little or no commerce, should come amongst them unbidden, to domineer over them, to stir up strife, and to bring trouble and danger on the Empire. Religion does not appeal to either their senses or their faculties, and totally indifferent to it, or not dreaming of the existence of, or need for, the highest truths embodied therein, the Chinese people do not regard the Roman Catholic missions with a very friendly eye."

"The truth is, the genuine inspiration of the founders of the Society of Jesus has long since become extinct, although the wheels of the ponderous organisation still roll on. Nowhere is the decadence of their external power and their mental activity so conspicuous as in China. But while the Romish missionaries exhibit a barren record so far as literary achievements are concerned, and are probably more powerfully influenced by the intense persistency of the Chinese system than the Chinese are by a routine adherence to religious forms that are wanting in vitality, the Protestant missionaries of Great Britain and the United States have, for the last thirty years, stood out in brilliant contrast by their achievements in Chinese literature and their contributions to a knowledge of the Empire and its people. Of the results of missionary labour, so far as the dissemination of religious views is concerned, we forbear to speak in this place; but of the literary and linguistic labours of such men as Marshman, Morrison, Medhurst, Bridgman, Williams, Wylie, Legge, and Edkins we cannot speak too highly. While the Roman Catholics seem to be exhausted, and to have passed into the stationary stage, like the Chinese themselves, the enterprising spirit of Protestant missionaries continues in undiminished activity. Dr. Williams has almost completed the manuscript of an extensive dictionary; Mr. Wylie is again on his way to China, after a visit to Europe, with a view of making translations into Chinese; Dr. Legge has just returned to Hong Kong to complete his valuable edition in Chinese and English of the Chinese classics; and Mr. Edkins is engaged on a work on the early literature of China and the languages of the surrounding tribes. The spirit of travel in pursuit of their missionary labours is also one of their characteristics, and Mr. Williamson, who has travelled more extensively than perhaps any other foreigner, has just given the world the benefit of his observation."

"We have thus endeavoured to show that French commercial interests in China are quite insignificant, and that the Government of Imperial France, thirsting after political prestige in the East, in order that it might the better impose itself on the French nation, undertook the protectorate of Roman Catholic missions and their Chinese converts. This unwarrantable interference with the internal polity of China it sustained by what, for want of a softer or more ambiguous word, we may term violence; and the spectacle exhibited has been that of a Church breathing the spirit of the Middle Ages, with little more capacity for initiating progress than the Chinese system itself, fomenting internal discord and sowing the seeds of disaffection, grasping at every shred of power with an ambition which has none of the ability of its originators, but all the insatiable greed of a degenerate priesthood."

We need not repeat the particulars of the massacre of the 21st June, but it is important to quote the Reviewer's conviction with regard to Chung How and his part in the outrage:—

"It must be understood that Chung How was not a territorial mandarin at all, but resided at Tientsin solely in virtue of his being superintendent of foreign trade at the three northern ports. He has been called Governor of Tientsin; on an important occasion he was described as Governor of Chihli (the metropolitan province in which Tientsin is situated), and therefore as being responsible for the events of the 21st June. But he was neither Governor of Tientsin (the post itself being a purely imaginary one) nor was he Governor of Chihli; but in consequence of his holding much higher official rank than any of the Tientsin officials, he was in a position to exercise considerable influence, and immediately after the massacre he assumed full control for the time being. Tseng-kwo-Fan, Governor-General of Chihli, residing at Pauting-foo, the provincial capital, about 120 miles from Tientsin, was the direct superior of the Tientsin officials, and undue interference on the part of Chung How would have been resented by him. If further evidence were needed of the position of Chung How relatively to the other officials, it would be found in the first Imperial edict issued at Peking after receipt of news of the massacre. It says:—'Chung How, as Superintendent of Trade, having failed to maintain peace in his district, the Taoutai Chow-chia-hün, as chief local official, not having adopted proper precautionary measures, the Chefoo, Chwang-kwang-tsan and the Chih-ksien, Liu-chie, through mismanagement having brought about so great a catastrophe,' &c. From this it is evident that the Taoutai was the chief local official, while Chung How is blamed for failing to maintain peace in his district. In all the excitement it is strange that not one word has been said in the local press against the Taoutai, although he was the chief territorial official. We have thought it due to those Chinese officials who are known to be favourable to foreigners thus to vindicate Chung How from the fierce and unfounded clamour that has been demanding that he should be punished; and we cannot but express our profound regret that the foreign communities, in opposition to the Ministers who have investigated the matter and found the guilty officials in the Prefect and District Magistrate, should have persisted, in face of the facts and the probabilities, in denouncing Chung How, the mandarin who has come most into contact with foreigners, and who has rendered himself more unpopular amongst his own countrymen on account of his relations with foreigners than any other official. He might well have felt certain that foreigners, towards whom he had shown ten years of unintermitted friendship, would be very unwilling to harbour suspicions against him without the most convincing proof; and we cannot but think that the foreign communities fell short of their duty in the midst of this semi-civilised people, when, in the moment of Chung How's difficulty, they did not encourage him in his foreign proclivities by assuring him that they could not believe him to be implicated with the abettors of the massacre. But less fortunate has been Chung How's lot. Denounced by his countrymen, and punishment of him loudly demanded by foreigners, his career is a warning to those mandarins who leave the traditional path of hostility to foreigners and attempt the narrow and difficult way of friendship, which in this case has well nigh led to destruction."

Three days after the massacre the Foreign Ministers at Peking addressed a joint note to Prince Kung, the Chief of the Foreign Board, informing him of the abhorrence in which they held the outrage, and strenuously impressing on him that it was the duty of the Chinese Government to punish the guilty, and take the fullest precautions for the safety of foreigners:—

"The members of the Foreign Board were in a state of great alarm, and exhibited towards the legations a very submissive spirit until they learned that France had sustained a series of defeats in the war with Prussia. Then their fears seemed somewhat to subside, and they assumed a much less deferential attitude. On the other hand, Count Rochechouart acted in the most independent manner, so far as the other Ministers were concerned, until he became aware of the serious nature of the French reverses. Matters remained in an undecided state until the end of September or beginning of October, although a considerable amount of verbal communication had taken place between the Ministers and the mandarins. At length, however, the Foreign Board decided on the terms they were prepared to offer; and it would appear that Count Rochechouart, on being informed of the proposed conditions of settlement, refused to accept them, but intimated that he intended consulting his colleagues, and that from them would come a reply containing the reasons for refusal. The fall of the French Emperor had placed the Count in such a powerless position that there was no other course left to him than, to appeal to the other Ministers to support him. Dissatisfied with his previous erratic conduct, to which they attributed much of the delay that had occurred in bringing matters to a close, and displeased at his having compromised them with the Foreign Board, in promising that they would reply on matters that he had up till that time conducted entirely himself, the Ministers did, nevertheless, agree to address a joint note, protesting against the terms, although they were not all induced to do so without difficulty. We should here state that the terms were explained verbally to the other Ministers by Count Rochechouart, and that they did not ask him to put them in writing, but reluctantly fulfilled his promise to the Foreign Board by protesting. The next intelligence that the Ministers received from Prince Kung was to the effect that the Count had accepted the terms, virtually the same terms against which they had protested. The effect of this on those who signed the joint note may be imagined, when it is stated that they were not consulted in the matter, and that without the slightest intimation to his colleagues Count Rochechouart suddenly left Peking, and proceeded to Tientsin, without one single word of explanation of his extraordinary conduct."

The Reviewer reminds us that he had on a previous occasion criticised the China policy of the British Government in accepting, against all evidence, the assurances of Mr. Burlingame as to the friendliness of the Chinese, their spontaneous desire for progress, and the ability and willingness of the Peking Government to grant redress in the provinces:—

"By the adoption of a lenient and deferential policy Lord Clarendon felt certain that at length he had made wars with China impossible, whereas we endeavoured to show that he had increased the danger of their occurrence. It is so universally admitted that his views were erroneous that it is unnecessary to do more than refer to a few salient points. China, in his estimation, had entered the comity of nations, and it appeared as if semi-civilisation had run 'all its allotted length of days.' Events have proved otherwise, and therefore our China policy must be framed so as to meet the exceptional conditions which beyond all doubt exist. Two views present themselves to our notice as marking the limits of possible action, and in one of these, or between them, must be found the course that the British Government ought to pursue. The one is, that the Treaty Powers should jointly interfere and impose upon China such a system of rule as may seem to them best suited for the requirements of its political institutions and for the wants of its people. The other is, that the Treaty Powers having come to China for commercial purposes, and having concluded certain treaties by force of arms which provide for such an interchange of the products of the respective countries as is beneficial to both, and which guarantee the safety of the persons and property of foreigners, it is the duty of the foreign Governments actively to exert such an amount of intervention as will secure the observance of the treaties. As it is impossible for us to abandon China, and as our exceptional position demands exceptional action, absolute non-intervention lies altogether out of the field of discussion. On the other hand, any attempt at conquest or partition, so long as the Empire holds so well together as it does, is out of the question; and as each Treaty Power possesses rights extending nominally to every part of China, which would be infringed if any of the Powers took forcible possession of any section of it, these treaties are in reality the best guarantee for the maintenance of the integrity of China, so far as foreigners are concerned. There is much debatable ground lying between the two canons of policy that we have stated above, but we cannot find space to dwell upon the discussion. Deeply convinced, however, of the importance of non-intervention when the circumstances clearly admit of such a course, we are of opinion that the true policy of Great Britain lies in the minimum of intervention consistent with the faithful observance of treaty provisions."

"What, then, is this minimum of intervention which will enable us to avoid political combinations which would be prejudicial to foreign interests and disastrous to the Chinese? The experience of the last ten years demonstrates that no elaborate scheme is necessary to meet the exigencies of the situation, and the comparative success which was witnessed up till the last two years is the best proof that no fundamental change of policy is necessary. We must treat the Chinese as a semi-civilised people, totally wanting in the capacity to comprehend the exactness and strictness of the fiscal systems of the West, corrupt and rapacious in their administration, and unable to rise to a proper conception of their Treaty obligations. It is unfortunate that there should be nations of such low organisation on the earth, but when we are dealing with such we are bound to proceed upon the basis of their mental, moral, and political inferiority. Experience teaches us to expect that the Chinese will evade to a greater or less extent the fulfilment of Treaty stipulations, and impose unauthorised fiscal exactions on our trade."

The Reviewer sums up his convictions in a masterly style, and we have pleasure in noticing a difference in the opinions of the writer as compared with last year:—

"The Chinese must be made to feel that they can only purchase immunity from exceptional interference by the most scrupulous fulfilment of the Treaty. Hitherto frequent immunity has given encouragement to evasion, and led to laxity of conduct on the part of the provincial officials. But if we insist on the faithful observance of Treaty provisions it will have an important political effect on the Chinese. It is perfectly well known that the great body of the Peking officials are hostile to foreigners, and that Prince Kung and Wen-hsiang contend with difficulty against the unfriendly clamours of their ignorant and prejudiced fellow-mandarins. Now, the British Government, pursuing a policy based on a theory and not on the facts, generously concluded that the greatest forbearance ought to be shown to the Chinese; and the natural result of this course has been to weaken the hands of those high officials favourable to foreigners, and to strengthen those of our enemies. And the reason of this is obvious. The officials who oppose us belong to the old Tory type, and can only comprehend their own immense superiority and that of their country; so that for the foreign Powers to be lenient and submissive to them is to confirm their idea of our insignificance and their importance, of our weakness and their strength. So long as our Minister assumes the attitude of being prepared to enforce his Treaty rights Prince Kung and Wen-hsiang are able to point their hostile colleagues to the fact that the Minister refuses to be 'soothed,' and thus they are able to maintain their friendly position by showing the danger of refusing reasonable redress. On the other hand, if our Minister is careless of his office, and not exacting in the matter of Treaty rights, the hostile officials naturally demand of Prince Kung why they should exhibit towards the foreign Ministers deference and submission which are unnecessary because the latter are not prepared to proceed to extremities. If, therefore, we would strengthen the hands of those least unfavourable to foreign intercourse, we must bring home to the unfriendly mandarins at the capital the imperative conviction that no trifling or evasion will be permitted. This important point being secured, the effect of vigorous insistence on our rights will be to temper and modify in some measure the views of the whole provincial official hierarchy, who are more or less directly in relations with their stubborn and hostile leaders in the metropolis. To withhold this pressure from the Foreign Board is to place our position in China at the mercy of inimical officials, and to render untenable the attitude of the two or three Chinese at Peking who in some degree understand the bearings of their foreign relations.

"In order, however, that the management of all exceptional matters affecting British interests may as far as possible be concentrated in the hands of the Ministers, it is indispensable that Peking should be placed in telegraphic communication with the open ports; and in order that the British Government may be able to give prompt authorisation to exceptional measures for obtaining redress Peking should be in telegraphic communication with London. With telegraphic lines approaching completion from Shanghai to Europe both by India and by Siberia, all that remains is to insist upon the Chinese granting permission to connect Peking with Shanghai, and then the chain will be complete that is necessary to bring our Government face to face with complications in China, hour by hour if necessary. With a vigorous policy which insists upon the inviolability of our Treaty rights, and which tends towards the development of improved commercial relations and ampler foreign intercourse, and with the telegraph from Peking round the seaboard of China to Europe, we should have within our reach the conditions of a much more satisfactory policy than has hitherto been possible."

CHINESE STATESMEN AND STATE PAPERS.

Fraser's Magazine for April contains the sequel of the article on this subject, which was noticed in these columns at the time of its publication. In his present paper the writer refers to the splenetic rage of the Chinese functionaries at the propositions of the Yamen to establish a foreign college at Peking, and to send a diplomatic mission to Europe, and, he adds, it is impossible not to be struck with the ominous conjunction of an aged preceptor of this stamp and a youth under fifteen for his pupil, when that pupil is to be the future ruler of China:—

When we think how much an Emperor of China might do for his people if he were himself both honest and enlightened, we cannot help wishing it might have been possible to place some high-minded and liberal European—one or more—in charge of the young Emperor while his mind was yet fresh, and the power of acquiring new ideas and impressions, both of men and things, in its greatest vigour. It is sad to think how different might have been the result from anything that can now be hoped for. But in this, as in most other schemes or wishes for the advancement of this vast Empire in the path of civilisation, the selfish rivalries and jealousies of European Powers would have created almost insuperable obstacles, had no other been interposed. France, with its aspirations after power and influence, if not territory, in the East, would never have consented to see an Englishman placed as tutor to the Emperor without insisting upon having a French subject in the same position. Russia would scarcely have allowed its two great Western antagonists in Turkey to gain possession of the mind of the future ruler of four hundred millions of Chinese. Even if France were not the protector of all Roman Catholic missions, and the active abettor of an Ultramontanist which, in China, as elsewhere, is constantly threatening encroachments on the power of the State, the difficulty would be insurmountable. Russia has not only a large commerce and material interests in China, which France is wholly without, but would be little likely, with a vast co-terminous border, and possible territorial views of aggrandisement, to see Frenchmen monopolising in the mind of the future sovereign. The Russian Government have not yet brought to bear any proselytising influences in working out their policy. But the Imperial head of the Greek Church in Russia could scarcely be expected to see with indifference the rival Church of Rome acquire any vantage ground for future influence. The difficulty of imparting a good secular education to the young scion of the Manchu dynasty would in any case have been extremely great. Religious and sectarian differences, mingling with political ambitions, made the difficulty an impossibility. An Englishman, as representing a Protestant Church as well as a Protestant Power, would be held equally objectionable by the Latin and Greek ecclesiæ. Under these conditions of national susceptibility and rivalries, secular and religious, the hopelessness of any scheme for giving instruction of European character to the young Prince is self-evident.

The State papers show with what animus all missionary labours in China are regarded by the officials. But the writer before us thinks the missionaries mistaken in assuming that they are objects of hatred merely as foreigners, and not especially as missionaries, and equally so in believing that, even granting some of the hostility is directed against missionaries as a body, those of the Protestant faith are exempted. After referring to the "Death-blow to Corrupt Doctrines," already noticed in these columns, the writer proceeds:—

When we are advised to hold the Chinese Government responsible for such publications as these—bound to suppress, and liable for the consequences of their circulation—a difficulty presents itself. If, as we are persuaded, much of what is here charged against the missionaries is fully believed by the bulk of the nation—literate and illiterate—it is not a light task that would be imposed on the Chinese Government. It may safely be asserted that it is one far beyond the power of the existing rulers of China pending the minority of the Emperor. When we reflect therefore that this book, and it is a voluminous work, was published in the original Chinese at Jao-chow in Kiangsi, the province in which within the last few months two Roman Catholic chapels have been destroyed—that it is the carefully prepared compilation of a lettered man, some one of first class literary abilities, as we are assured by those best competent from their knowledge of Chinese composition, to speak with authority, that the writer gives a list of one hundred native works that he has consulted—and that it is professedly published by the "gentry and people," as the title page ostentatiously sets forth, and is mainly distributed by officials, it is impossible to misunderstand either the gravity or the significance of such a combination. If such works can be widely circulated and fully believed, we entirely concur with those who think that the maintenance of friendly relations with the Chinese people, and the continued prosecution of missionary labours, are two things which can never be combined by any diplomatic efforts.

How are Governments to deal with such a state of the national mind. "Teach them better," we are told. "Educate the Chinese, and let missionaries labour more and more persistently in the interior to disabuse them of their errors:—

Certainly let steps be taken to disabuse them of error—but what steps? There lies the difficulty, and the real question of the hour. The Chinese must be educated, and as they gain knowledge—secular knowledge of men and things—they will either cease to be superstitious, or become less liable to be deceived by its grosser forms. . . . If religion in the hands of foreigners could ever cease to be regarded as a political instrument for political ends, one element of jealousy and distrust in the minds of the governing classes could be eliminated. Christianity as a religion, apart from all political interference, might then by degrees obtain free play and a fair field, with little of official hostility or popular hatred to contend against; beyond such as all innovation or established creeds and customs must be naturally expected to excite, even under the most discreet and judicious management on the part of the innovators.

Into these last sentences the writer before us seems to have compressed the "moral" of his arguments. To our mind they appear to exaggerate the difficulty of the situation, without suggesting any practical solution of it. It will be observed that the writer puts out of view the Treaty rights, which it cost us so much to secure, throughout the inquiry, which he commenced apparently without a conviction and closes without a result.

Monetary and Commercial.

The custom of tea freights in China is very rationally argued by a correspondent whose letter appears in our last issue. The writer is perfectly correct in defending the China merchants from the attacks of shipowners. The system may have its weak points, but on the whole it certainly operates in favour of the owner. It is, however, a fact capable of easy proof that merchants, as a rule, rather err on the side of liberality in dealing with captains and owners of vessels consigned to them, and on the whole lose more than the commission derived from this branch of business. Indeed many firms refuse the consignment of vessels in toto. We would only suggest one alteration, and that is, that if a shipper requires his bill of lading delivered before the vessel has completed her loading, that no claim for a reduction should afterwards hold good; once the bill of lading is signed and delivered, the rate of freight therein named should be final.

The report of the Oriental Bank, to be presented on the 20th inst., shows a profit of £190,096. The dividend, at the rate of 12 per cent., absorbs £180,000. Mr. Blyth and Mr. Walkinshaw offer themselves for re-election on the board of directors. The liabilities to the public stand at £17,905,481; the assets are £20,001,520. The death is announced of Mr. James Walker, deputy-chairman of the Corporation, and one of the directors of the Union Bank of London.

The report of the directors of the Chartered Bank of India, to be presented at the meeting on the 19th, states that no dividend can be announced, and that after allowing for the profits made there is a deficiency of £59,022 to be carried forward. This sum is equal to about 7½ per cent. on the capital. This is of course extremely unsatisfactory, but we are glad to find that the directors have at all events the courage to discharge their duty and state the worst. Mr. Ludwig Wiese, late of Hong Hong, has been selected as a director. Indian and China banking has come to such a pass now that the whole system of conducting these establishments must be remodelled. They are certainly leaving no adequate return for the shareholders.

The meeting of the Chartered Mercantile Bank is to be held on the 18th; the report was given in our last.

An interim report of the British Indian Submarine Telegraph Company (Limited) states the receipts for the six months ending March 31 to have been £41,310. The receipts in October, December, and January averaged less than £5,000 per month, owing to interruptions in the communication, but the earnings in November and February, with interruptions of three and eleven days respectively, were nearly £7,500, while last month they amounted to £11,901, "proving that with an uninterrupted line and the present tariff, the prospects of the company may be considered favourable." In future the receipts will be published monthly, and it is proposed to pay an interim dividend in July next for the half-year just closed.

The report of the Falmouth, Gibraltar, and Malta Telegraph Company states that the interruption which occurred in the Lisbon and Gibraltar section in November last deprived the company of a considerable amount of revenue. The receipts for the past half-year would have allowed an interim dividend at the rate of 5 per cent., but this balance, with some portion of the current receipts, will be temporarily required for the purpose of laying an alternative line from Gibraltar to the mouth of the Guadina River, which will require about 150 miles of cable.

The directors of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company have notified that they have decided to recommend at the meeting on the 26th inst. a distribution of £4 per share, including dividend and bonus, for the half-year ended the 31st of December last.

We hear that the Sydenham, from Shanghai, has on board some of the compound known as "Maloo mixture," and the analytical chemists will be on the look-out for her arrival, which, we trust, will lead to a confiscation.

Messrs. Robertson and Co., shipbrokers, of Newman's-court Cornhill, London, have established an agency in Liverpool.

Messrs. Clarke, Spence, and Co. have been appointed Lloyd's agents at Galle.

In consequence of a demand for China, some amount of Mexican dollars of the old coinage, including those just arrived, ex Caribbean, have been disposed of at 59½d., showing an advance of ½d. per ounce since the beginning of the week.

BOARD OF TRADE RETURNS.

The Board of Trade returns for March have been issued. They show, on the whole, very favourable results. The declared value of exports of English and Irish produce in that month was £20,074,600, against £17,300,210 in March, 1870, and £15,697,465 in March, 1869. The increase has been distributed over most of the leading items, the principal improvement, however, being in textile fabrics. The following are the articles that show an augmentation: alkali, apparel, arms and ammunition, cotton yarn, 17 per cent. in value; cotton manufactures, 11 per cent. in value; earthenware, haberdashery, iron and steel, jute manufactures, lead, leather, linen yarn, machinery, silk manufactures, almost 100 per cent.; woollen yarn, woollen and worsted manufactures, 25 per cent. in value, and unenumerated articles. There is a falling-off in beer, coals, copper, hardware, linen manufactures, telegraphic wire, and tin. Among the imports the principal changes are a considerable decrease in wheat, Indian corn, and flour, but an increase in barley and oats. The quantity of cotton is double that received in the corresponding month of 1870, the excess being almost entirely from the United States. The consumption of duty-paying articles was in nearly every case larger than in the corresponding period last year; cocoa, coffee, fruit, sugar, tea, tobacco, and wine exhibiting a marked increase. The bonded warehouse account shows that, of the articles in hand on the 31st ult., the quantities of cocoa, coffee, spirits, and wine were heavier than on the 31st March, 1870, while the stocks of fruit, sugar, tea, and tobacco showed a decided reduction.

The following is an extract from these Returns of those figures which relate to our Export trade with China and other countries in the Far East:—

ARTICLES OF IMPORT.

During a considerable portion of the week which has elapsed since the publication of our last report the Produce Markets have been closed for the Easter holidays; business has consequently been for several days suspended, and has not yet been resumed to any great extent. Prices for nearly all articles of import exhibit, as a rule, little or no change from those current previous to the holidays.

TEA.

The market re-opened on the 12th inst. after the Easter holidays with a quiet tone, the inquiry from the home trade being moderate, and only for immediate requirements, but a rather better demand has prevailed for export, without leading to important business. The holidays have stopped business to any extent; the few sales that have transpired are of Teas ex Fairleader, from Canton; Tayshan (new make) Congou, at 1s. 1d. to 1s. 2d. per lb.; Seented Orange Pekoe at 1s. 1½d. to 1s. 3d. per lb.; Caper, from 1s. 1d. to 1s. 4d. per lb. being prices fully up to those previously ruling.

The following is from Mr. W. E. Rowlinson's Tea Circular:—A sale of China Tea took place on the 12th inst. at Rotterdam, comprising 8,390 packages, of which 1,722 chests and 4,952 half-chests Kaisow sold at prices that may be quoted slightly easier:—334, chests, 867 half-chests, and 69 boxes Souchong brought good prices, the quality being fair Lapseng, and going at prices varying from 1s. 8d. to 1s. 11d., a small break of 85 half-chests realising 2s. 1d., and one of 69 boxes as high as 2s. 4d.; these prices must be satisfactory to the importers; 346 packages Flowery Pekoe rather disappointed the selling brokers, realising from 2s. 3d. to 3s.; one break of 60 chests, however, brought 3s. 6d., which I consider a very good price. The 2,674 packages Java Tea that were offered at the same time show an advance of 1½d. per lb. on last sales, and in a few instances the Malty Nan-goeng and Tendiolaja Plantations realised 2d. per lb. above last quotations; this is to be accounted for in consequence of the high price of Assams.

SILK.

The holidays have tended to increase the quietude ruling in the market, and as one or two importers have met the market, a general lower range of quotations has been made, fair market Tsatlee having been sold at 24s. 6d. Red Peacocks are quoted 25s. 3d. to 25s. 6d.; Chop thirds, 28s. 6d. The deliveries are fairly satisfactory. Japans continue as neglected as ever. It is reported that good cocoons of the new European crop can be purchased at f.4.50 per kilogramme.

COFFEE.

The occurrence of the Easter holidays has not tended to improve the market, which has maintained an inactive tone since last mail. Only one public sale has been held, and privately the transactions have been limited in extent; the only private sales reported are of small lots Plantation Ceylon at about the prices quoted in our last report, and of 300 bags native at 55s. to 55s. 6d. per cwt. The first public sales since the holidays, held on the 13th, were moderate, consisting of Plantation kinds, and went off without competition at steady rates; 106 casks 15 tierces 53 barrels 116 bags Plantation Ceylon sold, triage 50s. to 53s., small 56s. to 60s., low middling to middling greyish 60s. 6d. to 64s. 6d., middling colour 66s. to 66s. 6d., bold 71s. to 74s.; 431 bags Native Ceylon were bought in, good ordinary at 54s., bold 57s., except 38 bags which sold, small 44s. 6d., peaberry 53s. 6d.; of 864 cases 111 bags new crop Wynaad Plantation per steamer Scandaria via Canal about 400 cases were bought in at 64s., the remainder selling as follow, triage 52s. to 55s. 6d., low middling mixed 63s. 6d. to 64s., middling greenish 66s. 6d. to 66s. 6d., bold greyish 72s., bold colour 78s. 6d. to 81s., peaberry 81s. to 82s. 6d., the remainder since sold under the bought-in price; 46 bags Native sold at 55s. 6d.

The landings for the week consist chiefly of Ceylon and Brazil, and are fully 300 tons larger than in 1870; the deliveries are again smaller, but still slightly exceed last year's, and the deficiency in the stock is rather less than in the previous week. The quantity of Ceylon Coffee afloat for Great Britain is estimated as follows:—Plantation, 295,408 cwt., against 304,246 cwt. at the corresponding date of 1870; Native 38,406 cwt., against 30,194 cwt. The quantity afloat for the Continent is nil. The quantity of Coffee landed in the fourteen weeks ended April 8, 1871, was, of Ceylon, 5,205 tons, against 5,350 tons during the corresponding period of 1870; of all descriptions, 10,567 tons, against 7,901 tons. The quantity entered for home consumption was, of Ceylon, 2,625 tons, against 2,113 tons; of all descriptions, 5,032 tons, against 3,876 tons. The quantity exported was, of Ceylon, 6,129 tons, against 5,246 tons; of all descriptions, 13,690 tons, against 9,344 tons. The stock on April 8 was, of Ceylon, 10,056 tons, against 11,855 tons; of all descriptions, 16,643 tons, against 18,900 tons.

SUGAR.

The market has re-opened with a better demand than has prevailed for some time past, and there is now a fair amount of business doing at about 6d. advance on the prices lately ruling. The sales comprise on the spot 1,800 bags unclayed Zebu Manila at 20s. 6d.; 6,000 bags clayed Manila (duty 4s.) at 24s.; 200 tons unclayed Taal Manila (for arrival March shipment), at 21s. 6d.; 100 tons unclayed Taal Manila at 20s. 6d.; 3,600 bags clayed Manila (duty 4s.) at 25s.; 4,500 bags ditto at 24s. to 24s. 6d.; 830 baskets middling white Java at 37s. to 37s. 6d.; and 1,700 baskets low date Penang at 19s.

The landings for the week include 1,800 tons of British West India and 800 tons of Beestroot, and are about on a par with last year's. The home deliveries are relatively diminutive, but still 1,800 tons in excess of last year's, so that the deficiency in the stock is now 23,200 tons. Stock, April 1, 51,476 tons, against 73,335 tons; April 8, 52,701 tons, against 75,901 tons. The quantity of Sugar landed in the fourteen weeks ended April 8, 1871, was, of Penang, 141 tons, against 792 tons in the corresponding period of 1870; of Manila, Java and China, 5,689 tons, against 5,110 tons; the quantity entered for home consumption was, of Penang, 733 tons, against 729 tons; of Manila, Java, and China, 7,800 tons, against 6,700 tons. The quantity exported was, of Penang, 98 tons, against 32 tons; of Manila, Java, and China, 614 tons, against 1,221 tons. The stock on April 8 was, of Penang, 2,286 tons, against 2,361 tons; of Manila, Java, and China, 25,069 tons, against 32,979 tons.

COCOA-NUT OIL.—The market for Ceylon is quiet, at the previous quotation, viz., £40 per ton.

GAMBIER.—On the spot 200 bales have been sold at 16s. 1½d.

HEMP.—No business has been done in Manila.

HIDES.—At the last sales there was again an inactive demand for East India, and only two-thirds of the quantity offered found buyers. Prices on the average showed no marked alteration, though in a few instances best light were ½d. per lb. lower; the light weights of middling and common quality were also occasionally slightly cheaper. The demand for Singapore and Penang was limited at late prices; 7,661 Dry Singapore and Penang Cow Hides offered, 5,197 sold—best light, 9½d.; seconds, 8½d. to 9d.; heavy, 7½d.; extra ditto, 8½d.; small and calf, 6d. to 8½d.; thirds, 6d.; fourths, 5d. per lb.; 6,888 Singapore and Penang Buffalo Hides offered, 1,834 sold—best heavy, 4½d. to 4½d.; seconds, 4d. to 4½d.; light, 5½d. to 6½d. per lb.

JAPAN WAX.—A good demand has prevailed for saucers, and large sales have been effected at rising prices, the latest price for fair quality being 80s.

PEPPER.—Black: The market is quiet but steady; about 400 bags Singapore have been sold at 5½d. to 5 15d., and small sales of Penang have been effected at 4½d. cash. White: No transactions.

RICE.—There is a rather better demand for common qualities of both hard and soft grain, and steadier rates are paid. On the spot about 7,000 bags Bengal have been sold, good white at 11s. 6d. to 11s. 9d., Ballam at 9s. 3d. to 9s. 6d., and about 7,000 bags field Siam at 8s. 9d. cash; also a floating cargo of 1,500 tons new Necranic at 10s. open charter, or 10s. 4½d. landed for London; and the arrived cargo of 18,000 mats (750 tons) old Saigon, per Frederick, at 9s. 3d. ex ship.

TIN.—The market is dull, and prices show a decline upon those given in our last report; the current quotations are:—Straits, on the spot, £127; afloat, £127 to £128 10s.; Banca and Billiton, £129.

ARTICLES OF EXPORT.

MANCHESTER GOODS.

Owing to the Easter holidays, and the consequent closing of the Liverpool Cotton Market, business was almost entirely suspended until the 11th inst. Since then manufacturers are asking the rates quoted last week, and there has been only a limited demand for Yarns and Goods. In some few exceptional cases, where producers are working out of contract, a slight concession can be obtained, but not sufficient to induce buyers to enter the market freely.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT

AND PILLS.—RHEUMATISM AND GOUT.—These purifying and soothing remedies demand the earnest attention of all persons liable to rheumatism, gout, sciatica, or other painful affections of the muscles, nerves or joints. The Ointment should be applied after the affected parts have been patiently fomented with warm water, when the unguent should be diligently rubbed upon the adjacent skin, unless the friction should cause pain. Holloway's Pills should be simultaneously taken to reduce inflammation and purify the blood. This treatment abates the violence and lessens the frequency of gout, rheumatism, and all spasmodic diseases which spring from hereditary predisposition, or from any accidental weakness of constitution. The Ointment checks the local malady; the Pills preserve the vital power.

PORT OF AMOY.

SHIPOWNERS, AGENTS, and COMMANDERS are informed that the Dock Company's establishments at the above port afford every facility, at moderate charges, for REPAIRING and SPARRING VESSELS, cleaning and painting iron ships and steamers.

Their large Granite Dock has 286 feet length on the blocks, and at average spring tides can receive vessels of 16 to 17 feet draught. It has a caisson-gate and a powerful centrifugal steam pump, and an engineer's workshop fitted with lathes and tools, driven by steam; iron and brass foundries, boiler-makers' shop, a large smithy and carpenters and boat-builders' sheds. All superintended by resident Europeans.

Their two smaller GRANITE DOCKS can receive, at spring tides, vessels drawing 12 feet.

Spars, timber, and other Dockyard material kept in stock

Quarters for officers and a DRY GODOWN for stores of vessels under repair.

C. KRAMER begs to inform the public that he has established himself at this place as NURSERYMAN and SEEDSMAN, and is fully prepared to execute any orders for Japanese plants, bulbs, or seeds for any part of the world.

An experience of four years in this business in foreign parts, two of which has been gained in this country may ensure the confidence of customers.

Heustin, Jas. Franklin, Rev. P. W. Weeder, Miss Morris.

INSURANCE.—CHINA RISKS.

The insurance companies have reduced their premiums on China produce per steamers via the Canal, and rates now stand—for tea, from Hankow, 60s.; from Shanghai and Foochow, 50s.; Hong Kong, 45s., with average; for silk, 5s. less; and these rates are irrespective of season. The premiums per sailing vessels remain the same, viz., for tea, Hankow, 100s.; Shanghai and Foochow, 70s.; Hong Kong, 60s., with a return of 9s. 6d. per cent. for season; silk, 10s. less; so that in season there is only a difference of ¼ per cent. between steam and sailing vessels.

The duration of risk by steamer is two months or less against four to five months by ship. Are not the rates, therefore, still too high? Goods forwarded to Shanghai are written by steamer, via Canal, at 35s. per cent., and the risk of average on tea is certainly not worth 15s. extra. Silk by the P. and O. route, which involves discharge at Suez, land carriage, and reloading at Alexandria, is written at 30s. per cent., while the reduced rate by steamers direct—many of which make the through voyage within a few days of the time occupied by the P. and O.—is half as much again. The offices cry out loudly each time a reduction is wrung from them by the cutting in of competitors for a share in business universally regarded as the most paying for underwriters; but surely it is the maintenance of these high, and in the case of silk exorbitant, rates which induces the competition.

There is some talk of a scale of premium for different classes of steamers, but this can never be carried out, and is a dangerous experiment; the lowest figure on the scale will quickly become the level to which all will sink. Let underwriters limit their line by second and third-class steamers, or, better still, let merchants show a sensible selection and eschew those tubs with a funnel misnamed full-powered steamers, who take steam rates but ships' dates. It was always a marvel to us in the old sailing-ship days that merchants would ship their produce by third-rate colliers at the same rate as by A 1 clippers, running the chance of deterioration, the certainty of detention; whereas a delay of two or three weeks in shipment would have landed their produce two or three weeks earlier, and in better condition. There have been of late some more favourable symptoms of the desire to support good steamers only, and if shippers will be more particular in this respect they will not only benefit themselves by safer and more rapid carriage, but will enable underwriters to grant a rate more commensurate with the risks run; 50s. from Hankow, 45s. from Shanghai and Foochow, and 40s. from Hong Kong is what rates will come to by steamers before long, and if the present offices do not quickly agree to these they will have fresh opponents.

In the London and China Telegraph of the 10th inst. we published a report, furnished by our Nagasaki correspondent, that the United States Minister at Yedo has notified the right of American citizens to visit the island of Amasa, on the ground that it is part of the Imperial dominions included in the Treaty. We are at a loss to understand how the American Minister can claim this privilege, seeing that Amasa is certainly not included in the plans of the port, which may be seen at almost every Consulate in Nagasaki. Neither can we perceive any other inducement, since Amasa is a place of no commercial importance, and has never been visited except now and then by a few officers in the shooting season, when they have been well received by the natives. We think the demand is likely to interfere with our amicable relations with the Japanese, and we hope it has been given up.

THE directors of the P. and O. Company have decided on despatching the Khedive and Indus from Southampton, and not from Liverpool. The former vessel will leave on May 6 with the usual mails for Alexandria, and then proceed through the Canal to Suez, taking the following mails, passengers, &c., to Calcutta. The Indus will be despatched on the 11th as an extra steamer direct to Hong Kong through the Canal, taking passengers and cargo. The rates of freight per Indus will be 85s. to Singapore and Hong Kong, 115s. to Batavia, 115s. to the northern ports of China, and 125s. to Yokohama, per ton of 40 feet, free of primage. The Mirzapore will be launched on the 14th May at Greenock.

WE have now to announce that the steamers Great Northern and Africa, with the sections of submarine cable to connect Shanghai and Wladivostok (Possiet Bay), will leave London about the 30th inst. This section will complete the lines of the Great Northern Company between London and Shanghai and Hong Kong, which will probably be working in July. This, with the completion of the China Submarine Cable from Singapore to Hong Kong, expected next month, will give us a duplicate line to China.

WE find the announcement in our last as to the arrival in London of Sir HARRY PARKES from Japan to be an error. He is coming by the San Francisco route, and will probably not reach London until June.

MR. HENRY ERNEST BULWER, C.M.G., lately Receiver-General of Trinidad and Administrator of the Government of Dominica, will succeed Mr. POPE-HENNESSY as Governor of Labuan.

CHUNG HOW and the members of the Chinese Mission have had an unofficial interview with M. THIERS at Versailles. We understand that the official reception will take place in a few days.

THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW AND OUR RELATIONS WITH CHINA.

WE noticed in our last an article in the Westminster Review, and we now proceed to notice the same more at length. Opening with an attempt to explain how the Tientsin massacre came about, the Reviewer discusses the position of the French Government in China and of the Catholic missionaries, both of which are severely condemned on what we must consider very slender evidence. The French Government, we are told, uses violence and performs "war-dances" at Peking, but the only instance given is the rash behaviour of a Chargé d'Affaires in 1866 on the occasion of a massacre of Christians in Korea. As, however, the Chargé was, on the Reviewer's own showing, recalled, it is rather unreasonable to lay his follies to the charge of the Government, which showed its disapproval by recalling him. Again, "the ambitious designs of the Roman Catholic priesthood, in offering 'to native converts the protection of the French Government in resisting their own authorities,'" seems to us little better than a libel; and the statement that the influence of the French Government and the "Romish hierarchy has 'only been maintained by raising up within the Empire a 'polity presided over by priests, and by stirring up strife,' is also unsupported by facts. That the spurious alliance between the French Government and the Propaganda has been pregnant with mischief we will not deny, but the Reviewer makes rather too much of the stock story about 10,000 persons having suddenly joined the Christian communion in Szechuen for political purposes, a story which, by being copied into various papers, acquired a kind of authenticity which its anonymous character scarcely merited. This question, though interesting in itself, like the origin of evil or the theory of Republicanism, is nevertheless unconnected with the subject of the Tientsin Massacre, nor does the Reviewer attempt to supply the link by which the two may be joined. We will, therefore, follow our author to the consideration of the practices of the Sisters of Charity at Tientsin, and of the French Consul there, as being colourably interwoven with the causes of the massacre. There were loud accusations among the excited Chinese against the Sisters of kidnapping and mutilating children. The Reviewer favours the belief that there was this much foundation for the suspicion that the Sisters did give gratuities to those who brought them children. This, he admits, was strenuously denied by the local press (not unlikely to be well-informed). He will ere this, however, have found out that Mr. WADE, who has all along betrayed a willingness to incriminate everybody but the Chinese, and who began his correspondence with this very accusation, withdrew it on the 16th July (Despatch No. 34 in Blue-book). That the Sisters of Charity received into their charge sickly children, not likely to live long, is explicable on other grounds than a fanatical faith in the efficacy of infant baptism. It would be a singular foundling hospital that rejected all but the robust children, and as the highest Chinese authorities have attested that the establishment of the Sisters at Tientsin was very like the Chinese Foundlings, the mystery on which so much stress is laid by the Reviewer seems to us to be somewhat overdrawn. The extract from a "private letter" "from a gentleman whose official position enabled him to 'know the facts'" is only calculated to mislead, as, in the first place, the extract itself bears internal evidence that the gentleman could only have learned the so-called facts on common hearsay, and in the second, it is so strongly biased against the Roman Catholics as to deprive its statements of any value, even if the writer had direct knowledge of the real facts, which he had not.

Then, as to M. FONTANIER "conducting himself in a very violent manner," and firing on the Chi-hieu, which the Reviewer would have us believe caused the mob instantly to set upon and kill MM. FONTANIER and SIMON, we need only again refer to Mr. WADE, who, in the first instance, adopted the same Chinese story as true, but who subsequently, on the 12th October, became convinced that it was false. The story, indeed, never had any better testimony than the assertion of certain Chinese officials who had the strongest incentive to making out a case which would place M. FONTANIER, and not them, in the wrong; and whose statements, even without the special motive for falsification, would naturally be received with caution, the reputation of the mandarins for honesty not being so high as to place their bare word above all suspicion. The credulity of the Reviewer—a credulity worthy of the pre-rationalistic period so aptly described by our author—is not confined to the unhesitating acceptance of statements made by those who are least entitled to credence. There is a credulity in regard to facts also, in which he invites us to join him, which can only be accounted for on the theory that the conditions which regulate human volition are assumed by our author to be different in China from what they are in any other known portion of the world. Let us see what he asks us to believe. Exonerating the magistrates from the charge which the French Minister brought against them of instigating the Massacre, our author maintains that without any incitement, a feeling of uncontrollable alarm for their own safety and that of their families had been aroused in the minds of the populace of Tientsin in consequence of a vague suspicion of the Romish practices of kidnapping and mutilating children; that this feeling grew so strong that a people so singularly unsympathetic, so indifferent to each other's welfare as the Chinese, left their ordinary avocations in thousands, and massacred twenty people, of whom they, by the Reviewer's confession, knew nothing. Not a single one of the Fire Brigade or Volunteers had lost a child; not one of them had a friend who had lost a child; not one had so much as heard of any child being missing; and yet they were moved to assemble on one day, on one spot, armed with murderous weapons, and bent on massacre, moved by the spontaneous action of a mere abstract suspicion! It is really a little too much for our belief. We confess the combustible material is all there, but we must refuse to believe in the spontaneous explosion. We want to know who applied the match. Nor is this far to seek, for the Reviewer himself has not concealed it.

"From the literary classes," he tells us, "we may be certain will emanate any danger that may arise;" "probably the first circumstance that concentrated and increased the 'suspicious against the Priests and Sisters was the publication

"of a proclamation by the Chifu or Prefect;" "an incendiary proclamation." To give point to this proclamation, which was directed against the Roman Catholics, two men were decapitated for kidnapping, whom even certain of the literati ventured to assert were innocent strangers, sacrificed merely to feed the fire ignited by the Chifu. There is surely enough in these and such like admissions to indicate where the missing link, the "match," is to be found. In another part of the article our author declares that "it will increase the reputation of officials with the literary (the all-powerful) classes, if they are known to be hostile to foreigners; and this hostility," he adds, unconsciously pointing the moral of his own efforts at exculpation, "can scarcely prove injurious to them so long as they refrain from performing any overt act." But we need say no more on this head. The guilt or innocence of CHUNG HOW is a question on which our author next waxes warm, so much so as rather to overstate the case put by those who accuse him of being accessory to the crime. No one that we have heard of has held that CHUNG HOW instigated the Massacre, and in the so-called "truculent" letter of the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce, quoted by the Reviewer, a marked distinction is drawn between the degree of guilt attaching to CHUNG HOW and to the Magistrate and Prefect of Tientsin; indeed, it is very plain that but for his being sent on what the China community considered a dangerous mission to France, CHUNG HOW would have escaped the direct and strong censure which has overtaken him. In defence of CHUNG HOW the Reviewer makes some statements which are a little inconsistent; for instance, he lays considerable stress on the fact that CHUNG HOW was not a territorial official in Tientsin, that it was not his business, in fact, to take cognizance of what was going on; while in another place (p. 420) he asserts that CHUNG HOW held the power of life and death there, and that "immediately after the massacre he assumed full control" (p. 426), the very time, of all others, when he would have shirked any responsibility that he could. But CHUNG HOW's innocence is chiefly established, in the Reviewer's opinion, by the fact which he frequently quotes, that the foreign representatives on the spot had acquitted him. "Count ROCHECHOUART, the French Charge d'Affairs," he tells us, "and Mr. WADE have both investigated the matter on the spot, and come to the conclusion that CHUNG HOW was not guilty of anything more than negligence; but this fact has but little weight with the foreign communities." This is not to be wondered at, seeing the fact itself seems to be of the most apocryphal kind. We should like to know where the history of the so-called "investigation" is written, the only authentic source of information within our reach being silent in regard to anything that can even in obliquity be called "an investigation." Nor do we find any evidence that Count ROCHECHOUART or Mr. WADE, with or without investigation, did exculpate CHUNG HOW, and such a view would hardly be consistent with what Mr. WADE wrote on October 12 to Earl GRANVILLE:—"What is important is that CHUNG HOW knew what was going to happen ten days beforehand. . . . I am certain that this is a fact; and, if CHUNG HOW was so well informed, it is vain to suppose that the Central Government was left in ignorance." So much for "exculpation."

The mission of CHUNG HOW to France is of course the thing that has raised this curious discussion, and our Reviewer, specially inspired, is able to give us a translation of the letter of credence of which CHUNG HOW is the bearer. It is not likely that the Westminster Review keeps a body of sinologues on its staff, but, whether or no, the dispute, which is still open, concerning the translation of the BURLINGAME credentials warns us to be slow to accept the first version offered to us of these most mysterious of all State papers. But, as Mr. BURLINGAME's credentials gave no indication whatever of the functions he took on himself, so may the purely apologetic mission of CHUNG HOW develop into an enterprise of more extended interest. So far as they go, there is a unity of design in the two missions that may be curtly described thus—Mr. BURLINGAME came to Europe to deprecate the anger of the civilised world before the event, while CHUNG HOW comes to do the same thing after.

We cannot close this article without congratulating the Reviewer on his attainments in practical philosophy, though probably he might shrink from the full consequences of his theory, that massacre is a thing to be expected from semicivilised China, and that the error lies in not seeing that nothing better is to be expected of them. This doctrine is after Lord GRANVILLE's own heart; and though his Lordship, in common with our Reviewer, strongly condemns the massacring habit in itself, neither the one nor the other suggests any means of arresting these sanguinary operations. And this important conclusion to the discussion of the immediate question of the massacre is the more disappointing in the case of the Reviewer that he shows such a thorough grasp of the general political situation. It might not unreasonably have been argued that the clear and concise rules he lays down for the general conduct of our relations are susceptible of particular application to such a case as that of the Tientsin massacre, were it not that the writer has himself conspicuously failed to make such application. To sum up, the first twelve pages of the article, though interesting in themselves, are more or less irrelevant to the subject in hand; the next twenty-one pages contain so much forced reasoning as to require great care in the reader who would avoid being misled; but the last four pages are excellent, and it is to be regretted that the maintenance of our Treaty rights, as the Reviewer urges, is a line of policy which is not likely to find favour with our present Government.

TEA FREIGHTS FROM CHINA.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—I confess I did not expect that your correspondent, "Old Canton," would have found an ally in yourself in the matter of tea freights, although, I am glad to note, you admit "that the system has its weak points, and that once a bill of lading is signed the rate named therein should be final"—a conclusion I think all will agree to, and which, in reality, is what I am contending for.

The system, I fancy, must have originated in the youthful days of "Old Canton," when two or three clippers started with the first teas, and were often loaded before a rate was fixed. Matters are now entirely changed, and for one shipper then there are a dozen now. Why, then, should these parties be on a different footing to their brother-merchants in Calcutta, Bombay, Madras, Singapore, &c., all of whom when making a freight engagement keep it, taking the chance whether rates advance or recede.

By the present system the captain is placed in an awkward position; he receives instructions from his owners that if he cannot obtain a certain rate he is to proceed to Manila, Singapore &c., as the case may be. Finding he can obtain the limit for almost all his cargo, he lays the ship on, and advises his owner accordingly, who insures his freight at the estimated sum his ship will earn. Before she is finally loaded one or two other vessels arrive (consigned probably to houses who have already shipped, by the going ship), and are circulated at five or ten shillings per ton less. Now is the moment for putting on the screw, and the unfortunate skipper must either go away with his ship only partly laden (which has been done on more than one occasion), or reduce the rate on the whole of the cargo, even on that portion for which bills of lading have been signed and despatched on their way to England. I would ask any impartial business man whether this is fair or just, and should like to know what "Old Canton" would say to a purchaser of his teas or shirtings who wished to stipulate that if before he took final delivery the market came down he should have the benefit of the reduction in price! My own experience does not bear out what you state as to the China houses not caring for the consignment of vessels, as I have almost always found them ready to give a certain amount of support at this end for the consignment of the ship abroad, where the five per cent. commission on a fair rate of freight is, I think you will find, not to be despised. In conclusion, I can only express a hope that the China houses will at once put themselves on the same footing as the merchants in all other Eastern ports, and do away with a system which I think can only be regarded by any impartial person as a grievance of which shipowners have every reason to complain.—I am, Sir, yours truly,

Liverpool, April 19, 1871.

A SUFFERER.

CHARTERED MERCANTILE BANK OF INDIA, LONDON, AND CHINA.

The annual meeting of the shareholders in this bank was held at the offices, Old Broad-street, on the 18th inst., GEORGE G. NICOL, Esq., chairman. The report and balance-sheet will be found in another column.

The CHAIRMAN, in moving the adoption of the report, remarked that the figures as regarded assets and liabilities, read, as usual, favourable for the position of the bank. The amount of cash, bullion, and Government securities were in excess of what it stood at the last meeting, which was a favourable feature, as showing that the liabilities were fully covered. There was a falling off of £200,000 in the deposits. That under ordinary circumstances would be a subject of regret; but looking at the state of business for some time past, it was rather one of congratulation. Last year he had spoken with satisfaction upon the increase in the deposits of about a million, but since then such had been the difficulty of employing money profitably in India that a large amount of deposits had been found disadvantageous rather than otherwise. He had previously intimated the intention of reducing the interest on deposits, but inasmuch as a considerable portion of the money had been taken at a fixed rate of interest for fixed periods, the full effects of the change would not be realised until the end of the present year. The same policy would be continued, and the reduction would follow the change in value which money was undergoing throughout the world. Another cause of the unfortunate result of the year in regard to profits was the fall in the rate of exchange in India, in which respect, however, he hoped that, before long, there would be an improvement. At the last meeting he stated that he anticipated the last half would be better than the first half of the year, and so it had proved, but not to the extent that was expected. At the last meeting he stated that the amount to be written off for old bad debts would be £110,207, but it was found that that amount was slightly over-estimated, and they had now added to it the estimated loss on the debts of the past year at Bombay and Calcutta, in all about £7,000, which, as compared with the profits of the year, and under the circumstances of business during that period, was certainly not excessive, and contrasted favourably with other similar institutions. Upon the whole, he thought they might congratulate themselves that the losses had been so small. With regard to the future, he saw no cause for despondency; on the contrary, he thought they had passed through the worst, and that, with the improvement in the rate of exchange, and the low price of Eastern produce, which must necessarily tend to the advantage of banking, as well as all other mercantile operations, and the safeguard against losses which the extension of telegraph communication afforded, they might look forward to more successful results. (Hear, hear.) Answering a letter he had that morning received from a shareholder, he denied that the losses sustained by the bank had been continuous. During the last four years they had been trifling, and economy had been carried out to the fullest extent consistent with efficiency.

A SHAREHOLDER called attention to the working of the bank, its expenses and results, and deprecated the large lock up of £224,000 in bank premises. He wished to know if it was likely that there would be any returns of the amount now written off for losses.

Another SHAREHOLDER did not think that these comments were at all justifiable, and the matter dropped.

Another SHAREHOLDER suggested that no addition should be made to the reserve fund until 8 per cent. dividend had been paid.

A SHAREHOLDER expressed himself agreeably disappointed at the declaration of any dividend in the present half-year under the circumstances.

In reply, the CHAIRMAN said he could not hold any hope of much being recovered from the overdue debts, nor could he promise that the future profits up to 8 per cent. should be all appropriated to dividend, inasmuch as the directors felt that it was of the greatest importance to reinstate the reserve which had been treasured upon to meet the losses.

The report was unanimously adopted, and the retiring directors, Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Erskine, were re-elected. The proceedings terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman and directors.

CHARTERED BANK OF INDIA, AUSTRALIA, AND CHINA.

The annual meeting of shareholders in this bank was held at the London Tavern on the 19th inst., T. A. MITCHELL, M.P., in the chair.

The report of the directors expressed the regret of the board at being unable to recommend the payment of a dividend.

The CHAIRMAN said he had a painful duty to discharge, and so painful a circumstance had not happened to him during the whole twelve years he had been connected with the bank. Both himself and his co-directors were largely interested in the bank. Some shareholders had complained that the board did not call a half-yearly meeting in October last; but, as the only business of that meeting could be the declaration of a dividend, and as the board could not pay a dividend on account of the losses, they dispensed with the meeting, and sent out an explanatory circular to the shareholders. There was no reason for the great depression in the shares as quoted on the Stock Exchange. Prior to the present meeting the board invited all the largest shareholders to meet at the bank and hear a full explanation of its affairs, and make the fullest inquiry. The board hoped by that course to obviate any painful discussion at the meeting, the only result of which might be, for a time to effect the bank's credit in the East. Adverting to the report he said there was a deficiency of £59,000, which forbade the board paying any dividend. The causes of the deficiency of profits were primarily that a large portion of the bank's capital being laid down in the East, upon making up the accounts it was the custom of the board to take the capital laid down there at the rate of exchange on the day the accounts were closed. Acting upon this custom, it so happened that on the closing of the last accounts the rates of exchange were exceptionally low, thereby causing a depreciation of fully 4 per cent. on the capital laid down; secondly, the bank had passed through a great crisis in Bombay, where many failures had occurred. Besides that, the bank had advanced some £50,000 on certain goods warehoused at Shanghai, a great portion of which were fraudulently abstracted without the knowledge of the bank's agent, and by this a loss of some £22,000 had been incurred. That amount was included in the estimate of £59,000, and, as usual, the board had taken the worst possible view. Looking back over twelve years, he considered the shareholders had no reason to be dissatisfied, as the bank earned profits on the average of 10 per cent. per annum. For five years out of the twelve the bank's profits averaged £95,000 per annum. (Cheers.) Though the bank was for the moment as it were under a cloud by reason of the large and exceptional losses recently made, yet there was no reason why the bank should not return a good dividend in the future, and he had every reason for hoping that he should meet the shareholders this time next year under circumstances as bright as the present were cloudy. The deposits showed a reduction, consequent upon the diminution of the rate of interest from 6 to 5 per cent. As an illustration of the adverse working of exchange in India, he might mention that the Budget of the Government of India showed a loss on exchange of £69,000. The accounts connected with the estate of Morgan, Melbourne, and Co., Batavia, were nearly all wound up, and the allowance of £38,000 had been found ample to cover the loss. He concluded by moving the adoption of the report and accounts.

Mr. JOHN JONES, chairman of the City Bank, seconded the motion.

Mr. ADAMSON asked the Chairman if attention had been given to the expenses of management at home as well as the East. He would call attention to the fact that in their days of prosperity and ten per cent. dividends, the allowance to the board was increased to £4,000 per annum.

The CHAIRMAN replied that the question had their serious consideration, and as it had been urged on them to bring in new directors of influence it was desirable to retain the old allowance, as no gentlemen of position could be found to give their time for less. He alluded to the appointment of Mr. Cassells, late of Bombay, and of the nomination of Mr. Wiese, late of Siemssen and Co., China, who had qualified by the purchase of 100 shares, and who would be proposed at the next meeting. It was also intended to add another gentleman connected with Calcutta.

Mr. CASSELLS stated that he quite confirmed the opinion of the chairman, and he was glad of the opportunity thus afforded him before the confirmation of his appointment by the shareholders. He thought it only due to himself to say that the heavy losses had been incurred before he joined the board.

The report was then seconded, and passed unanimously, as also the re-election of Mr. William Maonaghtan and Mr. John Jones as directors, and the appointment of Mr. Gwyther as manager, in place of Mr. Adam, resigned on a pension of half salary. Mr. SLATER proposed the re-election of Mr. Thorp and Mr. Lewis as auditors, which was passed, as also a vote of thanks to the directors and Mr. Gwyther. Mr. BERT, of Messrs. Armitstead and Co., in seconding the vote, said he had examined the accounts, and he was satisfied that ample allowance had been made for all losses, and he had confidence in the future, so much so that he had increased his holding of shares.

ORIENTAL BANK CORPORATION MEETING.

The annual general meeting was held on the 20th inst., at the offices of the Corporation; JAMES BLYTH, Esq., in the chair.

The report, which was noticed in our last, announced a net profit, including £7,962 brought forward, of £190,096 for the year, and proposes a dividend of 6 per cent. for the half-year, being at the same rate as was paid in the previous half-year, and absorbing together £180,000, carrying forward £10,096 to the credit of next account, was read by Mr. C. J. F. STUART, the chief manager.

The CHAIRMAN, after declaring the dividend, which is to be paid clear of income-tax, moved the adoption of the report, and congratulated the meeting on the continued prosperity of the Bank. This was the tenth time they had paid 6 per cent. for the half-year, the annual dividend having been for the last five years at the rate of 12 per cent. Looking at the disasters that had occurred in the East and elsewhere during that period, they could not but feel that the business had been well managed. (Cheers.) He paid a high compliment to Mr. Stuart, the chief manager, Mr. Campbell, the sub-manager, and the managers abroad, for their discretion and judgment in managing the extensive transactions which passed through their hands. (Hear, hear.) The present accounts were made up to the end of last year; but recent advices informed them that everything was going on in the most satisfactory manner. In conclusion, he expressed the regrets felt by himself and colleagues at the loss the Corporation had sustained in the death of the late deputy-chairman, Mr. Walker.

A SHAREHOLDER said that although 12 per cent. was a very satisfactory rate for those who bought shares at par, it was not for others, and in his case he only received 5 per cent., and he thought larger dividends should be given before increasing the reserve fund, and he would like to know if the directors intended adding to that fund, and he would also like to know why the gross profits were not given as well as the net.

Dr. THOM said that as the time of the charter was drawing near, he would like to know what steps were being taken for its renewal, and he would like to know if the £90,000 in the balance-sheet as debts was fully secured by the landed property.

Another SHAREHOLDER called attention to the £20,000 standing over from the previous year to meet a possible loss at Bombay, which he understood had not been incurred.

The CHAIRMAN said, in reply to the various questions, that he trusted they would be in a position to add to the reserve fund, although it now stood at the substantial sum of £444,000; but before doing so they would certainly consult the shareholders. The gross profits were not stated in the published accounts, but the shareholders could be informed on application to the manager. The question of the renewal of the charter, which had still eighteen months to run, had the attention of the directors. The reserves of the bank were necessary for the large commitments of the bank all over the East. The landed property alluded to as covering £90,000 debts was ample cover for the sum due. The £20,000 in connection with a claim at Bombay had been absorbed in the profit and loss account. He had pleasure in recommending to the shareholders General Burn to fill the seat vacant by the lamented death of Mr. Walker.

Mr. STEWART had much pleasure in seconding the election of General Burn as director, whom he had known in Hong Kong as manager of the Bank in 1848.

The report was then unanimously carried, and Mr. Blyth and Mr. Walkinshaw were re-elected directors. The auditors were also re-elected. A vote of thanks to the directors and managers terminated the meeting.

LITERATURE.

The Hundred Years of Christianity in Japan is the title of an interesting and learned article in the Quarterly. The Portuguese, as is well known, first brought the European prow into the Indian seas. In 1497 Vasco de Gama doubled the stormy Cape and landed at Calicut on the Malabar coast. The Portuguese were the tyrants of the seas, and the terror of the Mecca pilgrims. They seized on a number of maritime stations, among others Ormuz, Diu, Malacca, and several of the Moluccas, whence they could command the trade of the East. They twice attempted to take Aden, but without success. Goa was their capital; from it they ruled over most of the towns on the Malabar coast. An application was made to the Pope for two Jesuit missionaries to go out to India: Francis Xavier and Simon Rodriguez were sent. The latter was induced to remain in Portugal, but the former reached Goa in 1542, after a voyage of thirteen months. This apostle of the Indies was both the leader and director of a widely-spread missionary movement, conducted by a rapidly-increasing staff, not only of Jesuits, but also of priests and missionaries of other orders, as well as native preachers and catechists. Xavier reserved for himself the arduous task of travelling to regions as yet unvisited by any preachers of Christianity; and his bold and impatient imagination was carried away by the idea of carrying the Cross to the countries of the farthest East. The islands of Japan, already known to Europe through the travels of Marco Polo, had been reached by the Portuguese only eight years before, namely, in 1541, and Xavier, while at Malacca, had conversed with navigators and traders who had visited that remote coast. A Japanese named Angero (Hansiro), pursued for homicide, fled to Malacca, where he was baptised under the name of Paul of the Holy Faith. He learned Portuguese quickly, and has left a short account of early Japan in the "Epistolæ Indicæ." The missionaries appear to have been greatly struck with the external resemblance between Buddhism and Catholicism. Every one who has been in a Catholic chapel cannot have failed to have remarked its resemblance. Francis Xavier sailed for Japan in 1549, and, after a dangerous voyage, arrived in Kagosima, the native town of Angero. His first impressions were very favourable. Japan was then celebrated for its gold and pearls, but, owing to the smallness of trade, the country still remained poor. Five hundred years before the religion of Buddha had been introduced from China, and the ancient idols broken. But there was also in Japan a materialistic school of philosophy, as in India and China, confined to the upper classes, and only taught in secret. Xavier's discourses were numerous and attended by the Bowzes, the nobility, and the common people. After a stay of two years he left Japan, in 1551, having made at least five hundred converts. One result of his labours was the formation of a mission, which, from Goa as a centre, radiated over much of the coast of Asia, from Ormuz to Japan. Their religion is, however, only a base and degenerate graft of Catholicism on the rotten trunk of Paganism, and at the present day the native Christians are inferior to the Mahomedans and Hindus of Northern India in intelligence and morality. The missionaries, though sometimes persecuted, continued to make progress. The most violent persecution to which they were exposed was in the year 1596, when the courage displayed by the Japanese converts seems to have been worthy of the times of the early Church. The hostile cruisers of Holland appeared in the Japanese waters in 1602, and the Dutch did what they could to expose the policy of the Jesuits. Persecution became more and more frequent and severe, and at length no foreigners were allowed to reside in any part of Japan except Nagasaki, and all the half-caste descendants of marriages between Portuguese and natives of Japan were banished from the islands. A renewed effort of the Roman Catholic clergy to penetrate into the Empire of the Rising Sun was made in 1642, when five Jesuits and three other priests were put to death. In 1709 the Church of Rome made a last effort to gain converts in Japan until these days, when their exertions are being recommended.

The Dutch Republics of South Africa. By F. W. Chesson. London: Tweedie. In these pages the author forcibly advocates the establishment of a confederation to put an end to war and slavery in the Cape. The Council of Natal, by the influential portion of the colonial writer's views have been endorsed, we learn, by the Legislature, and by South African merchants resident in this country. The farmers justify their treatment of the natives by references to the curse pronounced upon Ham and his descendants. The stories which these poor creatures tell of the manner of their capture, the murder of their parents, the long years which they have spent in slavery, and the cruelties which they have endured, are extremely pathetic. Fortunately this deplorable state of things is not without a remedy. When in 1852 we recognised the independence of the States which the Dutch farmers who emigrated from Cape Colony had founded, we made it a condition that "slavery should not be permitted or practised" in them. This condition the Boers, under the cover of a transparent fiction, have violated. Their right to independence is therefore forfeited, and it becomes our duty to see that the laws of humanity are no longer outraged. The scheme proposed by Mr. Chesson is a confederation, under the British Crown—upon the model of the Canadian Confederation—of all the Colonies of South Africa which are inhabited either by British subjects or by persons who only ceased to be British subjects upon conditions which they have not observed. If this were carried out, each State would retain its own laws, but we should be able to interfere with effect, when occasion called for interference.

The Shanghai Volunteers and the Graphic.—The last number of the Graphic contains a spirited engraving of the muster of the English volunteers in the public gardens at Shanghai. We regret that we cannot extend to the accompanying letter-press the praise which the illustration richly deserves; but this will be no surprise to the writer, who frankly avows his belief that "the volunteers of Shanghai will not approve of what he has written." It is as impossible for them to do so, as it is deplorable to see any person of intelligence treating of matters which he does not understand in the style of the gentleman who writes the letter-press to match the illustrations in the Graphic. A very few lines will satisfy our readers as to the imbecility of the writer under notice. He asks, "Why should the heavily-burdened citizen of England be taxed to protect a trader who voluntarily places his property on foreign soil?" The risk should in this case be met, and probably is met, by private insurance arrangements. Risum teneatis! The Graphic is, however, a very meritorious and rising paper, and some day, perhaps, it may see the policy of placing its literary matter on something like an intellectual level with its embellishment.

The March number of the Phoenix opens well with Mr. Charles Carroll's account of his rambles among the Formosa savages, from notes collected in 1866-67, when the writer was Acting-Consul at Taiwan. The same author's translation of the "Cure for Jealousy" is satisfactorily concluded, and supplemented with some instructive notes. Mr. Hyde Clark contributes a couple of columns on "The Phrygian, Etruscan, &c., and Cauca-so-Tibetan," whatever the individual in question may be, and Mr. Hodgson continues his essay on the "Literature and Religion of the Buddhists," and Dr. Campbell his "Notes on Eastern Thibet," in their well-known style. The most interesting of the other papers in the number is a reprint of the account of "Kiukiang and its Vicinity," which originally appeared in our own columns.

An Illustrated Natural History of British Butterflies. By Edward Newman. London: Tweedie.—When the author of this work was "a very little boy indeed," he tells us that he loved butterflies much better than books, and a perusal of his volume leads us to the conclusion that, in after life this preference must have become confirmed. This, however, is of the less consequence, because, notwithstanding the many species of caterpillars which turn into butterflies, we may be sure that book-worms are not of the number; and the present work contains all the information and entertainment that any reader, not being a book-worm, can expect to extract out of such a subject.

The Secret Documents of the Second Empire. Translated by T. Curry. London: Tweedie.—This is an intensely interesting collection of the documents and private correspondence of the Emperor of the French, which fell into the hands of the Government of the National Defence on the collapse of the Imperial forces at Sedan. The papers are well translated, and well arranged, and afford a strange side-view of the manner in which France has been governed during the last twenty years. The authenticity of the documents, it should be added, admits of no dispute.

We hear that Mr. N. B. Dennys, whose name as editor of the China Mail and Notes and Queries on China and Japan is familiar to our readers, purposes returning to Hong Kong, where he will probably arrive in July next. His visit to England and the United States has given him an advantageous insight into the press of both countries.

Foreign Intelligence.

GERMANY.

HAMBURG, April 18.

A rumour of a rather alarming nature, but as it turns out fortunately without foundation, has for some time past been agitating the German public, as, if there had been any truth in it it might have had a prejudicial effect on the scarcely yet consolidated unification of Germany. The ultramontane or clerical party in Bavaria, wishing to sow the seeds of discord, and prevent, if still possible, that kingdom from joining the rest of the Empire, put forward through its organs in the press the claims of Bavaria to the district of Weissenburg in Alsace, to round off her frontiers in the Palatinate, and compensate her for her loss of territory after the events of 1866 and the war indemnity of thirty millions of florins she had to pay. In the meantime the Ministerial Bill for annexing Alsace and Lorraine as integral and inseparable parts of the German Empire has been brought in to the German Parliament, and public feeling on the subject has been much calmed by the fact that in the draft of the Bill not a word is said about any intention of cutting up Alsace and assigning any portion of it to separate States. On the contrary, it expressly states that the new territory shall belong to the Empire, and for the next three years be governed by a Viceroy appointed by the Emperor, at the end of which period it shall be admitted to all the rights and privileges enjoyed by the other States, including its due representation in the Federal Council and the German Parliament.

As the French Government under the present melancholy circumstances is perfectly unable to fulfil its engagements, and liquidate even the first instalment of the war indemnity that fell due on the 1st of April, and as money is required for the army still occupying a part of France, the German Minister of Finance has applied to the Federal Parliament for a credit to the amount of 120,000,000 Prussian dollars, to be raised successively, as required, by the issue of Treasury Bonds bearing interest and redeemable at any period after the expiration of one year, so as to be prepared in case of need for any contingency that may occur in consequence of the possible protracted inability of France to pay down the stipulated sums as they fall due. The only amount hitherto received has been the £200,000,000, being the war contribution imposed upon the City of Paris, and which produced 44,473,683 thalers. The expenses of the war down to the end of March amounted to 286,493,497 thalers, and in the present state of things there is but a poor chance of the French being able to pay the next instalment of a milliard of francs, due in the course of this year, as they are not even able to pay the sums daily incurred for the food furnished to the Army of Occupation, as is also stipulated in the preliminary treaty of peace, which sums have to be advanced out of the German exchequer.

It has been stated that the Emperor has appointed the 3rd of August for the triumphal entry of the Guards into Berlin; but there is no truth in the assertion, the fact being that no day has yet been fixed, nor can one well be at present, as it entirely depends on the turn that affairs take in France. But when the happy event takes place there will be great rejoicings, and preparations on a grand scale are already being made to celebrate it in a becoming manner, and there will no doubt be a large influx of visitors. It is said that five hundred dollars have already been paid for the use of a window on the first floor of an hotel in the Via Triumphalis to see the victorious troops march past, whilst the Municipal Corporation of Berlin have resolved to give a grand full-dress banquet to 1,000 persons, comprising the members of Parliament and the principal military officers who took part in the war. A contract has been made to furnish the dinner at the rate of twelve dollars per head, exclusive of wine.

The embarkation of the French prisoners of war has been going on without interruption since my last letter, and is now about to assume still greater proportions, as it is decided to send the remainder still confined in different parts of the interior of Germany back by sea. For this purpose the French Government have chartered ten of the large passenger steamers belonging to the "Compagnie Transatlantique," which have arrived in the Elbe, and the embarkation has already commenced at Gluckstadt. Yesterday three special trains, with together about 5,000 prisoners and their military escort, arrived here from Spandau, Magdeburg, and Custrin, and after having been provided with a hot dinner at the railway station, were forwarded down to their place of embarkation, partly by rail and partly by steamers.

It has been proposed to erect a Parliament House at Berlin, and to give it a monumental character, as a sort of memorial of the war with France, the political union of Germany, and the revival of the German Empire; but, on the other hand, the well-founded objection has been brought forward that Parliamentary life is still so new and untried that no experience has hitherto been made as to the local requirements for committee-rooms, library, and other similar offices; besides, it is far from impossible that in the course of constitutional development the present Bundesrath, or Federal Council, may eventually become a House of Lords. Under these circumstances the subject has been allowed to drop for the present.

The Japanese Prince Mitz-no-Mija has arrived at Berlin with a numerous suite, and taken up his quarters at the Hotel de Rome, Under den Linden. He is accompanied by a diplomatic agent of the Japanese Government, by name Samejima, who is to remain permanently at Berlin as the accredited Chargé d'Affaires of his native country. The Prince intends to reside in Germany for several years, and study its political and military institutions. He is said to be the brother of the Japanese Prince now in England, who was lately presented to the Queen, and is accompanied by Baron Alexander von Siebold, who is now in the Japanese service, and acts in the capacity of interpreter.

According to accounts received from Eastern Siberia, and published in the Government journal at Irkutsk, the quantity of gold found in 1870 was as follows:—In the Government of Jeneisseisk, 500 poods of 44 lbs. each, being 50 poods more than in 1869; in the Jakutsk territory, 612 poods, 47 poods more than in 1869; in the province of Trans-Baikal, 252 poods, 46 poods more than in 1869; and in the Amoor territory, 137 poods—making together 1,530 poods.

The Imperial Chancellor and Princess Bismark have issued cards of invitation to all the members of the German Parliament and the Federal Council to attend their Saturday evening soirees till the 6th of May, from which it is inferred to be his intention of closing the session in the succeeding week. The autumnal session will probably be convened for a month in the beginning of September.

Now that the war is over the office of Governor-General of the coast district is abolished, and we are no longer under martial law. The Emperor is so pleased with the energetic conduct of the Governor-General—General Vogel von Falckenstein—in his arrangements for the coast defences, that he has conferred on him the Order of the Black-Eagle, the highest and most valued distinction in Prussia.

The Austrian Rear-Admiral, Baron von Petz, lately in command of the Expedition to the Far East, has received the Emperor's permission to accept and wear the decoration of a Knight Commander of the Order of Kamehame I., conferred on him by the King of the Sandwich Islands.

COMMERCIAL:

In consequence of the holidays, the markets have been very quiet, and business was neglected. This was especially the case with Tea, Rice, and Spelter, in neither of which there is any alteration to report. In the Spice market 1,800 chests of Cassia Ligna were sold at 12 sch. bco.; since then none is to be had under 12½. Of Singapore Pepper 900 bags have arrived, per Condor, but they had previously been disposed of for delivery on arrival. The present quotation is 6 to 6½ sch. bco., and Penang 5½ to 5¾ sch. bco.

HOLLAND.

ROTTERDAM, April 19.

The members of the Second Chamber met yesterday for the despatch of business; they at once will deal with the several Budgets which are already examined in the sections, whilst the Ministers are now answering to the reports. Mr. de Casembroot has again asked permission to interpellate the Ministry about the question of the marriages of naval officers. I told you some time ago that the Chambers had decided that these officers should be free to marry. The matter, however, seems not to be decided definitively, because the Minister of the naval department is of opinion that the officers are free in their choice, but that, having chosen a wife, they must still ask the approbation of his Majesty. The papers generally protested against this apprehension, and consequently the question is to be brought again on the tapis.

The only topic of importance which is discussed by the papers is the question if the Government shall grant a subsidy to a steam line between Flushing and New York. There is a good deal of opposition to this plan, which is proposed by five members of the Chamber; it is generally condemned, and principally because some months ago a private company was established here, whose aim is to run steamers between Rotterdam and New York. The greater part of the papers condemn the intention that private undertakings should be starved by the State refusing subsidies. I hope that the appeal made in behalf of this line will cause that a demand will also be made in behalf of a subsidy for a steam line between Java and Australia. Everyone is convinced that it is of the greatest urgency that such a communication should be established, in order to promote the trade relations between both these countries, but nevertheless the matter is enormously neglected by the Government. It certainly would be unjust to grant a subsidy to a Dutch line which is quite superfluous, and to withhold it from a steam communication which would greatly improve the trade with India.

The addresses which are forwarded to the Second Chamber, in order to protest against the plans of the Minister of the Colonial Department, to revise the India tariff in a liberal way, are augmenting in number every day. The cotton traders and manufacturers are most earnest in behalf of protectionism.

The election of an M.P. in Roermond has not given a favourable result for the Liberals, the clerical and Conservative candidate, Mr. Arnolds, having beaten, by a majority of 300 votes, the Liberal candidate, the ex-M.P., Mr. Cornelis. Mr. Arnolds was in his place yesterday in the sitting. The Liberal party has lost in Mr. Cornelis a warm and zealous supporter.

Some papers of small importance are discussing the question of emigration from here to our East India Colonies, in order to provide workmen in those parts of the colonies where there is great want of hands, and to find at the same time means to decrease the poverty in our country. The principal question is; how to find the necessary money for the passage, the State not being inclined to grant it. This matter does not enjoy the sympathy of the principal papers, who do not say one word about it.

THE ROYAL MARINES IN JAPAN.

The Army and Navy Gazette says:—We have been appealed to several times lately to press upon the authorities the claim for a medal, or some recognition, for the services rendered by the squadron and battalion of Royal Marines, under Admiral Kuper, in Japan. This claim requires no recommendation but a plain statement of facts. Two successful engagements were fought against the Japanese; the first against heavy odds, and under trying circumstances. There was considerable loss of life, but the desired results were obtained. Three large steamers and seventy guns were captured, and a large indemnity was paid by the Japanese. No medal or prize money has been given. We ask, Why? Had there been no precedent, probably nothing would have been thought of the matter. Now medals have been deservedly given for the North-West Frontier and New Zealand, and large sums of extra pay, besides a medal, for Abyssinia. Is it not natural to ask, Why is Japan forgotten? If it is considered undesirable to lessen the value of medals, we are proceeding the right way to obtain this end, namely, by giving them to people who have never seen an enemy, and withholding them from others who have actually been under fire. The cost for medals might almost be defrayed by the sum which could be realised by the sale of the few Japanese guns now at Ryde, and offered to the highest bidder by Messrs. E. and E. Emanuel.

A DECISION has been given in the Admiralty Court for £400, and an extra sum of £123, for services rendered by the steamer London in towing the Waverley (from Manila) into Lisbon. A much larger sum was claimed by the London.

An advertisement appears in The Times, signed by W. H. Alexander, official administrator of the estate of F. J. Huzeland, of Hong Kong, for all claims to be sent in before November 20, 1871. The circulation of the London and China Telegraph would be more suitable for such an announcement.

Assistant Paymasters John J. Hill, George Spain, and Rishton J. Jones have been appointed to the Ocean, on the China station, as supernumeraries, for disposal. These officers will probably proceed in the Curlew, which vessel has been inspected by Vice Admiral Elliott at Sheerness, and is now at Spithead awaiting her sailing orders for China.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Each packet or tin is labelled—JAMES EPPS & CO., Homoeopathic Chemists, London. Epps's Cocoa is also prepared with condensed milk, and sold in tins, labelled Epps's Milky Cocoa.

NOTICES TO MARINERS.

The following notices have been issued from the Hydrographical Department of the Admiralty.

China—East Coast. North Saddle Island Light.—With reference to Notice to Mariners, No. 12, dated February 13, 1871, respecting the exhibition of the first-class light revolving every minute on North Saddle Island, on the authority of the London and China Telegraph:—Official information has been received of the same, with the additional information that the light is obscured to the southward, from False Saddle Island to Elliot Islands, or between the bearings N.W. $\frac{3}{4}$ W., and E. by N. $\frac{1}{4}$ N., and that it is 273 feet above high water. The lower part of the tower is painted white and the upper part black.

Yang-tse-kiang Entrance. Tungsha Light.—With reference to Notice to Mariners, No. 110, dated 21st October, 1870, respecting an intended alteration in Tungsha Light, information has been received that it is now a revolving white light, attaining its greatest brilliancy every forty seconds: the light is elevated forty feet above the sea, and in clear weather should be seen from a distance of eleven miles. Note: When necessary to lower the light for trimming, a small white mast-head light will be exhibited together with a flash light. Also, that an iron screw pile beacon has been erected on the western part of the Block House shoal, in four feet water: from it Kintoan Lighthouse bears S. W. by S. $\frac{1}{4}$ S.; Little Kintoan bears W. by N. $\frac{1}{4}$ N.; Grass Island bears N. $\frac{1}{4}$ W. The beacon is pyramidal shaped, surmounted by a ball, which is twenty feet above high-water springs. It can be seen nine miles.

Gulf of Siam.—The following information has been obtained from the London and China Telegraph of March 14, 1871:—The commander of the Netherlands India barque Ellen Bangka reports that his vessel, whilst under sail on the 12th Nov., 1870, in the neighbourhood of the Kusrovie Rock, struck twice on a shoal on which there was only 11 feet water. The vessel was at that time north, five or six miles from the Kusrovie Rock, which was visible from the deck. The danger has accordingly been placed in lat. 11 deg. 11 min. N., and long. 102 deg. 47 min. E. [All bearings are magnetic. Variation, $1\frac{1}{2}$ deg. westerly in 1871.]

Monetary and Commercial.

The tenders for £400,000 in bills on India were received at the Bank of England, when the amounts allotted were—to Calcutta, £295,800, to Bombay £100,000, and to Madras £4,200. The minimum price was fixed, as before, at 1s. 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. on all the Presidencies, and tenders on Calcutta and Madras at 1s. 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ d., will receive about 3 per cent.; on Bombay, at 1s. 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ d., about 30 per cent., and those above in full. These results show a slight increase in the demand for means of remittance to the East.

Berlin advices mention that a new North German Loan for 20,000,000 thalers (about £3,300,000 sterling) has been privately subscribed by a combination of bankers, the same as those who took a large portion of the previous loans. No public subscription will be made, and the price of the private one has not transpired.

At the meeting of the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company at Edinburgh the fire premiums of the year were stated at £555,179, an increase of £49,750, and the losses at £323,925. The new life policies were 879, for £810,632, yielding in premiums £24,348. The fire reserve funds now amount to £745,123, and the accumulated funds of the life department to £2,313,777. A dividend of 15s. per share for the half-year ended the 31st of December, making, with the 10s. per share paid for the half-year to the 30th of June, 20 per cent., was declared, together with a bonus of 10s. per share, or 8 per cent.; in all 28 per cent. for the year.

The disastrous results of the Joint-Stock Company mania are still apparent. No less than fifty-four joint-stock companies are now being wound up, either voluntarily or under orders from the Court of Chancery.

The meeting of the Oriental Bank was held on the 20th, and the report passed. The proceedings will be found in another column.

At the meeting of the shareholders in the Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, held on the 18th inst., the report was unanimously adopted. A report of the meeting will be found in another column.

At the meeting of the Chartered Bank of India, on the 19th, the shareholders very wisely refrained from any hostile conduct towards the board of directors, and we attribute this entirely to the fact that the directors did not attempt to make things pleasant by disguising the serious nature of the losses. All kinds of rumours were in circulation as to the intentions of some of the shareholders to propose "a want of confidence in the directors," while others were said to be ready to propose winding up. These gentlemen, finding they were not supported, refrained from saying anything, and thus avoided a further injury to the value of the shares. Many shareholders are of opinion that with the aid of the telegraph now working to the ports in the Far East there is good reason to believe that the heavy losses which the Bank had experienced would not be repeated, and a more hopeful prospect was before them. The directors' report and balance sheet, as also a report of the meeting, will be found in another page.

The Manchester Courier states that Messrs. S. J. Cohen and Co., whose suspension has just been announced, commenced business rather more than ten weeks ago, and during that period they have bought £8,000 worth of goods, all of which have been consigned to India for sale, an advance of £6,000 having been obtained upon them. A reward of £50 has been offered for Mr. Cohen's apprehension, it being believed that he has left Manchester with £1,500 in his possession.

Subjoined is an account of the quantities of the principal articles of imported merchandise (subject to Customs duties) remaining in the bonded warehouses of the United Kingdom on the 31st

Mr. Edward H. Pollard, of Hong Kong, and Mr. Macdonald, late of Singapore, have joined the Board of the Realm Marine Insurance Company, and it has been decided to open Agencies in India, the Straits, China, &c. The prospectus will be found in another column.

The report and accounts of the Great Northern Telegraph Company of Copenhagen, to be submitted to the shareholders at the general meeting to be held in that city on the 26th inst., have been published. The total receipts have been £48,473, a deduction from which of £8,810 for working expenses leaves a balance of £39,663. The proposed dividend of 17s. 9d. per share will absorb £35,555, leaving a balance of £4,107 to be transferred to the reserve fund, which will then amount to £5,560. When to the present revenue is added what may be expected to be derived from the working of the China Telegraph overland line, the result is likely to become still more favourable.

In reference to the subject of freights in China, on which we expressed our opinion in our last number, a letter will be found in another column from a correspondent, and the following appeared in The Times :—

"Efforts are being made in the shipping trade to put a stop to a custom which prevails with regard to freight engagements in China, where, if a vessel is partially laden at certain rates of freight, and a lower rate is subsequently taken for a portion of cargo to fill up, the lower rate thus accepted is held to be the one that must rule the whole, the shipowner being left with the alternative of agreeing to the reduction or of discharging the cargo already on board. The practice prevails in no other quarter, and it would be difficult to imagine anything more calculated to disorganise the legitimate course of business. The General Shipowners' Society of London addressed, some months back, an able circular on the subject to the mercantile houses in China and to the Chambers of Commerce of Shanghai and Hong Kong."

The following is the report of the directors of the Singapore Gas Company, to be presented at the meeting to-morrow :—

"The directors have to report that the working of the company during Mr. Wells's absence has not been satisfactory. Up to the middle of October last, from the returns they received, they fully believed that the working was going on as favourably as usual, but at that date it became evident that this was not the case; and on Mr. Wells's return to Singapore he had to report, upon full investigation, that a considerable deficiency existed in the coal stock. Upon taking stock at the end of the year this deficiency was found to amount to about 856 tons. Apart from this deficiency the working of the company had been much as usual, and the directors, after much consideration, propose to the shareholders that one-third of the deficiency should be charged to profit and loss for the half-year ending December 31st, 1870. Owing to the increase of the consumption of gas the directors have entered into a contract for a new gas holder, which they hope will be erected complete before the end of the present year. The directors have to announce with extreme regret the death of one of their colleagues, Mr. Benjamin Cooke. The directors going out of office by rotation are Messrs. William Henry de Feuvre, Frederick Alexander Malcolm Nicol, and Henry Palfrey Stephenson, and these gentlemen being eligible for re-election, offer themselves for the support of the shareholders. The present auditors, Messrs. William Thomas Morrison and Alfred Williams, retire from office according to the Articles, and being eligible for re-election, offer themselves to the shareholders for that purpose."

"The balance-sheet to 31st December, 1870, shows the financial position of the company. The profits for the half-year are £1,232 13s. 8d. (after writing off for depreciation of works and plant, and off the expenses of first establishment, as per balance-sheet, at the rate of one-half per cent. per annum, and £5 off office furniture, and after writing £455 off coal deficiency account), which together with £207 17s., the unappropriated profit of the preceding half-year, makes the available balance £1,440 10s. 8d. Out of this sum the directors recommend the declaration of a dividend at the rate of 7½ per cent. per annum, less income-tax, and the preference capital, a dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum on the amounts paid up on the original capital, free from income-tax; the balance of £15 15s. 11d. to be carried forward to the profit of the succeeding half-year. The dividend to be payable on May 31st next."

ARTICLES OF IMPORT.

TEA.

Messrs. A. Capel and Co. report as follows:—

No material alteration has taken place in the state of the market since the resumption of business after Easter, although some sales have been effected, out of recent arrivals, of fair to medium black-leaf Congous at fully former prices, of Canton Congous at previous rates, and of common to fair Scented Teas at declining rates. Red-leaf Congous: For siftings and broken-leaf kinds there is no demand; fair to good common have sold at the low rates last quoted, but holders generally are firm. Common to fair Kaisows are saleable at last quotations, but recent arrivals have been firmly held for an expected improvement in value. Good to fine Kaisows are in a favourable position, the stock on offer being moderate; of really finest quality there are none on offer. Paklin kinds have been inquired for at last quotations. Black-leaf kinds: Low to common are almost unsaleable, and in a most unfavourable position, the stock on offer being now very large, whilst the demand for them is at a standstill; for good common there is no inquiry, and sales could only be effected at a decided sacrifice in price. Fair to good medium kinds, out of the recent arrivals, have been sold at fully former rates, and command a good inquiry at 1s. 0½d. to 1s. 4d. per lb. Good to fine are unaltered, with limited sales. Finest are but little inquired for, the trade being sufficiently supplied, and the stock on hand will probably be found ample for the present requirements. Amoy kinds are neglected. New-make Canton Congous have been sold to some extent out of the recent arrivals in boxes at fully former prices, and in half-chests on slightly easier terms. Oolongs remain as last quoted, the commoner kinds very difficult of sale. Souchongs and Flowery Pekoes are without inquiry. Scented Tea: Common kinds; common to fair Capers, ex Priam, have been sold at gradually declining prices, and since arrival of the Corea and Kate Carnie with full supplies, the trade decline to offer within 2d. per lb. of former prices. For good quality previous prices have been given, but the tendency is downward for all descriptions. Foochow Capers are also in a worse position, and are difficult of sale. Canton Orange Pekoes have been fairly saleable at slightly easier rates, but since arrival of full supplies a decided concession in price is demanded. Foochow kinds have commanded previous rates. Uncoloured Japans are as last quoted. Green Teas: If possible the position of common to fair descriptions has become worse. Arrivals of full supplies have completely paralysed the market, and it is impossible to place any value on them at present. Fine qualities are unchanged.

The following is from Messrs. Shepard, Harrison, and Rehden's Circular:—Since the holidays there has been a fair demand at previous prices, and finest black-leaf Congou has been taken to a limited extent for export, reducing the stock held by importers to a lower point than usual at this period of the year; but the wholesale dealers appear to be fully stocked, judging by the continued limited inquiry from this quarter. Deliveries continue on a large scale. There has been but little doing in red-leaf, though the tendency is towards improvement in medium grades. Taysan Leaf: There have been fair supplies offered; ordinary to good common quality in half-chests has sold at 9½d. to 11d., in boxes at 11½d. to 1s. 1d. per lb.; fair to good medium at 1s. 1½d. to 1s. 8d. per lb., and fine to finest at 1s. 9d. to 2s. 2d. per lb. Black-leaf: There is no demand for the large quantity of the quality up to good common, but fair to good useful kinds at 11½d. to 1s. 2d., being cheap, appear to have attracted general attention, and rather extensive sales have been made; of medium Pekoe kinds at 1s. 4d. to 1s. 7d. per lb. the market is bare; fine at 1s. 8d. to 1s. 10d. we hear of no sales; finest at 2s. to 2s. 2d. per lb. has been taken to a small extent for shipping. Souchong: No change. Oolong: A few transactions at 1s. to 1s. 4d. per lb. for good common to medium. Scented Tea: Canton Orange Pekoe: The late imports have been chiefly of good to medium quality, and being the grades most wanted, have commanded a ready sale at 1s. 1½d. to 1s. 4d. per lb., fine and finest have been in limited supply, but ample for the present requirements. Capers: A lower quality has come forward by the late ships, but of the class wanted by the dealers, and therefore a brisk business has been done at 1s. 1d. to 1s. 3d. for fair to good, 1s. 4d. to 1s. 5d. for medium quality. Foochow: Scented Orange Pekoe, fair to medium has been taken readily at 1s. 1½d. to 1s. 4d. per lb. Capers: No imports lately.

At a public sale held on the 20th 3,083 packages China were offered. The attendance was moderate, and prices were maintained, nearly the whole being sold without reserve. The bulk (1,793 packages) consisted of Congou, which sold, chiefly low common Black-leaf at 9½d., a few 9½d.; 1,183 packages Green brought former terms.

SILK.

Messrs. Kilburn, Kershaw, and Co.'s Circular says:—

The continuance of the revolution in Paris stops business, which would otherwise be doing in execution of French orders, and the market has, in consequence, been very dull and depressed. Prices of Chinas are about 1s. down from highest point last month, say 25s. for Red Peacock, 28s. to 28s. 6d. for best chop third Tsatlees, 16s. to 17s. for fair to good Canton Tsatlees, and very irregular quotations for Bengals and Japans, in which Silks sales can only be forced, so little inquiry is there. Deliveries are tolerably good, being from 1st to 19th inst.:—1,314 China, 510 Canton, 263 Bengal, 296 Japans; total, 2,383 bales.

COFFEE.

The public sales of the 18th contained more important supplies of Plantation Ceylon than for several weeks past, chiefly of new crop; no improvement was apparent in the demand, but previous prices were generally obtained, bold coloury qualities selling readily at firm rates. Since then moderate supplies of Plantation offered have gone off with better spirit, and firmer prices have been obtained, especially for bold coloury kinds. Native has attracted little or no attention, and all offers have been withdrawn. The current rates for plantation are triage and ordinary 46s. to 56s., small 57s. to 60s., fine ordinary 59s. to 59s. 6d., low middling greyish 61s. to 63s. 6d., bold ditto 64s. to 68s., middling coloury 65s. to 69s., good to fine middling 70s. to 79s. 6d., fine bold coloury 81s. to 83s. 6d., pea-berry 76s. to 83s. Of 742 bags pale Bonthyn Singapore offered in public sale the sound portion was bought in at 58s. to 60s., but 400 bags sea-damaged sold at 50s. 6d. to 53s., with two lots sound at 53s.; of a subsequent offer of 634 bags Singapore 100 bags good Bonthyn sold at 60s., the remainder being bought in at 59s., mixed 48s.; also 828 bags pale Bonthyn Singapore were offered, and all sold—sound at 57s. to 58s., but chiefly damaged at 50s. to 54s. 212 bags good brownish Manila have been sold at 53s., the first lot 52s. The Dutch Trading Company announce their next public sale of 69,500 bags Java for the 26th inst.

SUGAR.

For some days following our last report the activity therein noted continued, and East India kinds advanced about 1s. to 1s. 6d. upon our last quotations; subsequently, although a good inquiry has prevailed, holders have sought to establish an extreme range of prices, and this has checked business. The following are the sales reported:—Manila: At auction 2,000 bags unclayed Zebu have been sold at 21s., 200 tons Taal also at 21s., 2,150 bags clayed at 25s., and 50 tons clayed at 26s., 3,111 bags unclayed Taal being bought in at the close at 22s. 6d.; privately 6,235 bags unclayed Taal have been sold at 20s. 6d., and 6,500 bags clayed (duty 4s.) at 25s. Penang: In auction, of 189 baskets low offered, 123 baskets sold at 18s. 6d. to 19s. 6d.; washed, 18s. to 18s. 6d.; 530 baskets 65 bags low and common date were bought in at 20s.; privately, 80 baskets low quality have realised 18s. 6d. Java: In public sale, on the spot, 295 bags were bought in—soft brown (duty 4s.) at 26s., soft yellow (duty 4s. 9d.) 31s.; two floating cargoes have been sold—the cargo per River Boyne, 2,100 baskets, barely No. 14, at 32s., for the United Kingdom, and the cargo per St. Helen's, 2,617 baskets, about No. 17, at 32s. 3d. for the United Kingdom.

COCOA-NUT OIL.—The market is steady, with a fair amount of business doing; privately at the last-quoted price of £40 per ton; no public sales have been held; for arrival about 600 tons Ceylon, March-April or May sailing, are reported to have been sold at £40 10s.

CAMPOR.—There is an entire absence of demand for either China or Japan, and no transactions are reported; part of the quantity imported by the Ajax—3,660 cases China—has been offered at 65s. without finding buyers.

CUBERS.—Without alteration; steady business at former prices.

CUTCH.—The market is extremely dull, and scarcely any business has been done; prices are nominally maintained, but transactions have scarcely been sufficient to afford a true test of values.

CARDAMOMS.—At public sale 24 bags Ceylon, slightly mould, sold at 2s. 7d. to 2s. 8d.

COIR GOODS.—At the public sales on the 21st inst., although no sales had been held for three weeks previously, only a small supply of Yarn was offered, which sold with good spirit at higher prices, medium kinds bringing the greatest advance. 140 bales Ceylon Yarn were partly sold, good, £36 10s. to £37 5s.; fine, £42 to £52 5s.; superfine bright thin, £60 5s. to £65 10s.; 28 tons sold, common coarse, £23 10s.; good middling to good, £32 to £35 5s.; fine, £37 5s.; of Fibre 2,495 ballots Ceylon sold, low, £15 10s.; common, £19 15s.; fair, £28 5s.; bristle £32 15s. to £33 10s.

DRAGON'S BLOOD.—Prices are well maintained, holders being firm, but the business has only been retail in extent.

ESSENTIAL OILS.—Oil Aniseed: 10 cases were sold at 8s. 6d., at which there are buyers now. Cassia: Dull, and small sales at 4s. 5d.; 5 cases at auction retired. Nutmeg: Flat. Cinnamon: Very scarce, and wanted; 7 cases Leaf at auction retired. Citronelle: Firm; 51 cases at auction sold at 2d. to 2½d. per oz. Lemon Grass: Steady; none offered.

GALLS.—The market is quiet, and the past fortnight has been without transactions either in China or Japan.

GUMS.—Benjamin: Sumatra firm, good qualities scarce; of 54 packages (chiefly thirds) at auction, 8 cases fine seconds sold at £10 10s. to £10 12s. 6d., and 8 cases middling at £8 10s.; TT and Co. third Penang dull at 82s. 6d. Siam is neglected, and of 33 cases at auction 6 were placed, seconds at £18 10s., brown £15 10s. Manila Copal is dull of sale, and of 218 cases at auction, only one-third was sold at 41s. for good hard medium and bold; 27s. to 27s. 6d. drossy soft. Damar in good demand; 29 cases at public sale retired. Camboe steady; none offered.

GAMBIER.—The market is steady at the advance we noted a fortnight since; there has been a large arrival per Hibernia, and parcels ex that vessel are being quit at 15s. 9d.

GUTTA-FERCHA.—There is still a fair inquiry for good and fine quality, but common and middling is plentiful and dull; in public sale, of 234 packages offered the greater portion was sold at 10d. to 2s. 9d. per lb. for inferior reboiled to fair genuine.

HEMP.—There is no improvement in the market for Manila, which has remained very dull; the sales of the entire fortnight do not amount to more than 800 bales, which have been taken at former prices, viz., £48 for Sorsagon and £60 for fine white Quilot. There is absolutely no market for common quality.

HIDES.—At the periodical sales held on the 20th a good quantity of East India Kips was brought forward, the best sorts selling at previous rates, whilst middling and ordinary sold at a further decline of ¼d. to ½d. per lb. Tanned: A large quantity of Madras was offered, which sold freely at rather lower rates. Of 2,364 dry Penang 827 sold—heavy, 9½ lb., at 7½d. Buffalo: Of 6,556 Singapore and Penang 2,356 sold—light, 12½ to 19½ lb., at 6d. to 6½d.; first heavy, 21 to 28½ lb., at 5½d. to 6½d.; seconds, 22½ to 36½ lb., at 4d. to 5½d.

INDIA-RUBBER.—Good qualities meet a ready sale, and are scarce; a sale reported of middling Singapore at 1s. 9d.; Borneo and Assam steady at previous rates.

ISINGLASS.—The market is without change, the demand being still very small and prices low; 13 packages Manila Purse at auction were bought in.

JAPAN WAX.—The recent advance is well maintained, and there is now but little on offer, holders retaining their stocks in anticipation of a further rise.

MUSK.—The late rise in fine quality is maintained, but common is lower and dull; at auction of 39 caddies Tonquin, rather more than half sold at 29s. 6d. to 35s. for good to fine, and 15s. to 16s. rough and bally.

PEPPER.—Black: The movement by Bear speculators has almost ceased, but 2,000 bags have been sold for delivery in December at 4d. per lb., and on the spot a good quantity has changed hands at 5 5-10d. for Singapore, up to 4 15-16d. to 5d. for Penang, at which the market closes firm. At public sale, of 420 bags Singapore and 160 bags Penang offered, the latter only sold at 5d. per lb. for fair. White is neglected, and ¼d. per lb. cheaper at auctions, which have presented 341 bags Singapore, forced off at 7½d. to 7¾d. per lb. for middling to fair, but the bulk of the stock is in good hands, and is very firmly held.

PLUMBAGO.—Rates for Ceylon exhibit some improvement, owing to an increased demand; public sales have embraced 1,370 barrels, of which about one third were placed at 27s. 6d. to 30s. per cwt. for good to very fine bright lump, middling 20s. to 23s., chips 12s. to 14s., low to ordinary dust 5s. 6d. to 7s.

RATTANS.—The market continues steady; the only parcel offered has been 6,605 bundles Singapore, chiefly damaged, of which the greater portion was sold at 3s. 7d. per hundred for sound. Other Canes: 1,397 bundles Tonkin sold at ¾d., 1,493 bundles Partridge at 2¼d., one lot 2¼d., and 196 bundles Black Bamboo at 1¼d.; 1,096 bundles Yellow Bamboo and 230 bundles Borneo withdrawn. 53 bundles Malacca bought in at 1¼d. to 2d., 35 bundles mouldy Manoo sold at 6d., and 12 cases Dragon partly sold at 4½d. to 6d. per cane.

RUBBER.—The market for China is quiet, and there have been large arrivals per Ajax; at public sale 193 cases have been offered, of which the bulk was sold, fair fracture at 2s. 3d. to 2s. 6d., and smaller root, 2s.; high dried, fair colour, 1s. 4d. to 1s. 6d.

RICE.—On the spot there has been a fair business doing, but prices have ruled irregularly, and are in some cases rather lower. Floating cargoes move off slowly, especially those of large size. Transactions comprise, on the spot, 750 tons old Saigon at 9s. 3d. ex ship, 6,500 bags field Siam at 8s. 9d., 14,000 bags Rangoon at 9s. 1½d. to 10s. 4½d.; 8,000 bags cargo Bengal, Casla 8s. 7½d. to 8s. 9d. ex quay, Ballam and Moonghy 9s. to 10s. 7½d.; 700 bags Madras at 10s. 3d.; and 9,000 bags White Bengal, Dacca 9s. 3d. ex quay, old hard white 10s. 4½d. to 11s., low to fine 9s. 6d. to 12s. 6d. per cwt. For arrival, 1,200 tons cargo Bengal, Soolie 9s. 3d. to 9s. 6d., and Raree 10s. ex quay, and two cargoes Necransie at 10s. 3d., Continental terms, and 10s. 4½d. landed here.

ROOTS.—China: Without alteration; private sales continue to be effected at 18s. Colombo: Market unchanged.

SAGO.—Market very dull, and prices lower. Auctions have embraced 220 boxes, and 3,633 bags, of which only a small portion sold; middling to good small at 15s. 6d. to 16s.; good large at 18s. to 18s. 6d.

SHELLS.—Mother o' Pearl: Market steady, with small sales of fine Manila at £8. Tortoise: Unaltered; no transactions to report.

SPICES.—Cinnamon: Market steady at previous value; the public sales have embraced 56 bales, which sold at former value, and 61 bags Chips, which realised 2½d. to 5½d. per lb. for fair bark to good shavings. Cassia: Private sales of unworked effected at 110s. to 112s., and stock further reduced; Buds are again lower, with further arrivals of 760 cases. Cloves: Penang firm at the advanced prices noted in our report of the 7th inst.; Amboyna dull; no fine quality offering. Mace continues firm; at auction 6 cases sold at 3s. 3d. per lb. for good red. Nutmegs: Steady; the only offer at public sale, 15 cases, was retired.

STICKLAC.—Siam continues scarce and firm; no business reported.

SOY.—The market has continued quiet; 5 casks China at auction were quitted at 2s. 1d. to 2s. 3d. per gallon.

SAPANWOOD.—No change in the market; 8 tons damaged Manila in public sale realised £7 per ton.

TAPIOCA.—The demand is limited, and prices have slightly declined; the public sales have included 60 bags Penang, sold at 2d. to 2½d. per lb.; 250 bags Singapore retired; 711 bags Pearl, half sold at 18s. to 18s. 6d. for fine large, 17s. 6d. for fair do.; and 360 bags Flour retired.

TURMERIC.—The market continues dull; an offer of 702 bags Java at auction met no demand.

TIN.—There is a steady demand, and prices are improving. For Straits business has been done at £127 10s. on the spot, and £126 10s. floating. Banca, on the spot, has realised £129 10s. In Holland there are buyers at 76 fl. without sellers.

VERMILION.—The market for China is still dull but firm; four boxes at auction met no offers, and were withdrawn.

ARTICLES OF EXPORT.

MANCHESTER GOODS.

There is not much change to report in the condition of the market; only a moderate amount of business has been transacted, but prices have generally been well maintained. At the close, influenced by a weaker feeling in the Liverpool market, caused by the large imports of Cotton, there is a quieter tone, and values of Yarns and Goods are the turn against producers. Buyers are operating very cautiously, purchasing only for their pressing requirements, and in most instances for immediate delivery.

NEW YORK MARKET REPORT.—APRIL 3.

TEA.

There has been a good demand for Oolong, but other descriptions are neglected and irregular, the market closing quiet, with prices generally in buyers' favour. The sales are 7,350 half-chests Green, 2,800 do. Japan, and 11,400 do. Oolong, vessels not named.

COFFEE.—The current quotations for East India kinds are, Java Government bags, 18c. to 20c.; Java mats, 18½c. to 22c.; Singapore, 17c. to 18c.; Manila, 14c. to 15c.; Native Ceylon, 15½c. to 17c., showing no change from our last report. The market for Brazil is extremely dull, and business is scarcely practicable even at a slight decline which has been established. For East India kinds the market is also quiet; there is no demand for export, and the trade buy only to the extent of their immediate requirements; prices are, however, firmly maintained by holders, the tone of the market being supported by advices of the high rates paid at the Padang sale of the 30th ult. The sales reported are 50 bags Java and 4,809 mats Singapore, ex W. A. Farnsworth (a resale), at the above quoted prices; also of small lots Java pale, 19c.; medium, 20c.; brown, 22c. to 23c. Singapore pale, 18c.; medium, 19c.; brown, 20c. to 21c. gold.

CAMPBELL.—China is quoted 15c. gold (in bond).

ESSENTIAL OILS.—Aniseed is quoted $2.20; Cassia, 95c. gold (in bond).

FIRE CRACKERS.—The market has improved, there having been a large business, with a tendency towards advance; the sales reported are 10,500 boxes and 10,000 half-boxes Canton No. 1 on private terms, and 8,000 boxes at $2.45 to $2.50 for good brands.

GAMBIER.—The current quotation is $3.75 to 3.80 gold (duty paid).

HEMP.—There was a slight movement in Manila shortly after our last report, sales being effected of 500 bales on the spot at 9½c. and 800 bales to arrive at 9½c. gold; the demand, however, died off, and at the close the market is dull. The stock of Manila on the 1st inst. was 30,885 bales, against 20,591 bales at the corresponding date last year.

INDIGO.—There is but little demand, though prices are maintained; the sales have comprised about 30 cases Manila at $1.10 to 1.25 currency.

PRESERVED GINGER.—China is quoted $3.50 currency (duty paid).

RHUBARB.—The quotation for China is 50c. to $1.25 currency (duty free).

RICE.—Rangoon has continued to be in fairly active request at steady rates; we note sales of 2,500 bags in lots at $7 to $7.50 currency duty paid and 2,000 bags in bond at $3.37½ to $3.50, superior quality $3.75 gold.

SUGAR.—The business has been on a very moderate scale. Refined Sugar is slow of sale, and refiners, being pretty well supplied with stock, operate only for present necessities, and the market consequently presents a very dull appearance. The receipts, though moderate, exceed the current sales, and the stock has been considerably enhanced. The sales have included 32,761 bags, Manila, per Marchioness of Londonderry, 8½c.; 23,644 bags, per Tewksbury, to go to Boston, 8c.; 17,000 bags, to arrive per Elizabeth A. Oliver, 9c., delivered at Boston; 40,000 bags to arrive per Golden Fleece, on private terms; 12,000 bags, balance of cargo, per Golden Fleece, also on private terms; and 26 hogsheads damaged Batavia at 8½c. to 8¾c. cash.

SPOICES.—There has been a good business, but at prices, for some descriptions, rather in buyers' favour. Cassia and Cloves have slightly declined, and Black Pepper, though without quotable change, is held with less tenacity. In Cloves there has been a large movement, a cargo of 5,000 bales having been taken to arrive. Cassia has also sold freely, the transactions embracing 800 cases for export and 900 bales in bond ex Witch of the Tees, and 550 piculs, 17,600 mats, ex John Wooster, from first hands; besides, we have to notice the sale of 110 bags Sumatra Pepper, all on private terms. There is an improved jobbing demand, and the market for trade lots has been quite active, Nutmegs, especially, moving freely. Mace command $1.15, Nutmegs 82½ to 85 cents, Cassia 31½ to 32, Pepper 16½ to 16¾, and Cloves 12½.

TIN.—There has been but little movement, notwithstanding favourable accounts of the Dutch Trading Company's sale at Amsterdam on the 30th ult.; small sales of Straits have been effected at 32½c. gold.

ABRIDGED PROSPECTUS.

The completion of the Suez Canal, and the establishment of telegraphic communication with the East, have given a new and powerful stimulus to European trade with India, China, Japan, and Australia.

British commerce in the East during the last thirty years has advanced in annual value from 17 to upwards of 200 millions sterling, and is steadily increasing. The trade of Egypt, India, China, and Australia with Great Britain is, however, still in its infancy.

Guarantees for the protection, by insurance, of this immense and advancing trade have not increased in corresponding proportions.

The Realm Marine Insurance Company will, therefore, in addition to general business, give special attention to and provide adequate means for the protection at sea of Indian and Chinese commerce.

The services of Henry Woodfall, Esq., the well-known Underwriter and Average Adjuster, have been secured as Underwriter to the Company.

A copy of the Memorandum and Articles of Association may be seen at the offices of Messrs. Newman, Dale, and Stretton, solicitors to the Company, 75, Cornhill, E.C.

Application for shares, addressed to the Directors in the subjoined form, may be made in London, to Messrs. Smith, Payne, and Smiths, 1, Lombard-street, E.C.; Messrs. George Burnand and Co., No. 69, Lombard-street, E.C.; Philip Maughan, Esq., 2, Austin-friars, E.C.; and in Glasgow, to Messrs. Auld and Guild. Messrs. White and Gairdner, Messrs. Mackenzie, Aiken, and Barclay, and Messrs. Black and Robson, stockbrokers. In the event of no allotment being made the whole of the deposit will be returned.

CHARTERED BANK OF INDIA, AUSTRALIA, AND CHINA.

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

(PRESENTED AT THE SEVENTEENTH ORDINARY GENERAL MEETING, 19TH APRIL, 1871.)

The Directors, in submitting to the Shareholders the Balance-sheet of the Bank for the year ended 31st December, 1870, regret that they are unable to recommend the payment of a Dividend.

In their Circular, dated 5th October last, the Directors informed the Shareholders that provision would have to be made for losses, then estimated at £72,000, viz., £22,000, caused by a fraud committed at Shanghai, and £50,000, arising from depreciation in the value of Securities held in connection with overdue Bills and Advances.

The severe depression in the markets experienced last autumn was aggravated during the remainder of the year by the continuance of the war; but, notwithstanding these unfavourable circumstances, the whole of the produce held by the Bank, with the exception of a small quantity (valued at £8,300), has been realised. The result is that after taking credit for the profits of the year, and the amounts held in reserve, a sum of £59,022 9s. 11d. has to be carried forward as a deficiency to be met by future earnings; but that sum, representing $7\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. of the Capital, is fully believed to be a most ample provision for all losses known or apprehended, and does not justify the recent depreciation of the Shares.

It will be observed that the profits for the past twelve months are considerably below the average of previous years. The Directors deem it important, therefore, to state that this falling off arose, not only from the exceptional causes referred to in their last Circular, but in a still greater degree from the disturbance of the Exchanges, more especially in China, on the sudden outbreak of the war in Europe, and from the restrictions which the Directors, as a measure of precaution, then imposed upon the transactions of the various agencies. Although these restrictions necessarily curtailed the profits of the Bank, their effect has been to maintain the business on a perfectly sound footing; and, judging from the advices already received, the operations of the Agencies during the present year are of a satisfactory character.

The Shareholders are assured that the Directors are more than ever alive to the necessity of enforcing, at all the establishments of the Bank, the strictest economy consistent with efficient management. In consequence of the continuous decline during the last few years in the value of money in the East, the rates of Interest allowed on Deposits, both at home and abroad, have been reduced.

The Directors have to report that Mr. George Ure Adam, who ably filled the post of manager from the commencement of the Bank's operations, has been compelled, through impaired ill-health, to retire on superannuation, and has been succeeded by Mr. John Howard Gwyther, lately the Sub-Manager.

A vacancy in the Board has been created since the last Annual Meeting, in consequence of Mr. John Allan resigning his seat on account of ill-health. The Directors have provisionally elected in his place Mr. Andrew Cassels, lately a partner of Messrs. John Peel and Co., of Manchester, and of Messrs. Peel, Cassels, and Co., of Bombay, and the shareholders are now invited to confirm this election. Mr. Ludwig Wiese, formerly a partner of Messrs. Siemssen and Co., of China, has also consented to join the Direction; but, in terms of the Deed of Settlement, his election must be postponed until he has been a shareholder for a period of six months. The Directors believe that these gentlemen will form valuable acquisitions to the Board.

Mr. John Jones and Mr. William Macnaughtan now retire by rotation, and, being re-eligible, offer themselves to the choice of the Shareholders. The two Auditors, Mr. Jonathan Thorp and Owen Lewis, having completed their year of office, likewise again tender their services.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

A certain cure for headaches, biliousness, loss of appetite, and lowness of spirits. Persons engaged in literary pursuits or commerce are informed that these Pills can be taken without danger from wet or cold, and require no interruption in business or pleasure. They act very mildly on the bowels, strengthen the stomach, and promote a healthy action of the liver, whereby they purify the blood, cleanse the skin, brace the nerves, and invigorate the whole system. They effect a wonderful change in a debilitated constitution, as they create a healthy appetite, correct indigestion, remove insipidated bile, giddiness, headaches, and palpitation of the heart. Plain directions for the use of this medicine, at once both mild and efficacious, are affixed to each box.

Summary of News from the Far East.

JAPAN.

Dates by this mail are to March 12. The outward mail of Jan. 13 arrived March 5. The Pacific, mail steamer, from San Francisco Feb. 1, arrived out on 26th.

The following is from the Japan Herald of 11th March:—

Shortly after midnight on the 26th Feb. one of those bloody tragedies which from time immemorial have been so frequently perpetrated in Japan was consummated at the capital. For some reason, to foreigners unknown, Hiresawa Sanji had become obnoxious to some of the Hosokawa clan, about twenty of which in the dead of night entered his Yashiki at the Boncho, and, having found him asleep, attacked him by giving him two cuts in front, and then severing his head from his body. Hiresawa was a Sanji at the Daijokwan, and was formerly a high officer of Chosiu. The assassination was entirely a political one. We are informed that the most intense excitement prevails among the Government officials, but everything is kept as quiet as possible, while the strictest search is being made throughout Yedo, Yokohama, and all the surrounding country for the absconding offenders.

The intelligence from Kagosima is that hundreds of those defeated in the late rebellion are now finding their way into Satsuma's territories. Kats Awa no kami, formerly the Tycoon's Admiral, who went to America with the Japanese man-of-war Kanrimaru, is there; as also one of the Princes of the North, Shonsi, as invited guests. What all this portends time will tell. Is Satsuma to be seated on the throne of the ex-Tycoon? Eight regiments of Satsuma's are forming to march to Yedo, to protect (!) the Mikado. Prince Kanga has for three years been at the expense, and had the honour to guard the Tokaido. He dare not refuse while Satsuma, Chosiu and Tosa, are invited guests within the inner circle, and other Princes remain outside the door.

The appointment formerly held by Mr. Portman, of Japanese Interpreter to the American Legation, has been conferred by Mr. De Long upon Dr. Hepburn, whose acquaintance with the language of Japan thoroughly fits him for the discharge of the duties of his new office.

THE NEW MINT COINAGE.

The following information concerning the new coinage about to be issued from the Imperial Mint at Osaka is interesting. The silver coinage will be exactly the same as the coinage issued from the late Mint at Hong Kong, viz., silver:—

50 " " " 208 " 8/10th "
20 " " " 83.20 " " "
10 " " " 41.60 " " "
5 " " " 20.80 " " "

The dollar will be the unit, and the only legal tender, the subsidiary coins being legal only to the extent of 100 times themselves, thus:—

The 50c. will be legal to the extent of $50
20 " " " 20
5 " " " 5

The dollar or unit will have the privilege of the usual "legal remedy" of 1½ grain in each direction—that is to say, a dollar would be legal when it weighs not less than 414½ grains, nor more than 417½ grains.

The remedy in the purity will be two parts per mille in each direction; thus coins of the standard of 898/1000 would pass as current up to 902/1000.

The Japan dollar may, therefore, be regarded as a silver dollar not less in value than that of Mexico.

The silver subsidiary coinage will be "pounded," that is weighed in pounds troy, and not singly, and the "remedy" is each direction be 24 grains more or less per pound. The "remedy" is purity being 2 parts per mille.

Copper Coins: There will be three copper coins, viz.:—
1/100th. 1/500th. 1/1,000th.

The copper coins will be weighed by the pound, and have a remedy of 24 grains per pound, more or less in each direction.

It is intended to make the copper coins pure, with perhaps a sufficient alloy of zinc to harden them, but the exact particulars of the copper coinage will be given hereafter.

It is intended to make them as near as possible to the Hong Kong copper coinage, but without the hole in the centre.

—Copper coins will be a legal tender to the extent of $1.

Gold Coins.—There will be three gold coins, viz.:—

$ 2½ " 62 " "

The remedy for weight in these coins will be same as for the silver subsidiary coins, the purity remedy being two parts per mille.

The gold coins will be legal tender only for ten times themselves, viz.:—

The question of the persecution of native Christians continued to excite much interest. The Japan Herald publishes a full report of the proceedings of the conference on this subject held at the Foreign-office on the 19th January, 1870.

Shortly before midnight on the 8th March a destructive fire broke out in the Otomachi, which swept off over 200 houses before it was checked. Though the destruction of property was considerable, fortunately no loss of life occurred. The new steam fire-engine proved of considerable service. The other engines were also actively worked, and did good service. The men of the 10th, together with French, Prussians, and Japanese troops, also rendered valuable assistance. Three or four Japanese caught looting were despatched to Tobe, and one Irishman engaged in the same occupation sent to the police station. The recklessness of the Japanese firemen was, as usual, great.

By the last American mail Mr. De Long received a commission (which had been detained at San Francisco for six months, owing to his anticipated arrival there on temporary leave of absence) appointing him as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary. He holds now a higher rank than that held by his predecessor.

The Japan Herald hears that Mr. Justice Hannen has readmitted Mr. F. J. Barnard to practice in H.B.M. Provincial Court.

The Andrens, N.G. ship, in attempting to beat out of port got on Saratoga Spit. After being lightened of 150 tons of ballast she was floated off the bank, on which she was stuck for the past few days. The Medusa and the tugs from the P. and O. and the P.M.S.S. Companies went down and endeavoured to tow her off, but without success.

Mr. Pearson has published an account of the funds subscribed for the purchase of the church organ, showing a deficit on the cost of the organ, without freight or insurance, of $113.63. The entertainments given in September and October last resulted in a loss of $453, which Mr. Pearson has personally defrayed. A previous entertainment given by Mr. Black also resulted disastrously for that gentleman's purse. The expenses of first preparing the theatre for the performances, and of subsequent repairs of damage occasioned by two typhoons, were the causes of the heavy outlay; but the deficit is now so small that it will probably be immediately made up.

The North German barque Albatross succeeded in eluding the vigilance of the French cruisers, under cover of darkness, very recently, and has, we are informed, successfully run the blockade, and got out to the open sea, whence no doubt she will try to make good time for a more eligible port. We hear that a claim will be sent home by the North German Minister upon the Government for compensation, at a fixed rate per ton per day, for all the German ships shut up in harbour in the ports of Japan since the beginning of the war.

We hear that the Japanese Government have at last found the clue to a series of kinsat forgeries, executed by natives in conjunction with European accomplices. Four Japanese have been arrested with the plates and paper for forging, and a man going by the name of John Rodgers has been arrested, but admitted to bail.

We hear that Mr. Lemuel Lyon, the American Consul at this port, is about to be transferred to Singapore, and that the vacancy thus created will be filled by Mr. Shepard, at present Consul at Yedo.

By the instructions relative to treaty making with the Korea issued by the U. S. Government it will be seen that the same intercommunication is sought as at first existed between Japan and the American and English nations.

(TWELVE DAYS LATER, VIA SAN FRANCISCO.)

The steamer America arrived at San Francisco on the 15th April, with dates from Yokohama to 24th March. The following items have been telegraphed to the New York papers:—

Affairs in Japan are critical. In various places bands of armed men are threatening hostilities to the Government. The guard of the Mikado has been increased. War steamers have been sent north on account of disturbances there.

At Yedo a Chancellor of the third rank was murdered under circumstances of horrible atrocity.

The expedition to the Korea is preparing to leave; the United States Minister will accompany it. The United States ship Alaska is in port.

U.S. Minister Lowe (Peking) has rebuked the English and Americans, who, he says, have assumed diplomatic functions, and pretend to determine the necessity for a war between European nations and China before there is an opportunity for the adjustment of the claims growing out of the Tientsin riot.

NAGASAKI.

NAGASAKI, March 7.

I last wrote you on the 15th ultimo, via San Francisco. The mails of the 9th, 16th, and 23rd December arrived here on the 26th ult., by the P. M. steamer Oregonian, from Yokohama, 79, 72, and 65 days respectively. On the 28th February the English mail of 30th Dec. came to hand by the Costa Rica (str.), 60 days out, and on the 6th inst. the London and China Express of the 6th January was received here, via San Francisco.

The movements of the vessels of war have been confined to the arrival of H.B.M. gunboat Ringdove, on the 2nd inst., from Yokohama, &c., and the departure of the Russian corvette Almaz and gunboat Sobol, on the 2nd and 3rd inst., destination unknown.

The North German vessels which have lain so long in our harbour have begun to show signs of activity, some of them have already commenced taking in coal in anticipation of peace being declared.

The following is extracted from the Nagasaki Gazette:—Exports.—Tea: The natives during the past week have been asking extreme prices—with a view of establishing an advance in rates; the result is that not a single transaction with foreigners has been reported. Stocks are somewhat reduced, 300 bales having been sent to Hiogo on native account, and no further supplies from the country having arrived. Camphor and Gallnuts, nothing doing. Tobacco scarce. Coals: Stocks have largely increased, and the export demand being less, prices have fallen considerably; Takasima, $6½ per ton; Karatz, $3½ to $4½ per ton; other kinds, $3½ to $3¾ per ton. Export in February 825 tons Takasima; 3840 tons Karatz; total, 4665 tons, showing a decrease on January shipments of 3,359 tons. Exchange on London: But little has been done during the week.

The same paper also says:—The British Government, we are informed, do not intend for the future to send coals from home for the use of H.M.'s vessels in these waters, and so soon as the present stock is exhausted they will consume Japanese coal. This will effect a considerable saving, particularly when we are aware of the fact that Japanese coal can be purchased at about one-third of the price that English coal can be laid down here for, besides that obtained from Takasima mines is pronounced to be equal if not superior to the best productions from home. The export of coal from this port, during February, shows a decrease of 8,359 tons as compared with the month of January, which is attributed to want of tonnage to carry it away.

CHINA.

—O—
TIENTSIN.

The correspondent of the Shanghai Courier writes:—With the re-opening of navigation there has been a renewal of all manner of warlike rumours. The visit of Li-Hung-chang to the new powder mill, its commencing to manufacture powder, and its rumoured speedy enlargement to a producing power capable of supplying the whole empire, is openly spoken of by the Chinese as preparatory to a foreign war. While official persons talk of the notorious Cheng-Kwo-ju as being at Kiukiang, the great mass of the people assert that he has gone down secretly, under an alias, to Taku, the fortifications of which are constantly being strengthened. A force of 20,000 men are said to have been summoned from various quarters to the neighbourhood of Tientsin in view of the probable revision of the Treaty this year. Considerable speculation has also been excited by the arrival per Szechuen of Dr. Macartney, of Nanking Arsenal, on a visit to Li-Hung-chang.

So far we have got out of the region of rumour and conjecture, and all we can legitimately infer is that there must be some reality where there is so much shadow, even if the image given by the latter is exaggerated and distorted. But one fact is well known and indisputable. Application has been made by high Chinese officials to certain natives to superintend the construction of some internal machines, a sort of torpedoes—for use in the Peiho. They are of similar construction to those used there in 1860; and it is difficult to avoid the inference that they are intended for a similar use—the attempted destruction of foreign vessels.

SHANGHAI.

The dates by this mail extend to the 15th March. The outward mail of Jan. 27 arrived on March 15, with telegrams announcing the peace.

The annual general meeting of the Shanghai Steam Navigation Company was held on the 4th March, H. H. Warden, Esq.

in the chair. The report shows a total net profit of Tls. 510,000 on the steamers' working, besides Tls. 271,000 carried to Insurance and Depreciation account, and other minor receipts from interest, balances, &c. Out of this, Tls. 225,000 have been paid away as dividend at the rate of 12 per cent., Tls. 163,700 has been invested in the new steamer Ilupeh, and the balance is again carried to the Insurance account. Tls. 151,600, already standing at the credit of Reserve, are also merged in this account, which now stands at Tls. 505,000. On the basis of this fund, a scrip dividend of 20 per cent. was issued, the value of which is of course contingent upon the state of the Insurance Fund.

Mr. Barnes asked if there would be any objection to tell the shareholders what were the company's gross earnings from freight and passage-money. Such information was usually given in other companies. The Chairman said they had not done so hitherto, and the present accounts were made out according to the custom prevailing in this company. Mr. Barnes asked if the directors did not think a change in the custom of the company in this respect might be advisable. The Chairman said they did not; it would be against the interests of shareholders to show their business too much. In respect to this, stockholders were protected by the auditors appointed, and the directors did not think it to be for their interest to give any more figures than were now laid before them.

Mr. Parker asked whether the chairman's remarks implied that the directors considered it unadvisable to expose the business of the company, though at home it was believed to be rather advantageous than otherwise to show any good result. The Chairman: We cannot see any good result from showing it here. Mr. Parker observed that the outside public might see good in having these things laid before them. The Chairman said the outside public very likely was inquisitive, and might like it; but it would do the stockholders harm instead of good; the company was peculiarly situated. Mr. Parker thought the sooner the company got out of its peculiar position the better.

The directors announce a probability of selling the Chilli, and that two new steamers had been ordered. Messrs. H. H. Warden, Blydenburgh, Dent, Forbes, and Porter were elected directors for the current year, and Mr. Rowley Miller auditor.

We regret very much to have to record the sudden death of Dr. B. Jenkins, interpreter of the U.S. Consulate. Dr. Jenkins was one of the oldest Shanghai residents, his stay here dating from 1847, and he will be much missed from a community in which he has been so long known and respected. The first thirteen years of his stay were devoted to mission work, in pursuance of which he travelled a good deal through the neighbouring country, at a time when such journeys were more serious undertakings than they are now; and the pages of the North China Herald contain interesting records of his adventures and experience.

In deference to the general expression of opinion, the Council have abandoned the tax on native tea-houses. The Secretary writes, on their behalf, to certain property owners who had officially remonstrated against their action, that the Council "have no desire to assume powers not delegated to them by the Land Regulations and Ratepayers, or to place themselves in an antagonistic position to any one section of the community." Their action was of course based on a mistaken interpretation of Bye Law No. XXXIV.; and they very properly retire from their position, now that the error is pointed out. Holding, however, that the tax was clearly illegal, we must say it seems to us that the sums collected should be refunded.

The shareholders of the Shanghai Tug and Lighter Company held their annual general meeting on the 7th of March, and declared a dividend of 5 per cent. on the capital stock, with a further bonus of 5 per cent. on the business contributed by shareholders. Messrs. F. B. Forbes, John Anderson, and E. C. Smith were re-elected directors for the current year.

The annual meeting of the Shanghai Gas Company was held on the 10th March. The accounts show a net profit on the year's working of Tls. 24,172, of which Tl. 18,000 is absorbed by a 12 per cent. dividend, leaving Tls. 6,172 to be carried to reserve, thus raising the fund to Tls. 25,586. The increase in consumption of gas over the previous year has been 500,000 cubic feet.

The directors of the U. S. N. Company have appointed Messrs. Olyphant and Co. general agents. The announcement has taken shareholders rather by surprise. So important a matter, it is urged, should have been submitted to a general meeting of shareholders; and Article 7 of the company's deed of settlement seems to sustain this view. Apart, however, from the technical question—that people generally consider the directors have acted wisely in the interests of the company is proved by the fact that since the announcement the quotation for shares has considerably advanced.

The Chinese were excessively annoyed at the result of the trial regarding the Lismore's cargo, and brought a comment on the judgment which the editor considered to be a libel likely to be punished by a fine of some Tls. 2,000. The contributors went away in disgust, and fell back on their own familiar way of promulgating their grievance. Next morning, copies of the document were posted up in various parts of the settlement—one prominently opposite our office door—with the addition of a few compliments to ourselves, among which was an accusation of having demanded a $2,000 bribe to publish it.

The report by the British Consul at Ningpo of the trade at that port during the year 1870 shows a total increase of Tls. 834,000, referable to foreign imports and Chinese exports, the trade in native imports having fallen off. A decrease is shown in the shipping of every flag except the American—the inference being that Shanghai is becoming more and more closely connected with Ningpo, and that the trade is being carried on more and more exclusively by the S.S.N. steamers.

We are sorry to hear that M. Vial, the Commandant of the Franco-Chinese disciplined troops stationed outside the South Gate of the city, has been badly injured by one of his native sub-officers.

The chief local event of interest has been the destruction of the Lyceum Theatre by fire. Several gentlemen attempted to check the flames, pending the arrival of the engines, but the inflammable nature of the building defeated their efforts, and within an hour from the first alarm, the whole was a sheet of flame. The heat from the burning building, which was entirely of wood, was so intense that it set fire to a tree some thirty yards from the fire, and rendered approach within twenty yards almost intolerable. It seemed at one time inevitable that the whole of Balfour Buildings and Yuen-min-Yuen would also be consumed; but the fire brigade succeeded in saving them. The German Club have offered the use of the Concordia Theatre, to enable the A.D.C. to carry out their programme, and the Committee have accepted the offer. The proceeds of the performance will be added to the $1,500 at present standing to their credit in the bank, and a meeting of scripholders will be called, as soon as the accounts can be closed, to decide as to the disposal of the amount.

The Manchu, the first steamer of the season from the north, and the Appin, second, had arrived. We hear that both steamers had to break the ice to get up the Peiho; and they report that there was a good deal of broken ice in the river when they left on the 8th.

A Tientsin correspondent writes that everything was perfectly quiet, and that several foreigners who had gone into the interior during the winter had not been interfered with. The steamer Appin was the first to arrive off the settlement, at 10 p.m. on the 5th, having ploughed her way up through two inches of rotten ice. The winter would seem to have been wild in Mongolia, as no sand grouse had been seen. Of market news there seems absolutely none, no country dealers having yet arrived.

It is satisfactory to learn, from the Peking Gazette, that Wen-seang returned to duty on the 13th February. The Korean Ministers arrived at Peking, with their tribute, on the 16th. A Censor, by name Chang Ching-ching, reports upon the conduct of the wife of a sew-tsu by purchase. This lady, finding her husband ill, cut off one of her fingers and administered it to him in his physic. Unluckily the specific had not the desired effect, for the man died. In the tenth month the heroine's mother-in-law died, whereupon she strangled herself. An edict is now issued directing the Board of Rites to report upon the most suitable form for the Imperial admiration to take.

The new steamer Sarpedon left on the 12th March for Liverpool. Her entire cabin passage accommodation is engaged, and several applications had to be declined. Between discharging, docking, shipping a new propeller and loading, she has lost no time in Shanghai. Considering the rapid passage she made out, coming three fourths of the distance with a half-propeller, we shall watch with interest her performance homeward, which will, we hope, be made with full propelling power.

A preliminary trial of the revolving light and fog-horn in the Tungsha Light ship took place on the 6th inst. The light was beautifully clear and the revolutions took place with the steadiness and precision of clock work, by which, indeed, they are produced. The fog-horn was a decided, deafening, dismal, excruciating success :—

"For such a noise it made you'd swear
That all Arcadia's herds were braying there."
(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

SHANGHAI, March 15.

The report by last mail, that the Government were about to send Mr. Erskine as Minister to China, and that Mr. Elliott was to come as Special Envoy to arrange the revision of the Treaty, was received here with much pleasure, as the infusion of new blood into the Diplomatic body in China cannot fail to do good. Anything is preferable to mandarin worship.

As a straw will show which way the wind blows I may mention that Dr. Macartney has gone to Taku to see the forts put in proper order for defence. Mr. Wade cries peace, peace, when there is no peace. As I have pointed out to you many times, the Chinese Government are persistently preparing for war, yet our Minister, paid to protect our interests, telegraphs home all is peace, no danger; yet we find the Chinese arming every where, arsenals, and powder factories hard at work, gun-boats equipped as fast as possible, Europeans all dismissed from them. They are now commanded and navigated solely by Chinese. Vast stores of rice have been sent to Tientsin in native and foreign bottoms, ammunition and guns bought up in every direction; Krupp's guns from Belgium, powder and rifles from Japan, breech-loading field pieces from Shanghai and Hong Kong. The guns lent to the Volunteers have been actually sold to the Chinese, and may be any day turned against us. It seems to me madness on the part of our Government to ignore these facts, but our Minister is too busy with Chinese cobwebs at Peking to bestow a thought on what is passing around. Dr. Macartney has for many years been Superintendent of the Arsenal at Nanking, and the fact of his despatch to Taku is not without significance at this juncture.

The loss of the steamer Don on the coast of China, and the plundering of the cargo and cruel treatment of the crew and passengers by the Chinese, calls for some action on the part of our authorities; but, alas, little is to be expected from them in the way of protection or redress for injuries. There is a convenient way of shelving all unpleasant subjects.

The Northern ports, Tientsin and Newchwang, are open again for the season. A new channel, with deeper water, has been discovered on the Bar at Woosung, and is to be buoyed.

HONG KONG.

Dates extend to March 92. The outward London mail of 27th Jan. arrived on March 10, and telegrams extended to the 9th by the steamer Agamemnon, from Singapore.

Mr. Stanhope, the chief officer of the steamer Don, wrecked on the voyage from Hong Kong to Shanghai on the 13th Feb., gives particulars, in his official statement, of the treatment the ship's crew met with at the hands of natives after the ship struck on the southern point of the Ocksen Islands. To quote Mr. Stanhope's own words:—"We were all strangers in Chinese waters, except the passenger pilot, but we all knew that the inhabitants of the islands and sea coast were pirates—that they would surely rob us, and perhaps murder us, when they found us defenceless. We swung the boats out, provisioned them, arranged their crews, and put in them nearly all of our personal property. The natives by this time had gathered, I should think in hundreds, for we could hear them under the bows and all over the face of the hill. They were now throwing stones at us, and so, fearing they would cut off our retreat, we left the ship in four boats. Shortly after we left we heard by their yells that they had got on board. At daylight we could just see the islands at a distance, and Pyramid Point to the westward. We hauled in towards the land, making about three or four miles an hour, when a fleet got round us, getting in amongst and separating us. At the first shock I saw the third mate's boat crushed up between two junks and instantly plundered. I afterwards saw the boat towed astern of a junk and empty. I think the crew must have got on board the junk. The captain's boat gave one of the junks a rope, and signed to us to do the same; we did so, especially as they promised to tow us to Amoy. They towed us in shore instead, all the time separating us more and more. Shortly after we were taken in tow, the fellows in the junk began hauling the boat alongside, and, when they got her under their stern, snatched a bag like a flash, and in a few seconds would have emptied the boat, but I presented a small pocket revolver which I had, and scared them for the time. It was only for the time, for presently another junk came sculling and sailing alongside, and between them they crushed us up and robbed the boat of everything. After getting us in their boat they took us on shore behind and to the northward of Pyramid Point. I and three others landed, when they shoved the boat off with the other four. One of the most savage of the crowd landed with us, having in his hand a carving knife, a part of the plunder. They had not robbed our persons yet, and it seems this was their plan for doing so; they were afraid of attacking us altogether, and they were specially afraid of my revolver; so they divided us. I had my night glass hanging over my shoulder and my watch on me. The fellow demanded them, and, as I was loath to part with them threatened to cut my throat if I did not give them up. I could easily have shot him, but the boat was there, and four unarmed men in their clutches. If we had shot him or knocked him down I expect our four shipmates would have been murdered; so I gave him first the glasses and then the watch. He also wanted the pistol, but I could not part with that yet, so we walked away from him, I covering him with the pistol. We afterwards made for the boat, and they took us on board. We tried to persuade them to take us off to a steamer that we had seen in the offing standing to the southward, but they would not. They now searched our pockets, and we let them have all they could get. I gave them what money I had, pistol and all. They were satisfied then, and let us go ashore quickly." Mr. Stanhope then gives an interesting account of the journey of himself and companions on foot to Wintow. On arriving at a village they each time had to undergo an inspection by the mob, who felt in their pockets, and stole some of their clothes, till at last, almost naked and starving, they found a man who could speak English, and who took them by boat to Amoy, where they were in safety.

A new system has been introduced into the colony for the effectual riddance of all objectionable characters. A photograph of all the old offenders is taken previous to their deportation, and by this means their recognition will be ensured. It may be expected that in future trials portraits will be put in as evidence.

S I A M.

BANGKOK.

His Majesty the Supreme King of Siam embarked on board the sloop of war Regent, at 11.30 A.M., on the 9th March, from the Royal landing. A Royal salute was fired from the two gunboats at anchor in the river, and their yards were manned, as were also those of the Regent as his Majesty was embarking. The steamer Regent left the Royal landing a little before noon, and passed down the river on her way to Singapore. The following are among the officials who accompanied his Majesty and composed his Court for the occasion:—

H.R.H. Somdetch Chaufa Bhanurangsai.
H.R.H. Prince Sukkawati.
Chow Phya Kalahome, Minister of War.
Chow Phya P'rak'long, Minister for Foreign Affairs.
Nai Phon, Secretary to his Majesty.
Hluam Sitti, Master of Ceremonies.
Nai Ohayut, Treasurer.
Phya Montri, Commander of the R. Guards.
Chow Mun Sanp'a-pet p'adee; K. of P. S.
Chow Mun Samochie, Master of the robes.
P'ra Picha, Superintendent of the fleet.
Hluang Wicharon chakra-krit, S. engineer.
Koon Sinla-panoo-chit-kan, Artist.
Hluang Wiset-p'ochanakan.
P'ra Smood Buranuracks.
P'ra Ohonla-t'an-winichei.
Chow Mun wie-worant.
Captain John Bush, Master attendant.
J. H. Chandler, Esq., Court Interpreter.
Francis Chit, Photographer.

THE ROYAL PROCESSION.

The suite were dressed in a rich silk fabric of navy and sky blue colours. Instead of pantaloons they wore the much more graceful panoong, extending down to a little below the knees. White stockings fastened with elastics out of sight above the knees covered snugly the lower extremities, and the feet were shod with black pumps of the neatest kind, with silver plated buckles. The upper parts of the body were clad with a silk coat of a deeper blue than the panoong, over a white jacket or shirt. The skirts of the coat reached a little below the hips, fitting the person snugly, and buttoned up to the neck with large gold buttons, bearing on their face an image of the Royal seal and white elchant. The trimmings of the collars and sleeves were not profuse but very neatly and tastefully adjusted. The waist was girded with a broad leathern belt richly decked, and on the left hip hung a glitter sword. The hat was rather small, with a rounded top of European fashion, elongated a little fore and aft, neatly napped with black, and decked with a gold band and crowned with a golden image of the Royal seal extending two or three inches above its top. The two Chow Phyas, viz., H. E. the Minister for Foreign Affairs and H. E. the Minister of War, were distinguished by a new badge of honour, created by the King for the occasion, called the Maha Surabhorn, consisting of a broad sky blue ribbon, passing over the right shoulder, and gathered into a very tasteful and showy knot on the left hip. Besides this badge of honour, each had three or four others of circular form pinned over their left breast, one having been received from the late King, one or more from his present Majesty, and one from a European Sovereign. The uniform of the Royal body guard, sixteen in number, was essentially of the same form as that above described, but of a different colour. The dress was of a silk fabric and a greyish drab, and their hats were distinguished by white feathers all curving backwards.

All the garments except their cocked hats were made in Bangkok, by Siamese and Chinese tailors, as well as all their gold trimmings, which, with the exception of their epaulets, were of Siamese manufacture. Even the hilts and scabbards of their swords, and some of their blades, were affirmed to have been made in Bangkok.

THE REGENT.

His Grace the Regent was present, plainly but richly attired in a kind of dark silk, yet not in uniform with any one else.

At about 11 A.M. his Majesty came, being escorted by a company of the Royal Guards and tumruats, and halted to pay becoming obeisance to his Grace; and then, being accompanied by the latter, his Majesty walked over the bridge to the steps of the ship, one man carrying the great yellow umbrella over him.

His Majesty saluted H.B.M.'s Consul-General by a cordial grip of the hand, and stood with him during all the time occupied in firing the Royal salute, which began as soon his Majesty touched the steps of the ship.

His Majesty's costume was very becoming, being of a grey drab silk of the same general fashion as that of the chief part of his suite, and setting off his slender figure. No prostrations were made before the King, the whole of the suite remaining erect throughout the ceremonies.

The small iron steamer, which was being built on the bank of the canal leading from the palace of H.E. the Kalahome into Bangkok Yai, was launched on the 5th ult. under the superintendence of H.G. the Regent.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

SINGAPORE.

Dates extend to the 29th March. On the 16th the Behar arrived with the English mail of the 10th February, and on the 21st the Peiho came in with the French mail and London letters to the 17th February.

We learn from the Straits Times that the disturbances between the Ghee Hin and Hok Hin secret societies, which marked the preceding fortnight, have happily subsided, and the fortnight has been tranquil. The prompt action of the authorities in sending a guard of some fifty Sepoys into the worst district had the effect that was anticipated. As soon as the Chinese saw that the military authorities were ready to assist the police in maintaining order, they desisted from their raids, and after two or three days a feeling of security began to become manifest; the Chinese residents of the country districts resumed their occupations as before, and there being no signs of further trouble the Sepoys were withdrawn. A great number of arrests were made for crimes committed during these disturbances, and a long list of prisoners stand committed for trial at the next criminal session, which bids fair to prove a long and tedious one.

The great event of the fortnight has been the visit of his Majesty the King of Siam, who arrived on the 15th March, the day of the departure of the last homeward mail, and remained until the 23rd. It is not much that so small a community has to offer for the entertainment of Royalty, but every effort was made to render his stay agreeable. His Majesty came in his own yacht, the Regent, and was attended by two Siamese war vessels, the Impregnable and Siam Supporter. He landed in state on the 16th, and, together with his two young brothers, was entertained in Government House, while Raeburn, a commodious mansion on the New Harbour Road, was placed at the disposal of his Majesty's retinue. The festivities in his honour consisted of a reception at Government House on the first evening, at which about four hundred persons were presented to his Majesty; an official dinner on the second evening; on the third day his Majesty attended a flower show, held at the Botanical Gardens, by the Agri-Horticultural Society, which was, as might be expected, very largely attended, and in the evening an amateur theatrical entertainment was given in his honour at the Town-hall. The principal entertainment during his stay, however, was the invitation ball given at the Town-hall on the 20th, which was attended by about four hundred persons, the largest number ever yet assembled at any ball here. The approaches to the building were brilliantly illuminated with gaslights, and the open space in front was studded with stars and illuminated suns, making the place a perfect blaze of light,—a style of decoration that very agreeably surprised the King, and elicited his unqualified admiration. He embarked on board his vessel on the afternoon of the 23rd, and early next morning steamed away for Batavia. It is gratifying to learn that his Majesty, before leaving, expressed himself highly pleased with the manner of his reception, and this being the first time a King of Siam has ever visited a foreign country, there is every reason to hope that his trip to Singapore and Java will not only prove of great benefit to himself and his people, but also lead to an extension of trade and closer commercial relations between his kingdom and dependencies and the civilized nations. During his Majesty's stay he exchanged telegraphic courtesies with Her Majesty Queen Victoria.

The arrivals of steamers via the Suez Canal were the Abbotsford, from London, and the Duques de Palmella (Portuguese war steamer), from Lisbon, on the 16th; the Albatross, from Liverpool, and Aveyron (French war steamer), from Toulon, on the 17th, the Glendarroch on the 23rd, Agnes on the 24th, Tweed on the 26th, and Ulysses on the 27th, all four from London. The departures have been the Ada, on the 18th, and Sarpedon, on the 24th, both for London.

At the fifth competition of the Allcomers' Rifle Match for $50, the prize was finally carried off by R. Dunman, Esq., of the S.V.O., he having won it twice in succession. A second prize of $3 was awarded to P. Isaac, G. M. of H.M.S. Barrosa.

We hear that a number of unemployed Europeans here have taken service under Tunkoo Oodin, one of the Malay rajahs implicated in the disturbances at Klang, and left for their destination by the steamer Fair Singapore. Their employment is not creditable. It is said that the greater part of those enlisted were unemployed seamen, and that some, after receiving advances, secreted themselves in the jungle, and were returning to town.

We understand that a telegram has been received by his Excellency the Administrator here from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, prohibiting the expenditure of any money on the alterations and outfit of the Pluto beyond what is absolutely necessary to make her serviceable; and further, that the expenditure of $15,000 proposed by the Executive Council to build a second and smaller steamer has been altogether negatived.

As the huts built on piles over the Singapore River, opposite Campong Saigon, have given the police much trouble, owing to being a favourite resort for thieves, opium smugglers, and fighting men, a police station has been established there in charge of a native officer, but under the supervision of one of the European Inspectors.

Commercial Report.

IMPORTS.

YOKOHAMA.—There had been a good enquiry for Grey Shirtings and Yarns, which with the exception of a slight interruption during the native holidays, had steadily continued throughout the fortnight, but in the case of the former with but meagre results as regards business, in consequence of the almost total absence of supplies. Prices of both articles were firm and higher. T-Cloths were still in some request, also Turkey Reds, Black Velvets and Alpacas.

HANKOW.—An active business was confidently looked for with the re-opening of the market, but, so far these anticipations had not been realised; the trade of the fortnight had been far from satisfactory; arrivals had been coming forward freely, whilst only small sales could be made, and clearances of goods bought before the holidays were checked by the withdrawal of facilities hitherto afforded by the Native banks in granting "orders." Grey Shirtings: Prices slightly easier, market dull, at Tls. 1.80 to 1.83 for 7 lbs., Tls. 2.09 to 2.16 for 8½ lbs., and Tls. 2.40 to 2.52 for 9½ lbs. White Shirtings not enquired for. T-Cloths: Small sales at a trifling advance, holders firm. Woollens and Worsteds: Camlets quoted 2 to 3 mace higher for desirable goods. Spanish Stripes also advanced. Cloths no offers. Long Ells: Scarlet improved fully 2 mace per piece, but Assorted unchanged. Figured Orleans: Scarce, good assortments readily saleable.

SHANGHAI.—Grey Shirtings: A slight concession to buyers had led to large settlements; early in the interval there were considerable sales of 8½ lbs. fair to good ordinary chops at Tls. 2.06 to 2.08 per piece. Since then transactions had taken place at a candereen or so less, but holders now seemed indisposed to give way much further. A small parcel of fine goods 16 by 15 count, had been forced off at Tls. 2.07½ per piece for cash; 7 lbs. had been much wanted, but sellers, with few exceptions, had met the demand freely, and there was little change in prices. Quotations were Tls. 1.76 to 1.79 per piece for ordinary chops, and Tls. 1.83 to 1.84 per piece for Dewhursts. Of the fortnight's business, computed at about 130,000 pieces from first hands, upwards of 35,000 pieces were of 7 lbs. goods. Heavy cloth had received little or no attention. White Shirtings: 64-reed and lower counts in good request, but buyers showed great reluctance to pay over Tls. 2.20 per piece for good ordinary 64-reed, while holders demanded Tls. 2.23 to 2.25, so that only small business is reported; stock of desirable cloth moderate. T-Cloths, 6 lb. and 8 lb. weights, met with ready market at Tls. 1.24 to 1.37 for the former, and Tls. 1.88 to 1.94 for the latter; for 7 lbs., quotations nominal. Drills: 15 to 15½ lb. best English, Tls. 3.0; a few had changed hands at that figure. Dutch very little done; a somewhat better feeling for American, which was light in stock, and holders not disposed to sell at prices offered, viz., Tls. 3.47 to 3.50 per piece. Jeans: 3,000 pieces ordinary English sold at Tls. 2.35. Sheetings: Out of stock, no sales. Fancy Cottons: Inquiry becoming more general, and embraced fabrics long disregarded. Brocades, Chinese Lawns, Turkey Red, and Gentian Shirtings had all received a fair share of attention, but prices had shown little signs of improvement. Woollens: Market for Camlets, Figured Orleans, and Spanish Stripes strong, and few desirable parcels to be obtained at current quotations. C.P.H. Camlets worth Tls. 11.55 per piece and upwards, and for same chop of Spanish Stripes Tl. 0.51 per yard refused. Speculative settlements of Crape Lastings and Lustres reported, and an actual sale of C.P.H. assorted Long Ells at Tls. 4.82 per piece.

FOOCHOW.—The following sales have been reported:—550 pieces 8.4 lbs. Grey Shirtings at $2.00 to 2.92½; 900 pieces 7 lbs. T-Cloth at $2 to 2.32½; 500 pieces 6 lbs. T-Cloth at $1.77½.

AMOI.—Cotton Yarn: Receipts, 70 bales; sales, 45 bales, 12/40s, at $122 per bale; stocks, 343 bales. Quotations:—10/24s, $118 to 128; 28/32s, $122 to 132. HONG KONG.—Cotton Yarn: Best, Nos. 16 to 24, in slight inquiry; medium and inferior, weaker; Nos. 28 to 42, little doing. Grey Shirtings: 7 lbs. in less demand, and 2½c. lower; 8½ lbs., best chops, saleable in limited quantities. Ordinary goods difficult to place; heavy goods without change. White Shirtings: Common and medium very quiet; limited inquiry for fine. T-Cloths: 6 lbs. ordinary in less request; Mexicans neglected. 7 lbs. of all qualities saleable to a moderate extent; 8 lbs. unchanged. Other Cotton Goods: Very flat; prices unaltered. Woollens—Spanish Stripes: Trifling demand. Long Ells: Saleable at quotations. Camlets: In better demand and higher. Orleans, Figured: In some request. Blankets: Saleable in small quantities. Metals—Iron Nail Rod: Only a moderate demand had prevailed, and the market closes quiet at a decline of about 50c. on previous rates. Fair settlements of good assortments at $2.80 per picul; hard bar fairly saleable; soft bar in over supply, and 5c. to 10c. lower. Lead: A few sales of L.B. at $5.90; market quiet. Coals: Arrivals considerable, both of Cardiff and Australian, the former exclusively for consumers; four cargoes sold at $8½ per ton for favourite descriptions; market weak. Quotations:—Cotton Yarn, English, Nos. 16 to 24, per bale, $110 to 117; 28 to 32, $111 to 118; 38 to 42, $127.50 to 135. Grey Shirtings, 7 lbs., per piece, $2.15 to 2.17½; 8.4 lbs., $2.60 to 2.62½; 9.12 to 10 lbs., $3.35 to 3.55. White Shirtings, $2 to 2.85; fine, $3.25 to 5. Woollens, Spanish Stripes, Scarlet, per yard, 62c. to 66c.; Assorted, 57c. to 62c.; German, 91c. to 92c. Long Ells, Scarlet, per piece, $6.70 to 6.90; Assorted, $5.70 to 6. Camlets, SS Scarlet, $14.25 to 14.75; SS Assorted, $13.75 to 14.25. Orleans, Figured, $4.25 to 4.80; Plain, $4 to 5. Blankets, per lb., 35c. to 50c.

BANGKOK.—The market had been extremely inactive, and no immediate improvement was expected, owing to the approach of the native New-year holidays. Until these were over but little business would probably be done.

SINGAPORE.—Messrs. Boustead and Co. report as follows:—39-inch Grey Shirtings: Demand for 8½ lb. fully supplied and stocks accumulating. Enquiry moderate at $2.60, and at the close transactions at $2.57½. Demand for 7 lb. slackened and transactions at lower rates, $2.02½ to 2.10; 6 lb. in little request at $1.75 to 1.80. 45-inch Grey Shirtings: No enquiry for 8 lb., 9 lb. in less request; trifling transactions at $2.82½ to 2.85, and offers much lower; 10 lb. quiet at $3.15 to 3.20; 6 lb. and 7 lb. quite neglected. 32-inch Grey T-Cloths: All weights in limited demand, business small; 4 lb. $1.10; 4½ lb. $1.15 to 1.20; 5 lb. $1.27½ to 1.32½; 6 lb. $1.47½ to 1.52½, and 7 lb. at $1.77½ to 1.80. 32-inch Grey Maddapollams: Moderate business in 2½ lb. at $1.6½ to 1.7 per corg; 3 lb. quoted $1.8 and very dull. Long Cloths: No demand. 36-inch White Shirtings: Good demand for fine qualities of favourite makes, but prices are rather weaker. In medium and low business limited at a shade under last quotations. 15-inch without demand. White Spots dull at $1.50 to 1.52½ for 14 by 15, no transactions in 16 by 16. White Brocades: Quotations nominal, no demand. White Cambrics: No improvement, inquiry extremely limited. Ordinary 15/16, $27 to 27½ per corg; 24s, 18 by 18 nominally at $18. White Jaconets: Small sales at low rates. White Maddapollams: Business very small at $19. Dyed Shirtings: Quiet and unchanged. Assorted Phin: $2.80 to 2.95. Assorted Figured: $3.30 to 3.50 per piece. Velvets: No enquiry. Turkey Red Cambrics: Business trifling on account of advance asked by holders. Sales of 2½ lb. at $2.15 to 2.25, and 3 lb. at $2.45 to 2.55, higher quotation for a favourite dye. Turkey Red Mulls neglected. Woollen Goods of all descriptions without change, quotations quite nominal. Grey Yarns: Moderate inquiry for 40s at declining rates, sales at $115 to 114. 30s in limited request at $106. For 18/24s more demand, and advanced to $95 to 100. Small sales of inferior at $85. Turkey Red: Moderate inquiry at lower rates. Glasgow Dye 10 lb. $127½ to 130; 12 lb. $137½ to 140. Dark Green inquired for at $82 to 84, and Imperial Red steady at $71 to 73.

EXPORTS.

TEA.

YOKOHAMA.—The demand had not been very brisk, and settlements had not reached more 3,000 piculs, consisting of most grades. The quality, as usual at this period of the season, was deteriorating, but no adequate reduction in prices can be noted. Supplies had been on a small scale only, and stocks were not heavy, and consisted principally of the common grades. The last Pacific mail steamer took 255,465 lbs. for New York, and 212,635 lbs. for San Francisco. The Asphodel had sailed with 546,650 lbs. for New York; and the Lotherair was the only vessel loading. Quotations:—Common, $18 to 22 per picul; good common, $23 to 25; medium, $27 to 30; good medium, $32 to 34; fine, $36 to 39; finest and choice, nominal.

HANKOW, KIUKIANG, AMOY.—Nothing to report.

SHANGHAI.—For so late in the season, transactions for the fortnight may be considered large. Stocks were reduced to a very small compass, and neither in Black nor Green was there anything desirable to be purchased. The s.s. Sarpedon (the last vessel of this season via Canal) had sailed for London with about 1,500 tons of Tea. The Vanguard was still on the berth for the same port. The Satsuma (privately loaded) left for Montreal on the 10th March. Black: Settlements, 2,632 chests Hohow, at Tls. 13 to 16 per picul, and 691 chests reported as "shipped off." Most of the purchases showed a decline of Tl. 1 from the prices for which Teamen had been holding, and some parcels had been taken at half a tael below actual offers previously made. Stock estimated at 5,000 chests, barely one-third being true country Tea. Several chops of Kiukiang-packed leaf offering, but the quality was scarcely superior to that of "Maloo Mixture." Green: A fair business done, chiefly for shipment to England per Sarpedon. Extreme prices paid for better descriptions, and common grades, quality considered, had also realised very full rates. On the whole, an advance of about Tls. 2 per picul had been established. The stock estimated at 5,000 half-chests against 12,000 half-chests in 1870. Prices paid, Fychow and Moyune, 1s. 1½d. to 2s. 1½d.; Ping-suey (boxes), 1s. 1½d.

FOOCHOW.—During the fortnight 2,266 chests Congou had been bought for shipment to Australia, leaving 1,402 chests in the market. The total settlements of Congou for the season amounted to 582,941 chests, comprising the following proportions of the different grades:—Dust and siftings, 48,283 chests; broken leaf to ordinary, 77,492; fair to good common, 199,972; flavoury to medium, 218,794; good medium to fine, 28,501; fine to finest, 9,899; total, 582,941 chests.

CANTON.—Small purchases had been at former prices, about 4,000 boxes common Scented Teas and 400 boxes district Congou having been settled for the London market, and 400 boxes Imperial for the Continent.

SILK.

YOKOHAMA.—Since the native New Year holidays the market had been fairly active, and although operations had been confined to a few buyers, settlements had reached about 500 bales. Prices for Hanks may be quoted about $30 per picul lower, with a tendency to a further reduction; but higher rates were asked for Brick silks, and an advance of about $20 per picul had been established for Oshu sorts. Settlements, Hank sorts 350 bales; other sorts, 150 bales; total, 500 bales. Stocks 3,000 bales.

SHANGHAI.—The English Mail left on March 2 with 99 bales, followed by the Sarpedon with 175 bales on the 12th, and the P. M. S. S. Co.'s steamer New York on the 13th with 116 bales of Silk on board. The fortnight's business, including the above export, was estimated at about 700 bales, say 350 bales Tsatlees, 110 bales Karshing Taysaams, 150 bales Re-reeled Tsatlees and Hainings, 60 bales Sewhings and sundries; total, 670 bales. Prices had been irregular, and had still further advanced, Tls. 615 per picul (32s. per lb.) having been paid for "Koo-fong-sing" No. 3; Tls. 590 per picul (30s. 7d. per lb.) for "Dragon" No. 3; and Tls. 540 per picul (27s. 11d. per lb.) for "Red Peacock" Tsatlees. Karshing Taysaams had been in fair request, and Tls. 530 reported paid for "Pang-ling." Re-reeled Tsatlees taken for American mail at Tls. 570 to 585 per picul, while Mybush Hainings had been almost entirely neglected. Arrivals from all quarters had not exceeded 300 bales, and unsold stock reduced to 900 bales.

CANTON.—Dealers had evinced much anxiety to dispose of their remaining stocks at prices which would show a loss upon the latest quoted sales from London, and in one or two instances they had succeeded. Under these circumstances, the quotations of last mail must be repeated, but it seemed hardly probable that they could be long maintained, as another six weeks would bring in the new season's first crop.

JAVA, SIAM, AND STRAITS PRODUCE.

BANGKOK.—The Borneo Company report as follows:—Rice is in eager request for Hong Kong, and Chinese would willingly pay $1.70 to 1.75 per picul for mill-cleaned Nassuan. It is said that very heavy rains during the early days of the month, not looked for during this season, have done some damage to the crop, but to what extent is not yet known. White Rice: First quality selling at Tls. 70 per coyan, or $2.40 per picul f.o.b. in gunnies. Sugar: In good demand for Singapore, and higher prices current. Sapanwood: Entirely neglected, no reliable quotations. Sticklac: About 70 piculs of best quality from Raheng found buyers at Tls. 24 to 27 per picul—a rate not reached for many years. Gum Benjamin: A small parcel of second quality taken at Tls. 100 ($67.64 per picul f.o.b.). Gamboge: None in market. Black Pepper: 50 piculs, after an eager competition, taken at Tls. 16½ per picul.

BATAVIA.—Arrack: f.90 per leaguer; offered at quotation. Cloves: f.25 per picul; nominal. Coffee: No stock. Cubes: f.15 per picul; no stock. Gutta-percha: f.100 to f.150 per picul; in less request. Gum Dammar: f.36 to f.36.50 per picul; sales; limited arrivals. Hides: Cow, f.30 to f.40; Buffalo, f.21 to f.27 per lb.; sales. India-rubber: f.100 to f.110 per picul; only small lots are offered. Indigo: f.4.30 to f.4.50; first quality scarce. Mace: f.190 to f.225 per picul: Transactions and demand at quotation. Nutmegs: f.100 to f.140; saleable at quotations. Pepper: Black—f.26 per picul; offered at quotation. Rice: Table—None in the market; crop of the Kandahauer table rice estimated at 36,000 piculs sold by tender at f.236 per coyang with bags; first quality, f.175 to f.185 per coyang; scarce; second, f.150 to f.165 per coyang; small stocks; cargo, f.100 to f.110 per coyang; without stocks. Tin; Billiton, an auction of 6,000 piculs advertised for 7th April.

SINGAPORE.—The produce market had been steady since last mail, and there was not much change in quotations of the principal staples. Gambier coming in slowly, and price firmer, contracts for about 800 tons, chiefly at $2.90 per picul, and it was difficult to make further engagements at that rate. Black Pepper had continued scarce for present delivery, and dealers completing their contracts slowly, price firm, good demand, transactions limited. White Pepper in some request, supplies readily taken up at previous rates. Sago Flour active at an advance, considerable business transpired. Pearl Sago slightly higher. Tin sold at $31½ to 31½ at the commencement of the fortnight, afterwards price hardened, and a moderate business done at $31½ to 31½ per picul. Bontyne Coffee in demand, business limited by shortness of supplies. India-rubber in good demand and higher. Gutta-percha, best, in demand at full rates, supplies of good and medium scarce.

LATEST TELEGRAMS.

THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT AND THE MISSIONARIES.

SHANGHAI, APRIL 12.—An important despatch of the Chinese Government to the Foreign Ministers has been published, in which the former demands the abolition of female schools, that teaching against Confucius and the Chinese doctrine shall be forbidden, and that missionaries, except at Treaty Ports, shall be considered as Chinese subjects. The despatch declares that the attendance of women at religious services will not be allowed, and that in case of the occurrence of another massacre compensation will not be granted, and actual murder only be punishable. No replies have as yet been published.

THE SINGAPORE GAS COMPANY.

The annual ordinary general meeting of the Singapore Gas Company (Limited) was held on the 25th ult., at the London Tavern, under the presidency of Mr. W. H. Le Feuvre. The chairman, in moving the adoption of the report (which was published in our last issue), stated that the accounts presented very similar appearances to those submitted to the proprietors at the last half-yearly meeting, with the exception of the capital account, which had been increased by the issue of some new shares, that course having been considered prudent by the directors to provide capital for the outlay required for constructing a new gas-holder. He regretted that on the return of Mr. Wells to Singapore he had found a considerable deficiency in the stock of coal. A full investigation had taken place, and it had been ascertained that the deficiency amounted to 856 tons. The directors considered that the loss was owing to a want of proper attention to the carbonising. The men had been dismissed from the service of the company, and would not have their passage paid to England. Mr. Wells, their engineer, believed that with strict economy in the various departments he would be able to make up the loss in twelve months, and thought there was no good cause for reducing the dividend on ordinary shares below 7 per cent. The directors could not concur in that view of the matter, and considered that in strict justice the whole of the loss, amounting to £1,351, ought to be written off at once; but as such a proceeding would preclude the payment of a dividend on the present occasion, they had decided upon recommending the writing off of about one third of the loss now and the remainder by probably two half-yearly amounts. By adopting that course the proprietors would receive a dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum for the past half year, and if Mr. Wells's views should prove correct, when they next met they would be in a position to extinguish the remainder of the loss and pay an increased dividend.

Mr. F. W. Collard seconded the adoption of the report, which was after a few remarks from several proprietors, carried. A dividend at the rate of 7½ per cent. per annum on the preference capital, and at the rate of 6 per cent. on the original capital, was declared.

TRIAL OF THE P. AND O. STEAMER KHEDIVA.—On the 26th, inst. the Khedive (s.s.), built at Greenock by Messrs. Caird and Co., for the P. and O. Co., proceeded on her semi-official trial trip down the Firth. The Khedive is barque-rigged, her length is 888 feet between the perpendiculars, 400 feet over all; 42 feet beam; 36 feet in depth of hold. She has engines of 600 nominal horse power, constructed on the combined high and low condensing principle, the larger of the cylinders being of 98 inches diameter. At the trial she frequently made 13 knots an hour, being considerably above the speed demanded by the Post-office. She is to run between China and Suez. Cargo can be taken to the extent of 2,053 tons.

In the American House of Representatives Mr. Myers, of Pennsylvania, has introduced a Bill supplementary to the Acts to prohibit the coolie trade, which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs. The Bill provides that the United States Consul or Consular Agent shall not deliver to the master of any United States vessel intending to convey the subjects of China, Japan, or any Oriental country, the certificate of voluntary immigration now required by law if there be a contract on the part of such coolies for service in the United States longer than three months.

THE annual breakfast meeting of the Wesleyan Mission Society was held on Saturday. The operations of the Mission in China were referred to at some length, and we shall refer to the remarks which were made in our next issue.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Each packet or tin is labelled—JAMES EPPS & CO., Homoeopathic Chemists, London. Epps's Cocoa is also prepared with condensed milk, and sold in tins, labelled Epps's Milky Cocoa.

The London & China Telegraph.

LONDON: MONDAY, MAY 1, 1871.

THE LAST PHASE OF THE CHINA QUESTION.

NEVER was the connection between cause and effect more apparent than in the China news, given in another column, when regarded as the natural and inevitable consequence of the pusillanimous inaction of our Government in the matter of the Tientsin Massacre. Every word in the last telegram reads as if it were dictated by the apprehensions which Earl GRANVILLE, Mr. WADE and the Pall Mall Gazette have so persistently pooh-poohed, instead of being the humiliating record of matter-of-fact in contemporary history. All that we, and every other practical authority, have foreboded as the certain result of the suicidal policy of Government seems to be coming to pass; and all the advantages, which it has cost our countrymen so many years of time, and so much patience and capital to acquire, seem to be about to be sacrificed on the altar of blind and besotted opiniatedness. Therefore we are constrained to admit that times and seasons of national, as of individual, greatness may be measured and marked. We may have reached the climax, may have climbed the peak, and may be rapidly moving downwards on the decline to our fall as a great Empire. But still we feel that the edifice erected by the incessant labour and the painful sacrifices of our fathers should not be wilfully thrown down by us, even though we may dread that in the temper of such a Government as we possess it may not be possible to protect it much longer. But these gloomy forebodings are the worst that we could cherish, and we will have nothing to do with them. The state of affairs is not yet entirely desperate, if we take prompt means to supply its defects. The ship is not absolutely embayed in the storm, and might keep the sea, with clear heads and strong hands at the helm. Difficulties should neither be despised nor exaggerated; and we are in difficulties, but not in despair. Our circumstances should be fully searched, for no greater calamity can occur in a struggle than ignorance of our weak points—and a struggle must come. As we have pointed out for weeks and months, the policy of conciliation is gradually but inevitably drifting us into a new China war—of all calamities the one which we are most anxious to avoid, but which can only be averted now by the spirited, though tardy, assertion of our national self-respect. One thing is, however, certain—whatever now remains to be done must be done quickly, or the task will have to be re-commenced and performed anew. Truth will prevail, but it may prevail too late. All must ultimately respect the truth, but the worship may be delayed till the temple is closed.

Many weeks ago, long before CHUNG HOW arrived in Europe, we pointed out the necessity for our Government to meet him at once, to confer with him on the points which had been raised by France, and which nothing but the distracted state of that Empire had suffered to be delayed even for the time necessary for his embassy. We then pointed out that the Chinese Plenipotentiary would assuredly take advantage of the slightest delay or confusion in representing the interests of Europe in the Far East, which had devolved upon our Government exclusively, in consequence of the reverses of France and the revolution which followed them. We pointed out that, France being helpless, it was our duty to insist on the terms of atonement and future security which she would have required, and easily have obtained, but for the unhappy European war. Again and again we urged on Lord GRANVILLE the imperative necessity for him to improve the opportunity of CHUNG HOW's arrival in France. We need not remind our readers that our warnings were totally disregarded. Week after week the astute Chinese remained apparently inactive at Marseilles, or travelled between Marseilles and Bordeaux, without receiving word or sign that the Government of Great Britain felt any resentment for the murder of Miss O'SULLIVAN, or had any concern in the greater massacre of the countrywomen of our ally. In the meantime the Chinese Envoy was too shrewd to miss the opportunity of profiting by the sluggishness of our Minister, and the embarrassment of the French. The representations which he sent home formed the basis of the determination of the Chinese Government to make a supreme effort to annul the effect of its European treaties. With an insolence obviously copied from the famous despatch of Prince GORTCHAKOFF, and a recklessness which far outdid its original—since Russia, unlike China, had nothing to atone for, but, on the contrary, might have something reasonable to demand—the Chinese Government has seized the opportunity of issuing a circular to the Foreign Ministers, which virtually cancels every fundamental principle to which it has ever been brought to consent. According to this proclamation—for we cannot call it anything else—the sacrifice of the unhappy Sisters of Mercy is to be made the pretext for the abolition of female schools in China; the sanguinary outrage of the fanatical followers of CONFUCIUS is to be the cause of a law forbidding the preaching of a purer doctrine; and, as if

To top the infinite of injury, it is added, in view of further outrages, that no compensation will be granted, and nothing short of murder regarded as a punishable crime. There are other clauses in the despatch on which we have not now patience to enlarge; but our readers will be able to judge of their audacity by perusing the document for themselves. It remains to be seen whether, in the present confusion of the Ministry, there is sufficient public spirit in any member of Mr. GLADSTONE'S Cabinet to resist and resent this infamous proposal in terms befitting the honour and dignity of England. No time must, however, be lost in urging immediate action on our part, for we may be quite sure that the Chinese, so far from making allowance for the distraction of our Government, will be the first to avail themselves of it. Unless the present proposal is at once indignantly repudiated, the dangers which have long beset our fellow subjects in the Far East will thicken round them; their lives will not be safe from day to day; the Massacre of Tientsin will take its place in history only as the first of a series of crimes, and all the work of civilisation and progress in China will have to be commenced again.

We understand that Sir JAMES ELPHINSTONE has succeeded in obtaining the consent of the Duke of ARGYLL to receive a deputation on the subject of improved harbours, and better lighting of the Indian coast, to which we referred some time ago. We are also informed some important plans and documents have been discovered at the Admiralty which confirm the practicability of the Paumotu Channel, in Ceylon, as recently explained by Sir JAMES ELPHINSTONE to the House of Commons.

A GREAT deal has been circulated in regard to the Suez Canal and its probable transfer to an English Company. These statements are for the most part incorrect, but it may be assumed that Mr. PENDER, as representing English capitalists, has offered to M. DE LESSEPS any aid which he may require in carrying on the works, and any further development is a matter like many others, entirely dependent on the course of events in France.

We understand that a contract has been made by the Dutch Government with the Telegraph Construction Company to lay down a cable in the Straits of Sunda from Anjer to Telong Batong, on Sumatra, about seventy miles. The laying to be completed in November. The cable to connect Java and Australia will be despatched from here next August.

We must congratulate our old friend, Mr. WHITE, M.P. for Brighton, on his influence with the Government, for the CHANCELLOR of the EXCHEQUER has done precisely what he recommended, in putting up the income-tax to 6d., and leaving out all petty devices of taxation, such as matches.

We understand that the Japanese Government have requested their agents here to despatch a gentleman versed in French laws and customs to assist in the translation of the Code Napoleon, now in course of translation at Yedo.

THE steamer Serendib, which has been built for the Government of Ceylon, will be despatched from London for Colombo via the Suez Canal about the middle of this month.

Foreign Intelligence.

HOLLAND.

ROTTERDAM, April 26.

For the past two days the members of the Second Chamber have been occupied with the debate upon the Budgets. Several members took part in the general discussions, and, as is usual, all kinds of questions, political and social, were brought forward. The debate was a political kaleidoscope, which assumed every moment a new combination. Except upon one point, the opposition was very moderate, and the speakers showed a good deal of sympathy with the new Premier. There was, however, a very strong opposition against the very costly military reorganisation project of the Ministry, although it has been considerably modified since its first appearance some months ago. Of course, some members of the Chamber are very dissatisfied with the alterations, and we must expect to hear their glorification of a system by which the national revenue will be expended upon an increased army, fortresses and a military display quite superfluous in time of peace. The debate upon the Budget of the Department of War will afford much interest now that the members are no longer under the influence of the war fever which has lately attacked all the nations of Europe.

In our financial circles the greatest uncertainty exists with regard to the ultimate fate of the Oost-indische Maatschappij van Lyffrenten. The managers, Messrs. van Beresteyn and J. Seelig, have summoned all the creditors to meet on the 8th of May, to decide upon a proposal of the managers to wind up the affairs. The prevailing opinion is that this meeting will not be any more successful than the endeavours which have already been made to avoid a failure.

The forthcoming elections, which will take place in the month of June, are making some stir in the political world. The controversy will be very warm, and all sorts of political factions, conservative, clerical, green, blue, and yellow, will rise against the Liberal monster. I, however, think that their endeavours will be quite unavailing, and that the Liberal party will gain the day.

A private correspondence from the west coast of Africa has gone the round of our papers. It is stated that the negroes are very dissatisfied with the intention of the Government to sell our forts on this coast to England. A Bill to ratify the treaty, which was signed between the Government, has been laid before the members of the Second Chamber.

All the Dutch-speaking members of the Internationale Society are convoked to meet on Whit Sunday at Amsterdam. The agitation which prevails amongst our workmen creates a good deal of uneasiness. Everyone, however, is convinced that their demand for higher wages, especially in large towns, is quite just.

A languishing tone still pervades the Bourse, and very little business has been done, owing to the miserable state of France. The banks are accumulating money, and the state of the Netherlands Bank was never so favourable as now. It is thus very surprising that the present high rate of discount is not lowered.

The interpellation of Mr. de Casembroot respecting the question of the marriages of naval officers had no definitive result. The affair is now just as it was—undecided.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

Hardly any alteration is perceptible in the general features of our market for Colonial produce, and the business done in the same since my last has been devoid of animation. The demand for most of our leading articles is mainly confined to the requirements for actual consumptive wants, which can be easily provided for in most cases at the late market currency.

COFFEE.—In anticipation of the April sale the market continues in a quiet, but firm position. Pale Java, which is but little on hand in the quantity to be put up at the coming public sale, has been in good request, but from being scarce there has been but little doing. The business done since my last in shipments of private importation embraces 762 b. Java, ex Sattara; 743 b. do., ex do.; 1,302 do. Coro, ex Curacao Packet and Raphael.

SUGAR (RAW).—Our market for this article continues to exhibit a very firm appearance, but the demand has slightly abated, in consequence of numerous arrivals, although there continues but little on offer.

TEA.—The market is very firm. 56 $\frac{1}{2}$ - chests Pekoe, bought in at the late public sales here on the 12th inst., have changed hands.

RICE.—Quiet, at former prices. A balance of about 700 bags Java table, ex Kosmopoliet, found buyers.

SPICES.—A firm tone continues to prevail for Nutmegs and Mace, prices of which are well supported. The demand for Nutmegs has even been more active; No. 1's are quoted 137c.; No. 2's, 128c.; No. 3's, 108c.; No. 4's, 71c. Sales have been closed by public auction at Amsterdam of 5 casks Nutmegs at 97c. to 100c., 20 chests do. at 66c. to 125c., 5 ch. Mace at 188c. to 198c., 14 b. Amboina Cloves at 23 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; 300 bales Black Pepper put up for sale, by secret tender at Amsterdam have not been adjudged.

JAVA TOBACCO.—Sales have been closed since our last by private contract of 706 bales Java Krossok, 456 bales HL, and by secret tender of 134 bales Java, Kendal Malang, 120 bales ditto, FJ.

BANCA TIN.—Limited transactions at f.76 $\frac{1}{4}$ for spot, and Billiton at f.75. Banca is still held for f.76 $\frac{1}{4}$ for present delivery, and f.73 $\frac{3}{4}$ has just been paid for delivery ex the coming autumn sale.

KAPOK.—A public sale took place at Amsterdam of 325 bales, consisting of 155 bales sound, sold at 37c. to 51c.; 170 bales damaged, sold at 32c.

HIDES.—The following parcels have changed hands on secret terms, viz., 2,000 Sourabaya cows, ex County of Forlar, 2,000 do., ex County of Ayr, 77 Padang, ex Magdalena, 45 do., ex Gutenberg. Also by secret tender, 1,124 Cows (Sourabaya) and 233 Buffaloes do., ex Nestor.

INDIGO.—Since the public sales hardly any business has been doing in this article, and the market looks quiet.

DRUGS.—Gunn Damar keeps firm at 33c. to 39c. Japan Vegetable Wax is little on hand, and higher prices are demanded.

COTTON continues to meet a heavy sale under the influence of the dullness in the Liverpool market and of numerous arrivals from America, which caused prices further to decline 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

SHIPPING.

ARRIVALS.—April 19, at Texel, from Batavia, Mora; 20, at Brouwershaven, from Samarang, Caprera; at Texel, from Batavia, Hermanus, from Sourabaya, Albion, Arabia; 21, at Brouwershaven, from Batavia, Schiedam; at Zierikzee, from Banjoewangie, Grondwet; from Patjitan, Jannetje; 22, at Brouwershaven, from Batavia, Alblasterwaard; from Passaroeang, Willem Poolman; 23, at Brouwershaven, from Samarang, Catharina Maria; at Texel, from Batavia, St. Louis; 24, at Brouwershaven, from Passaroeang, Samarang; from Sourabaya, Samarang; at Texel, from Macassar, Elisabeth Jacoba; 26, at Brouwershaven, from Sourabaya, Isaac da Costa.

DEPARTURES.—April 26, from Texel, for Batavia, den Elshout. PASSENGERS INWARD.—From Macassar, per Elisabeth Jacoba, Mr. E. Tack; from Java, per Catharina Maria, Mr. F. C. van Nes.

POSTSCRIPT.

ROTTERDAM, April 27.

In yesterday's sitting of the Second Chamber the Ministers replied to the objections made by several members to the budgets. Amongst other important declarations was one of Mr. van Bosse, who stated that there will not be any deficit to cover for the year 1870, and that there will be no necessity for a loan to complete the railway net.

The result of the Coffee auctions, held by the Dutch Trading Company, was that the whole quantity (69,500 bales) was sold at $\frac{1}{2}$ c. to 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ above the brokers' valuation.

Rotterdam Bank shares met to-day a good demand. The quotation opened at 85 $\frac{3}{4}$, and closed at 87.

Monetary and Commercial.

In consequence of an accident to the P. and O. steamer Indus, by grounding in the Clyde, her despatch has been retarded, and the Khedive will take her place in loading out from Southampton for Hong Kong, as noticed in our last.

There has been some excitement during the week as to the possibility of the Chancellor of the Exchequer putting an increased duty on tea, and the clearances for the week may be estimated at 3,743,621 lbs.

An impression prevailing that the lines of the Associated Submarine Telegraph Companies to India are not as efficient in speed as other lines, the Falmouth and Malta Company has published a list for the past month, made out daily at 10 A.M., of the dates of messages received from India, Singapore, &c., showing that it uniformly receives messages from all parts considerably within the difference of time in longitude.

A telegram by Grant's line was published in The Times that the Hong Kong and Shanghai cable was broken, and elicited the following response:—

"Great Northern Telegraph, China and Japan Extension Company (London Agency), 7, Great Winchester-street-buildings, April 27.

"Sir,—With reference to a notice in The Times City Article to the effect that the Hong Kong Shanghai cable was broken near Hong Kong, I beg you to publish the following information, just received.

"After the laying of the cable had been completed, on the 29th of March, the stations at Hong Kong and Shanghai were opened to the public on the 1st of April. Shortly after that date the cable was damaged by a ship's anchor about 150 miles north of Hong Kong, but the necessary steps having immediately been taken, the damage was successfully repaired on the 16th of April, when the line was again opened, and the cable is now in perfect working order. Telegrams from Shanghai of the 18th and 19th of April, transmitted by mail from Hong Kong to Singapore, reached London yesterday.

"Allow me to add that the ships taking out the cables for the company's second section will leave the Thames early next week, and as the company has now obtained a concession for landing cables in Japan, this second section will consist of cables from Shanghai to Nagasaki, and from that place to Vladivostok, the terminal point on the Russian coast, from which the land lines through Siberia to the western frontier of Russia are now in full operation. I thus hope that the company will be able to receive traffic from this country to China and Japan in the course of the month of July next.—I am, Sir, your most obedient servant,
"H. G. ERICHSEN."

We are informed that Mr. T. A. Mitchell, M.P., has retired from the Board of the Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China, and Mr. Andrew Cassels has been elected the chairman of the bank for the ensuing year.

The Merchants' Marine Insurance Company is announced, with a capital of £1,000,000, in 100,000 shares of £10 each, but only 50,000 are to be issued in the first instance, and on these it is only proposed to call up £2 per share. The prospectus states that the opening of the Suez Canal has made so great a revolution in the mode of conducting business with the East as to call for an institution of this kind. Formerly goods to and from the Eastern markets were conveyed in comparatively small sailing vessels, whereas now, via the Suez Canal, larger cargoes will be sent by steamers adapted for the purpose, offering an ample field for the operations of the proposed company without interfering with existing institutions. Keeping specially in view the cultivation of the Eastern trade, it will be one of the first objects of the company to establish agencies in the Eastern ports, conducted by eminent firms, who will be able to secure sound business for the company, and be authorised to issue policies in accordance with a code of premiums to be prescribed by the board in London. After paying the shareholders 10 per cent. on their capital, 25 per cent. of the net profits are to be divided amongst the insurers.

Mr. William Frederick Saunders, a well-known member of Lloyd's, has been appointed underwriter to the Alliance Marine Insurance Company, succeeding Mr. J. B. Gabb, who resigned some time back.

In anticipation of the meeting to be held on the 3rd inst., the report of Reuter's Telegram Company (Limited) has been issued. The net profits for the year ending December last amounted to £11,670, including £290 brought forward. The directors declare a dividend at the rate of 7½ per cent., making, with the interim distribution, 10 per cent. for the twelve months, free of income-tax. After adding £2,000 to the reserve fund and writing off the fixtures and furniture account, there will remain a balance of £1,176 to be carried forward.

At the meeting of the Great Northern Telegraph Company, held on the 26th ult. at Copenhagen, a dividend at the rate of 7s. 9d. per share was declared.

The amount of bullion by the P. and O. Company's steamer Bangalore, from Southampton on the 29th ult., was in gold to Galle, £875; to Madras, £173; to Singapore, £810; in silver to Aden, £3,800; to Penang, £82,495; to Singapore, £19,563; to Hong Kong, £107,300; to Shanghai, £24,985; total in gold, £1,858; in silver, £238,143.

ARTICLES OF IMPORT.

There has been but little alteration in the market since our report of a week ago. Since the withdrawal of the proposed tax upon matches there has been considerable excitement in the Tea market, in anticipation of an advance in the duty; large clearances have been made, but sales have been limited at previous rates. The market for SILK is without alteration. COTTON is dull. A fair demand has been exhibited for Ceylon COFFEE at about last quoted rates. Ceylon COCOA NUT OIL is steady, at £40 5s. to £40 10s. RICE, PEPPER, and SUGAR are dull. STRAITS TIN has slightly receded, the present quotation being £126 10s. to £127.

CASUALTIES.

The Adelaide, Otte, which sailed from Hamburg April 10, for Nicolajefsk, was assisted into Ramsgate, with loss of two anchors and 105 fathoms chain, having slipped from the same off Dungeness, on the morning of 20th April; agreement £30. She sailed thence April 24.

Advices from Rotterdam, dated April 21, state that the Mora, Law, which arrived at Texel April 19, from Samarang, got into collision, in entering into Nieuwe Diep, with the Henrietta Maria, Tjebbes, from Batavia, and the latter vessel lost jibboom, and received other slight damage.

The Capera, Bertie, which arrived at Brouwershaven April 20, from Samarang, was in collision with a schooner outside the English Channel, and sustained some damage.

The Attila, Stephenson, for Galle, put back to Shields, April 21, with rudder disabled, having encountered a hurricane from E.S.E. to E.N.E., on the morning of the 19th April, and had after hatch carried away and decks swept.

The Nellie Abbott, Jordan, which arrived at New York April 9, from Shanghai, experienced very bad weather from Bermuda to Hatteras, and on the 2nd April, in lon. 70 W., she was struck by a squall and lost sails.

The Glenlyon, McIntyre, arrived at New York from Manila, experienced S.W. and N.W. gales from Bermuda, and stove bulwarks, shifted cargo, &c.

The Hunsingo, Woldringh, which sailed from Hamburg April 18, for the River Amoor, with a general cargo, has been assisted into Harwich, from off the Gunfleet; three boats employed, no apparent damage.

Advices from Rotterdam, dated April 25, state that the Huydecooper, Bouten, from Sourabaya, which arrived at Brouwershaven April 18, after discharging part of cargo there proceeded for Helvoet, but on the way took the ground in the Hellegat, where she struck heavily, and sprung a leak.

Advices from Pernambuco, dated April 10, received by telegram from Lisbon, state that the Corea, Bangs, from Zebu to Liverpool, which put into Pernambuco, March 25, leaky, had nearly completed the discharge of her cargo, some portion of it being damaged; she was to be surveyed April 10.

ART, PICTORIAL AND INDUSTRIAL. In Illustrated Magazine.

THIS Publication was commenced on the 1st of July, in the belief that an ample field existed for a high class monthly magazine devoted to Art; and already the result has fulfilled this expectation. 'ART' is produced in a form eminently adapted to the drawing-room table. It is handsomely printed on fine paper, in super-royal quarto, and each Number contains four or more Full-page Heliotype Illustrations, being reproductions of Ancient and Modern Pictures, Engravings, Designs, Sculpture, and objects of Industrial or Decorative Art.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT

AND PILLS.—CHEST PRESERVATIVES.—At all seasons of the year the rate of mortality from diseases of the lungs is very great. Holloway's Ointment well rubbed upon the chest, aided by his Pills, arrests all mischief. These cleansing medicaments exercise a most salutary and restorative influence over the entire contents of the pectoral cavity. Air tubes, nerves, bloodvessels, and all other tissues feel the wholesomely potent power, more particularly in their thoroughly purifying both venous and arterial blood by promoting the free circulation of air. Neither Ointment nor Pills contain any noxious ingredient whatever, but their balsamic nature nourishes rather than irritates the system, and kindly subdues all untoward symptoms, till all is well once more.

TANJONG PAGAR DOCK COMPANY

VICTORIA DOCK, SINGAPORE.

This Company's Granite DRY DOCK, 450 feet in length, 65 feet width of entrance, and 20 feet depth of water on the sill, was OPENED on the 17th October, 1868. In the high tides of the North-East Monsoon there is a foot to eighteen inches more water.

In connection with the Dock is a complete range of workshops, fitted with steam machinery, driving all descriptions of engineers' tools required in the construction and repair of vessels and machinery, and a foundry for iron and brass castings.

The Company's extensive Wharves and Godowns for receiving and storing cargo immediately adjoin the Dock.

Having an efficient European staff in each department, the Company is in a position to guarantee the best workmanship, executed with every possible despatch, as well as low rates of charges.

These advantages, and the great facilities which the proximity of the Dock to the town offers for the transport of materials, &c., enable this Company to adopt a very low scale of charges for ships' work of all classes.

Summary of News from the Far East.

JAPAN.

YOKOHAMA.

Dates by the Pacific mail, which arrived on April 16 at San Francisco and was delivered here on the 6th inst., extend to March 24.

We perceive by the Japan Mail that the annual general meeting of the Yokohama General and Small-pox Hospital was held on the 14th March, H.E. Sir Harry Parkes in the chair. The report shows the great usefulness of the hospital, 65 cases of typhus fever being admitted in the early part of the year, and no less than 121 cases of small-pox during the year just ended. At the last meeting held on the 15th March, 1870, the building fund was in debt to the then treasurer $828.06, which was further increased in all to $996.80. In the month of June part of the late Mr. Malcolm's legacy, amounting to $954.68, was handed to the treasurer, and the debt to Mr. Wilkin was then paid off. A further sum of $225 due to Mr. Malcolm's estate is expected by every steamer from Shanghai. The present balance-sheet shows a sum of $1,212 due to the treasurer. The accounts having been passed,

Mr. Smith said that he expected to have seen some remarks in the committee's report as to the statements made in a local paper. The committee had taken notice of it, and the paper had replied, but the whole was very unsatisfactory; the public did not know whether the hospital was properly conducted or not, and he therefore proposed that the Chairman appoint a special committee for the purpose of enquiring into all the matters recently brought before the public. In the Japan Mail Daily Advertiser there were letters from Mr. Morel, Mr. Dalziel and others. Mr. Morel said, "I see no reason whatever for changing the views with which, in the first instance, I was prepared to approach the subject of Taylor's death. The statement of Dr. Dalliston is entirely unsatisfactory."

Mr. Black thought it unnecessary to keep the matter before the public. The explanations were perfectly satisfactory, and nothing could come of any investigation. The speaker concluded by proposing an amendment to this effect, which, after some discussion, was almost unanimously carried. The members of the committee were unanimously selected, with the addition of Capt. Lane. Mr. Robison said that Mr. Lotz, steward, was to receive $75 a month instead of $50. Votes of thanks were accorded to Dr. Dalliston and to the Fathers of the Roman Catholic Chapel of the Sacred Heart, and a subscription list was then sent round with the following result: Donations $720—Annual subscriptions $880.

At the U.S. Consular Court on the 13th March John Rogers was charged before Mr. Consul Lyon with forging kinsats. The Court ordered the Japanese authorities to bring in their witnesses, who are the alleged accomplices of Rogers, one by one, for the purpose of identifying the prisoner. Three natives accordingly identified Rogers, and one of them, an engraver, deposed to having been employed by Rogers to engrave a rio on wood. Witness was never paid for the work. He never asked for money. He expected to receive some money, but did not mention any particular sum. The job when finished was not to Rogers's satisfaction. He only made one plate. He took some of the kinsats and tried to pass them, as did the others. They took 10 rios. The witness said he was in the custody of the Japanese Government for counterfeiting kinsats and attempting to pass them. He had been in prison about twelve days on the charge. The Consul interrupted the case, saying that he should decline to proceed further in consequence of the pitiable condition of the witnesses brought forward. He did not know whether they were insane or not, but in their present state they were quite unfit to give evidence, and must be taken away and recruited until they were in a condition to stand and talk in a proper manner. They must be again brought up on Saturday. On Saturday the case was further postponed, the Japanese authorities having requested an adjournment in order that the witnesses might further recruit their health.

The public works lately undertaken by the Japanese Government are advancing towards completion. Lines of telegraph between Yokohama and Yedo, and between Osaka and Kobe, are established; and a further extension from Yedo to Osaka and Kioto is in contemplation. The Mint at Osaka was to be opened early in April, and it is expected that in about twelve months the railway will be complete.

Two Japanese have been executed at Yedo for complicity in the outrage upon Messrs. Dallas and Ring.

The opening of the Yokoska Arsenal, originally fixed for the 15th March, and then postponed, has again been put off, the probable date being the 27th. It is evident that the Japanese Government intend to make the affair an occasion for much ceremony and display. As a matter of course, the Foreign Ministers will be present; while the Japanese authorities will issue cards of invitation to a large number of their friends, both native and foreign.

The birthday of the Emperor of Germany was celebrated at this port on the 22nd March. The houses of the German firms and the German men-of-war and merchant vessels in the harbour were dressed with flags and evergreens, and in the evening were illuminated. The German Club was especially brilliant with illuminations, and here a grand dinner took place in celebration of the day. The rejoicings were finally brought to a conclusion with a display of fireworks.

The works of the Hiogo and Osaka Railway are being vigorously pushed forward by the purchase of land and the preparation of material.

The 19th and 20th numbers of the Far East, the illustrated newspaper published at Yokohama, fully deserve the support which would seem to have established this paper on a firm and permanent basis. It is greatly to the credit of a young and small community like that of Yokohama that they should support what the whole public of British India has never yet had the energy to establish. The Far East is well filled with interesting articles, but its principal attraction is of course its illustrations—photographs of local scenes and persons, extremely well selected and executed. It would be difficult to find a more amusing present to a young lady forming a photographic album than a number of our Yokohama contemporary.

The Luthair, which sailed on the 25th of March for New York, had on board 18,953 half-chests and 245 boxes of tea, 72 cases of curios, and 100 bales of waste silk.

HIOGO.

The Hiogo News has the following:—We took a stroll to the new Light house upon Hiogo point. This very useful little work is now nearly completed and it is confidently expected that the lamps will be lit within three weeks from this. The light is what is technically known as one of the fourth order—a harbour light. The lantern, which is forty feet from the ground, is constructed of iron and gun-metal; it is ten-sided, and will be glazed with plate glass. No lenses are used in this description of light, but lamps which burn kerosene and have large silvered reflectors will be placed round the interior of the lantern. The light will be visible under ordinary circumstances for a distance of fifteen miles. The framework of the tower is very strongly built of kiaki. It was at first intended to erect the light upon the fort, which is within a stone's throw of the present site, but the Japanese authorities, after agreeing to this plan, changed their minds and refused to let it be done. Seeing that the fort is untenanted, and its armament removed, it is difficult to account for this refusal.

We were informed by the European engineer in charge of the works that a light exactly similar to the above would be shortly placed upon the tower now being constructed at Tenposan. We also learn that the lighthouse in the Akashi Straits, on the island of Awaji, is ready to receive the light apparatus. This Akashi light is to be of the first order, one of those wonderful combinations of lenses that all who visited the London Exhibition of 1862 will remember. In lights of this class sperm oil is used in lieu of the less expensive kerosene.

Value of Imports Delivered.	Year ending June 30, 1869.	Value of Exports.	Total.
$4,925,424	$1,945,205		$6,870,629
$8,716,202	$5,370,322		$12,086,584
Taking the years ending December 31st, we have for the
$6,545,315	$2,124,342		$8,669,657
$8,023,637	$3,614,554		$11,638,241

These figures represent the value of merchandise imported and exported, but are exclusive of the movement of treasure.

There has been a falling off in the deliveries of piece goods for the past year, and the prices of the principal articles of imported cotton goods—grey shirtings and cotton yarn—show a slightly lower average.

The Imperial Mint at Osaka is now nearly ready to commence the manufacture and issue of the new coins, and when in full working order will be able to coin $40,000 per diem, and of subsidiary coins about 160,000 pieces. The Telegraph line between Hiogo and Osaka is in good working order, and the line of the proposed railway between the two places located, and the works commenced.

NAGASAKI.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)
(VIA SAN FRANCISCO.)

NAGASAKI, March 16.

Since writing you on the 7th inst. via Brindisi, no mails from Europe have reached this, although the French mail of Jan. 20 was due in Shanghai on the 10th inst. Copies of telegrams extending to Feb. 23 came to hand yesterday evening by the Pacific mail steamer New York, which announced that "Peace may be considered settled." The French corvette Linois came in for coal on the 9th inst., and left again on the 13th inst. The Russian gunboat Sokol returned from her cruise on the 14th inst.; she, with H.B.M. gunboat Ringdove, remain in harbour. The British barque James Paton, from London via Hiogo, arrived here on the 13th inst., 182 days out.

A general meeting of the creditors of the estate of Glover and Co. is announced to take place on Friday, the 24th inst., at the office of the Netherland Trading Company, when the accounts of the working of the Takasima mine during the past six months will be presented. It is reported that the operations of the mine have been interrupted by the water leaking into it; but as a similar event occurred last year it is to be hoped that the present difficulty will be speedily overcome. The mine I believe extends a certain distance under the sea, but whether this is the cause of the water getting into it I have been unable to learn.

Dr. van Mansvell has obtained an appointment as Superintendent of the Hospital established at Hiogo, and will assume charge of it on his return from Batavia; to which place he shortly proceeds for a trip instead of returning to Europe.

The Governor of Nagasaki Nomura, is to be succeeded by a new one, who is expected here shortly. Most persons here seem to think that his removal will be a loss to foreigners; and in regretting his intended departure, our local press is loud in their praises of him; all of which privately he deserves, but it is particularly unfortunate that during his governorship so many events have taken place which have caused much dissatisfaction among foreigners—the most notable being the deportation of the Christians.

This place is beginning to look a little more lively, but business at present is confined to the purchase of articles for Chinese consumption, such as seaweed, &c. It is to be hoped that the activity will shortly be extended to piece goods, but improvement in prices of these chiefly depends upon the stocks in China; so long as these remain heavy they only tend to prevent the Japanese from purchasing on speculation, lest a further decline should take place on the already ruinous prices now current.

No vessel is on the berth for London, on which place the rate of exchange is 4s. 4½d. Native gold coin, 404 to 406 bous per $100

The Nagasaki Express has the following on the Governor:—Nomura, who for the past few years has acted so satisfactorily as Governor of this Port, was entertained at a farewell dinner by the Consular Body at the Occidental Hotel. The community will learn with regret that Mr. Nomura is soon to leave us, he having been appointed Chiiji of Hida in Bungo.

It is given out that the new appointment is a promotion, but the general belief is that he has been removed, owing to his popularity among both the natives and foreigners being too great. The new Government, notwithstanding its professions of progress, are following fast in the steps of the old one, by never allowing a popular Governor, and a man who like Mr. Nomura has made only friends, to remain in a place too long; and do not take into account the benefits likely to arise from one who has the tact of not only pleasing the natives but foreigners also.

The present Governor is the most popular one Nagasaki has yet had; his manner of doing things gave general satisfaction, and caused him to be respected by all classes. He was liberal in his ideas, affable in his manners, and always ready to listen to any complaints, and to do all in his power to check abuses; he was the right man in the right place, and by removing him the Central Government do a wrong to Mr. Nomura, to Nagasaki, and to the country at large. They may yet have occasion to regret this step; troubles are springing up all over Japan, but Nagasaki has hitherto been quiet, and the people under Mr. Nomura's good government seem satisfied; but how long it will remain so after he leaves us no one can tell.

If the present Government are really liberal in their ideas, and wish to give a public proof of their appreciation of Mr. Nomura's services, and are not above taking a little advice, let them at once cancel his transfer to Hida, increase his pay, but keep him in Nagasaki until the country is in such a settled state that his presence here can be dispensed with. Mr. Nomura in leaving Nagasaki takes away with him the good wishes of every body in the place, and we wish him a successful future.

CHINA.

HONG KONG.

The following items were shut out of our last:—

PEACE REJOICINGS IN HONG KONG.

We learn from the Hong Kong Daily Press that the German community, on receipt of the first news of the conclusion of peace, celebrated the auspicious event by proceeding to Macao in the steamer Poyang, which was chartered for the occasion, and was very tastefully decorated. They left on the 9th, and returned the same night at ten o'clock after a very pleasant trip, during which the amusements were of a very varied nature, terminating by a dance on board.

On the 10th March a special service in the German language was held at the Union Chapel. Pastor Klitzki, assisted by the Rev. R. Lechler, officiating, and almost all, if not the whole, of the German community being in attendance. Several appropriate hymns were sung, the choruses being rendered with great effect by some of the amateurs, and the whole service being of a solemn and stirring character, suited to the occasion.

In the evening a banquet was held at the Club Germania, which was very tastefully decorated with the flags of all nations and emblematic designs; and the attendance of an admirable band heightened the pleasantness of the entertainment. A variety of toasts were given, but throughout the whole proceedings care was taken to exclude all political allusions, beyond those naturally arising in celebrating the return of the great national blessing of Peace, the Emperor of Germany, the Army and its Commanders, and, lastly, a few solemn and eloquent words were given in memory of the dead, and in sympathy with the wounded in the war.

A very pleasant incident took place during the banquet. The mail steamer Travancore, which had arrived shortly before, brought out information to the North German Consul that a decoration of the order of the Crown had been sent by the Emperor, with the request that it should be handed to Mr. Julius Menke as a testimony of approval of the services rendered by him as Vice-Consul at Hong Kong. This was announced during the banquet, the intimation being received with great enthusiasm.

THE "BLACKADDER" AND THE "VOLGA"—COLLISION.

On March 8 the Court gave judgment in the cross actions between the owners of the British ship Blackadder and the Messageries Maritimes of France. In the case of the Blackadder v. the Volga the judge pronounced for the promonent, and directed a reference to the registrar to assess the amount of damages. On the question of costs the Chief Justice said that the non-compliance by the Blackadder with the 2nd Article of the regulations for preventing collisions at sea, appended to the Order in Council of Jan. 9, 1863, in no way occasioned or contributed to the collision, but there was on the night of the collision a non-compliance with the second Article of the Regulation for a period of nearly two hours before the collision occurred. Though the misconduct of the Blackadder, in not duly exhibiting her lights at sunset and for about two hours, till the Volga was in sight, did not occasion the collision, it probably occasioned this litigation. It is probable that, informed as the agents for the Messageries Maritimes Company here were, that no lights were, in fact, seen by the crew of the Volga, they were led to believe by the written statement of the captain that the lights were not exhibited by the Blackadder until shortly before the collision, and they naturally, though it turns out erroneously, inferred that no such lights had been exhibited until after the collision was imminent. Both parties were ordered to pay their own costs, and the Judge expressed the hope that this decision might tend to prevent what seems to be a practice—a most dangerous practice—the petty saving of oil by an habitual non-compliance, for a few hours sometimes and at other times during all the night, with the wise regulation of the Board of Trade that lights be carried "in all weathers, from sunset to sunrise."

The Queen's Advocate made three applications in Admiralty in respect of claims for bounty for destruction of piratical crafts by H.M.S. Haughty some five or six years ago. Order was made in each case. Mr. Francis instructed the Queen's Advocate (Hon. J. Pouncefote).

In the matter of Metta, the bankrupt, Leong Aon, compradore to Messrs. Gibb, Livingston and Co., having been chosen creditors' assignee. Mr. Sharp applied to the Court to confirm the appointment. Mr. Caldwell, for the National Bank, the largest creditor, opposed; but on the objection of Mr. Sharp that no proof had been put in, the matter was adjourned to enable Mr. Caldwell to comply with the requisite forms.

In the matter of Abdoolally, a bankrupt, Mr. Brereton, for the opposing creditor, applied for the committal of the bankrupt for contempt of Court, in disobeying an order of the Court, made about twelve months ago, for the bankrupt to put in certain accounts. The Court characterised the conduct of the bankrupt as being quite inexcusable, and he was ordered to stand committed until he had found security in $1,000 for his appearance a fortnight hence, when a peremptory order for the accounts to be put in was made.

Administration in the estate of the late Mr. J. C. Whyte was granted to Mr. Sharp, attorney for the executrix, Miss Whyte, in England. Property sworn under $25,000.

Among the passengers by the steamer Sarpedon, for England, was the Hon. F. Forth. It may fairly be presumed that Mr. Forth has bade a final "good-bye" to the colony, and that he has retired to enjoy in his native land the honourable leisure to which he is so well entitled. We believe we may say with perfect truth that the good wishes of the residents of Hong Kong will follow him.

The departure of Mr. H. C. Caldwell by the mail has been the signal for an expression of regard which seldom falls to the lot of a private resident in this colony. An address was presented to him by the Chinese communities of Hong Kong and Canton couched in terms the most flattering and poetical; and with it was accompanied one of the most tastefully-wrought tankards we have yet seen. The piece of silver is a neat imitation of gold-fish, shells, and marine flora.

From the Harbour Master's Report we learn that the gross increase of ships and tonnage on the year 1869 is 2,433 vessels, with a carrying capacity of 311,028 tons. Of this increase there are 20,543 tons from Great Britain, 49,340 tons from India, 28,436 tons from Siam, 86,615 tons from Japan, 32,166 tons from Macao, and 109,594 tons from the ports in China and Formosa, whilst from other places there is a decrease. Of the ships of different nations arriving at this port, there is a marked increase in those under the British flag, consisting of 133 vessels and 161,520 tons. The number and tonnage of vessels under the French and American flags have also increased, whilst those under the North German flag, in consequence of the war, have 87 vessels with 26,148 tons less than in 1869 and this large diminution is but the effect of a few months' hostilities. Under the head emigration there is a sensible decrease, amounting to 3,460 men, 1,549 women, 204 boys, and eighty girls. The opposition evinced in the United States of America to the introduction of Chinese labour is having its effect, whether for good or evil remains to be seen. Emigration under contract is at present prohibited at Hong Kong, except to British Possessions, but to these the restrictions and difficulties are so great that only seventy Chinese left for Labuan during the year.

Commercial Report.

(Via San Francisco.)

IMPORTS.

YOKOHAMA.—There had been but little change in the market during the interval. Grey Shirtings and Cotton Yarn had been dealt in to a moderate extent at about former prices. Woollens and Metals were quiet and without enquiry. Quotations:—G. E. Grey Shirtings, 7 lbs., per piece, $2.75: 8½ to 8½ lbs., $2.85 to 2.90; 9 to 9½ lbs., $3.00 to 3.25; Cotton Yarn, 16 to 24 lbs., per picul, $39.50; 28 to 32 lbs., $41.50 to 42.00; 38 to 42 lbs., $41.00 to 42.00.

NAGASAKI.—Messrs. H. Gribble and Co. report as follows:—Since our last report the native New Year holidays have intervened and caused an interruption to all business, which this year has extended longer than usual, and even now has not entirely ceased. During the past week deliveries of Shirtings have been made (including some 2,000 pieces Red), and business is gradually resuming its usual course, but at a general decline in prices as regards all imports. Coals show a small export during past month owing to the absence of tonnage; but as soon as this is available we look for an advance in value, as present prices do not induce supplies. Grey Shirtings 8½ lbs. $2.75 per piece; Dyed Shirtings, Indigo and Gantian, $3.56 per piece wanted. T. R. Cambrics 2½ cutty $2.75. Chintzes 24 yards 20-30 in. $2.40 to 2.80 per piece. Camlets $8 assorted $14.50, but black remain only worth $11 per piece. Plain Black Lustres, 42 yards $7.12 per piece, 30 yards $5.12 per piece, wanted. Victoria Lawns, 12 yards 42 in. $1.12 per piece, wanted. Metals:—Nail Rod Iron, small sizes, $3.50 per picul, wanted.

HIOGO AND OSAKA.—Cotton Goods continued in fair inquiry, but prices ruling before the holidays had scarcely been maintained. Woollens were also weaker, with the exception of Mouselines de Laine. Grey Shirtings: At a slight decline there was a fair demand for 7 lbs. and 8½ lbs. goods. Cotton Yarn: 28 32's saleable at quotations, and 16-24's somewhat more in favour. White Shirtings inquired for. Turkey Reds also inquired for, but prices low. Black Velvets declined, and difficult of sale. Victoria Lawns wanted, at an advance upon previous rates. Taffelachels neglected. Camlets unchanged, except Scarlet, which were lower. Black Lustres continued in fair demand. There was some inquiry for White Orleans. Mouselines de Laine, both Figured and Plain, fully maintained their value. Black Cloth was difficult to move, except at low rates. Blankets were somewhat weaker. Nail Rod Iron was lower. Quotations (in dollars at 102½ pios per $100):—Cotton Yarn: Nos. 16 to 24, per bale, 107.31; Nos. 28 to 32, 123.90 to 124.88; Nos. 38 to 42, 123.90. Cotton Piece Goods: GE Grey Shirtings, 7 lbs., 38 yds. 30 in., per piece, 2.44; 8½ to 8½ lbs., 2.78 to 2.83; GE White Shirtings, 56 to 60 reel, 40 yds. 36 in., 2.68 to 2.80; 64 to 72 do. do., 2.92 to 3.17; T. Cloths, 6 to 7 lbs., 1.71; Drills, Dutch, 40 yds., 3.41; Handkerchiefs, Assorted, per doz., 0.63 to 0.73; Brocades and Spots, White, per piece, 2.44 to 2.68; Dyed, 2.92 to 3.51; Chintz, Assorted, 24 yds. 30 in., 2.29 to 2.34; Turkey Red, do., 2.44 to 2.68; Turkey Red Cambrics, do., 3 lbs., 2.55; Velvets, Black, 6.34 to 6.83; Victoria Lawns, 1.09 to 1.12; Taffelachels, Double Warp, 12 yds. 43 in., 2.68 to 2.92; Long Ells, Assorted, 12 lbs., 5.36 to 5.85; Blankets, per lb., 0.36. Iron: Bars, per picul, 2.68; Nail Rod, 2.68 to 2.92; Hoop, 2.68; Lead, 5.85 to 6.21.

EXPORTS.

TEA.

YOKOHAMA.—There had been very little doing since the date of the last report, and settlements had not exceeded 500 piculs, making 3,500 piculs since the last American mail; these consisted of most grades from Common to Fine, and had been principally for the California market. Stocks were small and of inferior quality, as must be expected at this period of the season. Prices were unchanged, although dealers showed a little more anxiety to realise. The Lothair sailed on the 21st March with 822,009 lbs. for New York; the Eastern Chief was loading for the same port. Quotations:—Common, $18 to 22 per picul; good common, $23 to 25; medium, $27 to 30; good medium, $32 to 34; fine, $36 to 39; finest and choice, nominal.

NAGASAKI.—Stocks had not materially changed, but dealers showed more inclination to reduce their prices. Quotations:—Common to good, $14 to 17; medium to fine, $18 to 21; and fine to finest, $23 to 26 per picul.

HIOGO AND OSAKA.—During the month transactions had been restricted, owing to the small arrivals, caused by the native New Year holidays and the want of desirable descriptions. Settlements were reported at 1,300 piculs, and at irregular rates; arrivals, 1,700 piculs; stock, 3,400 piculs. Current sales were:—Common, Rios 15 to 18 per picul; good common, Rios 19 to 24; medium, Rios 25 to 30; good medium, Rios 31 to 38.

SILK.

YOKOHAMA.—A fair amount of business had been done in this staple, and settlements were estimated at about 550 bales, of which about 300 bales were Hank sorte, and the remainder principally Oshus. In our last report a decline was reported in prices of about $30 per picul for Hanks, but immediately buyers showed the slightest eagerness to purchase dealers at once advanced their rates, and prices again have to be quoted on a par with those of 22nd February. Quotations at exchange, 4s. 5½d. 6 months sight. HIOGO AND OSAKA.—With the exception of a parcel of about 27 bales, settled immediately following the date of our last report, nothing had been done. Since the holidays silkmen had evinced no desire to sell, but, on the contrary, were asking higher prices. In the absence of business it was impossible to give reliable quotations, but it is fair to presume that business could be done on a parity with prices ruling at Yokohama. Dealers reported that Silk was being taken for native consumption at high rates.

Eppe's Cocoa is also prepared with condensed milk, and sold in tins, labelled Eppe's Milky Cocoa.

medical missionary, Dr. F. Porter Smith. A resolution to maintain missions in China was then unanimously passed.

In the course of his opening speech the Chairman said:—When it is stated that a country of limited territory like Egypt, and a corrupt country like Turkey, each take more of the exports of British produce and manufacture than a nation like China, what may we not expect our dealings with such a people to become, after the introduction of Christianity, the opening up of the country to foreigners, the breaking down of the barriers to trade, the shortening of the route to China by the recent opening of the Suez Canal, and the instant communication with Europe by telegraph? (Loud applause.) Before sit down I may say that I have been entrusted this morning with a cheque for £50 by my excellent father-in-law, Dr. Wood—(cheers)—who is not able to be present; and this morning I received from my cousin, Miss Holy, of Leamington, who is not able to be here, the sum of £10. (Hear, hear.)

The circuit reports for the year 1870 are, on the whole, encouraging. The following account of the Wuchang District was received from the Rev. Josiah Cox:—Its population in 1812 was 27,370,098, or about the present population of our United Kingdom. They are a peaceable, industrious, and commercial people. The three places occupied by our mission—Wuchang, Hankow, and Hanyang—form a "congeries of cities" at the junction of the river Han with the Yangtze, and, but for these two streams, would form one vast continuous city. They contain the homes, workshops, warehouses, and, one may add, the shipping of one million and a-half of people. The whole province must be reached by whatever influences this great centre. The London Missionary Society was the first to occupy these important cities, and, more recently than ourselves, the American Episcopal Church has also occupied this important centre. In one of the central streets of Wuchang, and on the great thoroughfare of Hankow, we have erected a chapel, where divine service is conducted every Sabbath, and prolonged preaching services, of from two to four hours, are held on five other days of the week. A native helper preaches and assists the foreign missionary in these services. A successful day-school of thirty boys has been in operation for three years in Hankow; and another has been struggling into existence in Wuchang for upwards of a year. Similar services have continued at our Hanyang Chapel. Dr. Smith has prosecuted for six years a great and good work in our hospital at Hankow, prescribing to about eight thousand patients annually. He also crossed over to Wuchang weekly, and administered to the sick there.

The following report from Fatsan also deserves particular notice:—During the first six months of the year the chapel was opened for public preaching every day, and through help afforded by the brethren in the Canton West Circuit, one of the missionaries, as well as the native assistant, officiated daily. The congregations were generally large, and considerable interest seemed to be awakened. A few persons were in almost regular attendance, and we entertained the hope that some of them might ultimately be gathered into the Church. But the disturbances which followed the Tientsin Massacre drove them away, and the emeute at Fatsan on the 21st of September, by which the London Mission Chapel was destroyed, put a stop to our preaching altogether. We were driven to preach in villages and market-places, as opportunity served. We hope, however, to resume our labours in Fatsan in the Chinese New Year.

The Rev. Wm. Williams (Chairman of the Bolton District), in moving the first resolution—"That this meeting, recognising with gratitude the merciful preservation of our missionaries in China during another year, and the blessing from above which has attended their work of faith, resolves still to sustain the missions in that great country, fully relying upon the promises of the great Head of the Church, and assuredly expecting that the seed which is being sown shall in due time yield a plentiful harvest"—said:—"There are very extraordinary sentiments broached in the present day. If we believe in what is called the Darwinian hypothesis, then some wonderful transformation may take place in China, and they may become, without our efforts, all that we wish them to become. If the 400,000,000 of people really have sprung out of the tadpole, and if by some wonderful metamorphosis the tadpole grew into a reptile, and the reptile into a marsupial, and the marsupial into a mammalian or a monkey, and one day some ambitious monkey cleverer than the rest of the monkeys jumped upon his feet and became a man—well, then, nobody can say, upon that principle, what may take place. These Mongolians and Tartars may perhaps be transformed into Englishmen, and these Buddhists and Confucians may perhaps be transformed by this extraordinary power which is operating in the universe into Christians. The only difficulty seems to me to be this, that the Chinese are not prepared for that sort of evolution: they are not prepared for that transformation. We find it a very difficult thing to move them. But they must be moved, and they will be moved. If they do not give way to the force of cannon or diplomacy, they will have to give way to the force of Christian ideas—(cheers)—and these will and must go up into China."

The resolution was seconded by the Rev. John H. Beech, of Hull, and supported by the Rev. Ebenezer E. Jenkins, who denounced the opium trade as terrific and wholesale murder, and, referring to the present religious crisis in China, said to meet it in a narrow and calculating spirit would be to dishonour the faith by which the Church that professes to walk by faith ventures when she obeys a Divine command. To meet it in a delaying spirit would not only imperil the work already accomplished, but must prove fatal to several departments of it.

The resolution was submitted to the meeting, and carried unanimously. A collection was then made.

Sir Francis Lyett moved, and Mr. McArthur seconded, a vote of thanks to the chairman, and, the resolution having been carried by acclamation, Dr. Jobson, in formally presenting the thanks of the meeting to Mr. Sutcliffe, remarked that the society rejoiced in him as the third Lancashire gentleman in succession who had occupied the chair at the China Mission breakfasts.

MR. WADE AND HIS TELEGRAMS.

The following piece of doggerel has been sent to us, and, though we do not usually make our columns the repository for verse, we think that present circumstances may excuse this deviation from our rule:—

ALL'S WELL.

(A Duet, with New Words to the Old Tune—Sung by Telegraph.)

"That strain again! It had a dying fall!"—SHAKESPEARE.

First Verse.—Scene, Peking.

MR. W—M.—(High tenor.)

Though chapels blaze, and abrieking nuns
Perish beneath the dark yamuns;
Although the mob at every street
With curses "foreign devils" greet;
And mandarins, with fiendish grin,
Revolve another Tientsin—
Still must I write, a dreary round,
Despatches as in duty bound—

In duty bound!

I know I've got some ships of war;
But, if they musn't fight, what are they for?
And, if some bolder spirit say,
Why be dictated to this way—
Why truth not dare to tell?

Hush! Not a word!

I dare not for my place.

Good night, my friend—

All's well!

Second Verse.—Scene, London.

Delighted with your last despatch;
The rest it does so nicely match,
That folks might think at the first view
'Twas I who wrote them, and not you.
The bad news I have heard to-day
'Twas right to send the slowest way;
Indeed, whatever ills befall,
I'd rather not be told at all—

Not told at all!

When the circular comes I'll stave it off,
As I did the one from G—sch—off;
Look big when Russia her plans unmasked,
And end by granting all she asked—

All she asked!

And if the Opposition say,
This was not Pam's or Derby's way—

What's going on there?

Pray, Secretary, tell!

Mum! Not a word!

We can't play our Card-well.

(con. espressione) Write to the Pall Mall!

Good night, my friend—

All's well!

(Dormit.)

FAN-QU 1.

THE CHINESE DESPATCH.

(GLOBE.)

The Government reply to the questions asked simultaneously in the two Houses of Parliament, concerning the important telegram from China, was probably less disingenuous than Ministerial answers usually are. It is no doubt true that the Government had no information; indeed, it is the fate of Her Majesty's Government to be left uninformed of crises in China. Last summer, it may be remembered, after the massacre at Tientsin had become a matter of public notoriety, Her Majesty's Government ventured to deny the fact, on the ground that Her Majesty's representative in China would not have failed to telegraph to them so serious an occurrence. A clumsy and expensive system of telegraphing appears to be in use between Peking and Downing-street—the negative system of reporting at stated intervals when there is no disturbance, so that when a break occurs in the continuity of the "All quiet" messages, we may, if we please, infer that something positive has happened.

But the art of governing does not, after all, consist in the power of silencing troublesome interrogators; and it is a pity that Ministers do not awake to the truth that there is something more in Chinese affairs than can be disposed of by a little off-hand fencing in Parliament. It is only too evident that we are on the eve of complications in China of a serious character. Ministers may blind themselves to the signs of the times now, as it was the fashion to pooh-pooh the premonitory symptoms of the Indian mutiny. They may even smile at the warlike preparations which have been going on for some years back expressly to meet foreigners, according to a programme of which we learned some particulars from a secret memorial by a Chinese Viceroy in 1868. But it is none the less a noteworthy circumstance that the very last mail from China brings news of extraordinary activity in completing these arrangements, and especially in strengthening the Chinese position about the Peiho, which experience has taught them is the most likely place to encounter a foreign foe. We have no right to complain of the Chinese Government fortifying their coasts, even though we ourselves be the enemy whose reception they are providing for; but when exceptional exertions in this direction are accompanied by an intimation that certain stipulations in the Treaty with us are to be repudiated, surely it is unwise to shut our eyes to the significance of the connection. Many valuable lives are at stake—not so many, perhaps, as would make an impression on great financial minds—and one of the most promising outlets which the manufacturers of this country possess is put in peril by the storm which is brewing in the Far East. This, then, is not a time when a passive and evasive policy is becoming in those who have the commercial interests of the country in their charge.

With regard to the coming massacre, which the Chinese Government appear to anticipate, there is one way of preventing it, and that is by informing them, in a manner that will induce them to believe, that we shall insist on the punishment of the instigators of it, however high their rank. Nor would this be much at variance with the spirit of that most unfortunate engagement which Lord Clarendon made with Mr. Burlingame, and which lies at the root of the present untoward state of our relations with China. For, even in that unequal bargain, there was an ideal equivalent for the concession made by Lord Clarendon, which was this—that “Mr. Burlingame was requested to bear in mind, and to make known to the Chinese Government, that we should henceforward have a right to expect on its part the faithful fulfilment of treaty engagements, the prompt redress of grievances referred to the Central Government, and friendly treatment of British subjects by the Chinese authorities.” Not a very grand “equivalent,” truly, especially as all the acceptance the above request obtained was a vague assent by Mr. Burlingame to the general principle of the advisability of observing treaty stipulations. Like so many of our diplomatic bargains this was one in which we gave all and received nothing, for the something we tried to think we should receive vanished into air. The “treaty engagements” were never more boldly disregarded; the “redress of grievances by the Central Government” was never more hopeless; the “friendly treatment of British subjects” was never less to be counted on than during the two years that have elapsed since the Clarendon-Burlingame compact was made. It is, however, open to us either to withdraw from so one-sided an engagement, or to insist on receiving the consideration by which we were induced to put our feet in the stocks; and it is not difficult to re-establish satisfactory relations with China, for if there is one truth more clearly demonstrated than another by the able despatches of Lord Elgin, Sir F. Bruce, Sir R. Alcock, and all the Consuls, as well as by recent writers on China, it is this, that the more resolute we are in maintaining our treaty rights, the less will the Chinese think of evading them; nay, the more cheerfully will they acquiesce in according to us our privileges.

Mr. Arthur E. Moule has addressed the following letter to the Standard :—

SIR.—Allow me to draw attention to the very threatening telegraphic news from Shanghai which the papers of the 27th instant announced. All female education is to be forbidden in China; the attendance of women at religious services will be prohibited; no teaching against Confucius and Chinese doctrine will be allowed; and missionaries away from the ports will be denationalised if the formal demand of the Chinese Government be conceded.

I am a missionary, and have lived and worked in China for seven years and a half. Any defence of mission work in that country from my pen would therefore be viewed with some suspicion by your readers as partial and “out of perspective.” I wish rather to draw attention to the grave political aspect of this Chinese despatch.

Assuming that it is genuine (and the telegram bears, I fear, every mark of substantial authenticity), its whole animus is, I submit, still anti-foreign, not necessarily anti-Christian. It is a feeler put out, a sting applied to the most advanced, and hence most vulnerable portion of foreign influence in China; and as this insult is received so will future policy be guided.

Some of your readers will, no doubt, conclude that this despatch was penned under the influence of Chinese moral instincts; as though female education, and the attendance of women at public services were in Chinese eyes indelicate and opposed to sober etiquette.

It is a fact that promiscuous assemblages of men and women are re-proved in the Chinese sacred edict and in recent proclamations; yet the idol temples in China are crowded with women; and in Christian churches all objection on the score of decency is removed by the arrangement of the men and women on opposite sides of the building. Foundling hospitals for girls, again, against which the condition as to female education seems to be levelled, are institutions approved of by Chinese morality and supported by Chinese charity. Neither can the seclusion of the women of China be compared at all to the custom which prevails in India. At all events, in common justice, Buddhist and Taoist temples must be closed against the women, if Christian churches are forbidden them on this ground.

In the treaty of Tientsin Christianity is commended as a religion with a pure and benevolent object and tendency. Missionaries are allowed to teach and preach, and to travel throughout the empire; whilst Chinese subjects without limitation are permitted to embrace Christianity.

All these admissions and provisions are by the despatch to which I allude revoked. The treaty is in fact declared null and void. And if the rights conceded to missionary enterprise are thus abrogated, what reason have merchants for concluding that their rights will any longer be considered valid?

I apprehend that this is a serious political complication. When a civilised Power such as Russia repudiates a treaty such an act must, of course, be considered calmly, with conference, and careful weighing of argument. When a barbarous Power repudiates a treaty no wonder will be excited; but prompt measures of repression will be adopted. But when a quasi-civilised country like China repudiates a treaty the case is the most serious of all. It means deliberate and deeply planned mischief. It can be met and defeated only by deliberate and determined refusal to entertain the demand, and by a distinct reiteration of the rights by treaty conceded.

GERMANY.

HAMBURG, May 8.

During the past fortnight the German Parliament has been occupied with several important measures, among which is the settlement of the Imperial Budget for the present year, several alterations having become indispensably necessary to the Budget of the North German Confederation that was voted last May, from the fact of its having become so much more amplified by the accession of the States of Bavaria, Wurtemberg, Hesse-Darmstadt, and Baden. A supplementary vote for 565,975 thalers has therefore been required for the service of the Empire, of which the sum of 136,354 thalers are for annual requirements, and 429,621 thalers for special expenses. After the usual pros and cons of would-be great financiers in Parliament the Bill was passed without any amendment. Then there was the great question of a remuneration of Members of Parliament, not perhaps for their services so much as in compensation of their travelling expenses and hotel bills during the session, and here there was a great divergence of opinion, not only in the House but out of doors and in the press. However, the result was that the majority in favour of the Bill in its wisdom carried the day, and, as no exceptions are admitted, Baron Rothchild, the member for Frankfurt, Prince Wilhelm, the Duke of Ratibor, Prince Putbus, Count Wernigerode, and the other millionaires will be obliged to accept an addition of two thalers—say six shillings sterling—per day during the session to their princely revenues, and, I presume, have to declare it for the income tax. Germany has of late been so inundated with so-called lottery loans, issued by impecunious Governments, of the smaller States and partly by railway companies requiring more funds to extend the sphere of their operations and effect other improvements, that a Bill has been introduced to place them in future under Parliamentary control; some forty-three of recognised security which are very popular, and whose value is daily quoted in the official lists of all the Exchanges in Germany, will be permitted to pass toll-free as hitherto; but no new ones will be allowed to be introduced without a special Act of Parliament, and then only on payment of a certain sum of money for the use and behoof of the Federal Exchequer of the Empire. A new postal Bill for regulating and reorganising the post-office of the Empire is also before Parliament; but as the session is soon to close it will not be practicable to get it passed before the adjournment, and it will have to be left to stand over till the Autumn Session.

Prince Bismark has enunciated the principle of granting indemnities to the owners of German vessels captured by French cruisers during the war, but not for the still greater number of vessels that were put to great expense without the possibility of earning anything by being shut up in neutral ports for so many months, and put to additional charges by not being allowed to discharge their crew. This seems a great hardship and injustice, but a line must be drawn somewhere, or else the claims made would be almost unlimited, and that is where the Chancellor of the Empire has drawn the line. As, however, the claims are so complicated, and each particular case requires to be thoroughly investigated and examined, it will no doubt take a long time before a final adjudication of the claims can be settled; and nothing has as yet transpired as to the period when the payments will be made. Special commissioners have been appointed and are working as hard as they can to get through the business as speedily as possible.

The liberation of the French prisoners of war has suddenly been interrupted, it having transpired that there are still some thousand Germans in captivity in France, which the Government of that country refuse to deliver up till the definitive treaty of peace has been signed, though this is contrary to the stipulations of the preliminaries, which expressly state they shall be immediately exchanged, and the Germans in good faith have already sent back about 150,000 of the French prisoners. It has not been ascertained exactly where the Germans are confined, but probably in the Isle of Oleron and the Chateau d'If, near Marseilles, where the German troops have not been. In the meantime, as I said above, the return of the French captives has been postponed for the present, and those that are still in this country are placed under greater constraint than they were, being no longer permitted to walk about the streets. Last week a fleet of thirteen large steamers belonging to the Compagnie Transatlantique, and chartered by the French Government as transports, arrived in the Elbe, and about ten thousand men were embarked at Gluckstadt; but whilst the embarkation was being effected the order to stop arrived, and though they all went out to sea together five out of the thirteen steamers were empty.

The Central Committee for the relief of the wounded in this city has just published its twenty-fourth list of voluntary gifts and contributions, among which is a remittance of 468 marks banco, sent by Messrs. Ferdinand Niessen and Th. Wagner, of Shanghai, and handed over to the Committee by Herr G. H. Th. Siemssen, of this city, being the amount of a collection made among the captains and crews of German merchant ships in the port of Shanghai. The total amount received is 482,484 marks 11 schillings banco and 192,808 marks 9 schillings currency.

A bronze medal commemorative of the war with France is now being struck at the Berlin Mint. In shape and size it will be similar to the medals for the campaigns of 1813 and 1814, showing on one side the Iron Cross for Bravery, and on the other simply the year. It will be worn with a ribbon of black-white-red, and be given to all officers, non-commissioned officers, and privates who took part in the war, and as these were more than a million, the labour of the Mint in striking off the medals is very considerable.

From Danzig we learn that as a large part of the crews of the Hertha and the Medusa at Yokohama have completed their term of service, the corvette Nymphe has been put in commission, and will sail in about a month for Japan with a fresh crew for the first-named vessel, bringing back those who have served their time.

The Chancellor, Prince Bismark, has received at a private audience Sameahima, who is described as the Chargé d'Affaires, of the Mikado of Japan, and received from him his credentials.

COMMERCIAL.

The produce market is in a dead calm, but on the whole prices are well supported. Of Tea the sales by importers amounted last week to only 192/8 and 205/16 chests of Souchong, and a few hundred chests of various sorts by the dealers. For Pepper there is a fair local demand, Singapore fetching 5½ to 5¼ sch. bco., and Penang 5½ to 5¼. There has been a brisk inquiry for refined Camphor, notwithstanding which the price is lower than it was. The 81 chests of Staranis lately imported direct from China was sold immediately on being landed. Oil of Cassia is now an object of speculation, 110 chests having been bought up, so that the market is quite bare of that article. About Rice, Cassia Ligna, and Spelter there is nothing to report.

ROTTERDAM, May 3.

After a six days' debate the Second Chamber has finished the general discussion which always precedes the passage of the Budgets. It is very difficult to state of several speakers whether they intended to oppose or to support the Ministry. Some Liberals evinced much opposition towards the Cabinet, and doubted whether it would fulfil its task well, but they nevertheless were inclined to support it. There were some anti-revolutionists who were greatly delighted that the Minister of the Home Department had declared that he would listen to their grievances with regard to the instruction law, but who, notwithstanding, seemed quite disinclined to support the Cabinet. The Conservatives were in general very quiet, and their opposition was not at all so sustained as that of Mr. van Houten, the only member who represents Radical principles. The Clericals took no part in this political discussion, except Mr. Heydenryck, and he did not warmly oppose the Ministry, but explained the reasons why he had left the Liberal camp. Mr. van Nispen, the leader of the Clerical party, spoke upon finance, about which he does not know much. The greatest and general complaint was of the Ministers' intention to deal in the first place with the question of defence and to spend many millions thereupon. This militarism was generally condemned, and but very few members were inclined to grant the enormous credit asked for in behalf of national defence. The Conservatives agreed with the Liberals that the interests of the people ought not to be sacrificed to an expenditure for military purposes, and several members declared that they should vote against the War Budget. In the course of the debate there was also much questioning upon the Reform Bill, the reorganisation of the taxes, academical instruction, the colonial question, &c. The members hoped that Minister Thorbecke would give positive declaration of his policy, which was considered to be the more necessary now that the elections, to renew one half of the members of the Second Chamber, are near at hand. The Premier, however, refused; he, as well as his colleagues, stated that they should do as much as could be done, but he declared that he would not promote the question of defence at the cost of other matters. The Minister of Finance has given a very favourable sketch of the state of the Treasury; and the Minister of the Colonies added that no loan would be necessary in order to complete our railways. Nothing was said about the reorganisation of our taxes; it seems that Mr. Blusee has not yet formed a definitive plan. Of course the debate upon the different chapters of the Budget will be very warm; a commencement has been made with the Budget of the Foreign department. Complaints were rife of the enormous cost of our diplomatic representation at Foreign Courts, and it was much applauded that the Minister of Foreign Affairs had not proposed to appoint an Ambassador at Peking.

To-day the members were busy in the Sections with the examination of the Treaty between England and Holland, regarding the transfer of our Settlements on the Coast of Africa. From that Treaty I derive the following:—Art. I. H.M. the King of the Netherlands transfers to H.M. the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland all his rights of Sovereignty, the jurisdiction and property which he possesses on the Coast of Guinea. Art. II. This transfer includes all the fortresses, buildings, and public works, with all the grounds belonging to them, and which are now the property of the Dutch Government, besides the stock of guns, arms and ammunition; and further, the household goods, with the exception of those which, according to the opinions of the Dutch Government, are not fit to be transferred. For the transfer of these things a sum of not more than £24,000 is to be paid to H.M. the King of the Netherlands. The exact amount will be fixed after the ratification by special representatives to be appointed by both parties. The terms and manner of payment will be fixed by a special treaty, under condition that an interest of 5 per cent. shall be paid from the date of ratification up to the time of payment. I need not repeat that the whole Treaty is generally condemned.

As I stated in a former letter, the creditors of the Oost Indische Maatschappij van Lyfrenten are convoked to meet on the 8th inst., in order to decide upon the proposals for a friendly liquidation. On the 6th the shareholders will meet, in order to consider these proposals. I also said that there is but very little chance that the creditors will agree to the plan of liquidation, which, according to the Amsterdamsche Courant, will be that one third of the 60 per cent. should be paid in June next, one fourth in December, 1872, and the remainder by annual instalments. I think it is no wonder that unfavourable rumours are current in our financial circles about this liquidation. The shareholders of the Internationale are convoked to meet early in June.

The Prince of Orange has arrived in St. Petersburg. Rumours are still spread that there is a question of a marriage with the Princess Marie Alexandrovna.

THE ROTTERDAM BANK.

From the annual report of the managers of the Rotterdam Bank I learn that the bank has passed through the heavy crisis of last year without sustaining any loss in Europe. The business transacted by the head office has been very remunerative indeed, leaving, as the report states, a net benifice over the capital working there of 11 97-100 per cent.

The principal endeavours of the bank in India were directed towards the liquidation of the sums which have formerly been invested in Java in a manner which prevents the bank from disposing of them for real banking purposes. After the arrival in Java of one of the directors, Mr. Canters, a serious inquiry into the nature of those assets has led to the necessity to reduce their value considerably, and consequently the account of losses and profits of the head agency at Batavia balances with a loss of f.198,606.18.

The assets in India, originating from before 1869, have again been reduced by f.307,591.74. This has reduced the available sum of profits of the head-office to f.79,035.87, out of which a dividend of f.2 per share has been declared.

The Sourabaya agency has been liquidated. Messrs. Dummlers and Co. and Mr. H. Meyer, formerly directors of the Batavia head agency, having retired, its management has been, at the request of the commissioners and directors, accepted by Mr. Canters as head agent (Mr. Canters, nevertheless, maintaining his position as one of the directors of the bank), and he will be assisted by Mr. Soeters, formerly agent at Sourabaya.

The hope formerly expressed that the liquidation of the old assets in Java would, after the reductions of last year, occasion no new losses, has not been realised. Commissioners and directors feel not even sure that this liquidation will not finally occasion new disappointment.

The sound and healthy position of the bank, however, and the nature of the very satisfactory results of the business transacted from Rotterdam with Europe and India, secure doubtlessly the future position of the bank, and makes it more independent of the results of the liquidation of the old assets in India, even if this should for a short time yet exercise an influence upon the dividends of the shareholders.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

According to general anticipation, the Trading Company's April sale of Java Coffee has been attended with a good result, which was partly caused by the comparatively small quantity, which consisted, moreover, of a very suitable assortment. In other articles of Colonial produce there has been, upon the whole, but little stirring, and our market is quiet.

COFFEE.—Since the auction a firm tone has continued to prevail for the article, and the pale numbers are still inquired after. Sales have been closed by private treaty of 3,200 bags Padang, ex Magdalena, at 37c. to 42½c.; 715 b. Macassar, ex Catharina Elisabeth, at 30½c. to 31½c.; 552 b. Java, ex Pride of England, at 36½c.; 120 b. do., ex Greive Berg, at 15½c. to 29c.; 750 b. do., ex Henriette Adriana, at a price not named; 3,542 b. Padang, ex Magdalena; 2,600 b. Java and Macassar, ex Catharina Elisabeth, Anna, and Adriana. Total stock of Coffee in Holland: On warrants, 231,100 bags; Trading Company's unsold, 608,900 bags; private, 74,600 bags.

SUGAR (RAW).—The market has assumed a very quiet appearance, in consequence of the late numerous arrivals, by which our home refiners are now amply supplied. A few small lots of No. 14 to No. 16 have been disposed of for export at full prices.

TEA.—There is scarcely anything doing in the face of the public sales of Java taking place next Thursday and Friday. 4 ½ chests Java Pekoe, mark Nangoeng, bought in at public sale here on the 12th ult., have been disposed of.

SPICES.—A firm tone prevails for Nutmegs and Mace, but no transactions of note have taken place. Stock on warrants: Nutmegs, 2,760 casks; Mace, 162 casks; Cloves, 2,720 casks; Cinnamon, 29 packages; Pepper, 600 bags.

RATTANS.—80 piculs, ex Sattara, have changed hands.

RICE shows no change whatever. The demand remains inactive, but prices are well maintained. Sales have been closed of 6,880 bags Java Indramayoe and Kandanghauer table, ex Jason, at f.10 to f.11.

ARRACK.—150 casks Batavia, ex Carin, put up to tender, have not been acquitted, but a small parcel of 17½ casks, ex Concurrent, has been disposed of.

COTTON remained in the same dull position as of late until the latter part of last week, when a material improvement took place in the tone of the market, consequent upon higher quotations from America, and sales have been making of American at an advance.

DIVIDIVI.—50 tons second sort, just arrived ex Georg, are offered on sale at f.9 for delivery ex quay.

DRUGS, &c., offer nothing of moment to mention, except the sale by secret tender of 21 tons African India-rubber.

HIDES continue to meet ready buyers. Sales have been closed here by private contract of parcels imported ex Gutenberg, Louisa, Pop Smit, Oceana, Otto, Nestor, Helena and Henrietta, Ary and Betsy, and Jan van Brakel.

BANCA TIN.—Hardly any demand is perceptible for this article, of which only small lots have changed hands for present delivery at f.76 to f.76½, whilst f.76½ has been paid for delivery ex the coming autumn sale. Stock on warrant—Banca, 98,235 slabs. Unsold of the Trading Company—Banca, 44,816 slabs; Billiton, 2,051 slabs. Private stock of Billiton, 7,400 slabs.

TOBACCO.—Some sales have been closed by private contract, viz. 210 b. Java BLC, 261 do. EMK, 92 do. VF. To-day some lots will be sold by private tender.

SHIPPING.

ARRIVALS.—April 26, at Brouwershaven, from Sourabaya, Isaac da Costa; 27, at Brouwershaven, from Batavia, Cornelia Mathilda; at Texel, from Pasaroeng, Glencoe; 28, at Texel, from Tjilatjap, 3 Gezusters; May 1, at Brouwershaven, from Batavia, Noach III.

DEPARTURES.—April 26, from Texel, for Batavia, den El-hout; 25, from Flushing, for Java, Maasnymp, Gebroeders van der Beek; May 2, from Texel, for Batavia, Maria Elise.

THE YOUNG KING OF SIAM.

"STILL it moves." The revolution of the world is not more certain than the progress of enlightenment and civilisation. One of the most remarkable proofs of the strides which have been made in this direction in the half century that has just elapsed is supplied in the tour of the young King of SIAM, of which we have just received the first account. Singapore was the first place at which the Royal traveller stayed on his way, and we congratulate our friends in the Straits on the appreciation of their energy, public spirit, and growing importance which is shown by the King selecting the principal island in the Settlements for his first step in breaking through the rule of isolation which has hitherto surrounded the throne of Siam. Fifty years ago Singapore was a sort of island desert, infested by a handful of pirates and semi-savages. In the same year that witnessed the birth of her present MAJESTY the British flag was for the first time hoisted in the Malay peninsula. Now it is the seat of a thriving commerce, a rapidly increasing population, an independent and influential press, and a Liberal Chamber, which adopts English legislation almost as fast as new measures are passed at home. Not less remarkable, although a little slower, is the change in the constitution of Siam. Two hundred and fifty years is certainly a long time, even in the world's history, to take to return a visit, and two hundred and fifty years have elapsed since the first British ship put in at a Siamese port. Nevertheless, taking into account the persistent way in which our countrymen have all that time ignored the commercial importance of Siam, we must own that the balance of prejudice, now happily broken through by the example of the young King, can scarcely be said to weigh very heavily on the side of the Siamese. Independent of its extraordinary resources as the "place of ten million elephants," Siam is one of the largest rice-producing countries in the world, with a highly intelligent population and sagacious rulers, a proof of which is the late concession to European sugar companies. The second King, by making his present visit to the British possessions, has afforded a pledge of his intention to profit by the improvements of which he must have heard so much, but which he will be the first Siamese in the world's history to witness. This young man has made up his mind not to take information at second-hand, but to see everything for himself; and we hope and believe that, wherever he goes, his reception will be so cordial, his visit made so agreeable to himself, and that he will see so much to interest him at every port he touches at, that he will be induced to extend his tour. Next in order in the Siamese Royal progress comes Java, where we may be sure that our Dutch friends will afford him the most hearty welcome, and where he will see much to admire, and where, if our Dutch correspondent is right, the Government may possibly profit by the diffusion of some of his cosmopolitan views. As the young King comes nearer and nearer to Europe, we hope that the inducements to include it in his trip will become stronger and stronger. We should rejoice at a visit from him, not only because of the knowledge which he would derive from seeing England as it is, but also because we might hope that his example might not be thrown away upon some of our own rulers, who are too content to take accounts of foreign countries on hearsay, instead of inspecting them for themselves.

THE CHINESE DESPATCH.

THE replies of Earl GRANVILLE and Lord ENFIELD to the questions put by the Earl of CARNARVON in the House of Lords, and Mr. MAGNIAC in the Commons, which we print in another column, exhibit a want of administrative ability, and an utter absence of any feeling of official responsibility. Whether we regard the circular which the Chinese Government has just addressed to the foreign Ministers, either from the circumstances which gave rise to it, from the manner in which it was received and treated by our own representative, Mr. WADE, or from the tone with which the subject was pooh-pooh'd by our Foreign Secretary and his junior—whether we look at it from the side of cause, effect, result, or probable consequences—the conviction it produces is equally unsatisfactory. It is the peculiar accomplishment of the present Ministry to make nothing clear except their incapacity. When Mr. CRAWFORD on one occasion told the present Chancellor of the Exchequer that he was fortunate in not having had to undergo a Civil Service examination before he was installed in the important office which he fills, he expressed a truth which might be applied with equal, if not greater, force to more than one department of our political system. The Chinese Plenipotentiary was despatched to Europe many weeks ago, ostensibly to make atonement—or at least to arrange some terms of satisfaction—for the outrage at Tientsin, which would inevitably have led to war being declared by France, if the French Empire had not been rendered powerless by the war and subsequent revolution. In reality CHUNG HOW's object in coming to Europe was simply to "see how the land lay"—whether, France being prostrate, her chief ally was prepared to take her part or no. We pointed out to Earl GRANVILLE over and over again that it was of the first importance that CHUNG HOW's mission should be carried out in its integrity—that is, on the basis on which it was originally proposed; and we pointed out also that the wily Oriental would be certain to take advantage of any neglect of the opportunity to wriggle out of the responsibility which he had voluntarily incurred. We were not deceived, but Earl GRANVILLE was. The chiefs of the Foreign-office went on pursuing their favourite occupation of lotos-eating in blissful security, letting week after week go by without taking the slightest steps to bring CHUNG HOW to book. The astute Chinese soon began to "see his way." He took care to move from place to place in France without committing himself to the acknowledgment of any Government there; and as our Ministers were so complaisant as to let him alone, he returned the compliment by taking no sort of notice of them. No doubt he read the Pall Mall Gazette, and was happy. He knew from that veracious and complacent journal that whatever Mr. WADE did in China was perfectly certain to be approved by Earl GRANVILLE in London; and he knew from personal experience what sort of action Mr. WADE would take if he gave him notice, à la GORTSCHAKOFF, that the Chinese Government were about to tear up their Treaties, and that he must consequently take care never to allow Englishmen to insist on them again. Accordingly he sent a despatch to his Government informing them that there was no sort of risk in the violation he was proposing; that France could not, and England would not, resent it; and that altogether it was "such an opportunity as might never occur again" to expel foreigners from every part of China except the Treaty ports—no doubt with a view to expel them from those also as soon as the thin end of the wedge was well driven home.

Here, then, was the cause of the late circular; now for the effect. The Chinese Government had as much confidence in CHUNG HOW as CHUNG HOW had in Mr. WADE, and immediately despatched the proposed circular to the foreign Ministers, giving notice of the changes which they intended to make, and which, as they would certainly destroy the fundamental principles of our treaties, Mr. WADE might have been expected to think of sufficient moment to be communicated to his Government with the smallest possible loss of time. Earl GRANVILLE, however, now informs us, and without the slightest expression of blame, that this was precisely what Mr. WADE did not do. True to his policy, he sent the circular home by almost the slowest mode of conveyance possible in these overland days—and it has not come to hand yet. Consequently the Foreign Secretary has the proud satisfaction of being able to declare that Her MAJESTY'S GO-

LITERATURE.

Travels of a Pioneer of Commerce in Pigtail and Petticoats; or, an Overland Journey from China towards India. By T. T. Cooper. London: John Murray.

In the preface to this handsome and attractive volume Mr. Cooper anticipates the objections which he thinks most likely to force themselves on the minds of the readers of his narrative. He tells us that the circumstances of the journey he describes absolutely precluded scientific observation; the only instrument taken, viz., a thermometer, was broken at an early stage, and travelling by boat and chair is not favourable to minute investigation. The author also explains that the map which he gives is not intended to show the correct geography of the countries through which he passed, but merely to help the reader to follow him in his expedition. In other words, the volume before us may be regarded rather as a vivid account of adventures and impressions than as a guide-book strictly available for future pilgrims in the same perilous track. The apology is a fair one, and we can assure Mr. Cooper that his readers will find it amply borne out. The journey he undertook was as dangerous as it was interesting, and his account of his adventures in the course of his travels has the charm which must always attach to an unbroken series of always amusing, and sometimes exciting and instructive, scenes.

The project of the present journey was suggested to Mr. Cooper so long ago as 1862, when the author met Dr. Clement Williams, who had just returned from an expedition up the Irrawaddy to Bhamo; but Mr. Cooper's purpose of attempting to reach China from Rangoon by following Dr. Williams's route had to yield to the force of circumstances, and it was not till the end of 1867, after a residence of several years at Shanghai, that he found himself free to indulge in them. Sir Macdonald Stephenson's map of China, showing a projected railway from the Yangtze to Bhamo, via Talifoo, showed the importance to Rangoon of commercial intercourse with China in that direction; and it seemed to Mr. Cooper that this line would not help to bring Calcutta into commercial relations with her, as the Irrawaddy would be the highway by which the trade would naturally descend between Yunnan and Rangoon, making that port, instead of Calcutta, the depot of trade between our Indian possessions and Yunnan. Mr. Cooper resolved therefore to try for a more direct road to Calcutta, and he decided to attempt Blakiston's projected route. Having formed this intrepid resolution, Mr. Cooper prepared for his necessary travelling metamorphosis by taking to the pigtail and petticoats, and by accustoming himself to the use of those necessary, but strange accessories of travel. By Mr. Wade's advice he took no instruments with him, for fear of arousing the opposition of the people; and he obtained a passport at Kiukiang, describing him as an English scholar, travelling on the Great River and through the countries beyond to India. Accompanied by a Chinaman, named George Phillips, a native of Hankow, who acted as interpreter, Mr. Cooper commenced his exploration in January, 1868. We do not propose to accompany him through all the adventures he encountered, since we can cordially recommend his present account of them to our readers, assuring them that they will find him a very agreeable companion for a fireside traveller; but, pending their procuring the volume for themselves, we present a few of the scenes which seem to lend themselves most readily to extract.

Here is an adventure to start with:—

While threading our way down one of these narrow passes, I happened to be in front of the baggage ponies, when one of them was struck by a mass of rock, which rolled from above; the frightened animal rushed madly down the path, and I had only time to look back and perceive my danger. A collision seemed inevitable, which would have hurled us all down the precipitous side of the mountain with the foaming torrent below. In a moment I threw myself flat down across the path, the frightened animal leaped over me, and cannoning against my saddle pony, slipped and fell, rolling over the precipice, with a scream of agony, into the stream. I made sure he was killed, and looking down, I saw him being rolled over and over in the water, till he at last brought up against a large boulder, still carrying his load; the poor brute, however, scrambled to his legs, and stood apparently little the worse; but it seemed impossible to set him up, so steep was the cliff, and my followers proposed to descend and bring up the baggage, and leave the horse to his fate.

This is sharp work; but the next affair may possibly have been the more trying of the two:—

A brisk morning march had fully prepared me to do justice to the viands, as well as the Samshee in which I pledged my sylph-like attendants. When their pressing entreaties failed to make "Tang" eat any more, they handed me my pipe; and I threw myself back on the grass, and yielded to a fit of castle-building. From this state, however, I was soon roused by the girls, who came up in a group, pulling along in their midst a pretty girl of sixteen, attired in a silk dress, and adorned with garlands of flowers. I had already noticed this girl sitting apart from the others during the meal, and was very much astonished when she was reluctantly dragged up to me and made to seat herself by my side; and my astonishment was considerably heightened when the rest of the girls began to dance round us in a circle, singing and throwing their garlands over myself and my companion.

I was beginning to feel that it would be as well to move, and rose for the purpose of giving orders to saddle, when Philip came up looking very foolish, and with a long face, said, "Well, Sir! this is a bad business; That young girl has been sent instead of the servant I hired, and they have married you to her!" My first impulse was to roar with laughter; but the next moment I realised the serious awkwardness of my predicament. That I had become a victim to a custom of Thibet, of which I was not altogether ignorant, was apparent; and the idea of encumbering myself with a useless girl was dreadfully startling. The grove, before so cool and pleasant, became dark and stifling; the limbs of the walnut trees, which I had been placidly admiring for their gigantic proportions, seemed transformed as by enchantment into the arms of demons uplifted to clutch me. For a short time I sat utterly bewildered; at last, however, I called up the two elderly women, who proved to be the aunts of my bride, and informed them that it was not the custom of Englishmen to marry strange women or buy them, and that they must take back their niece. Upon this they set up loud lamentations, in which all the girls joined. The clamour soon brought several men and women from a neighbouring house, and I was unanimously pronounced to be a great scoundrel, who wished to cast disgrace upon a respectable family who had given me their daughter.

The following is in Mr. Cooper's best style. He is threatened with "requisitions" by some local authorities:—

They entered with an air of great importance, followed by five soldiers, and seating themselves on my bed, handed Philip the letters, desiring him to read them. The first one ran as follows:—"Just now there is a great fight. The General Seang-Owhan wants money. He desires that the English merchant, Tang Koopah, will lend him two thousand five hundred seecang, which shall be repaid after the fight. If he lends this money he will sooner be able to go to Ava; and if he has the money he must not say nay." The second letter was to this effect:—"Seecang-Ta-jeu hears that the English merchant has a foreign gun, and a wonderful little gun, which shoots five times without fire or powder. For the general good of the people and the country those must be lent to the General, in order that the Mahomedans may be frightened with these foreign guns." When Philip had read these letters he told me that they only bore the seal of the General's writer, and were without date.

Laughing in very bitterness of soul I told the scoundrels that I had no money to lend, for eighty taels was all I possessed, and barely sufficient to enable me to reach my country. Ho Ta-lowya then, in a bullying manner, declared that he did not believe it, and would search me, and at once gave orders to his soldiers to examine my luggage. I told him quietly that I should not allow this; then, seeing that they really intended violence, I asked them to call Tien, and said that if he ordered me to show my baggage I would consent. To this they agreed, and Tien was called; he soon made his appearance, and innocently asked what was the matter. The farce of explaining matters to him was gone through, when, with a friendly air and voluble assurances that no harm was intended, he advised me to let the General's messenger see that I really had not got the money, and to give them what I had, which would soon be returned.

It was evident that a robbery was intended, and it was equally plain that the loss of my remaining eighty taels would render it impossible for me to reach either Burmah or Bathang. I resolved, therefore, to stand to them till the last, and, pretending to agree with Tien, I suggested that the soldiers should be sent out, to make room for Philip to display all my possessions. My cunning friends were duped; they ordered the soldiers out of the room, and, when the last one had passed out, I sprang to the door, shot to the wooden bolt, and drawing my revolver, covered Tien's head. My blood was up, and as I stood glaring at the frightened scoundrels cowering before me I felt a devilish inclination to blow out first their brains, and then my own. For several seconds no one spoke, and at last I said to Tien, "Ah! you have got me in your yamun, and think to rob me more easily. Good! Now, listen. I will show you everything I have, even to my eighty taels, and if one of you puts a finger on them I'll shoot you all, and then destroy myself." When I had done speaking Ho-ta-lowya called to the soldiers to shoot me through the window, and the end of a gingall was shoved through the paper. I hesitated for a second to fire at Tien, and then finding that the soldiers did not fire, I told Tien, still pointing my revolver at his head, that the moment I was struck my revolver would go off, and shoot him. His terror, on hearing this, was perfectly sickening; he screamed at the soldier (who was trying to light the match of his gingall by the aid of a flint and steel) not to fire, and to take away his weapon. The long snake-like barrel was drawn back, and I braved more freely, while the three cowardly wretches in my room begged me not to be angry.

Here we must take leave of Mr. Cooper for the present, but we shall resume his companionship next week.

PARLIAMENT.

HOUSE OF LORDS.

THE CHINESE DESPATCH.

(May 1st.) The Earl of CARNARVON asked the noble Earl opposite (Granville) whether he could confirm the authenticity of a telegram from Shanghai which had appeared in the public press, according to which the Chinese Government had demanded that female schools should be abolished, that teaching contrary to the doctrines of Confucius should be prohibited, and that all missionaries, except those at Treaty Ports, should be regarded as Chinese subjects; a declaration being added that in the event of another massacre compensation would not be granted, and that only the actual murderer would be punished. This announcement had already caused considerable anxiety, and if the noble Earl was in possession of such a de-patch from the Chinese Government he should be glad to know whether he would object to lay it on the table.

Earl GRANVILLE was understood to reply that the Government had not received a telegram of such a purport, and that he could not confirm the accuracy of the statements referred to by the noble Earl.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

THE CHINESE DESPATCH.

(May 1st.) Mr. MAGNIAC (L.) asked the Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs whether the Government had received any information from Mr. Wade in regard to an announcement said to have been made by the Chinese Government which would appear to be in contravention of their treaty obligations with foreign countries. He likewise wished to know whether the report was correct that a Minister had been appointed to China.

Mr. MACFAR (L.) also asked the Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs whether he had any information (or would communicate to that House when he should have it) as to the matters reported in a telegraphic despatch from Shanghai, dated the 12th of April, relating to the treatment of missionaries.

Lord ENFIELD said a telegram was received some time since from Mr. Wade, at Peking, to the effect that he had sent a circular on the missionary question which had been addressed unofficially by the Chinese Government to foreign legations. Up to the present time, however, the despatch containing the circular in question had not been received at the Foreign-office. He could not positively undertake to produce a document which he had not yet seen, but whenever it came to hand he would at once communicate with his hon. friends on the subject. As to the second question put by his hon. friend the member for St. Ives, he had no information to give on that point.

Mr. MAGNIAC thought that as Mr. Wade not unfrequently sent a telegram when nothing had occurred, he might possibly have sent one when something had occurred.

Lord ENFIELD said a telegram had been received from Mr. Wade stating that the circular had been received by him, and that he would forward it by mail.

OUR MINISTER AT PEKING.

(5th.) Mr. MAGNIAC asked the First Lord of the Treasury whether, in the present condition of the relations of China with foreign nations, Her Majesty's Government did not consider it advisable to fill up the appointment of Minister at Peking, now held temporarily by Mr. Wade.

Mr. GLADSTONE said the office of Minister at Peking was not actually vacant. Sir Rutherford Alcock was British Minister there; he was at present in England on leave of absence, after a residence of four years at his post, and provision was made during the absence of Sir Rutherford Alcock for the discharge of his duties by the appointment of Mr. Wade as Chargé d'Affaires. He was bound to say that, in the opinion of the Government, that was a very effective provision, Mr. Wade being a man of ability and thorough competence in the discharge of the duties of the mission, and possessing, in addition to other more general qualifications, a very competent knowledge of the Chinese language, so that he had all the gifts necessary to the satisfactory fulfilment of his functions.

MISCELLANEOUS.

HONG KONG GAMBLING.

The Globe remarks that if the Parisians are sincere in their expressed hostility to the Germans, the temples of rouge-et-noir and roulette at Homburg, Baden, and other watering places will be deserted, and the Newly-crowned Emperor, when they have ceased to pay a handsome revenue to the State, will possibly order them to be closed. The disappointed gamblers, casting about for a suitable locality in which to pursue their favourite pastime, will learn with surprise that they may find it on British territory. In the Hong Kong Daily Press of March 8th there appears a memorandum from Chief Justice Smale, handed in at the last meeting of the Legislative Council, in which he recapitulates some of the reasons sent to the Colonial Secretary why gambling should be suppressed in the colony. But putting aside his legal arguments, on the ground of morality alone, the reasons for suppression appear very cogent indeed. It has fostered and caused many serious crimes and suicides. There are fifteen gambling houses in Hong Kong, while in the worst times at Paris there were only eight; and in the few places in Germany where gambling is allowed, one only usually exists. Within the first two years of the licensing system he calculates that over 20,000,000 dols. have been won and lost across the gaming table, and that under any calculation, this represents a mass of gambling which is unequalled according to population anywhere. Gambling is a crime in China as well as in England, and the actual licensing of it being a crime, lowers the prestige of the English Government and name, more especially as it was actually put down by a good governor lately in Canton province.

SIR JOHN F. DAVIS, late Governor of Hong Kong, has published a few observations on the art of swimming, under the quaint title of Floating before Swimming; or, Every Man his own Corks; and the gist of the worthy baronet's argument, which he has dedicated to the Humane Society, seems to be that it is advisable to learn to float before you attempt to swim—because “as a man must stand before he can walk, so he must float before he can swim.” This assertion, which some of our practical readers may perhaps be inclined to dispute, is not much strengthened by the obvious truism that “a log of light wood floats on account of its buoyancy, and not because it can swim.” The author's form of argument is, however, too eccentric to be given in any one else's words when his own are available. He says:—“Every man, woman, and child in Great Britain would be as safe from sinking as this log of wood, if they would think as little about it, and remain equally quiet.” We might suggest that “every man, woman, and child,” out of Great Britain, possesses precisely the same peculiarity, because a person is not any lighter in the water because he is of light complexion. “Nature,” he proceeds, “has benevolently given us this buoyant principle of safety in common with the beasts, and we perversely mar it by our ignorant terrors.” This is not without truth, but it should be taken cum grano salis—like the water in which it is most easy to swim. Sir John's motive in his present little brochure is truly benevolent, and we hope the publication may tend to the realisation of his object. We would, however, recommend those who wish to put his theory into practice not to get out of their depth in making the experiment.

ZOOLOGICAL SOCIETY.—At a meeting of this society, held at their Rooms in Hanover square, on Tuesday, the 2nd of May, a very interesting paper by Viscount Walden was read by the Secretary, upon the “Birds of the Island of Celebes.” The paper was illustrated by various explanatory tables of the genera of the various kinds of birds described, which consisted of 193 varieties, showing to what countries they were due for their naturalisation. Several specimens of small birds were on the table, which had been collected by Mr. Wallace, who was known some years ago as an indefatigable naturalist in the Malay Archipelago. We trust the Zoological Society will soon be turning their earnest attention to the collection of specimens of natural history in China, and we can assure them they will there find a field for production which will clear up many present difficult points in connection with the countries from which various animals and birds may have originally come.

THE ENVOYS from the Burmese Empire, accompanied by Captain Sprye, arrived in Liverpool from Manchester. They were received by Mr. Blood, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who proceeded with them to the North-Western Hotel, at which they are staying. In the course of the afternoon several of the distinguished visitors were conducted on 'Change, where they attracted great attention. In the evening the Envoys dined with the Mayor (Alderman Livingstone) at the Town-hall. The President of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. W. B. Forwood, has invited the Council of the Chamber to meet the visitors at dinner on Tuesday evening.

AN experiment with Chinese labour in the manufacture of cotton goods has been tried at Bâton Rouge, U.S., which promises to lead to important results; 160 Chinese have been employed on the looms in the Penitentiary workshops. They are paid twenty-two dollars a month in gold, and even at these wages Mr. James considers them quite as cheap as convict labour. The results of this experiment are attracting much attention throughout the South, and we understand that several cotton mills are projected in different localities in which white labour will be employed by day and Chinese labour by night.

THE REV. ALEXANDER WILLIAMSON, B.A., of Chefoo, China, we observe, has had the degree of Doctor of Laws (LL.D.) conferred upon him by the University of Glasgow, of which he is a graduate. Dr. Williamson, whose work upon North China, Manchuria, &c., created no slight interest, in his labours as representative of the Scottish National Bible Society, is about to return to Chefoo, and undertakes in addition, we understand, the United Presbyterian Church of Scotland Mission there.

THE Curlew, 3, double-screw gun-vessel, Commander D. Boyle, arrived at Plymouth on the 24th ult., and was detained there for three days, having some slight defects to make good. She finally sailed on the 27th for China. The Curlew will proceed via the Suez Canal, calling at Malta, Aden, Trincomalee, and Singapore en route.

MR. ELLIOTT MARTEN, Her Majesty's Vice Consul at Sarawak, had an interview with Earl Granville, at the Foreign-office, on the 2nd inst.

STEAM CLIPPERS TO CHINA.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—The remarks in your issue of the 24th April regarding “Insurance on Steamers to China and Japan” encourage me to trouble you with a few lines on the subject of the miserable passage made by some of the “splendid full-powered screw steamers” which are placed on the berth by some of the leading brokers in the trade. My own immediate attention is more particularly called to the Oberon and Parana.

The Oberon left London, according to your tables, on the 29th October, for Singapore, Hong Kong, and Yokohama. She arrived at the latter port on the 10th March, after the modest passage of 132 days. Of this it is only fair to add that five days were occupied at Mocha giving shelter to a number of civilians during an Arab rebellion. She was advertised as a “splendid auxiliary screw steam clipper" of "300-horse power effective." Freight to Japan 90s. and 10 per cent.

The case of the Parana seems almost worse. She was advertised as "the splendid full-powered screw steamer," "180-horse power nominal." Freight to Japan, 100s. and 10 per cent. She sailed from Deal on the 7th December, arriving at Singapore on the 19th February,—seventy-four days! Au reste, all I can hear of this "splendid full-powered steamer" is, that she left Singapore on the 24th February, arriving at Hong Kong on the 11th March, and was still there on the 22nd—105 days out!

From Yokohama there are advised arrivals to 8th April, and I conclude that had this wonderful steamer arrived prior to that date she would have been included in the advise. She has thus been allowed 122 days from Deal to Yokohama, and does not appear to have accomplished the extraordinary feat.

As a contrast I would mention the voyages of the sailing vessels Lothair and Serica to Yokohama, both from London. The former accomplished the passage in 140 days, and the latter in less than 136 days. These are by no means extraordinary passages, and I only instance them as made at the same season of the year as the above steamers.

Now a word about brokers. Is it not as much their duty to protect shippers as to look after the interests of shipowners? We give them our goods to ship, and we pay steamer rates. Should not they consider it a moral obligation to see we get our money's worth?—I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

London, May 1, 1871.

A MERCHANT.

(To the Editor of the London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—It was always felt by those who favoured the Taiping rebellion in China, and witnessed with pain the efforts of the French and English Governments to uphold the Imperial power, that the time would come when that action would be regretted, and foreigners be made to suffer for such erroneous policy. Indeed, every one was sure that, so soon as they possibly could, the provincial authorities would do without aid by foreigners in fighting the rebels, and that then the mandarins would cast their employes on the world, in utter disregard of past services. But few were prepared for what has also occurred, viz., an attempt to ignore the memory of the brave men who did so much for them; this being shown in their having removed the tomb which covered the remains of General Ward at Sung-Kiang-fu, and taken away a slab which had been erected in the same city by order of Le, Taoutai (Deputy Viceroy) of the province of Kiangsu, in July 1865, to commemorate as well the name of Ward (General), as of two majors, eleven captains, and a lieutenant of that army which battled—though not always victoriously—with the Taiping revolutionists. These removals, according to a correspondent of the Budget (a Shanghai newspaper), were effected—in the matter of the tomb and bones of Ward—by the mandarins Ying and Chang, as far back as September, 1867 (Ying being chief magistrate of the city at the time), the slab being torn down by a mob of literati—young students who had flocked to the University in April last year to be examined for the degree of Bachelor of Arts; in both cases representatives of the native aristocracy, the party who so bitterly oppose all progress of the foreigner in China, and yet the party for whom those foreigners had fought so usefully.

In drawing your attention to the circumstances here narrated, I would ask you to point out to the British Government that as they, by the Ministry of the time, gave countenance to the Englishmen who fought for the Imperialists, so it is a duty on their part now to insist on those services being in so far acknowledged as that the slab shall be restored with honourable display. As for Ward's tomb and bones, that is a business which the United States Consul-General has already taken in hand, and will, no doubt, be brought to a proper issue. Ward, an unscrupulous, though gallant fellow, was killed in action over a hundred miles from the spot he was moved to, and placed there because it was deemed to be the most honourable location in a town which he retook from the rebels, the first trophy in what was deemed a career of glory. The tomb erected over the body, however, was but a poor ornament to the beautiful compound in front of the temple; it resembled, in size and appearance, the huge hood of a railway baggage waggon, it being always understood that as soon as peaceful times came, it should be replaced by a more suitable memorial. And, finally, let Her Majesty's Government take warning from the past, and in future be sure that their efforts to uphold a dynasty or party are not misplaced.

Among the anomalies which encluster China and its politics, it will surprise some to learn that the very literati, whose hatred to the Taipings was gratified by foreign aid, would have been gladder had their Manchu rulers been driven out of the country, the battle for supreme power then lying between the native aristocracy and the heads of the rebellion; and it is only by bearing this in mind that we can comprehend why the said literati would now do dishonour to the remains of men who, when in life, thought they were assisting the native aristocracy in holding their own. The time seems close at hand when this difference between the Manchu and the native aristocracy will create a sensation, and it will be well for us to be properly advised of which side to support. So far as our experience and observation go, the Manchus will do credit to any aid we may give them in ruling the country efficiently; the hate of us by literati is hardly likely ever to be eradicated, and they must be kept down—I am, Sir, &c.,

London, 2nd May, 1871.

THE NEW DECREE AGAINST WOMEN, &c.

(COMMUNICATED.)

That the Emperor of China should arrogate to himself the title of the Son of Heaven, and refuse to acknowledge any other Sovereign as an equal is bad enough—that he should claim exclusive proprietorship of so large and important a section of God's earth is worse; but that his Government should assume dominion over the mind and conscience of one-third of our fellow men is a pretension that can never for one moment be admitted on any ground whatever. And the preposterousness of this assumption stands forth in all its deformity when we consider the history and character of that Government. The present dynasty is a foreign power, which theoretically has as little right to dictate what shall be the belief of the Chinese as we have. Again, according to Chinese law they have forfeited their right to rule over China, for they have proved themselves unable to subdue rebellions, modify famine, put down piracy, or provide for the peace and security of the Empire. But we shall not enlarge on these matters, nor shall we dwell on the fact that they are indebted to us for their deliverance, as a dynasty, from the Taipings. Nor shall we speak of their inconsistency, inasmuch as there is no department in their State where the doctrines of Confucius are not violated every day; nor shall we refer to the anomaly that they are dependent upon Christians for the farming of their customs (not being able to trust their own countrymen), and without whose help they could not continue to exist; nor shall we refer to the want of truth and honour which characterises officials of every grade, and all classes and conditions of the people, showing how terribly they need some doctrine of more weight than the platitudes of Confucius. We shall speak of one or two things which have been done in Peking during these few years by the high Ministers of the Emperor, and which are not generally known. Four summers ago there was a great drought in the province of Chih-li, which extended over several months. The diviners were summoned, they declared that it was necessary to procure a piece of iron which lay at the bottom of a well in a city on the confines of Shansi, ten or twelve days' journey from the capital. A high mandarin was despatched to bring it; he went with a grand retinue and returned in triumph with the piece of iron, wrapped in red cloth, which was duly deposited in the temple of the God of the City. The high officials of the Empire repaired thither and duly "worshipped the piece of iron." Some rain fell; the rejoicing was great, and honours were bestowed by the Emperor upon the local temple and the well—all of which were elaborately set forth in the Peking Gazette at the close of last year. The rain, however, was not sufficient, and the rulers had again recourse to the diviners. This time they intimated that a tiger's head must be obtained and cast into a certain spring at the hills near the capital. In due course the tiger's head was procured; and Wen-siang, who may be called the Prime Minister of China—the man most renowned of all for ability and intelligence—went in procession and threw the head into the fountain.

About the same time the Government wished to build a bridge on the south-east of the city. They could find no solid foundation for the stones, which invariably sank into the loose, watery soil. The diviners declared that twelve living children were required—six male and six female; these were to be thrown into the pool, and then the building could go on. We were never able to discover whether this horrible atrocity was actually perpetrated, for they conceal such things as much as possible from foreigners, but the great probability, if not certainty, is that it was done, for the immolation of one or two children to secure the integrity of a bridge is a common thing in China. During the following year there was another drought. A great shed was erected outside Peking, a picture of the dragon was placed in it, and then a representative of the Emperor daily went there, and beat the gong and worshipped. Such facts could be multiplied ad infinitum. Mark, these things were done, not by the priests or the people, but by the officials of the Empire. And, if the blind lead the blind, what can be expected? Some have said that these officials do not believe in the nostrums. The more the shame if they perform these fantastic tricks only to please the people. But the probability is that they do believe in them, and the fact that Chung How, the present ambassador to Europe, caused offerings to be made to the Goddess of the Sea for deliverance from a storm in the Gulf of Pe-chih-li shows how far gone they are in the most absurd superstitions.

We might also refer to their profound faith in another class of superstitious, viz., those relating to the "Fung Shui,"—and their consequent opposition to the opening of mines, railways, telegraphs, &c. Not long ago they allocated a house in Peking to a certain foreigner, high in their own employment. It was near the residence of one of their ministers, and so they coolly told him that he must not put up chimneys on the east side of his house lest they should damage the life or good luck of their colleague! Many have wondered why hostility to the education or instruction of the women is so marked in the coming despatch. The reason is well known to every one acquainted with Chinese society. They say "women have no souls" such as men have; "their sole duty is to serve and obey man;" and this is carried so far that the Government regularly grant tablets and monumental pillars to be erected in honour of women who commit suicide on the death of their husbands to follow him to Hades, or daughters who take poison on the death of their father. There is a temple for such tablets in every city in China. The schools in China are all boys' schools. No education is provided for the females; and so the girls grow up in ignorance and superstition, and the victims of the most painful usages. The condition of the women is the great blot on the civilisation of China. The authorities wish them to remain as they are; they fear the light, and hence their extraordinary manifesto. But are such things to be assented to? The women of Christendom will rise, and demand that the claim be indignantly rejected. It is absolutely intolerable; comment on such doings is superfluous. They show the unutterable ridiculousness of the demands now made, and also the truculent conduct of those foreigners who have instigated them to make such claims, and who support them in their pretensions. We may have done them harm in our intercourse with them, but assuredly we alone have the antidote; and of all things Christianity should not be interdicted access to that country.

THE INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION.

The buildings erected for the Exhibition extend along the eastern and western sides of the Horticultural Gardens, from the wings of the conservatory nearly to the site of the Exhibition of 1862. They are two stories in height, and of a permanent character, constructed of red brick with terra cotta decorations. Each building may be described as consisting of a single room, or gallery, on each floor, and these galleries are about 28 feet in width by 530 in length. The length is, however, partially broken up by internal partitions. At each end a broad staircase, of easy steps and frequent landings, serves to connect the floors; so that the general plan is simplicity itself, and visitors will be able to find, without the least difficulty, any object they may desire to see. The western ground floor gallery is devoted entirely to machinery in motion, and here for the first time at any Exhibition the processes of the English worsted manufacture are fully shown. The power required for the machinery is supplied by a Warsop's patent aero-steam engine. The principal feature of the western upper gallery is a large collection of pictures and sculpture by British artists. The middle room is devoted to water colour drawings and the terminal rooms to oil paintings. The smaller intermediate rooms contain—one, a collection of objects of Oriental manufacture; the other moais and miscellaneous works of art. On the eastern side the floor of the lower gallery is occupied from end to end by cases containing specimens of the pottery of all nations. On the upper floor the room at the northern extremity is devoted to Belgian fine art, while French fine art occupies the long room at the southern extremity. So far then as distinct arrangement and classification are concerned there is no complaint to be made, but when attention is directed to the multifarious objects exhibited in the several departments, an impression is left on the mind of something wanting, and the conviction gains strength of the vast inferiority of the present collection to those brought together in 1851 and 1862. Excepting in the matter of painting it cannot be admitted that any one nation finds adequate representation. Even in the case of pottery, which predominates upon much too large a scale, England and Germany figure to an extent that seems to have had the effect of closing even the vast space allotted to this class of industry against the productions of other nations. The same thing is noticeable in the machinery department, where France and Belgium appear to occupy the leading place, hitherto taken by British manufacturers. Had the former system of classification by countries still been carried out, England would have figured but poorly at any rate, so far as machinery is concerned.

When we estimate the extent to which the East is represented the deficiencies are most apparent. Indian productions figure to a fair extent in several of the sections, mostly, perhaps, in those devoted to pottery and fabrics, especially the latter, where a magnificent collection of Cashmere shawls attracts much notice. Our readers will scarcely realise the fact that China is absolutely unrepresented, save by a small collection of porcelain, forwarded by Messrs. Hewitt and Co. It is possible—and we trust our supposition is correct—that the objects sent from this quarter have arrived late—as has been the case in several instances—and have consequently yet to be placed in position, but at present the fact remains as we have stated. Japan does figure in the catalogue, but not to a tithe of the extent which should have been the case. The sum total is comprised thus: First, there are three vases of porcelain sent by Mrs Booker, secondly, the same collection of pottery that appeared in the Exhibition of 1851, and which the Commissioners seem to have deemed worthy of again being introduced to public attention. The most conspicuous object, however, is a cabinet of large size and elaborate workmanship, lent by Sir Rutherford Alcock, which holds its own well, even under comparison with the elegant productions of Messrs. Jackson and Graham and other eminent firms, with which it is placed in close contiguity, in the section set apart for the display of Arts applied to furniture; finally, in the Education department specimens are to be found of the progressive achievements in handwriting effected by Japanese students. These notes are the results of a single and consequently a somewhat hurried visit to an as yet incomplete Exhibition, and it is possible, as we have stated, that there are some Far Eastern productions that yet remain to be unpacked. Should this be the case, and should anything be developed that may better represent the countries with which we are interested than the few articles that are alluded to above, we shall not fail to make our readers acquainted with the fact.

WE understand that the National Bible Society of Scotland and the United Presbyterian Church have already appointed gentlemen to wait upon our Government in reference to the Chinese Despatch, while the Established Church of Scotland and the Free Church of Scotland are also preparing to take action in the matter. The deputation will be ready to move whenever the despatch arrives, and the nature of the demands are fully known.

THE P. and O. steamer Khedive, now loading at Southampton for Singapore and Hong Kong, will leave on the 11th, proceeding direct to Port Said for the Suez Canal. The Indus will leave Southampton about the end of the month, to take her station on the Indian side.

THE TEA TRADE OF JAPAN.

BY PROFESSOR DR. HENKEL.

(Abridged from a Translation in the Welthandel.)

England alone consumed in 1865 nearly 50,000,000 kilos. of tea, and the yearly consumption is now estimated at 1.6 kilos. each person. The English Government introduced, as early as 1834, the culture of tea in British East India, and in 1864 the province of Silhet had produced already 80,000 lbs.; the province of Cachar 823,380 lbs. of tea; while in the province of Assam 23,000 human beings were employed upon about 200,000 acres of land to manufacture tea, and sent to England more than £300,000 worth. In the year 1848 Java exported over a million lbs. of tea, although of an inferior quality; since this it has very much improved, as we have seen by the six different experiments with Green and Black Teas at the last Exhibition in Paris. Réunion likewise forwarded samples of excellent quality, produced from plants which the French procured from Java; and the Pekoe sorts were equal to any of the same descriptions of China Tea. We are convinced that Japan Teas, of the quality of which the Japanese have reason to be proud, will in time have a great influence on the European markets. The Tea-plant is called in Japan "Tsia," and cultivated not as elsewhere, in large gardens and plantations, but merely on the banks of lakes and rivers. The first harvest takes place towards the end of February. The newly-plucked leaves are collected in paper bags, and dried with the greatest care and ceremony; they are not sent out of the country, but are stored up in porcelain jars of enormous value, and the handling of them is only permitted with gloves. The second harvest takes place towards the end of March or the beginning of April; the third and most plentiful follows a few weeks later, when the leaves have obtained their full development. The quality of the Tea generally depends upon the age of the leaves, the youngest of which are the best. The earliest leaves are called Itziban, those of the second harvest, Niban, and those of the third harvest Sanban. The finest qualities are ground to powder and so stored up. Four qualities of Niban are distinguished. The Sanban sorts are similar to the Tea exported by China to Europe. The last quality, which is consumed by mechanics and peasants, is called Bantjaja, and it suffers no change when exposed to the air, while with the better sorts the contrary is the case. The finest specimens for the Emperor's Court are grown on a hill near Miako, in a position especially adapted for their cultivation.

Great care is always paid to the thorough drying of the leaves and we think that the Chinese might here take a lesson and improve the Tea sent to us. We also notice that the Japanese employ snow-water, or rain-water if the former is not to be had, and such water develops the aromatic properties of the Tea more than spring water. In Japan, the island of Ripon especially produces a large quantity of Tea. Nagasaki furnishes more of the ordinary and middle kinds, while Yokohama yields both fine and middle descriptions. The finest Tea comes from Yamasiro or Darjee, and does not appear on the market till the beginning of September. The districts of Goshoo and Hadchidy produce good Tea, but in small quantities.

THE WESLEYAN MISSION TO CHINA.

The breakfast and public meeting in aid of this Mission has taken place under the presidency of J. S. Sutcliffe, Esq., of Bacup. The report states that the direct results in the number of converts to Christianity may be comparatively small, but the indirect influence upon public opinion is sufficient to excite alarm and provoke enmity, both in China and England. The appointments in the Canton and Wuchang districts were then stated: Canton, East, George Piercy, chairman of the district and general superintendent; Joseph Gibson; Canton, West, John Preston, Henry Parks; Fatsan, Silvester Whitehead, Thomas G. Selby; and in the Wuchang district, Wuchang, David Hill and Frederick P. Napier, B.A.; Hankow, Josiah Cox, chairman of the district and general superintendent; William Scarborough;

SPELTER.—Silesian, £17 10s. to £18; English, smelted from ores, £18.

The following is from Messrs. French and Smith's Circular:—The past month has been characterised by general inactivity, and fluctuations in prices have been unimportant. Iron: Welsh makers of rails and bars are pretty fully employed. In Staffordshire there is less activity. For Scotch Pig Iron warrants there has been demand during the latter part of the month, and price has advanced to 55s. 10d. cash, and 56s. 1½d. one month. Lead remains steady at £18 7s. 6d. to £18 10s. for Soft English Pig. Spelter: Silesian is lower in price, £17 15s. being the nearest quotation. Quicksilver is now quoted £10 per bottle.

NEW YORK MARKET REPORT.—APRIL 22.

TEA.

The market has been very dull, owing chiefly to the large business done at the commencement of the year. Dealers who purchased largely at that time have since been trying to work off their stock before entering upon new purchases. Black Teas: Oolongs are more active than other descriptions; some large parcels have been sold, among them about 15,000 packages, ex Ada, to arrive. Souchongs: Some small lots have been taken for Canada, but these Teas, at present, are slow of sale. Uncoloured Japans are weak and irregular. Green Teas: The trade have not given much attention to these, and the views of jobbers are low; however, a more active business and better prices were looked for.

SILK.

The following is from Mr. D. O'Donoghue's report:—During the past month the market has undergone but little change. All descriptions of silk have been in good demand. The stock is now large, imports for the past two months having been unusually heavy; but as further large arrivals cannot be expected this season, owing to the paucity of the supply in the China market, prices continue very firm, and, in some cases, show a slight advance. Re-reeled Tsatlee and Haineen have been selling freely. Prices remain unchanged. Usual Reel Taysaam and Tsatlee are in request, and bring full prices. Stock of all grades is very small. Re-reeled Canton: The demand has been quite active for the extra fine and good grades. Prices for the former class show an improvement upon last month's quotations. Japans: The stock is almost nil; no demand.

Prices current for China and Japan Silks (currency prices, six months' terms):—Tsatlee, No. 2, $9.25; No. 3, $9; Nos. 4 and 5, $8.25. Taysaam, No. 1, $8.25; Nos. 2 and 3, $7.3-8 to 7.5-8; Nos. 4 and 5, $6.75. Canton, re-reeled, good, $6.75 to 7; fair, $6 to 6.3-8; coarse, $5.75. Tsatlee, re-reeled, best, $8.75 to 9; fair and medium, $8.25 to 8.50. Haineen, best, $8.75 to 9; fair, $8.50; Canton, re-reeled, extra fine, $7.25. Mahang, $5.50. Japans: Nominal; no demand.

Imports:—In March, 1,589 packages—gold value, $759,975; corresponding month last year, 524 packages—gold value, $197,966. Total imports: From Jan. 1 to March 31, 3,231 packages—gold value, $1,571,279; corresponding period last year, 1,290 packages—gold value, $577,011.

COFFEE.—The current quotations for East India kinds are, Java Government bags, 18c. to 20c.; Java mats, 18½c. to 22c.; Singapore, 17c. to 18c.; Manila, 14c. to 15c.; Native Ceylon, 15½c. to 17c., showing no change from those of our last issue. The market for Brazil is excessively dull, there being scarcely any buyers, and though prices have not varied, they must now be considered nominal. Holders are willing to meet the views of purchasers, could they be found, but their reticence depresses and weakens the market, without leading to business. Of East India kinds the chief business has been in Java, of which description the stock is light, tending towards firmness in the market; the transactions reported comprise the cargo per Knight of Snowdon, 15,251 mats, 8,400 mats ex Wallace, and 12,000 mats ex Rocket, all on private terms; also from second hands some 50,000 mats at 19½c. to 20c. for Pale, 20½c. to 21c. for Yellow, and 21½c. to 24c. for Brown. Singapore is almost without movement; there is little in first hands, and but 2,500 mats in second hands; the stock in first hands in Boston is 1,000 mats and 12,000 pockets; the sales of this description have been only 1,000 pockets at Boston at 18c. currency.

CAMPHOR.—China is quoted 15c. gold (in bond).

ESSENTIAL OILS.—Aniseed is quoted $2.20; Cassia, 95c. gold (in bond).

FIRE CRACKERS.—The market is firm at $2.50 for whole boxes, full count. Sales have been made of 300 boxes extra No. 1 at $2.50, and 6,000 do. on private terms.

GAMBIER.—The current quotation is $3.85 to 3.87 gold (duty free).

HEMP.—The market for Manila remained dull for about a week after the date of our last report, when it became much firmer and higher, under advices from Manila that the shipments thence to the United States for the first three months of 1871 were only 21,000 bales, and this, coupled with the fact that the consumption for the same time was about double that quantity, induced more inquiry from manufacturers, and holders were enabled to establish an advance of half a cent. per lb. An inquiry for Canada also strengthened the improvement. The sales are 2,300 bales at 9½c. to 10½c. gold, cash to 60 days, closing at 10½c. 60 days—10c. to 10½c. gold may be quoted as the closing price, and from Boston the sale is reported of 300 bales superior Zebu at 11c. to 11½c. gold.

INDIGO.—The market for Manila exhibits a steady demand, without any great activity; the fortnight's sales amount to about 70 cases at $1.10 to $1.25 currency, showing no alteration in prices.

PRESERVED GINGER.—China is quoted $8.50 currency (duty paid).

RHUBARB.—The quotation for China is 50c. to $1.25 currency (duty free).

RICE.—There has been a steady fair demand for home use, chiefly directed to Rangoon, this being relatively cheaper than the domestic article, which is scarce and offered sparingly. Prices are without change, being supported by the light offerings; notwithstanding that there has been only a moderate inquiry, the sales of Rangoon have reached about 3,000 bags for home consumption at $7 to $7.37½ currency, and nearly the same quantity in bond for export at $3.37½ to $3 60 gold.

SUGAR.—Extensive arrivals have slightly dampened the market, and though quite firm, there is rather less buoyancy, the stock running up a little in the face of considerable sales. Holders, however, for the most part offer very sparingly, and maintain a firm attitude, having confidence in the future, in view of a lessened crop of Cuba and the known wants of the consumers of the country, whom it is believed, as a rule, hold very moderate stocks for the season. There has again been a fair amount of business in Manila, the sales reported being on the spot, 18,479 bags, ex Great Admiral, at 8½c.; 23,714 mats, ex Glenlyon, at 8½c.; 17,019 mats, ex E. A. Oliver, at 9c., and 6,166 bags, vessel not named, on private terms; affoot two cargoes (vessels and quantities not reported) on private terms; a cargo of 14,049 bags at 8½c., and the cargo per Chattanooga, 23,996 bags, at 8½c.

SPICES.—The market has been quiet, and in invoices we have only to notice the sale of 1,000 piculs Pepper, to arrive at Boston, per Victor, on private terms. There continues a fair trade demand, with sales of Mace at $1.15; Nutmegs, 82c. for English, and 84c. for prime Penang; Cassia, 31c. to 31½c.; Cloves, 12c.; Singapore Pepper, 16½c.; Sumatra do., 16c. to 16½c.; and White Pepper, 22c.—all gold.

TIN.—The demand for Straits has been very inactive, although prices have been fairly supported; the closing rates are Straits, 32½c. to 33c.; Banca, 38½c.—gold.

CASUALTIES.

The Hera (schnr.), which arrived at Halifax, N.S., April 7, from Hong Kong, reported having experienced strong N.W. and E. gales from Bermuda, during which she lost fore boom and main gaff, and sustained other damage.

The Samarang, de Groot, which arrived at Brouwershaven April 24, from Batavia, had experienced a heavy gale off the Cape of Good Hope, which caused her to spring a leak, and sustain other damage.

The Glencoe, Stewart, which arrived at Texel, April 27, from Pasaroelang, had lost bulwarks and damaged sails during heavy weather Jan. 11, near the Cape of Good Hope.

Advices from Rotterdam, dated April 25, state that the Huydecoper, Bouten, from Sourabaya, which arrived at Brouwershaven April 18, after discharging part of cargo there proceeded for Helvoet, but on the way took the ground in the Hellegat, where she struck heavily, and sprung a leak.

Advices from Pernambuco, dated April 10, received by telegram from Lisbon, state that the Corea, Bangs, from Zebu to Liverpool, which put into Pernambuco, March 26, leaky, had nearly completed the discharge of her cargo, some portion of it being damaged; she was to be surveyed April 10.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Advices from Surinam, dated April 4th, state that a portion of the cargo (526 bags coffee, and 19 baskets sugar) of the Vrede, v. d. Plas, from Panaroekan to Amsterdam, which put in there leaky, Feb. 7th, had been sold as damaged.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

Red Sea, Jubal Strait.—Depth of Water on Jubal Strait Bank.—Information has been received from H.M. ship Newport, engaged in the survey of the northern part of the Red Sea, that shoal ground of 18 and 24 feet has been found on the bank in Jubal Strait (Jubal Strait Bank), lying midway between Tur and Shukhair, hitherto considered to have not less than a general depth of 5 or 6 fathoms of water on it, with an assumed shoal of 21 feet. The shoal coral patch of 18 feet sounded on in H.M.S. Newport is in lat. 28 deg. 10 min. 15 sec. N., long. 33 deg. 28 min. 40 sec. E.; and 2 miles to the N.W. of this is another shoal of 24 feet; in the neighbourhood of these shoals several patches with from 7 to 10 fathoms were found. There are no outlying dangers off the neighbouring coast of Rus Shukhair, which may be approached to a distance of one mile.—Hydrographic Office, Admiralty, London, 4th May.

THE HOLLAND AND JAVA STEAM LINE.—On the 29th ult. the new screw steamship, Willem III., of 2,700 tons, passed down the Clyde en route to Holland to take the berth at Nieuw Diep for Batavia. She is the first of four steamers being built by Messrs. Elder, Glasgow, for the line between Holland and Java, which has been so frequently noticed by our Rotterdam correspondent.

LAUNCH.—Messrs. Dobie and Co., of Govan, launched, on the 29th ult., an iron screw steamer of the following dimensions:—Length, 170 feet; breadth, 26½ feet; depth, 17 feet. She is intended for the Manila coasting trade, and was named the Albay in the usual manner.

ernment has "no information" of the contents of the circular, which, however, have arrived here through other channels, and of the tenor of which generally there cannot be the slightest doubt. By the time the despatch reaches England CHUNG HOW may have left Europe with his mission unfulfilled, and, according to present appearances, it is most probable that he will do so. What makes Mr. WADE's inexcusable delay more injurious is that he does not appear to have accompanied the circular with any explanation of the answer which he returned to it. What object Mr. WADE could have proposed to himself in sending such urgent news in so tardy a manner we must own ourselves unable to discover. It could not be that he desired to keep the circular a secret, because, if that had been his desire, he could have telegraphed in cipher, and, moreover, he knew that the contents of the document were already known, and would be certain to be reported at home by some more energetic mind. We are, however, compelled to wait until the despatch arrives before Earl GRANVILLE will have the opportunity of stating how he means to deal with the atrocious propositions it contains. One thing is certain; no half measures must be taken in repudiating the proposed change utterly and once for all. If any change is to be made in the terms of our Treaties, the Tientsin Massacre should be the occasion of increasing our privileges instead of circumscribing them, and if we had any other Government than the one now in office, steps would have been taken to insist on this as soon as CHUNG HOW's arrival was ascertained.

SEIZURE OF THE RICKMERS.

In another column we give a resumé of the official correspondence respecting the capture of the Sophia and Robert Rickmers in the China seas, which has just been presented to the House of Commons. After a perusal of it, we do not see how the Government could have come to any other conclusion than that at which they arrived, namely, that the vessels were merely colorably transferred from the father to the son, who was a native of Heligoland, but had become a German subject, and who again, in order to obtain the protection of the British flag, took another oath of allegiance to Queen VICTORIA on the breaking out of the war. We draw attention to the case rather to show the injustice and injury of the present system than to complain of its unfair application in this instance. The great Lord STOWELL laid down the principle that such a legal sentence of condemnation as has been passed on these vessels at Saigon is equivalent to the title-deeds of a ship. Sentence of condemnation—that is, that the property of the original owner is entirely divested—must be pronounced by a Court of the capturing Power, and the courts of the captor may sit in their own territory, or that of an ally, but not in that of a neutral. Until a greater authority than Lord STOWELL shall arise, therefore, the English Government is put out of court in such a case as the present. We sympathise with Mr. RICKMERS's loss, and regret that he should have been misled into thinking that the proceedings he took were sufficient to protect his property, or to give him a claim to the protection of the British Government; but if such a claim were admitted, he must see that it would be the signal for the colorable transfer of all the merchant ships of belligerents to neutrals on the outbreak of war, and would thus render their neutrality a complete cipher, if it did not even endanger it.

DEPUTATION TO THE DUKE OF ARGYLL.

A DEPUTATION, consisting of several members of the East India Association, including Mr. EASTWICK, M.P., the chairman, Mr. SMITH, M.P., Mr. BIRLEY, M.P., Mr. WM. MAITLAND, Mr. CASSELS, Sir ARTHUR COTTON, Mr. FITZWILLIAM, and Sir JAMES ELPHINSTONE, M.P., waited on the Duke of ARGYLL, the Secretary of State for India, at the India-office, to urge on his Lordship's consideration the subject of the cutting of a passage for large ships to connect the Gulf of Manaar and Palks Straits.

Sir JAMES ELPHINSTONE briefly recapitulated the plan he had laid down on several occasions, and urged that it was most important that the matter should be at once taken up by Government, as schemes were now in progress for constructing a harbour at Colombo or Galle.

Mr. SMITH and Mr. BIRLEY said that if the matter were once taken up there would be no difficulty in raising the capital required, estimated at under £100,000, and that a toll could be levied which would cover interest, &c.

Sir ARTHUR COTTON said he had been over the ground, and felt quite certain that the engineering difficulties were very slight, and the cutting could easily be accomplished for the sum named.

Mr. MAITLAND, Mr. CASSELS, and Mr. FITZWILLIAM urged that the importance of the project had been much increased by the success of the Suez Canal, and that a great deal of the utility of the Canal was now lost for want of this passage to avoid the long route round Ceylon, both for vessels bound to Indian ports, the Straits, and China. It would be a great boon to shipowners, underwriters, and commerce generally.

The Duke thanked the deputation, and said that he thought the matter could be managed, and he would give instructions for Mr. ROBERTSON, now in Ceylon, to survey and report on the matter, and furnish an estimate for the work.

It will be seen in our Parliamentary intelligence that Mr. MAGNIAC asked the intention of Her MAJESTY's Government as to appointing a Minister to Peking. From the reply of Mr. GLADSTONE it seems that he has the same good opinion of Mr. WADE as Lord GRANVILLE, and unless Sir HARRY PARKES can establish superior claims we fear that Mr. WADE will be confirmed. The stories current in China about Mr. ERSKINE and Mr. ELLIOT are altogether wrong.

THE steamer Great Northern sailed on the 2nd May, with 436 miles telegraph cable, and the Africa followed on the 6th, with 847 miles. This cable is intended to be laid between Shanghai, Nagasaki, and Vladivostok, to complete the lines of the Great Northern Company between London and China via Russia. It will probably be completed in July.

In consequence of the instructions sent by the Colonial-office forbidding any further expenditure on the Pluto, and ordering the sale of the other steamer, the meeting of the Straits Settlements Association, summoned for last Tuesday, was adjourned.

CAPTURE OF THE "SOPHIA" AND "ROBERT RICKMERS."

Our readers are familiar with the circumstances of the capture of the above-named vessels in the China seas from the reports which we published at the time of the occurrence. A Blue-book containing the official correspondence on the subject has just been issued, and we proceed to give a brief resumé of it.

The volume opens with a letter from Mr. Rickmers to Lord Granville, stating that he is a natural-born British subject, holding a certificate of citizenship in Heligoland. In 1863 Mr. Rickmers says that he took the oath of allegiance to the Free State of Bremen, but in July last (after the declaration of war between France and Germany) Mr. Rickmers took another oath of allegiance to Her Britannic Majesty. After this he purchased the ship Sophia Rickmers, then lying in the port at Singapore, for £12,400, and thereupon made the declaration of ownership required by the Merchant Shipping Act of 1854. This vessel was captured by French cruisers, and taken as a prize into Saigon; and Mr. Rickmers requests Lord Granville to make such representations to the French authorities as will induce them to release his vessel, adding in a postscript that he is willing to pay the expenses of any telegrams that might expedite that consummation.

When this affair had been inquired into at the Foreign-office, Lord Enfield replied to Mr. Rickmers that, even if he were a natural-born British subject, which might be doubtful, he had disqualified himself from being the owner of a British ship by taking the oath of allegiance to the Free State of Bremen; and he did not show that he had complied with such requirements of the Merchant Shipping Act as were necessary to restore his qualification. Therefore Lord Granville declined to interfere diplomatically, and even expressed his opinion that the French Prize Courts would not recognise the sale of the ship under such circumstances as Mr. Rickmers had explained.

Immediately on the capture of the vessel by the French gun-boat Volta, Messrs. Behn, Meyer, and Co., the agents of Mr. Rickmers, applied to Mr. Irving, the Assistant Colonial Secretary of the Straits Settlements, to recover the vessel for him, at the same time the French Consular Agent, M. Hartung wrote to the Colonial Secretary, stating that the Sophia Rickmers was commanded by a German captain, and manned by a German crew, that the ship was sent to Saigon, and that it would devolve on the European Prize Court to decide on the validity of the prize.

At the same time also Mr. Whampoa, the Russian Consul, wrote to Sir H. Ord, representing that one of the sailors on the Sophia Rickmers was said to be a Russian subject, but on examination of his papers he proved to be a German subject, and requesting protection for him. To this application Mr. Irving replied, declining to interfere in the man's favour.

In the meantime news reached Shanghai that another ship, the Robert Rickmers, belonging to the same owner, had been captured by the French cruiser Linois. The bill of sale of this vessel between Mr. P. A. Rickmers, of Heligoland, and Mr. R. C. Rickmers, of Geestemunde, was dated the 10th November, 1870. Mr. Rennie, the legal adviser to Her Majesty's Consulate at Shanghai, thereupon gave his opinion that as the sale of a ship to an enemy in time of war is not illegal provided the sale be absolute and bona fide, a protest should be lodged on the part of the alleged British claimant; and accordingly the Consul, Mr. Medhurst, did so protest on the 22nd January. In due course Admiral De Cornulier, Governor of Saigon, where the prize had been removed, wrote to Mr. Consul Caswell that, though the Sophia Rickmers was undoubtedly under the English flag when she was captured, she had only changed her nationality by means of a fictitious sale, got up by reason of the war.

On the 4th Feb. last Admiral Kellett advised the Secretary to the Admiralty that the validity of the transfer of the Robert Rickmers to the British flag was open to very grave suspicion, and that the case was one which should be referred to a Prize Court. The papers found on board the Sophia Rickmers showed that the vessel had merely been transferred from father to son, who was a native of Heligoland, but had become a German subject; and, again, to effect the transfer of the ship to the British flag, had, a few days before the transfer was completed, sworn allegiance to Queen Victoria.

In conclusion, Lord Granville wrote to Mr. Medhurst, our Consul at Shanghai, that it has long been the rule of the French Courts not to allow the sale of an enemy's vessel to a neutral after the commencement of war to change its national character so as to exempt it from capture. Under these circumstances, although Great Britain might be content to observe a milder rule—as in the case of the Ariel, on which Mr. Rennie advised the protest concerning the Robert Rickmers—Lord Granville considered that the protest made in accordance with Mr. Rennie's advice was an error; and Mr. Rickmers was also informed that Her Majesty's Government considered they would not be justified in interfering on his behalf in the matter of the companion vessel. Lord Enfield, the Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, also wrote to Mr. Caswell, acknowledging his despatch, and stating that Her Majesty's Government would not be justified in interfering on behalf of Mr. Rickmers.

Monetary and Commercial.

Mr. C. G. McClelland, of the firm of Messrs. Wm. Spottiswoode and Co., Singapore, has joined the board of the Realm Marine Insurance Company. The letters of allotment of shares have been issued to the subscribers, and business will commence at the company's offices, 16, Cornhill, on Monday, the 15th inst.

The tenders for £400,000 in bills on India were received at the Bank of England, when the amounts allotted were: to Calcutta, £296,000; to Bombay, £100,000; to Madras, £4,000. The minimum price was fixed, as before, at 1s. 10½d. on all the Presidencies, and tenders on Calcutta and Madras at 1s. 10½d. will receive about 5 per cent., on Bombay at 1s. 10½d. about 45 per cent., and those above in full. These results show a further increase in the demand for means of remittance to the East.

A very able circular (without signature) has reached us on the past tea season. It purports to have been written in Hong Kong, but it is surmised that a place nearer home is the real place of authorship. Be that as it may, the writer has most ably handled the subject. We make the following extracts:—

The market at Hankow opened about the usual time, and in the face of very gloomy advices from London, at about the usual price. It was thought by some, that after previous years' experience, few, if any, would be found to repeat former sanguine ideas, but this impression was falsified by the action of early buyers, and a stiff Tael price, and an exorbitant rate of freight (equal to 3d. per lb.) made the London cost little below the average of former years. We all know the result of those shipments. A few thousand chests of tea, on board the Erl King, by no means the best, were sold at very paying rates, and within a day or two from this time average prices were down 4d.; perhaps two-thirds of the cargo remained unsold, and nearly the whole of it stood to lose smartly, which is not to be wondered at, when the cost is taken into account. We are curious to know what the "losses" might have been had the Foochow market opened at its usual time. Very unpleasantly large we should think,—perhaps as large as most of the big losses of past years.

Owing to the inferiority of the Foochow crop, and the difference between the ideas of natives and foreigners as to the value of the new teas, the Foochow market remained unopened until July. The quality of the crop was really very bad, and few fine teas were to be found. Prices were opened too high, and, strange to say, much over what the natives would have accepted a month previously. Shipments, however, were moderate, and continued so for some months,—a very commendable feature.

The falling off in the quality of the Foochow teas is indeed pitiable. Those who remember the aromatic fragrance, purity of flavour, and real bouquet about a fine Kai-ow or Sinchune tea of some ten years back—a tea to be sipped and lingered over—a tea identified season after season with ships' names, almost household words to us—a fragrant drink calculated to instil a love of the beverage into any one who had the fortune to drink it—will recognise how great a loss they have sustained in the deplorable deterioration of these teas! This falling off is indeed difficult to account for, and it would almost appear that we are never again to receive the fragrant leaf that we remember so well. Probably the great extent of the present trade; the absorption of choice little lots produced by the farmer into larger chops has much to do with it. The Green-leaf is now hawked about from place to place also, and in this state, of course, its flavour is ruined, its aroma utterly gone by the time it is finally bought for "firing" and manufacture. How quickly spring leaves wither after being plucked; tea leaves, of course, undergo this change, and a few hours are sufficient to cause it to lose the choicest breath of its fragrance. The falling off in the lower kinds of Foochow tea is even worse—a mixture of old, and in some cases chemically preserved leaf (easily recognisable from its black and "inky" colour), communicates a bitter and objectionable flavour to the whole, utterly killing all that mellowness of Souchong flavour which such teas should possess, and the Home trade has been unmistakably correct in its rejection of such teas. This inferior leaf, mixed up with sound teas, has been sufficient to predominate over all other flavours which they possessed, and has reduced to a common level teas bought in China, showing there, when purchased, differences of flavour, but these in the long transit from China were utterly sunk by the powerful influence of the "inky" leaves; hence the wonder in China at the small difference in price obtained at home for teas costing so widely different prices as 1s. 2d. and 1s. 8d. per lb. The fact is, on their arrival in London, there was little difference between them, and the prices were sensible if not agreeable ones to the shippers.

A fourth and final dividend of 1s. in the pound (making, with previous dividends, 20s. in the pound), and 10d. in the pound, an agreed amount of composition for interest upon claims which carry the same, is payable to the creditors of the China Steamship and Labuan Coal Company (Limited) at the offices of Messrs. Harding, Whinney, Gibbons, and Co.

The receipts of the British Indian Extension Telegraph Company for the past five weeks amount to £4,747.

The firm of Bohstedt and Schutz, of Hamburg, has ceased. Mr. J. Bohstedt and Mr. W. Schutte will continue the business under the firm of J. Bohstedt and Co.

With reference to the dividend of 7s. 9d. per share which was declared at the recent meeting of the Great Northern Telegraph Company, it is necessary to state that an interim dividend of 10s. per share was paid some time since, so that the total dividend for the year has been 17s. 9d., or nearly 9 per cent.

An elaborate table of statistics has been issued by Mr. F. M. Page, showing the fluctuations which have taken place in the prices of Bullion and Bank Drafts in London, Hong Kong, and Shanghai during the year 1870. We gather from this table that the total of the Bullion exported to China, Japan, and the Straits, during the year, was £2,045,040.

ARTICLES OF IMPORT.

TEA.

During the fortnight the market has been generally quiet, although a fair amount of red-leaf Congous, ex Beemah, have been sold at rather easier prices, whilst on the other hand the sales made of fair black-leaf kinds have shown a slight improvement in price. In other descriptions business has been limited, all the low qualities of Tea remaining very difficult of sale, even though prices have again ruled in favour of buyers. In the public sales, on the 20th ultimo, 3,083 packages were offered, 2,783 packages being without reserve. On the 21st, 1,472 packages were sold without reserve. On the 28th, 1,884 packages were sold without reserve, and on the 2nd instant, 17,703 packages were offered, of which 9,927 packages were sold without reserve. The stock in the United Kingdom on the 29th ultimo was estimated at 94,290,000 lbs., against 107,780,000 lbs., and the quantity afloat 10,997,100 lbs., against 10,179,810 lbs. last year. Red-leaf Congous: Siftings have sold at public sale at 4½d. to 6d. per lb., being again rather lower. Broken-leaf, from 7d. to 9d. per lb., show but little change. Fair to good common have been less in demand, and prices have given way ¼d. to ¾d. per lb. Common Kaisows show no change; the fair qualities have sold better at about previous prices. Good to fine and finest have not been much dealt in, the selection being poor. Pak Lin kinds have been saleable at former rates, for export. Black-leaf kinds: Low to common qualities have again sold at rather easier prices, at public sale, without reserve; privately there is no demand. Fair to good common are only in limited request at about 10½d. to 11½d. per lb. Fair to good medium kinds have met with a steady sale at rather higher prices. Good to fine kinds sell only slowly at rather under previous prices. In finest there have been no sales to report. Amey kinds show no alteration of importance. New-make Congous: Some fine have been sold at full prices. Common to fair at about former rates. Oolong have sold, at public sale, at the decline last quoted for good quality; common remain heavy of sale. A few sales of fair grade of Souchong have been made at former prices. In Flowery Pekoes there has been nothing doing. Scented Teas: Canton kinds of Caper have been neglected, the common qualities being especially dull of sale, even at the reduction last quoted. Fair kinds show a decline of fully 1d. per lb.; good remain at about previous prices. Foochow Capers have sold at rather better prices, the supply being limited. Canton Orange Pekoes show no material change. Foochow kinds have been steady at former prices. Uncoloured Japans show no alteration. Green Teas: The market remains in a most unsatisfactory state. Common to fair descriptions are only saleable at public auction at very low prices; low as they are, they do not stimulate the demand. Fine kinds are still saleable at about former prices, the finest grades being most in request. Canton Gunpowders remain much as before.

Messrs. Shepard, Harrison and Rehden's Circular says:—A steady, but limited business has been transacted the past fortnight, without any change having taken place in the position of the market, all common Teas being still dull of sale, but medium to fine grades from 1s. 3d. to 1s. 8d. per lb. in fair demand, and the supply held by Importers reduced to a small compass. The export trade to all quarters has been inactive. Deliveries, stand as follows:—

	Home consumption for London	1871.	1870.
	from 1st Jan. to 30th April.	31,907,000	25,527,000
Export	do.	11,900,000	10,184,000
Sent coastwise	do.	9,900,000	12,634,000
Total	...	53,707,000	48,345,000

Messrs. Percival and Co.'s Circular reports that the lower grades of Congou are at present over abundant and difficult to move, except at very low prices; recent advices from China, however, report the total supply of common Congou to show a falling off of 9,000,000 lbs. as compared with the previous season, consequently we may reasonably look for some improvement in these kinds ere long. Deliveries for April have been satisfactory, say 13,500,000 lbs.

Messrs. Lloyd and Cheshire's Circular gives the following statistics of the Imports, Deliveries, &c., from January 1 to April 30, 1871:—

	1871.	1870.
Imported ...	71,712,000 lbs.	68,221,193 lbs.

SILK.

Messrs. Kilburn, Kershaw, and Co. report as follows:—

There is only a small consuming trade doing, principally in China Silk, at prices which show 1s. and in some instances 1s. 6d. reduction from the highest rates of March; importers generally seem unwilling to submit to this decline, and it is only where parcels are forced to sale that this quotation is current; latterly, however, there has been so little enquiry that these forced sales are found quite sufficient to supply the wants of the market. Japans remain still in the same neglected state, Maibash is almost unsaleable, and where any business takes place it is at very low and very irregular prices. Cantons fully share in the general quiet; the enquiry for Tsatlee reels has fallen off somewhat, and quotations for ordinary to good market No. 1 are now 16s. to 16s. 6d. Loongcoongs are very scarce, the medium class hardly exists, and very few parcels of the finest class are offering. Bengals remain in the same dull and depressed state; quotations are mostly nominal. The deliveries in April were good, 4,152 bales in all; and from 1st to 3rd inst. 839 bales (540 China 107 Japan, 150 Canton, and 42 Bengal). Stocks are beginning slightly to decrease, and we may now look forward to an early reduction in the figures, which are at present large as compared with those of last year.

Messrs. Durant and Co.'s Circular contains the following:—Political complications are no doubt the chief cause of the long continued absence of animation, but now may be added the near approach of the European Crop, and with it the all important question of supply. It is too early at present to form any opinion; speaking generally, the worms are only in their earliest stages, but thus far all is reported as going well.

COFFEE.

The supplies of Plantation Ceylon have been very heavy—especially those of grey and low middling qualities—and have been largely in excess of the demand; the descriptions mentioned have consequently met with little or no competition, and have only been quitted at a decline of about 2s. per cwt. upon the quotations ruling a fortnight since; bold and bright coloury kinds, having been in much more moderate supply, have not shared in the decline established for the lower qualities; the latest prices paid have been—triage, 45s. to 53s.; small grey, 53s. to 56s. 6d.; low middling grey, 60s. to 63s.; bold do., 62s. to 68s.; small coloury, 57s. to 59s.; middling, 64s. 6d. to 69s. 6d.; pea-berry, 75s. 0d. to 80s. 6d. Native Ceylon has been out of demand, and little or no business has been done; prices are nominally unchanged from those of our last report. In other East India the only sales have been 179 bags sea-damaged Bonthyn Singapore, at 50s. to 54s. for fourth to first class, and 62 bags Penang at 49s. 6d. to 53s. 6d.

The deliveries both for home use and exportation show some improvement, and exceed those of the preceding year by 550 tons, and as the landings are 300 tons less, the deficiency in the stock now amounts to 1,700 tons. The quantity of Ceylon Coffee afloat for Great Britain is estimated as follows:—Plantation, 258,120 cwt., against 293,954 cwt. at the corresponding date of 1870; Native 36,145 cwt., against 31,321 cwt. The quantity afloat for the Continent is 6,744 cwt. Plantation, against 2,694 cwt., and 2,076 cwt. Native, against 1,845 cwt. The quantity of Coffee landed in the seventeen weeks ended April 29, 1871, was, of Ceylon, 8,417 tons, against 7,947 tons during the corresponding period of 1870; of all descriptions, 15,544 tons, against 11,505 tons. The quantity entered for home consumption was, of Ceylon, 3,277 tons, against 3,204 tons; of all descriptions, 6,161 tons, against 5,618 tons. The quantity exported was, of Ceylon, 7,985 tons, against 6,317 tons; of all descriptions, 16,710 tons, against 10,934 tons. The stock on April 29 was, of Ceylon, 10,760 tons, against 12,290 tons; of all descriptions, 14,471 tons, against 19,172 tons.

SUGAR.

Recent large landings have reduced the deficiency which was lately apparent in the stock, and have caused depression in the market; sales can only be effected at a decline of 6d. to 1s. upon the prices ruling a fortnight since, and the small business which has been effected has been upon these terms. Penang: At public sale, of 1,452 bags offered, 700 bags good soft yellow and soft grey (duty 5s. 3d.) have been sold at 32s. to 32s. 6d., the remainder, fine grey and low white (duty 5s. 3d.) being bought in at 35s. and 36s.; at a further sale yesterday, 1,044 bags sold steadily; low soft yellow (duty 4s. 9d.), at 28s. to 28s. 6d.; common to good middling brown (duty 4s.), at 24s. 6d. to 27s.; one lot, 23s. Privately 2,400 baskets common date sort have been sold at 18s. Manila: No auction sales are reported; privately 3,500 bags unclayed Zebu have been sold at 20s., and 2,400 bags clayed (duty 4s.) at 24s. 6d. to 25s. Java: By private contract 1,100 bags sirop have been sold at 19s. 3d., also floating cargo per Champion, 2,800 baskets (650 tons), No. 19, at 32s. 3d. for the United Kingdom.

COCOA-NUT OIL.—The steady tone of the market for Ceylon reported in our issue of the 24th ult. has been maintained, being assisted by the continued small exports, there being afloat to London 1,038 tons, against 3,017 tons last year; we have to quote an advance, with a strong market for both descriptions. Latest prices realised are:—fine, in pipes, £40 to £40 10s.; middling, £39 15s.; ordinary dark, £34 15s. to £35; hhds., £41. Further sales have been made afloat to the extent of 500 to 600 tons, March, April, or May shipment, at about £40 10s.

COIR GOODS.—Prices of Yarn are well supported, especially for good qualities, which exhibit a slight advance. The reduction of shipments from Ceylon is very marked, being to 17th March afloat to this port 864 tons, against 2,822 tons; there is every probability therefore of present range of prices being fully maintained. Quotations are:—Ceylon, very fine and superior £53 to £60; fine £42 to £52; good £38 to £49; low and common £24 to £26. Fibre: Also in better demand; good bright to fine pile Cochin £31 to £35. Rope: Firm, especially good Cochin; common to middling 2½ to 3½ inch £24; 4 inch £25 10s. to £26; 1½ to 2 inch £26 10s.

CAMPOR.—Japan: Almost the entire stock of this description being exclusively in the hands of a few, the price is fairly sustained, sales having been effected at 73s. to 74s.; an arrival of 250 tubs has occurred. China have been dealt in to some extent at 65s. per cwt. Public sales are advertised, and a large quantity has recently arrived.

CHINA PRESERVES.—At auction 390 cases good Chyloong (HC in diamond), per Fair Leader, sold at 7½d. per lb.; 15 casks at 7d., and 30 casks very good pale at 7½d.; 90 cases of Chow Chow were withdrawn.

CHINA GRASS continues very inactive; only a retail sale reported at £50 for fine white.

CUTCH.—The market continues very unsettled, and the value is still difficult to define; the stock is heavy—4,699 tons, against 1,602, about two years' consumption—and there are afloat to London and Liverpool 1,242 tons. At auction 2,917 cases Penang and Rangoon have been offered, and fine quality from Penang sold at 19s. to 19s. 6d., being lower; Elephant mark in retail quantities sells at 22s.; at another sale on the 4th 240 boxes good Pegu from Penang were bought in at 20s.

CARDAMOMS.—An increasing supply is offered freely, and prices are again 6d. per lb. lower, but a good many have been withdrawn for higher prices; 24 cases sold—fair to good, 7s. 1d. to 7s. 7d.; brown, mixed and some lean, 5s. 5d. to 6s. Of 36 packages Ceylon offered, about two-thirds sold at 2s. 7d. to 2s. 8d. for fair rather mixed and mouldy.

CUBBERS.—Market steady; prices unaltered.

DRAGON'S-BLOOD.—Market firm, with retail private trade at former value; of 38 cases at auction, 15 common dull sold at £3 15s. to £3 18s. per cwt.

ESSENTIAL OILS.—Cinnamon: very scarce, and wanted; 2 cases at public sale retired. Citronelle: firm; 93 cases auction, mostly sold at 2d. to 2½d. per oz. Lemon Grass: Dull, large arrivals, 19 cases at sale, 8 sold; fine at 3d. Anniseed: 10 cases sold at auction at 8s. 5d. Cassia: Dull, small sales at 4s. 5d.; 5 cases at auction retired. Nutmeg: Flat; 18 cases at auction retired.

EBONY.—Scarcely anything doing, owing to absence of supply.

GALLS.—China are very firmly held, but orders have been upon a limited scale; stock principally in second hands; 454 cases have been offered at auction, and a small portion disposed of privately at 48s. for fair; the smooth descriptions are not at the moment in demand. Japan: A small quantity at auction found no buyers.

GAMBIER.—During the fortnight the market has been firm, and prices show a slight advance; Block, old import, has realised 15s. 9d. to 16s.; new, very good pale, 16s. 6d., and ex ship, all faults (arrived), 15s. 10½d.; afloat, 15s. 9d. to 16s.; one sale reported at 16s. 1½d. There is every appearance that the present position will be maintained, the quantity now afloat to London and Liverpool showing a falling off, being to London, 1,342 tons, against 3,029 tons; to Liverpool, 875 tons, against 1,536 tons. Stock in London April 30, 3,207 tons, against 3,345 tons last year.

GUMS.—Benjamin: Sumatra seconds firm, good qualities scarce; of 126 packages (chiefly thirds) at auction, 8 cases fine seconds sold at £10 12s. 6d., and 12 cases TT&Co. third Penang at 70s. Siam is neglected, and of 5 cases at auction only 2 were placed—seconds at £10. Manila Copal is dull of sale, and 517 cases at auction were retired. Damar is in good demand, 126 cases good sold at public sale at 61s. to 61s. 6d. per cwt. Gamboge steady; of 16 cases offered at auction 4 sold at £15 for fine bright pipe, and £14 slightly mixed.

GUTTA PERCHA.—The market is without change, good and fine being fairly active, and common and medium dull; at auction of 387 packages offered one-fourth sold at 1s. 6d. to 2s. 3d. per lb. for middling genuine rather mixed, to fair close genuine.

HEMP.—Manila has continued quiet throughout, but good and fine qualities, being comparatively scarce, fairly maintain their position; the lower kinds, being in excessive supply, are dull and difficult to dispose of, even at lower rates. Large supplies of the latter descriptions have been offered at auction, and but little sold at a decline of £1 to £2 per ton; the current rates are—Boluzan, good, £49 10s.; Sorsagon, £48; Quilot, fine white, £60; Lupez, £66 5s.; fine brown, £40; low, £35.

HIDES.—At the fortnightly sales held on the 4th East India kips met a rather better demand; the best sorts being relatively scarce brought extreme prices, whilst ordinary and common were slow of sale, and sold at previous rates. Tanned sold at last sale's rates. Buffalo were in limited demand, chiefly for light weights. Of 7,813 Singapore and Penang Kips offered about one-half sold, light 6 to 6½ lb. at 7½d. to 8½d., heavy 8½ to 9½ lb. at 6½d. to 7½d., extra 11½ to 13½ lb. at 7d. to 7½d., thirds 5½d. to 5½d. Of 5,255 Singapore and Penang Buffalo offered 3,280 sold, light 12½ to 19½ lb. at 5½d. to 6½d., heavy 28½ to 40½ lb. at 4d. to 5½d., thirds 3½d. Tanned: 7,837 Bombay chiefly sold, good light and small 12½d. to 14d., light 5½ to 7½ lb. at 6½d. to 9d., good heavy 9½ lb. at 12½d., 11½ to 11½ lb. at 8d. to 8½d., extra 15½ to 16½ lb. at 8d. to 8½d., thirds 6½d.; 4,179 Madras sold, light 5½ to 6½ lb. at 11d. to 12d., superior 6½ to 6½ lb. at 14½d. to 18d., extra heavy 12½ lb. at 12½d., small 10½d. to 12d., superior 13½d. to 16½d., thirds 9½d. to 10½d.

MUSK.—Prices are steady, but the market has been very quiet, and we have no business to report for the past fortnight.

INDIA-RUBBER.—The market is without change. The auctions have embraced 157 baskets Singapore, which were retired, and 57 baskets common sold at 1s. 8d.; 32 baskets Borneo were retired, and 56 cases old at 1s. 7d.

PLUMBAGO.—Lump is firm, and fine sells well; common lump and dust are difficult to place, and there are large stocks. Auctions have embraced 1,924 barrels, of which only one-fourth sold—superior bold bright lump at 26s. to 28s. 6d.; middling to good, 21s. to 24s. 6d.; chips, 14s. to 15s.; dust, 9s. 6d. to 10s. 9d.

PEPPER.—Black: No more business by bear speculators is reported, and a fair trade has been done for export during the fortnight at gradually advancing prices; latest price paid for Singapore 5½d. to 5½d., and Penang 5d. to 5-3-16d. for Trang. Public sales have embraced 2,049 bags Singapore—about one-half (the damaged) principally sold—and 348 bags Penang. White: Auctions have embraced 432 bags Singapore; 300 sold the week following our last issue at 7½d. to 7½d. per lb., being decidedly lower; the remainder sold subsequently at 7½d. to 7½d., showing firm prices; since the latter sale about 200 bags have been sold at 7½d. for fair Singapore.

JAPAN WAX.—There is still but little offering, stocks continuing to be withheld; private sales to limited extent are reported at £4 per cwt., and fine saucers are worth £4 5s. to £4 7s. 6d.; at auction an offer of 40 boxes was retired.

RHUBARB.—A very heavy arrival of about 500 cases China has occurred, and the market is fairly deluged with supply. At the public sales of 322 cases offered, about 200 sold, very fine pinky bold and bright, well-trimmed, at 5s. 11d. to 6s. 4d. for flat, and 5s. 4d. to 5s. 6d. round, per Pera; fine 5s.; very good, per Ajax, same mark, at 2s. 6d. to 2s. 7d. for flat, and 2s. 7d. to 2s. 10d. for round; fair slightly slight wormy at 2s.; dull pale coated high dried of middling fracture, 1s. (being exceedingly cheap); preferable, 1s. to 1s. 1d.; good high dried 1s. 5d. to 1s. 7d., low common being retired at 4d. to 5d. per lb.

RICE.—The market has been dull throughout the fortnight, and soft grain descriptions have been sold at 6d. to 9d. decline, but white sorts remain steady, with a fair business passing. Transactions comprise, on the spot, 23,000 bags Rangoon at 9s. 3d. to 10s.; 9,000 bags Madras at 9s. 3d. to 10s.; 570 tons Saigon at 8s. 10½d. ex ship, 6,000 bags Ballam at 9s. to 9d. 3d. ex quay, and 11,000 bags Bengal, Askoolie 10s., White 10s. to 11s. 3d. per cwt.; for arrival, 2,200 tons Askoolie at 9s. to 10s. ex quay, 250 tons Soolie 9s. 3d. to 9s. 6d., 200 tons Coolpy at 10s. 6d. ex quay, 500 tons Madras at 10s., a cargo of Chittagong at 9s. 6d., one of Arracan and one of Rangoon at 10s. 4½d. Continental terms.

SHELLS.—The periodical auctions took place on the 2nd inst. Mother-o'-Pearl: 322 cases Manila were offered, of which 200 cases good bold partly medium sold at about the previous value at £7 15s. to £7 17s. 6d., one lot £8, 63 cases fine large Macassar were bought in at £13. Tortoise: The sales presented a total of 7,500 lb., which was chiefly disposed of at steady rates; one case (125 lbs.) Bombay sold at 7s., 3 cases (371 lbs.) Penang sold at 13s. 6d. to 14s. 6d., turtle 2s., of 8 cases (777 lbs.) Singapore offered, 3 cases (354 lbs.) sold at 12s. 6d. to 13s., the remainder good bought in at 16s. 6d. to 17s. Cowries: A good supply of Ceylon offered met less demand and were chiefly bought in, only a few lots selling at lower rates; of 665 bags Ceylon Maldiva offered 100 bags sold, fine small 36s. 6d., one lot 35s., the remainder being bought in at 38s. to 40s., large 26s. Other shells: 89 baskets 4,944 loose Green Snail chiefly sold, fair first pile 3d. to 3½d. each, 8 bags Tiger Cowries sold at 13s.; of 146 cases Japan Ear 16 cases sold at 16s., the remainder withdrawn, also 17 tons loose ditto at 22s. to 30s. per cwt., 150 cases Singapore fancy sold, Trocas 10s., large Cone 49s., small ditto 25s., Nautilus 12s. 6d., Tiger Cowries 14s., Silver Lip 25s., Trumpet 10s. per case, Clams 2½d. each.

STAR ANNISEEDS.—A parcel of China, comprising 86 cases, has arrived, and in the absence of any Russian orders the market is very dull and lower. The recent arrivals on the Continent, per Paradise, and other ships, keep that market well supplied. Several small lots have been offered, but only a few cases sold at £5 9s. per cwt. for good average quality. Parcels now offer at £5 5s. without finding buyers.

SOY.—There is an entire absence of demand, and an offer of 50 casks China at auction was retired at 2s. 1d. to 2s. 2d. per gallon.

STICKLAC.—The market is very firm, the stock being in few hands; small sales of fine Siam have been effected at 75s. per cwt.

SPICES.—Cassia Ligna: Rather lower prices are accepted, as new arrivals offer more freely; of 1,368 cases at auction, barely one-fourth sold; 1 lot, pile 1, fine, 121s.; pile 2, good, 109s. to 110s.; pile 4, mouldy, 101s. to 102s. Buds very dull; 110 cases retired; stock very large. Cloves: Penang firm at the recently advanced prices; Amboyna dull; 645 bags at public sale, retired; 9 cases sold; fine bright cleaned at 10½d. to 11d.; fair 4d. per lb. Mace continues very firm, and there is very little offering; at public sales, of 6 cases offered, 2 sold at 3s. 6d. to 3s. 9d. per lb. for fine palish and reddish mixed to fine bold pale. Nutmegs are barely so active, and prices at public sales have been a shade easier; of 116 cases offered, barely half found buyers, 65s. at 3s. 6d. per lb.; 80s. to 88s. 2s. 6d. and 2s. 3d.; 73s. to 75s. 2s. 8d. and 2s. 7d.; and 120s. at 2s. 1d.

SAGO.—The market is very dull, and prices are fully 6d. per cwt. lower. Auctions have embraced 2,320 bags and 63 boxes, of which about one-half has been sold (chiefly damaged), the sound at 15s. to 16s. per cwt. for fair to fine small, and a lot or so of good medium at 18s. 6d.; there have been sales, ex ship, of small at 15s. 6d. No change in Flour.

SAPANWOOD.—The high prices ruling of late are still maintained; at public sale 13 tons Manila, slightly stained, realised £7 5s., and 13 tons Siam were retired.

TAPIOCA.—The market has been quiet, auctions have embraced 160 bags Penang, retired, and 502 bags Singapore, of which a very few only sold at 2d. to 2½d. for good, and 1,169 bags Pearl sold at 17s. to 18s. for good large medium to fine. Flour is very dull and plentiful; 2,131 bags offered at public sale and retired, without buyers, at 1½d.

TURMERIC has continued dull; of 102 bags Java offered at auction a few only sold at 15s. 6d., and 2 bales China have realised 23s. per cwt.

TIN.—The improvement noticed in our last was only temporary, and during the past ten days the market has been very dull, owing to the large arrivals of Straits, chiefly by steamers; the current quotations are, Straits on the spot, £126, afloat, £125; Banca, £129; Billiton, £127 10s. per ton.

VERMILION.—The market for China exhibits no alteration; of 10 boxes offered at auction 4 boxes sold at 3s. 3d. per lb.

ARTICLES OF EXPORT.

MANCHESTER GOODS.

This market has remained quiet, and the tendency of prices until the 29th ult. continued to incline in the buyers' favour. The lock-out at Oldham, however, and the pending uncertainty as to the period of its continuance, has had the effect of causing producers to adhere more firmly to their quotations, whilst the very unsatisfactory reports from the large Eastern markets deter consumers from entering into transactions of any magnitude, and in consequence only a limited amount of business is going on.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

ALL OUR FACULTIES.—Almost all disorders of the human body are distinctly to be traced to impure blood. The purification of that fluid is the first step towards health. Holloway's Pills recommend themselves to the attention of all sufferers; no injurious consequences can result from their use; no mistake can be made in their administration. In indigestion, confirmed dyspepsia, and chronic constipation the most beneficial effects have been and always must be obtained from the wholesome power exerted by these purifying Pills over the digestion. Persons whose lives have been restored to ease, strength, and perfect health by Holloway's Pills after fruitless trial of the whole pharmacopoeia of physic, attest this fact.

Summary of News from the Far East.

CHINA.

SHANGHAI.

Dates from this port are to March 30; the London mail of Jan. 27 arrived out on March 15.

The annual meeting of the Chinese Hospital took place on the 18th March, Thomas Hanbury, Esq., in the chair. The accounts, which showed an income of $2,487 and an expenditure of $1,951, were passed. Dr. Sibbald then read the twenty-fourth annual report. 12,558 patients had been treated during the last year; 1,861 persons had been vaccinated during the same period by Chungfoo, an old and valued native assistant. The valuable services of Drs. Henderson, Dyer, Jamieson, and Barton were gratefully acknowledged. On the motion of the Rev. C. H. Butcher, the report was unanimously passed. The Rev. W. Muirhead advocated that five or six more Chinese should be trained as assistants in the hospital, with the view of placing them in charge of branch establishments when qualified. After some discussion this was referred to the medical advisers of the hospital for special report. A vote of thanks was then passed to Mr. Hanbury, for gifts of medicine and instruments. Mr. R. J. Fearon was elected treasurer, and, after the usual votes of thanks, the meeting separated.

A case has been decided by the Mixed Court, which, notwithstanding the objectionable nature of some of the details, yet throws such a light on some aspects of the domestic and social life of the Chinese that we place it on record. Comment is not required. A Soochow woman named Chuh-Chaa-Fok was brought before the Court from a brothel under the following circumstances:—A tailor named Ching-Chuh-Ding, living inside the city with his wife, purchased a girl, at the age of fifteen years, from a large girl-house in the city, the agreement being made out, and the sum of $180 paid for her. She was at once sent by the tailor to a girl-house in Smith's Market, where she remained for upwards of four years, during the whole of which time her monthly earnings is stated at an average of $30, one half of that sum being paid monthly to the tailor and his wife in the city. Her clothing was furnished during her stay in the above house by the tailor. Having been for some time sick, and unable to meet the wishes of the girl-house-mistress, she was again sent home to the tailor's house, where she remained cared for another four years, continuing sick during most part of that time. But when she had fully recovered her strength again she was handed over to the care of a friend of the tailor's wife, who engaged a boat and had her conveyed to Soochow. On her arrival there she was placed at once in a large girl-house, where she stayed for six months; her earnings during that time being shared between the mistress of that house and her protectress to Soochow, the amount being on an average $20 per month. But these earnings being considered as rather below the estimate, she was again transferred to another girl-house for two months; but this house also proving a failure to meet the views of both parties, she was handed over to the keeper of another house (named Koo-Koh Leeng), where she remained for other two years, $40 having been paid as security money. But having again been taken sick and a quantity of money expended upon her in medicine, &c., it was considered advisable to return with her to Shanghai. She, however, soon recovered her strength again; and it was then decided that she should remain for another year, at the end of which time all the girl-houses in Soochow were ordered by mandarins to be closed. And so, business failing in Soochow, she was once more conveyed to Shanghai, where she arrived four months ago. Being now again met and recognised by her former mistress and original purchaser, she was begged to return to her, which she willingly consented to, providing her present master would allow her to leave. This he, however, objected to, unless the sum of $100 were paid back to him, that being the amount paid for medicine, &c., during her sickness in Soochow. The Court decided that the original owner should pay the present owner $40 and take the girl.

A meeting of shareholders in the Shanghai General Hospital was held on the 24th March. The working account showed a total income of Tls. 16,426, and an expenditure of Tls. 15,366, leaving a balance in hand of Tls. 1,060. The number of patients treated was 35 fewer than in 1869, and the receipts from this source less by Tls. 2,825. The trustees attribute this partly to the effect of the change in the commerce of the port from sailing vessels to steamers, which reduces the number of seamen visiting the port, and shortens their stay, and partly to the reduction of the funds available in the British Consulate for the relief of destitute sick. It is to be regretted that the change in the constitution of the Hospital which was agreed to at the last general meeting cannot yet be perfected, owing to the neglect of certain shareholders to surrender their certificates. The trustees were authorised to sell the land near the Ningpo joss-house, which is not only unremunerative and likely to remain so, but entails payment of ground-rent.

On the motion that the report and accounts be passed, Dr. Martin wished to know on what ground this was called a charitable institution. He saw only Tls. 107 set down as devoted to charity; but the charges were dear, and the expenses were dear also. The Chairman said the hospital was a charity in this sense, that three-fourths of those who had taken shares to start it had surrendered their shares. Dr. Martin thought the salaries of the secretary and of the medical officer excessive, and could be done better by dividing it, and giving it to different doctors who were willing to assist. The Chairman said the trustees had a written agreement with the lady nurses, the sisters, by which the appointment of the medical officer was subject to the approval of these ladies, and they declined to sanction more than one medical man. Mr. Bernard said that the capital, originally Tls. 31,300, had some years ago been stated at Tls. 9,000, and if offered for sale would not bring even that. The motion was carried nem. con. It was then proposed by Mr. Bernard and seconded by the Chairman, that in room of Messrs. T. Probst, F. B. Johnson, and Mammelsdorff, resigned, Baron Crety and Messrs. Thomas Dick and O. C. Behn be elected trustees for the current year.

The Chairman then said that very little progress had been made in securing the surrender of the remainder of the shares. It was not impossible, therefore, that the trustees might be driven to wind up the old accounts and start anew. In view of such a possibility Mr. Bernard had drawn up a statement of existing assets, and of their liabilities in case of a liquidation. The assets appeared to amount to Tls. 17,278, and the liabilities to about the same sum, but these are liable to be considerably increased in case of there being more Sisters not French, or of their leaving by other than M. N. steamers.

The destruction of the theatre necessitates the building of a new one, and three plans for raising the funds appear at present:—1st. Public subscription, assisted, may be, by a grant from the Recreation Fund; 2nd. By a lottery; and 3rd. By the erection by the Municipal Council of a theatre to form part of the proposed Town-hall. The Courier recommends the last plan, as the community is becoming sufficiently large to require ample room for its public gatherings, and the auditorium of a theatre is the best possible place for public meetings, and the amateurs would be able to provide entertainment at a considerable reduction on the present charges for admission, and to spend much more than they have hitherto done upon getting up the pieces.

Captain Jeffries, of the brig Mexicana, from Taiwanfoo, reports that the mate and sixteen hands belonging to the Andromeda boarded him while lying off Triwanfoo, reporting the loss of their vessel on the Pescadores. They were in a destitute state, their clothing having been taken by the natives, who came off to their vessel, their bread destroyed by sea water, and a few pieces of meat which had been thrown into the boat also in a state unfit for food. Captain Jeffries supplied them with victuals and some clothing, &c., when they proceeded ashore to the Consul. The mate stated that the captain, second mate, carpenter, and steward of the Andromeda were in another boat, but he feared they had been murdered by the natives, as the captain and second mate had a considerable amount in gold in their possession. The Consul at Taiwanfoo had sent a junk, with interpreters and some soldiers, to try to find the captain and remainder of the crew. The ship struck at 3.50 A.M., but was ashore some time before it was known on board; at daybreak the natives came off and began to plunder. One of them proceeded direct to the cabin and returned with the chronometer, which the mate saw passed over the side immediately afterwards. The natives forced the crew to quit the vessel.

The following items are from the North China Herald:—At a meeting of the shareholders in the United Steam Navigation Company, on the 25th March, the appointment of Messrs. Olyphant and Co. as general agents, and of Mr. Bullock as a director of the company in the stead of Mr. Probst were unanimously confirmed.

The following gentlemen have been thus far nominated, and consented to serve on the municipal council:—Messrs. John Dent, E. H. Lavers, S. J. G. Jellicoe, W. Harwood, F. Nissen, W. J. Blydenburgh, H. P. Haanssen, W. Remé, H. Evans, E. J. Hogg, R. Scheibler, and M. Coryell.

The P. and O. Company announce that they are again prepared to take silk through to Marseilles, and at a reduced rate of Tls. 8 instead of Tls. 10 per cwt.

The steamer Moneka, which left on Thursday morning for Kiu-kiang is, we hear, one of two vessels which are intended to run to Wuhu, and from the river to the coast, on Chinese account.

A meeting of Land Renters in the foreign settlement of Chin-kiang was held on March 14. The municipal accounts for the year showed an expenditure of Tls. 1,186, against a receipt of Tls. 1,300, leaving in hand a balance of Tls. 114, besides certain outstanding taxes, which raise the total sum at credit of the Municipality to Tls. 432. Messrs. Jerdein, Starkey, and Salter (hon. sec. and treasurer) were elected councillors for the ensuing year. Several resolutions tending to improve the settlement were agreed to. The creation of a good road out of the settlement, to join the Nanking road, the removal of the native garrison from the fort, and the prevention of native parades within the limits of the Concession, are requests which the Taoutai can hardly refuse, under the conditions stated; and we are glad to see that the example of our own council is to be followed, in planting the Bund with trees.

A Chefoo correspondent writes, on the 25th March, "In case you may not hear it from other sources, I write to tell you that the North German barques Veloz and Anna, which sailed from Chefoo yesterday, under charters for the south—having commenced loading as soon as news of the conclusion of peace was received—were seized off the Shantung promontory by the Lincolns, and sent in charge of prize crews, the French Consul stating that he had received no official intimation of the close of hostilities. It is not anticipated that the vessels will be long detained, but their seizure has nevertheless spread consternation among the other North German vessels still preparing for sea at Chefoo."

HONG KONG.

Advices by this mail extend to April 5; the outward (French) mail of Feb. 17 arrived on March 30.

The report of the Union Insurance Society of Canton shows, on the 31st December last, a balance at credit of $166,235, exclusive of a reserve of $250,000, and paid-up capital of $250,000. Outstanding claims are estimated at $80,000, including $38,000 on risks taken at Bombay by the Aurora, which was barratrously destroyed at sea. The reserved thirds of profit, amounting to $187,500, will now be paid to the shareholders interested. Messrs. Hale and Co. have been appointed agents at Saigon, during the absence of Messrs. Hausschild and Sornsen; and, Mr. Watmore having resigned the secretaryship, Mr. N. I. Ede has been appointed in his place. Mr. H. Lowcock has been appointed to the seat at the Board rendered vacant by the Hon. Mr. Gibb leaving the colony. The meeting voted $1,000 and a vote of thanks to Mr. Robert Watmore, the late secretary, who resigned to visit England.

Tenders have been invited for the conveyance from Hong Kong to Singapore of two companies of the 75th Regiment—about 3 officers, 150 non-commissioned officers and men, 8 women, and 13 children.

Mr. Greig, acting chief manager of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, advertises that forgeries of some of the old notes of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Company have been discovered; and all holders of such notes are requested to present them forthwith at the Bank office for payment. There is no reason to believe that any of the notes issued by the Corporation have been tampered with, as such precautions were taken in their manufacture as to render any attempt at forgery easy of detection.

The prospectus of a new marine insurance company—the Chinese Insurance Company (Limited)—has been issued. The capital is $1,500,000, in 1,500 shares of $1,000 each. The directors are Messrs. W. H. Condit (Messrs. Smith, Archer, and Co.), E. R. Belilios, G. Crichton (the Borneo Company, Limited), E. A. Hitchcock (Messrs. Olyphant and Co.), and two Chinese merchants to be selected by the native shareholders after the allotment of shares. Applications for over 1,400 shares have already been made in Shanghai and Hong Kong. The speciality of the prospectus is that it undertakes to pay every year 33½ per cent. of profits to all shareholders contributing business; 33½ per cent. is to be paid as dividend to all shareholders, and the last 33½ will be passed to a reserve fund.

The China Mail says:—"We understand that Mr. Baber, who is in charge of the Canton Consulate in the absence of Mr. Robertson, has been doing good service in the Fatshan difficulty. The reparation to the Christians for the demolition of their chapel at Fatshan has been dragging along in characteristic style for months back, until Mr. Baber took up the matter in a determined spirit. It will possibly be doubted in some quarters, but it is nevertheless true, that both the Viceroy of the province and the gentry of Fatsan were being hoodwinked in a most barefaced manner by a middleman, who, while drawing money from the gentry for arranging matters with the Christians, was all the time telling the Christians that nothing could be done to bring about an arrangement. It was only when a meeting of delegates from both sides was convened in Canton, by the Viceroy, that this feat of double-dealing and pocket-lining was discovered. The gentry were exceeding wroth, and well might they be so, for they had advanced considerable sums to the medium. Matters now, however, are in a very fair way towards a settlement satisfactory to all parties; and we understand that the credit is mainly due to the activity of Mr. Baber. Similar instances of the internal dishonesty and rottenness of the Chinese system are of daily occurrence; one can depend upon nothing whatever if such can be evaded."

The Committee of the Seaman's Church Fund held a meeting on the 24th March, when a memorial to the Governor and Legislative Council for a grant in aid of the funds was drawn up. The memorial will be presented by the Colonial Secretary. General Whitfield being unable to preside at the laying of the foundation stone of the church, which took place on the 25th March, his place was occupied by Mr. James Whittall. The following is a brief description of the design for the building; the principal measurements are: nave, 58ft. by 28ft. with a height of 25ft. to the roof trusses; chancel, 16ft. by 10ft.; vestry, on the south-east corner, 11ft. by 11ft.; tower, on the north-east corner, outside dimensions, 14 ft. by 14ft.; porch, situated on the west front, 10ft. 6in. by 10ft. 6in.; height of tower, 70ft. Accommodation is provided for 184 persons. The building is to be executed in ornamental brick, Gothic, and the arches of all windows and doors will be turned in red and black bricks only. The roof is open timbered, which, besides being a novelty here, has the advantage of combining great strength with lightness and elegance, something never yet accomplished in Hong Kong. The railing in of the ground, laying on gas and water, the fittings requisite for the church, such as pews, pulpit, lectern, font, communion rail and table, are all included in the estimated cost of $8,475.

The clipper ship Taunton (Capt. Hogg) has made a very good passage up from Bangkok. She left about noon of the 17th March, and arrived at Hong Kong at four o'clock (28th), thus making the voyage against the monsoon in a little over eleven days. This is good running for the season, and is creditable alike to the ship and her captain.

The first ordinary meeting of the China Sea, Saigon, and Straits Steamship Company (Limited) has been held, Mr. G. F. Heard in the chair. The Chairman referred to the report, which was adopted. The Chairman then proposed (seconded by Mr. Mellish) that Mr. Weller be elected a director, vice the Viscount de Cercal, resigned, and that Messrs. Sage and Deacon, retiring directors, be re-elected. This was carried without opposition. The Chairman next proposed (seconded by Mr. Deacon) that Messrs. Mellish and Turner be re-elected auditors. The proposal was carried nem. con. The Chairman observed, in conclusion, that the dividend would be ready for payment on the 28th March.

The Legislative Council met on the 27th March, when the Hon. C. O. Smith was sworn in as Acting Colonial Treasurer. The minutes made mention of votes of gratuities of $1,500 to the widow of the late Mr. Donaldson, Superintendent of Government Gardens, and of $3,000 to the widow of the late Mr. F. I. Hazeland, "subject to the approval of the Secretary of State for the Colonies." The Chief Justice demurred, but the Colonial Secretary said it was necessary to obtain the direct concurrence of the Secretary of State for such votes, which had been passed by the council under that reservation. The minutes were then passed.

The Council then went into committee on the second reading of the Amended Bill to make further provision in relation to the Court of Summary Jurisdiction. Mr. Justice Ball complained that his application for an increase of salary in proportion to the enlarged duties imposed upon him by the original alteration had not been sent home.

The Attorney-General explained that by the Amended Bill the equitable jurisdiction which was intended to be entrusted to the Summary Court had been withdrawn. It was proposed to give the Judge of that Court jurisdiction on foreign attachment in causes arising within the colony under $500, the present extent of the Court's jurisdiction. The Amended Bill would give further powers within a certain limit, but would not extend jurisdiction, and therefore would not imply a reason for increase of the Judge's salary, so long as that limitation of jurisdiction was maintained. He referred Mr. Justice Ball to the Secretary of State, if he felt himself aggrieved.

The considerations of the amended Ordinance was then proceeded with, and several useful provisions were agreed to, among which were that an attorney may appear for a client in any suit of any amount, or that a plaintiff may appear by any other agent who may appear to be authorised to the satisfaction of the Judge. Of more general importance is the provision that the Judge of the Summary Court may, upon occasion arising, act in criminal as well as civil matters in the Supreme Court.

We (China Mail) hear on good authority that the Canton authorities are now about to levy new duties on all native-borne goods carried from Hong Kong to the mainland. The present duties collected by the stations outside the harbour are on opium only, but this has been found so remunerative that the Canton

Customs have decided to treble the duty on opium (it pays now Tls. 16, and is to pay Tls. 48), and to levy proportionate rates on other articles of trade. The matter is now in process of arrangement and discussion; the consent of H. M. Consul, it is said, has been obtained, and proclamations are now being drawn up. Surely a protest in the general interests of the colony will not be wanting. If we neglect this warning we may be too late to resist the imposition, and we think it behoves our officials to wake from their slumbers and look the Chinese encroachments fairly and honestly in the face.

H.I.C.M. gunboat Sunkes, Captain Vassallo, which arrived here from Canton is none other than the old and sadly maligned Victoria. She has been altered so much and so successfully that ten knots can now be got out of the late Colonial five-knot cruiser. The passage from Canton was performed in eight hours.

Mr. Thomsett, who has energetically acted as harbour-master here for many years, goes home shortly on leave, and Captain R. H. Cairns, Government marine surveyor, will act for Mr. Thomsett during his absence.

A correspondent at Pagoda Anchorage says:—Captain Skey, so long a resident at Foochow, gives over charge of the Foochow Dock to Mr. Lamond.

H. C. M. frigate Berenguela, which brought over the mails from Manila, was waiting for the arrival of the new Captain General of the Philippines (H.E. Don Izquierdo), who was expected by the next French mail, due here on the 1st of April. Governor Izquierdo succeeds H.E. Carlos La Torre in the viceroyalty of the Philippines.

COCHIN CHINA.

SAIGON.

Dates from this port are to the 3rd April. The new Governor, Admiral Dupré, took charge on the 1st April, and the late Governor, who has resigned, returned home by last mail. The German residents were not yet allowed to return, nor German vessels to enter the port, the French stating that they had no official information of peace.

The meeting of the Chamber of Commerce took place on the 27th February, M. Langleur, Minister of the Interior, in the chair. The proceedings were purely formal; M. Dierx was elected president, and M. Cornu secretary, for the ensuing year.

All accounts from the outlying districts concur in reporting perfect tranquillity and the good disposition of the natives.

The thirteenth list of subscriptions for the wounded raises the amount subscribed in Saigon to fr. 71,000.

BANGKOK.

The following is from the Advertiser:—

The annual festival of Krut commenced on the 14th of the waning of the 4th Siamese month, and continued to the close of the 2nd day of the waxing of the 5th month. The real day is the 15th of waxing of the 4th month. The origin of this feast is unknown. It is purely Siamese, and has some special privileges. The days of Krut, Songkrant, and the festival of the Chinese New Year are exempt from the rigid exaction of the farmer of the gaming-houses. On these days people can gamble where, when, and with whom they please; the winner retains all he wins. Owing to this exemption, on these festival days almost every family in the kingdom indulges freely in this highly ruinous amusement.

The third of the waxing of the fifth month, and the thirteenth of the waning of the tenth, are the fixed days of the year, when all paid servants of the Siamese Government at Bangkok are required to attend the palace of H.M. the First King, to drink the consecrated water in which the sword of his Majesty has been dipped. Before drinking the recipient takes the prescribed oath, by which he pledges fidelity to the reigning King and invokes upon himself the direst calamities if he breaks his plighted faith.

Songkrant manifestly is the official and popular celebration of the first day of the Siamese New Year, the precise day when the sun attains the fixed point in the heavens, from which the Royal astrologers wish the new year to be reckoned.

The birthday of the Emperor of Germany was celebrated by the German residents with considerable enthusiasm.

BORNEO.

SARAWAK.

We take the following from the Gazette:—

H. H. the Rajah has appointed Mr. A. R. Houghton to take charge of the Sadong River.

The Rajah and Ranees left Sarawak for Peninjou on the 4th March, and returned on the 7th. On the way down the river the Rajah paid a visit to the Chinese sugar works at Sitapok, and saw the sugar being expressed by the slow and primitive process which is used in Java. The cane looks well, and they are turning out from eight to ten piculs of sugar a day, of the fine brown quality that is to be bought in the bazaar. The works are about 300 yards from the river; cattle and buffaloes are employed both for turning the press and carrying the sugar. The Chinese say that six crops of cane can be gathered from the soil before it is exhausted, and then indigo will thrive on it. It is probable some European cultivator will improve on this culture when the capability of this soil is better known.

Affairs on the Saribas river were, on the whole, in a satisfactory state. A few trifling cases among the Dyaks had to be decided, such as are sure to arise on a river removed to some extent from the immediate supervision of a Government officer, but the people were well disposed and generally free from complaints. This fact is perhaps of some importance, considering the former character of the inhabitants and their isolated position. It is almost impossible to take any of the Government steamers as far as the Saribas fort, as the river is encumbered with sand-banks, and is rendered dangerous by a strong tide, which at certain seasons runs up as a very heavy bore. The fort is only fifteen or sixteen miles by land from Simanggang, but the batang road between these places is hardly passable for any but natives or very energetic Europeans. Fifteen miles through a deep swamp with a river or two to cross, and only a tree trunk to walk on is not the sort of excursion to be highly esteemed. Steamers generally go up the river as far as Tanjong Baris, about thirty miles from the mouth; the other thirty miles to the fort have to be done in a boat.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

SINGAPORE.

Dates extend to the 12th April. On the 29th March the Mon-golia arrived with the English mail of the 24th February, and the Ellora, with the mail of the 3rd March, was expected on the 30th March.

We learn from the Straits Times that the principal event of the fortnight was the taking the census on the 2nd March. Our contemporary fears that the return, when it is published, will not be reliable. A prejudice against statistical returns of this description prevails among entire classes of the population, and others believe it to be the precursor of a general tax of some sort. The fact that some of the Malay rulers number their people for the purpose of imposing a personal tax upon each gives a strong colouring to this view. In consequence, many of them prevaricated, and sought to evade giving the required returns, while as all were at liberty to fill in their own forms, there is no guarantee of the accuracy of the returns given. On Sunday, the 2nd, a large Chinese placard was posted up in a prominent part of the town, urging the Chinese to refuse to give the required information, and if pressed hard for it by the enumerators to assault them. It was, we are informed, a very illiterate composition, and as its recommendations were not carried out, evidently did not meet with approval.

The following items are from the same journal:—

Obedience to the instructions forbidding the expenditure of any more money on Government steamers, and ordering the sale of the Peiho and Rainbow, has resulted in the sale of the former at public auction, where she realised $26,450.

His Majesty the King of Siam had completed his visit to Java, and returned to Singapore on his way homeward. His Majesty was received in Java with great pomp and ceremony, and every endeavour made to render his stay agreeable. The steamers merely put in here for coals, and early the next morning steamed away for Bangkok. His Majesty availed of his call to see a circus company now performing here, they giving a performance especially to gratify him. He had never witnessed anything of the kind before.

The criminal sessions opened on the 6th, before his Honour the Chief Justice, but only a few unimportant cases were disposed of. The bulk of the work of the sessions remains yet to be done, and it will probably be a pretty heavy one, there being a number of cases arising out of the late Hoey disturbances. This may be the last session our present Chief Justice will try; he goes home on leave of absence by the next mail, and it is generally understood will not return. In this belief, the residents have determined upon giving a ball and banquet in his honour at the Town-Hall on the 21st.

The Erl King, Captain Steele, from London 20th February, via Gibraltar, Suez Canal, and Galle 3rd inst., arrived here on the 11th April.

The returns of the notes in circulation by the local banks show an average in the Oriental Bank Corporation of $201,800; in the Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China, of notes issued $278,446, and specie in reserve $150,000; and in the Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China, of notes issued $268,893.

The steamer Agnes completed the restoration of the Java telegraph after two days' work, and telegraphic communication with Java was restored. The cable had been broken by a ship's anchor.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamer Alaska, Captain Maury, from New York, January 22, via Gibraltar, Malta, Port Said, and Suez, arrived here on the 1st April. The British steamer Enterprise, Captain Lobnitz, from London, February 20, arrived on the 2nd; and the British steamer Emerald, Captain Smith, from London, February 11, via Suez Canal, on the 5th.

Commercial Report.

HANKOW.—General dulness had extended over the whole interval; wet weather and the non-arrival of the country dealers had tended to restrict business, and no sales of importance had been made: uncertainty as to the course of prices in Shanghai had had influence in curtailing purchases, and symptoms of an advance in that market would give confidence to importers generally.

SHANGHAI.—There had been no great excitement in the market, but at the same time a considerable business had been transacted in one or two of the chief articles of foreign textiles. Grey Shirtings 8½ lbs.: Accumulation of stocks, and continued reluctance of dealers to enter the market, had caused more eagerness amongst holders to realise, resulting in a decline in value, and extensive settlements. Common chops Tls. 2.0.3 to 2.0.5 per piece; good common Tls. 2.0.5½ to 2.0.7½; Dewhurst's Eagles Tls. 2.1.1 to 2.1.3; 7 lbs., good demand at slightly higher rates; prices—Tls. 1.7.8½ to 1.8 for good, Tls. 1.8.2 to 1.8.3 for best common chops, and Tls. 1.8.4 to 1.8.5 for Dewhurst's. In heavy Shirtings no transactions reported. White Shirtings, 64-reed, wanted, but market bare and buyers compelled to improve on late offers. Lower counts are also sought after, but to a less extent, at former quotations, and some inquiry for the finer reeds had set in. T-Cloths, 6lb., received most attention; buyers looked for a much lower range of prices. Drills: Unchanged in value. Jeans: Tls. 2.3.5 to 2.3.6 was the quotation for best 8 lbs. English. Sheetings: Tls. 3.85 offered and refused for a small parcel of 15 lbs. 36 in.; a lighter weight (14 lbs.) placed at Tls. 3.70 per piece. Fancy Cottons: Generally improving in demand and value. Woollens: Sales of Long Ells, common assorted, at Tls. 4.40; C.P.H. Scarlet held for Tls. 5.25 to 5.30 per piece; Camlets changed hands at Tls. 10.90 to 11.70, and showed an upward tendency. Spanish Stripes also improving in value. Metals: Lead quiet; Tls. 4.55 to 4.60 offered for L.B. Iron: Good inquiry for small sizes of Nail-roads, but owing to firmness of holders transactions limited. Settlements: some 8,000 bundles, at Tls. 2.10 for fair assortments, and 2.25 per picul for small sizes.

FOOCHOW.—Sales had been—Grey Shirtings, 8½ lbs., 1,050 pieces at $2.90 to 2.92 per piece; do., 7 lbs., 200 pieces at $2.32; T-Cloths, 7 lbs., 700 pieces at $2.14; do., 6 lbs., 500 at $1.77. Lead, 900 piculs at $7 per picul.

HONG KONG.—Cotton Yarn: Heavy arrivals and inability to dispose of former purchases had kept buyers almost out of the market; Nos. 28 to 32 particularly flat; in other counts, sales effected by making liberal concessions. Grey Shirtings: Sales of salvaged goods, ex Don, had fully supplied requirements; sales more or less of a forced character had produced the decline quoted; market closed very flat with no buyers. White Shirting: No demand for common and medium, prices nominal; limited enquiry for fine. T-Cloths: Neglected and nominal. Other Cotton Goods: Very little doing. Woollens continue neglected. Metals—Nail Rod Iron: Demand flat, and prices receded; no change in round or square; soft rather weaker. Lead: Hardly any inquiry. Coals: Arrivals 450 tons Cardiff to consumers; market generally very quiet, and the only sale reported 650 tons Cardiff, ex godown, at $12 per ton. Quotations:—Cotton Yarn, Nos. 16 to 24, per bale, $107 to 115; 28 to 32, $110 to 117; 38 to 42, $127 to 135. Grey Shirtings, 7 lbs., per piece, $2.10 to 2.12½; 8.4 lbs., $2.54 to 2.60; 9.12 to 10 lbs., $3.30 to 3.50. White Shirtings, fine, $3.25 to 5. Iron: Nail Rod, per picul, $2.55 to 2.65. Lead, $5.70 to 6.

SINGAPORE.—Messrs. Boustead and Co. report as follows:—Our goods market has been very quiet during the fortnight, and holders being anxious to sell, prices show a further slight decline. 39-inch Grey Shirtings: 8½ lb. very dull and lower, sales at $2.55 to 2.59½, but held for the higher quotation. Stocks increasing. 7 lb. in limited demand, difficult to place except at low rates; small transactions at $2.05 to 2.07½. Stocks decreasing. 6 lb. neglected and nominal. 45-inch dull. 36-inch White Shirtings: Fine qualities in excellent demand, especially for favourite makes, at slightly lower prices. Medium quiet, low, very dull. 45-inch in no demand. 32-inch Grey T-Cloths: Sales at lower rates and demand slack for all weights. 4 lb. $1; 4½ lb. $1.07½; 5 lb. $1.25 to 1.27½; 6 lb. $1.47½; and 7 lb. $1.75 to 1.77½. Grey Maddapollams: Only a very limited inquiry at last quotations of $17 to 17½ for 2½ lbs. and $18 to 18½ for 3 lb. Stocks show a slight decrease. Grey Yarn: 40s in limited request at a further decline, sales at $113 to 114. 30s dull at $106. 18/24s in less inquiry, and quoted $95 to 97½ for good quality. Woollens of all descriptions very dull.

EXPORTS.

TEA.

HANKOW AND KIUKIANG.—No business to report.

SHANGHAI.—Black: Only three chops reported as settled during the fortnight, these being of common Hohow kind. Prices showed no alteration. The Vanguard (fully engaged) would finish the season's export to London. Green: Only 958 half-chests of common Fychows had been settled from Tls. 22 to Tls. 25, and as there were no vessels on the berth for either New York or London, the small stock of 5,000 half-chests would probably be held over until next season.

FOOCHOW.—The interval had been very quiet, and the business transacted of only trifling extent. Of the settlements about one half had been purchased for Australian account, and the balance secured as flooring chops for early vessels of the coming season.

CANTON.—The only business to report had consisted of 400 boxes Scented Orange Pekoe, at Tls. 25, and 160 boxes Scented Caper at Tls. 24, and the estimated remaining stocks were 1,000 boxes Canton District Congou; 3,000 boxes Scented Orange Pekoe; 5,500 boxes

Scented Caper; 5,000 boxes Gunpowder; 2,000 boxes Young Hyson; and 1,000 boxes Imperial.

SILK.

SHANGHAI.—Messrs. Skeggs and Co. send the following report: The high prices asked by holders and the small stock on offer of good marketable Silk has prevented anything but a small dragging business during the fortnight, foreign buyers generally not caring to be interested in the article at this late period of the season. The only purchases of note are about 100 bales of fine Szechuen at 19s. 4d., and a parcel of Old Lion chop Tsatles at 29s. 3d. Most of the other purchases consist of small parcels of common Tsatles, Kahing and Long Reels at very irregular prices. Some few transactions have also taken place in barter; as the mail closes there is more disposition on the part of the dealers to sell, and if buyers could be found they would submit to a reduction of Tls. 10 to 15 on annexed quotations which we do not change from last mail's. Settlements are about 350 bales. Stock about 800, a large proportion of which are Szechuens.

CANTON.—Dealers continued firm, and were asking prices above home quotations, but, notwithstanding this, several parcels had been secured. The stock of really fine Loongkongs was exhausted. For America there was not much business to notice. The stock was estimated at 15 bales Loongkongs, 400 bales Tsatlee Reels, 30 bales Kowkongs, 200 bales Cumchucks, Lacklows, &c., and 400 bales of inferior descriptions.

LITERATURE.

The publishers of Art are evidently determined to close their first volume with a collection of the very best illustrations they can secure. This month, the eleventh number of the magazine, which we hope may therefore be considered as having attained the permanent popularity it deserves, the contents are unusually varied. "Palma's Daughter," from a picture in Lord Elcho's collection, by Parigi Bordone, is a charming example of feminine grace and symmetry. The face is so truly beautiful, in the best sense of the word—so grave, modest, expressive, and yet discriminative—that we cannot but regret that the process by which it has been transferred to the page before us is one which stereotypes its defects as well as its beauties. The former are, however, only the work of "time's effacing fingers," and no other process could so well preserve the latter, which deserve to be immortalised. "The Bookworm," from Mr. Marks's admirable and characteristic picture, is beautifully reproduced, and will tempt many of Art's subscribers to cut it out of the part, and frame it in front of their desks. There are, besides, a "View in the Tyrol," very pretty, and cool looking, and "A Group of Arms and Armour," which is the only thing in the number that we cannot praise. The letter-press is appropriate, and the Art criticisms valuable and impartial.

Macmillan is a capital number. It opens with "The Panic and its Lessons," a sensible military article by Dr. Freeman. "The Past and Future Relation of Ireland to Great Britain" is well treated by the Hon. G. A. Brodrick. "Ingres" is an artist-like sketch; "The Age of Lead" is a pithy and truthful reflection on the House of Commons under the Gladstone Government; "Souvenirs of the Campaign of the Loire" contains some information that is still interesting, though the war in France has long given place to the revolution, and in this age of boredom we are almost tired of that, too, and longing for a "new sensation" for more reasons than one. The serial story, "Patty," is well continued, and makes up a capital number, which has the inestimable charm of including not a single line of the ordinary verse called in many magazines—poetry. The best article, however, to our mind, though it is one of the shortest, is an essay on "Darwinism and Religion," a very suggestive subject sensibly treated.

The People's Magazine sustains its reputation. The tales are continued spiritedly, and the illustrations are even better than usual, particularly a whole-page engraving, entitled "An Early Breakfast," and the coloured frontispiece, "May-day in the Olden Time." "Scarlet Fever" is a paper which conveys much valuable information on a subject too often totally ignored till the disorder breaks out; this paper alone is worth buying the magazine for.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Times of India says the Hon. Mr. Seward and party having relinquished that part of their plan which included a trip up the Persian Gulf, a look in at Bagdad, a survey of Nineveh and Babylon, and a tour across Mesopotamia, will have more time to spare for Western India and its more interesting localities. The honorable gentleman will have ample opportunity to visit Goa, which, we understand, he is anxious to do, in order to see how another European nation manages its Indian possessions. Mr. Seward has been entertained at dinner by the Byculla Club, Bombay; Sir Michael Westropp, Chief Justice, presiding.

Mr. MACFIE has given notice that on Monday next he should ask the Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs whether the Government had any information of intended restraints upon missionaries and others in China, and of the treatment of Christian converts; and whether instructions had been sent to the Government agents how to act in case the statements which had been made to that effect should prove to be true.

The annual meeting of the London Missionary Society was held on the 11th, at Exeter Hall, which was, as usual on such occasions, crowded. Sir Bartle Frere (late governor of Bombay) presided. The Rev. Griffith John gave an account of his labours in Hankow and its vicinity.

Among the numerous counsel engaged in the trial of the Tichborne Baronet Case, now proceeding in the Court of Common Pleas, is Mr. Pollard, Q.C., of the Hong Kong bar, who appears for the plaintiff.

HIS MAJESTY THE KING OF SIAM may not improbably visit India. It is thought likely he will visit Calcutta, in order to see how railway work, which is his chief desire at present.

A GENTLEMAN about to return to Penang advertises for a partner with £2,000 to £5,000. A bank inspector for the East is also advertised for, salary £2,000 per annum.

THE annual general meeting of the Royal Geographical Society will be held on Monday next, the 22nd inst.

SIR JOHN HERSCHEL died at Collingwood, near Hawkhurst, yesterday morning, having just completed his 79th year.

Foreign Intelligence.

HOLLAND.

ROTTERDAM, May 10.

When the members of the Second Chamber dealt with the Budget of Foreign Affairs there was a very long and animated but wearisome debate on the question of our diplomatic representation at the Papal Court. The Minister proposed to maintain that Embassy against the wish of the Liberal party, which, however, afterwards withdrew its opposition. The chapter of Foreign Affairs, including the credit for the Ambassador, was, in the end, approved of unanimously. This question being once decided, much haste was made with the other matters. The Budget of Justice was carried after a short debate, and the Chamber is now discussing that for Home Affairs. I need not say that it has created much astonishment that the members approved the maintenance of the Ambassador to Rome, and it is quite certain that the decision would have been otherwise if the elections were not so near at hand. It is pretty certain that in future Budgets the majority of the members will refuse to grant money for this purpose. Of course this is well known by the Catholic party, and consequently this concession of the Liberals will have little effect at the elections, so that it will do but small good for the Liberals, who have forsaken their principles to please a party which ever asks for further concessions, and is never contented. In many cases the elections will be a dismal exhibition of violence, insincerity, and folly, and, indeed, the influence of the priests must be enormous, or the attractions of a seat in Parliament must be overpowering, when candidates holding respectable positions in society can lower themselves to purchase their seats by obeying the dictates of lay and clerical demagogues. The extravagance of the printed declarations has already reached a point which it seems scarcely possible to pass. Indeed, the coming election struggle will be like its predecessors, the Liberals having to fight against a league composed of Catholic Clericals, Conservatives, and Orthodox Protestants.

Rumours are again rife in political circles that the ex-Minister of the Colonial department, Mr. Loudon, will be appointed Governor-General of Java when Mr. Myer repatriates. He was for some days at the Royal seat, het Loo, with the King, and it is said that this visit related to his appointment. On the other hand, however, the name of Mr. Fransen van de Putte is still heard of as that of the future Governor. Nothing more has transpired about the marriage of our Prince of Orange with the daughter of the Russian Czar. The Prince, who was received in St. Petersburg with unusual ceremony, will in a few days have returned to the Hague.

Contrary to general expectations the liquidation project of the managers of the Oost Indische Maatschappij van Lyfrenten was approved of by a meeting of the creditors, only seven out of 160 votes being recorded against it. The only alteration made was that the holders of annuities will receive seventy-five per cent.

The Willem III. will leave on the 15th inst. with a number of passengers for Java. It is advertised to day that letters can be forwarded by this steamer at 20 cents (four pence) for 15 grammes, and printed pieces and samples not exceeding 40 grammes at 5 cents (one penny). The voyage is to be made in fifty days.

This evening a meeting is to be held of shareholders in the Rotterdam Bank.

Some days ago a general promotion took place in the army.

MEETING OF THE ROTTERDAM BANK.

The annual general meeting of shareholders in the Bank of Rotterdam was held yesterday. The report of directors and commissioners, previously published, gave rise to no discussion. In the place of Messrs. Plate and Pincoffs, commissioners, who according to the statute could not be re-elected this year, Messrs. I. C. Burlage and T. Miers were appointed. As members of the committee charged for the following two years with the revision of the balance-sheet were elected Messrs. I. C. Verniers van der Laeff, A. Milders, and R. Baelde, and as their substitutes Messrs. J. W. Anthony, H. I. L. Minderop, and M. Kohler. The declared dividend of f.2 per share will be payable immediately.

One of the shareholders expressed the thanks of the assembly to Messrs. Plate and Pincoffs for the eminent services rendered to the bank under difficult circumstances.

Mr. Plate, in reply, said that he left his post with the conviction that the management of the bank was in the hands of gentlemen who had proved to be able to restore it to a sound and prosperous position. Mr. Pincoffs added that this good position of the bank was chiefly to be attributed to the knowledge, zeal, and the honest principles of the actual board of directors. He hoped that the board would continue in the same way, and he foresaw a splendid future for it. The assembly joined by acclamation in the thanks expressed to the directors. Mr. Muller, president of the board of directors, expressed in the name of the board his warmest thanks for the feelings shown by the shareholders. He believed that the progress which the bank had made was in great part due to the very efficient co-operation of the commissioners, and to the very gratifying confidence shown by the commerce of Rotterdam in the bank. He felt sure that the bank, continuing to develop itself upon the same principle as now, would prove to be an institution alike profitable to Rotterdam and to the shareholders.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

The same want of activity which has characterised our produce markets of late continues to prevail. Coffee, however, has been selling to a fair extent, but at somewhat easier prices. The trade in Tobacco and Indigo has also been pretty buoyant, whilst the large Tea sales at Amsterdam have been attended with a favourable issue. Sugar has assumed a dull tone, and prices have declined, while the same remark applies to Cotton. Most of the other leading articles remain much in the same position as described in my last.

COFFEE.—A fair demand has prevailed for Java, belonging to the late public sale of the Trading Company, in addition to which sales have also been making pretty currently, though at somewhat reduced rates, of parcels of private importation. The following shipments have changed hands:—3,542 b. Padang, ex Magdalena; 549 b. Java, ex Grondwet; 950 b. do., ex Asta; 800 b. do., ex Cappera; 381 bags do., ex do.; 324 b. do., ex Sophia Koningin der Nederlanden; 1,754 b. do., ex Henrietta Adriana; 1,070 b. do., ex Anna and Sophia; 835 b. do., ex Pride of England; 1,000 b. Padang, ex Magdalena; 4,105 b. Macassar, ex Catharina Elisabeth.

TEA.—The public sales of Java, held at Amsterdam on the 4th and 5th inst., went off very currently. The whole quantity put up at the same met ready buyers at full prices, except 20 lots Souchong and 70 lots Pekoe, which have been bought in, owing to the elevated pretensions of the holders.

SUGAR.—No transactions of note are reported, either in raw or refined. The market looks very quiet in anticipation of the approaching Trading Company's public sale, which will take place here on the 23rd inst., and will comprise about 59,600 casks Java stored in different ports.

A lot of China, viz., 242/4 chests extra superfine Lapsang Souchong was sold at 108c. to 113c. The Windermere has arrived here from Foo-chow with a cargo for our market of 4,294/4 and 5,418/12 chests.

DRUGS.—Camphor remains dull for want of buyers. Cubebs unaltered, highest quotations 11c. Long Pepper nominal at 27c. Cassia Fistula f.64. Small lots of Vanilla meet buyers occasionally at from f.8 to f.18, according to quality. Preserved Ginger is offered at 70c. Oil of Cassia f.24. Gum Benjamin unaltered, the market value ranging from 85c. to 100c. Japan Wax has been rather more enquired after. Assortment A is worth f.44, and B f.42. Gutta-percha remains neglected. Batavia: India Rubber of fine quality is quoted f.130 to f.132. Gum Damar enjoys but little demand, and is offered at 37c.

TIN.—With the exception of small sales of Banca on the spot, at f.76, no business worth notice has been doing.

COCOA-NUT OIL.—Has changed hands at f.30 for Coehin, and at f.26 for Ceylon.

SHIPPING.

ARRIVALS.—May 4, at Brouwershaven, from Pasaroelang, County of Stirling, Lourens Coster; 8, at Brouwershaven, from Sourabaya, Maria Elizabeth; 9, at Brouwershaven, from Foo-chow-Foo, Windermere.

DEPARTURES.—May 3, from Brouwershaven, for Batavia, Utrecht; for Sourabaya, Willem Kroonprins der Nederlanden; for Rangoon, China; from Texel, for Batavia, Christina; 5, at Texel, for Batavia, Louise, Kanagawa, Insulinde; for Samarang, Elizabeth; for Sourabaya, Aurora; 6, from Texel, for Padang, Jan van Brakel; 8, from Texel, for Batavia, Staatsraad van Ewyck; from Zierikzee, for Batavia, Haamstedt; 9, from Texel, for Batavia, Amstelroom; for Singapore, Vesta.

PASSENGERS OUTWARD.—For Java, per Christina: Mr. M. F. Luitjes, Mr. van der Meer Mohr and family. Per Utrecht: Messrs. J. J. de Graaf and family, J. L. L. van Leeuwen and family, D. L. H. E. Keus, E. MR. WHITE ON THE POSTAL SERVICE.

It is a novel and unexpected sensation for us to differ with Mr. WHITE. We have often admired the broad views and earnest reasoning of the hon. member for Brighton, and we are therefore the more surprised to find him giving utterance to opinions which are altogether behind the age, and inconsistent with the expansion of the trade and prosperity of the dependency in which he was so long interested. But nemo semper sapit—it is not given to any one to be right always, as the proverb tells us—and we must therefore suppose that it was under some temporary eclipse of reason that Mr. WHITE inveighed against the extravagance of the Government in paying a subsidy for carrying the correspondence of his old friends, whom he described as "the wealthy merchants, the favoured officials, and the well-to-do people who live in or write to India, China, Japan, and the West Indies." Surely Mr. WHITE does not require to be reminded at this time of day that the interests really involved in cheap postage between England and the Colonies are not those alone of the merchants who write, but, in a far greater degree, those of our working population, which draws its support from the wages for producing the goods they pioneer new markets for? Surely Mr. WHITE must remember that every new step in postal reform, i.e., reduction, was never opposed except by such extinct authorities as the late Colonel SIBTHORPE (Punch's "Sibby" twenty-five years ago), and Mr. ALFRED BUNN, manager of Drury Lane Theatre, and other such rabid and bygone "protectionists." Surely Mr. WHITE must admit that step by step, as postage has been cheapened, trade has increased, and, what is more to his present apparent purpose, the Post-office has been most speedily recouped for its risk. And therefore for these and other reasons, quas enumerare longum esset, we think Mr. WHITE will shrink from pressing the arguments he was rash enough to enunciate on the occasion of Mr. SEELEY'S motion to reduce the rate of postage between England and America at the expense of that between England and the East. By all means let the postage between England and America be reduced, say we; but let the postage between England and China and India be reduced, pari passu.

JAPAN, PAST AND PRESENT.

If civilisation be correctly defined as the practical idea of the greatest activity and the best possible organisation of society so as to bring about the continual advancement of that society in peace, wealth, and prosperity, and the improvement of its members in their individual capacity, it is scarcely possible to find in the history of the world any nation which has made such rapid progress as the Japanese have accomplished in the course of a single generation. Twenty years ago the Government and the laws of Japan were less favourable to intercourse with foreigners than those of any other country on the globe, China not excepted. The Dutch residents, like the Chinese, were shut up in a small island; and the latter were only occasionally allowed to visit a temple in Nagasaki. If foreigners who then arrived in the ports, after a delay of many days and even weeks, obtained permission to set foot on shore, a small spot of ground was assigned to them, enclosed with strong palisades—and they were shut up in what was, in everything but the name, a prison. In the course of twenty years the change is something marvellous. The Japanese adopt the inventions of the West almost as soon as they are discovered, and certainly as soon as they are communicated to them. Their hills are rapidly becoming a network of telegraph wires; their plains intersected by railways; their coinage is about to issue from a new mint, and their arms to be manufactured in a new arsenal—and all this is performed by their own Government, which, so far from now resisting the presence of foreigners, actually invites the most competent Europeans to superintend the works. Twenty years ago we believe no pure Japanese had ever visited England; now they send the flower of their young nobility to this and other countries in pursuit of education, which is the very soul of civilisation. Twenty years ago an Englishman's life would assuredly have been sacrificed if he ventured beyond the narrow limits to which he was restricted; now we find the Government punishing with incredible severity an attack upon two European residents. In the benefits of this astounding change all the world has a share, and certainly no envy can mingle with our admiration of this remarkable people, even when we try to contemplate the unbounded prosperity of the future which seems to lie before them. In no part of the world was agriculture ever carried to a higher degree of perfection than in Japan. In a short time we may expect to see the various agricultural machines of Messrs. RANSOME and SIMS introduced. Japan, as we have recently shown, also abounds in mineral wealth; and its manufactures are already sufficiently well known to give some idea of the surprising ingenuity of the natives. With such advantages, and the earnest desire to make the best use of them, it seems no hazardous prediction that, in another generation or two, Japan may become, in proportion to its size, the most prosperous nation in the world.

THE HONG KONG GAMBLING ORDINANCE.

THE Hong Kong Chamber of Commerce, together with the principal European and Chinese residents, have done themselves honour in the memorial which they have addressed to Lord KIMBERLEY, praying the Colonial Secretary to instruct the Governor to abolish the odious system of licensed gaming houses. The arguments of those who supported their establishment three years ago were specious and hollow from the first; they amounted to nothing more or less than the Jesuitical sophism that it is permissible to do evil that good may come; but the system has now had a fair and thorough trial, and the remedy proves worse than the evil. It defeats the objects which it was expected to secure, and it is a standing reproach to us that we derive any portion of our revenue from the encouragement of the most deadly passion that can eat into the heart of a community. It was argued by the promoters of the measure that it is impossible to eradicate the habit of gambling, and that if the practice were confined within a certain number of houses, by collecting together all the most depraved characters in these licensed hells, it would be an immense benefit. In practice its result has been precisely the reverse. It has increased the number of criminals, by reason of the temptation afforded to dishonesty, and it has not tended to the reduction of the number of the police, which, for the extent of the population, is probably larger than in any other city in the world. As for the £50,000 a year which is produced by the sale of the licence to the highest bidder, it is simply an encouragement to the most unscrupulous sharper to bid high for a position which is secretly more powerful than the Governors. Regarded as revenue it is simply infamous—as the Roman Prince said of another tax, "Olet!"—and it ought to be done away with. The Chamber of Commerce have now expressed their desire to find some other means of maintaining the Government, and we cannot believe that Lord KIMBERLEY will feel justified in refusing their request.

BURMESE Ambassadors, Envoys, and travellers labour under two primary difficulties. The first is that, whatever they see, they dare not faithfully report to their Government or their public for fear of hurting the national amour propre, the penalty for which is death; and the second is that their Government are so tenacious of trusting them with the requisite credentials, that it is very difficult to make out whether any of our Burmese visitors come to us with any sort of authority or no. Pending the settlement of this important fact, it might be well to suspend the hospitable impulse which causes an Englishman to invite anybody to dinner who uses the name of a friend. We do not say that Liverpool has shown herself more gushing than cautious in the banquet which her Mayor has just given to the PADEN WOON and his suite, who are supposed to represent the intelligence and progress of Young Burmah; but we must own that we should have liked to be fully assured of the political status of these gentlemen before they were entertained so very demonstratively.

"AULD REEKIE" has taken the initiative in exposing the anomalous condition of our relations with China, and the different opinions as to the proper course to be pursued towards the natives which are entertained by the representatives of Government and the representatives of British trade and manufactures. We call attention to the very able petition of the Edinburgh Chamber of Commerce for a Parliamentary Commission to inquire into our relations with the Chinese, both in their interests and our own, which we publish below. We should have inserted this petition earlier, but we deferred our notice of it in the expectation that it would be followed up by others from equally influential quarters. In the present position of our Government it is, however, felt that it would be a waste of time to endeavour to obtain an adjustment of our relations with China, and the other petitions are, therefore, for the time being, in abeyance.

THE Chinese Circular to the Foreign Ministers at Peking is supposed to have left Shanghai by the mail of 12th April, due here on 27th inst.; but we have reason to believe that Mr. WADSWORTH forwarded it to the Foreign-office by the mail now received. The Foreign-office must have been in possession of very similar information by last mail, for we find the following in the Shanghai Cycle:—"The Tsung-li Yamen has sent a memorandum on the missionary question to the Minister of each Treaty Power. It claims that priests be restrained from interfering in Chinese affairs, and that Chinese converts be not led to think that by the fact of conversion they cease to be Chinese subjects. This memorandum has caused some stir in the diplomatic circle."

OUR last advices from Versailles inform us that CHUNG HOW has had another interview with M. THIERS, and that a French Minister has been appointed to conduct negotiations with the Chinese Emissary; M. KLECSKOWSKI is appointed Interpreter for the Conference. Our correspondent adds that CHUNG HOW and his friends seem much disturbed at the telegraphic summary of the recent Chinese despatch, which they consider likely to place difficulties in the way of a satisfactory settlement of the questions in dispute between the two countries.

OUR Java contemporary, the Bode, seems to be deficient of the faculty of keeping his temper with those who differ with him in opinion. He is equally cross with the Batavia Handelsblad and ourselves on this account; but, as the latter paper is his near neighbour, and is quite able to fight his own battles, we think it only courteous to give him the pas. If, after the encounter with his present antagonist, the Bode should be anxious for another contest, we will try to find time to oblige him.

In another column we give a summary of Mr. MEDHURST'S Consular Report from Shanghai. Although long behind time, its appearance is most welcome, since it affords much valuable information. The most noticeable parts of the report are those which show the gradual supersession of Indian opium by the native drug, and the utter failure of the Mixed Court at Shanghai to fulfil the purpose for which it was instituted.

THE following appointments, which were referred to recently in our columns, have been gazetted:—Mr. W. H. MEDHURST, to be Consul at Shanghai; Mr. NEILL MCLEAN to be Consul at Batavia; and Mr. HENRY ERNEST BULWER to be Consul-General at Borneo.

THE P. and O. Company's new steamer, the Mirzapore, will be launched in a few days, and the Agra and Pekin will be ready about the month of August.

THE SHANGHAI CONSULAR REPORT.

Mr. Medhurst's report on the trade of Shanghai during the year ending 31st December, 1869, has just been published. Mr. Medhurst accounts for its late appearance by the time and labour expended in making the necessary extracts from the statistics of the Customs Department, and our Foreign-office have further delayed its publication, as we believe it arrived there last July.

British imports show an increase from Tls. 46,302,911 in 1868 to Tls. 50,170,685 in 1869. Notwithstanding this increase in imports generally, and an advance in the import of all cotton piece goods, the shirting trade fell off from Tls. 11,642,410 in 1868 to Tls. 10,020,769 in 1869, the decrease being principally in grey shirtings, and attributable to heavy stocks in hand at the end of the former year. The fallings off in shirtings is however more than compensated by the advance in T-cloths. Drills and sheetings show a large increase. Woollen goods as a whole show an increased importation during 1869 of about Tls. 200,000; sales, however, have by no means kept pace with the importation. Metals made encouraging progress, the total value being Tls. 2,113,820, against Tls. 1,463,632 for 1868. The remarkable increase in the imports of yellow metal is explained by the extension of the shipbuilding carried on at this port. The total value of miscellaneous goods is Tls. 2,698,795, against Tls. 1,141,625 for 1868. Coals show a falling off. Needles also show a falling off of Tls. 60,000 as compared with the previous year. The importation of Indian and colonial produce is estimated at an aggregate value of Tls. 20,495,551, against Tls. 20,270,115 in the previous year. Although this exhibits an increase of about Tls. 200,000, the returns show that the advance is monopolised entirely by the one staple of opium. The trade in opium has, however, been very seriously affected by the competition of the native drug, and Mr. Medhurst considers it absolutely necessary that, to meet the native competition, Indian opium must by some means be placed in the consumer's hands at a cheaper cost. The value of imports from other than British ports bears the same proportion to those essentially British that it did in the previous year.

In British exports silk decreased from Tls. 15,488,591 in 1868 to Tls. 13,632,097 in 1869, and tea from Tls. 13,475,075 in 1868 to Tls. 12,648,180 in 1869. Although there has been this falling off in amount, these trades have been profitable, and generally the transactions of the year have resulted in favour of shippers.

The number and tonnage of British vessels show a decline. In 1868, 453 British ships entered the port; in 1869 only 310. In 1868, 492 cleared outwards; in 1869 only 405. The direct trade between Great Britain and China has, however, notably increased in the last three years. Foreign shipping has not sustained any decrease.

The total duties collected on import, export, and tonnage dues during 1869 amounted to Tls. 2,662,244, or Tls. 160,808 in excess of 1868. Transit duties seem to be decreased about one-fifth.

CHINKIANG.

From Chinkiang Mr. Stronach reports an increase of imports during 1869 of 7,579,637 Chinkiang taels, of 6s. 1d. per tael. The small exports retrograded still further, showing a decrease of £34,000.

FORMOSA.

The shipping increased from 99 vessels in 1868 to 131 in 1869. Mr. Hewlett reports the increase of the import trade at Taiwan, from £194,429 in 1868 to £285,149 in 1869, and of the export trade from £211,237 in 1868 to £245,866 in 1869. From Tamsuy Mr. Gregory reports a great falling off in British shipping as compared with 1868, though it still compares favourably with some previous years. In exports tea has taken the first place, though the trade is still small. In imports there is a good increase in Manchester goods.

Mr. Gregory draws particular attention to the failure of the Ta-lam-o project. This was a scheme for the establishment of a little colony or settlement, for agricultural and other purposes, at a place called Ta-lam-o, in the wild Aborigines' territory, on the east coast of Formosa, a few miles below Saw-o-Bay. The subordinate settlers were Kabaran people, or "Pepoes," aborigines, but subject to Chinese rule. The immediate leader was a British subject, and he was supported with funds, &c., by a non-British mercantile resident. The settlement was commenced in 1868. The project was a hazardous one, and was not well conducted. It would probably have failed had it been let alone, but it was brought to a somewhat speedier end by the interposition of authority. In October, 1869, the British subject above-mentioned (who had already become bankrupt) took his final departure from the place, with his people, to the number of thirty-four. Their boat was driven to the southward by a gale, and was wrecked near the south end of Formosa, and the leader and about half of his party unfortunately lost their lives. The mercantile resident who was concerned in the matter has since become insolvent.

THE MIXED COURT AT SHANGHAI.

Mr. Medhurst concludes his Report with a statement from Mr. R. J. Forrest, Acting Vice-Consul and Assessor, which exposes the unsatisfactory condition and effect of the Mixed Court of Shanghai. The writer describes the allowance of Tls. 500 per month, granted by the Taoutai for the support of this hybrid institution, as entirely inadequate. Out of that sum the magistrate has to support a staff of writers, interpreters, grooms, &c., in all not less than fifty in number. The natives cannot, of course, be relied upon. The foreign assessor alone can be trusted to take impartial notes, and he is compelled to do the work of sheriff and mandarin, in addition to his own, before he can bring a culprit to justice. Mr. Forrest says, "In fact, I may briefly record my opinion that the Chinese authorities here evince no desire whatever to do justice to foreigners in civil or criminal actions. With them a claim against a native, whatever be its merits, is a thing to be resisted and opposed; and as they have found from experience that such opposition has hitherto met with remarkable success, it will be continued until events compel the mandarins to do justice to foreigners, or the latter, in despair, will refuse to advance claims against natives. As matters now stand, it is simply impossible to recover sums amounting to more than £50, even if a judgment is recorded for the plaintiffs." In criminal trials the failure of justice is even more deplorable; and a radical change in the constitution of the Court seems imperatively called for.

PETITION TO THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The Petition of the Chamber of Commerce and Manufactures of the City of Edinburgh, incorporated by Royal Charter,

Humbly sheweth,—

That it is of the greatest importance that our political and commercial relations with the Empire of China, embracing as it is believed one-third of the population of the globe, should be put on a satisfactory footing.

That the Treaty of Tientsin concluded between this country and China, provided for its revision in 1870; but that the convention for that purpose, agreed to between H.M.'s representative at Peking and the representative of the Emperor of China, having been considered very objectionable in several respects by British residents in China and by mercantile bodies in this country, was disallowed by H.M.'s Government.

That as seen in the matter of that convention, and in other questions which have arisen, there is a great divergence of opinion between the official representatives of Great Britain at Peking and the body of British residents at the various ports, merchants, missionaries, and others, including, as your petitioners are given to understand, H.M.'s Consuls also.

That outrages of the most serious character have been perpetrated on the persons and property of foreigners during the last two or three years at Formosa, Chefoo, Swatow, Yanchow, and Tientsin, and that a feeling of great insecurity prevails lest there should be a repetition and extension of these outrages.

That, after repeated attempts to encourage commercial intercourse with China, by the reduction of duties on articles of Chinese produce and other measures, our exports to that country of British manufactures and produce are very insignificant, considering the number of its inhabitants, their industrious and mercantile disposition, and the immense resources of the country.

That at the present time there are resident in the United Kingdom a large number of official men, merchants, and missionaries personally intimately acquainted with Chinese affairs, some of whom have travelled over large districts of China, and whose information would be of much value to Government and the Legislature.

That, for these and other reasons, and with a view of putting our political and commercial relations with China on a better footing, it is highly expedient that a select committee should be nominated by your honourable House, for the purpose of inquiring into the present state of these relations, and more especially—

1. Whether the Legation at Peking has on the whole been beneficial to British interests or otherwise; and whether, in the discharge of his duty as superintendent of trade, H.M. representative there should or not spend a certain portion of the year in visitation of the various treaty ports.

2. Whether it is not advisable to require that the representative of H.M. be received in China as the representative of a Sovereign of equal dignity with the Emperor to whom he is accredited, and so to remove the appearance of giving any countenance to the tributary character in which foreign ministers are made to appear, according to Chinese theory.

3. Into the causes of the various attacks on foreigners since 1860, and whether they are in any way connected with the understood and subsequently declared policy of H.M. Government to refer all cases of complaint to the Chinese Central Government; and whether the opposition to foreigners is general, or confined to a particular class or classes.

4. Whether any complaints of loss or damage by breaches of treaty, &c., have been made to the Central Government, and what redress has been obtained from them, more especially whether, in the appeal to them in the cases of the murder of Mr. Williamson, any steps have been taken to discover and punish the perpetrators; and if not, whether any pressure has been put on the Chinese authorities to induce them to take steps for that purpose.

5. Whether the action of Mr. Consul Medhurst at Yanchow was successful or otherwise, and what have been the consequences in the state of the popular feeling there; in like manner, what were the immediate and ultimate results of the action of Mr. Consul Gibson at Formosa, and of his subsequent dismissal respectively.

6. Whether has the avowed policy of forbearance towards the Chinese Government tended to lessen or increase the occasion of complaint on the part of the British subjects in China.

7. Whether H.M. Government have instructed their representative to discourage the introduction of the appliances of Western science, and to restrict the points of contact as much as possible between Europeans and Chinese.

8. Whether, and how far, the Chinese have kept their agreement that tonnage dues are to be applied to facilitate the navigation of the Chinese seas and rivers.

9. Whether there is any indisposition on the part of the Chinese generally to trade with foreigners.

10. To what extent is opium now produced in China, and what will be the probable effect on trade and the Indian revenue.

11. Whether any and what complaints of infractions of treaty by British subjects have been made by the Central Government of China, and what has been the result of such complaints.

12. Whether Christian missions are inimical or otherwise to commercial and political intercourse with the Chinese.

13. Whether the constitution of the Foreign-office and its agencies is such as to admit of Chinese affairs being satisfactorily dealt with, and whether some arrangement by which special attention might be directed to consular reports and other sources of information might be advantageously brought to bear on these affairs.

14. Whether it might or might not be advantageous to appoint a High Commissioner to proceed to China for the purpose of making personal investigations there and reporting the results of his observations to H.M. Government.

May it therefore please your honourable House to appoint such a select committee to make these and such other inquiries as in your wisdom you may see fit into the state of the political and commercial relations of Great Britain and China, with a view to the same being put on a more satisfactory footing.

And your petitioners will ever pray.

DAVID McLAREN, Deputy Chairman.
THOMAS C. JACK, Secretary.

Monetary and Commercial.

Mr. Del Banco, late manager of the Hong Kong branch of the Comptoir d'Escompte, who has a disputed claim against the bank, and who is prevented from prosecuting the same in Paris by the state of affairs there, recently sued the bank in the Lord Mayor's Court, and obtained an attachment for a sum of £1,371 upon the funds in the hands of its agents, the Union Bank of London. This has, however, been set aside by the Court of Common Pleas, on its being shown that the cause of action did not lie within the jurisdiction of the Lord Mayor's Court, but arose partly in France and partly in Hong Kong.

The Albert Insurance Bill, promoted by the Reconstruction Committee, for referring all its affairs to the arbitration of Lord Cairns, has finally passed the Committees of both Houses of Parliament. The effect will be to put an end to the existing costly liquidation in Chancery, and to secure a prompt settlement of all the complicated interests concerned.

The liquidator of the Oriental Hotels Company (Limited), having sold the Cairo Hotel to the Viceroy of Egypt, has given notice that he is prepared to pay off the 6 per cent. debentures in full and 16s. in the pound of the 12 per cent. debentures secured on the property, together with arrears of interest.

The export of shirtings for April has again reached the heavy total of 35,154,013 yards to Shanghai, and to Hong Kong 10,356,198 yards, but there is a decided check established for this month.

At an adjourned meeting of the creditors of Messrs. Hoehen, Bird, Cole, and Co., merchants, London and Manchester, it was resolved to liquidate by arrangement.

A dividend of 1s. 6d. in the pound is now payable to the creditors of Allibon, Noyes, and Co., shipbuilders, of the Rosherville Ironworks.

A motion has been passed in the House of Commons extending the duty of 6d. per pound upon tea imported until August, 1872.

The Tchihotsehoff, the first Russian steamer on the China line, made the voyage from Odessa to Singapore in forty-two days, including seven days' detention at Constantinople. This is very promising.

Mr. H. G. Hollingworth has retired from the firm of R. Francis and Co., Kiukiang.

At a meeting of the Hong Kong and China Gas Company (Limited), a dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum was declared.

Mexican dollars of the old coinage are in demand for China, and the supply here being very small, the price has advanced to 4s. 11½d. per ounce. The new coin, which is not liked by the Chinese, and only taken for the Straits, is unaltered, at 4s. 10½d. Bar silver is quoted 5s. 0 3-16d. to ¼d. per ounce.

The amount of bullion by the P. and O. Company's steamer Khedive, from Southampton (via S.C.) to China, &c., on the 11th inst., was, in silver, to Singapore, £16,900; to Hong Kong, £26,150; to Shanghai, £2,100; total in silver, £45,150.

BOARD OF TRADE RETURNS.

The Board of Trade Returns for the month of April show a falling off of £467,028, or about 2½ per cent., in the declared value of our exportations, as compared with the corresponding month of last year, but an excess of 8 per cent. as compared with April, 1869. The only instances of material increase are,—coal 14 per cent., haberdashery 21 per cent., and silk manufactures 70 per cent., the latter continuing to be stimulated by the interruption of French industry. The articles which figure for a reduction are,—earthenware 10 per cent., hardware 10 per cent., iron manufactures 2 per cent., machinery 19 per cent., linen yarn 8 per cent., linen manufactures 3 per cent., silk yarn 20 per cent., woollen yarn 10 per cent., woollen manufactures 4 per cent., miscellaneous articles 3 per cent., cotton yarn 7 per cent. in value and 6 per cent. in quantity, and cotton manufactures 6 per cent. in value and 1 per cent. in quantity. The declared value of our exportations from the United Kingdom for the first four months of the current year has been £63,279,557, or 2½ per cent. over 1870, and more than 8 per cent. over 1869.

The following is an extract from these Returns of those figures which relate to our Export trade with China and other countries in the Far East:—

BULLION AND SPECIE.

GOLD.—There has been a large withdrawal of sovereigns from the Bank, £432,000 having been sent away in connection with the Argentine Loan; there is, however, no demand for Bar Gold for export, and about £690,000 has been sent in since the 4th inst. The Ceylon has taken £50,000 in sovereigns to Malta.

SILVER.—The Nyanza has brought £173,400, the Sarpedon £97,000 from India, and the City of London £16,500 from New York. The demand is steady for Holland. Quotations: 5s. 0 3-16d. to 5s. 0 1-2d.

MEXICAN DOLLARS.—We have received about £20,000 from New York and the Pacific. The demand for the old coinage is good, and the price has improved to 4s. 10 1-2d. per oz.; the new coinage remains at 4s. 1 1-2d. per oz.

EXCHANGE ON INDIA FOR BANKS DRAFTS AT 60 DAYS' SIGHT is 1s. 10 1-2d. per rupee. India Government Loan Notes are firmer in price; we quote the 4 per cent. 92 1-2 to 92 1-4; the 5 per cent. 100 to 100 1-4; and the 5 1-2 per cent. 107 1-2 to 107 1-4.

ARTICLES OF IMPORT.

TEA.

The market for China Teas has been quiet without alteration, attention having been principally directed to extensive sales of Indian Teas, which have been held during the week. The only public sale of China comprised 1,169 packages Congou, which were sold without reserve at steady prices, viz., common 10d. to 10 1-2d., good common 11d. to 11 1-2d., fair 1s. per lb.

It is stated in the commercial circular of Messrs. Jones, Enson, and Barter, that at the Commercial Salerooms, London, on Wednesday last, 300 half-chests of tea dust, called scented orange Pekoe siftings, were sold by auction, without reserve, on account of the importers, and part realised 1d. per lb. It is a matter of considerable doubt whether this article is tea at all, it is certainly utterly spurious and unfit to drink; the leaf is in a great measure composed of dirt and steel filings, and if a magnet be thrust into a sample of the same, on examination it will be found covered with small particles of metal. The Custom-house authorities receive 6d. per lb. duty for this rubbish. Another sale was held on the 12th inst., when 2,938 packages were sold "without reserve." They consisted chiefly of common to good common red leaf Congou, ex Gresham, and Moyune greens, ex Sarpedon, both recently arrived. The former realised 9 1-2d. to 11d. per lb. current rates; the greens sold well, and at full prices for the finer grades. Of 2,500 packages other kinds offered nearly 2,000 found buyers at prices showing little alteration from those previously ruling. Privately there is little activity in the demand, but full rates continue to be realised for most descriptions.

SILK.

There is no alteration to report in the market.

COFFEE.—The market for Ceylon is without change; small quantities of Plantation brought forward at the public sales have found buyers at previous rates, and Native has been in moderate inquiry; the latest prices paid have been—Plantation, small grey to coloury 54s. to 60s., low middling 60s. 6d. to 63s., bold greyish 63s. to 68s., middling 63s. 6d. to 69s., good middling to good bold 71s. to 80s., peaberry 76s. 6d. to 80s., triage and overtakers 47s. to 56s. 6d. Native, small 44s. to 45s., good ordinary 53s. to 54s., bold 55s. 6d., peaberry 55s. to 56s. 6d. An offer of 422 bags Singapore sold, good pale Bonthynne 57s. 6d., one lot 58s., good mixed pale 52s. 6d.

PEPPER.—Black: The market has been steady; at auction 1,839 bags Singapore, consisting of grey and low, per W. Cory and Alonzo, were offered and bought in at 5d. to 5 1-2d., except 200 bags fair, which sold at 5 1-2d.; privately about 500 bags Penang have been sold at 4 1-2d. to 5d. White has sold on easier terms, viz., 100 bags Singapore at 7 1-2d., short prompt, and 80 bags damaged Penang at 7d.

RICE.—The market remains quiet, and sales of soft grain kinds can only be effected at easier rates. About 4,000 bags old Rangoon, per Rothessay, have been sold at 9s. 3d., 8,000 bags Necrausie at 9s. 7 1-2d., 7,000 mats field Siam at 8s. 9d., 206 bags damaged Saigon at 8s. 3d., 30 barrels and cleaned Java at 30s. Privately 1,500 bags Rangoon have been sold at 9s. 6d., and 6,000 bags at 9s. 3d.

SUGAR.—There is somewhat more business doing, importers having shown more willingness to accept the lower prices lately established. The business in East India has been confined to Manila, of which 8,600 bags have been sold at 20s. 6d.; 6,900 bags Taal, at 20s. 4 1-2d.; 3,000 ditto, 20s. 6d.; 600 bags repacked ditto, at 20s. 1 1-2d.; and 7,800 bags Ilo Ilo unclayed Manila have been sold at 22s.

TIN is in more demand, and the market is firmer, Straits has been sold at £123 10s. to £125, and business has been done in Banca at £128 10s. to £129 10s.

ARTICLES OF EXPORT.

MANCHESTER GOODS.

The market has been almost without animation, having gradually assumed a quieter tone since the 5th inst., and sales both for yarns and goods have been on the most limited scale. Quotations show little change, but where business has been done producers have granted a further small reduction. The trifling concessions manufacturers are willing to make fail to induce buyers to re-enter the market in face of the continued discouraging accounts from India and China.

NEW YORK MARKET REPORT.—APRIL 29.

TEA.

The following is from Messrs. Beebe's Circular of the 20th inst.:—Our last report of the market for Tea was under date of March 20th, since which business has continued on a liberal scale in Greens and Oolongs, with but little doing in other descriptions. We note a decline during the month of 3c. to 5c. in Japans and Oolongs, and 2c. to 3c. in some grades of Green. At the close Greens are held with rather more confidence in the future, but Japans and Oolongs remain without favourable reaction. Included in the sales reported from first hands since the 20th ult. are 32,900 half-chests Green, 10,300 half-chests Japan, 45,800 half-chests Oolongs, and 800 half-chests Souchong and Congou. Of the Oolongs about 13,000 half-chests are old crop goods, mainly of cargo grades, and prices realised for them show a decline of 5c. to 8c. in rates current for similar grades at the opening of the year. We revise our quotations for this mail to correspond with present values. Clearances for consumption and export, as shown by the annexed tables, are largely in excess of those to the same date in 1870, and statistically the market is in good shape. But the absence of anything like speculative feeling, and the large supply of all descriptions of Tea to hand just now, checks for the present any tendency to a favourable reaction in prices.

The following are the current quotations (in gold, duty 15c. paid):—Greens (Moyune, Teenki, and Fychow): Gunpowder fair to good, 60c. to 95c.; fine to finest, 68c. to 110c.; Imperial, fair to good, 36c. to 80c.; fine to finest, 43c. to 95c.; Young Hyson, fair to good, 38c. to 85c.; fine to finest, 34c. to 100c.; Hyson, fair to good, 33c. to 62c.; fine to finest, 38c. to 75c.; Hyson Skin, 25c. to 30c.; Foochow Oolongs, common and good, 40c. to 48c.; superior and fine, 53c. to 70c.; finest, 75c. to 100c.; Amoy Oolongs, common and good, 38c. to 48c.; superior and fine, 50c. to 60c.; finest, 62c. to 65c.; Souchong and Congou, common and good, 27c. to 38c.; superior and fine, 43c. to 55c.; finest, 60c. to 80c.; Japans, common, 45c. to 46c.; medium, 48c. to 50c.; good medium, 52c. to 55c.; fine and finest, 57c. to 68c.; choice, 70c. to 80c.

The total receipts of Tea from China and Japan at the port of New York from Jan. 1 to April 19, 1871, were as follows:—Greens, 12,351,952 lbs.; Japans, 5,292,292 lbs.; Souchongs, 1,391,482 lbs.; Oolongs, 7,534,403 lbs.; other sorts, 163,520 lbs.; total, 26,733,849 lbs. The stock on Jan. 1 was 16,748,661 lbs.; which, added to the above total, gives a result of 43,483,510 lbs., as the total supply. Subtracting from this total the exports from Jan. 1 to April 19, 2,227,988 lbs., and the withdrawals for home consumption during that period, 19,641,330 lbs., there remains a total of 21,613,192 lbs., representing the stock on the last-named date. The receipts from March 18 to April 19 amounted to 4,964,139 lbs.; the withdrawals for home consumption to 3,870,524 lbs.; and the exports to 690,562 lbs.

COFFEE.—The current quotations for East India kinds are, Java Government bags, 18c. to 20c.; Java mats, 18 1-2c. to 22c.; Singapore, 17c. to 18c.; Manila, 14c. to 15c.; Native Ceylon, 15 1-2c. to 17c., showing no change from those of our last issue. The market for Brazil continues in the same dull condition which has been prevalent for some time past. In East India, though there is less doing, the market is firm, and prices are unaltered; the only transactions to report are 2,000 mats Java from second hands at 19 1-2c. to 24c. gold, according to quality, and 98 bags Government Java on private terms; the sale is reported from Boston of 2,000 pockets Singapore at 17 1-2c. gold.

CORDAGE.—Prices of Manila have advanced half a cent, in sympathy with an improvement in Manila Hemp. We quote Manila Cordage 17 1-2c.; do. 6 and 9 thread (1 1-2 and 5-16 inch diameter), 18 1-2c.; do. 12 thread (3 1-2 inch diameter), 18c.; Manila Hay Rope, 18c.; Manila Cordage, Bolt Rope Yarns, 19 1-2c.; do. 6 and 9 thread, 20 1-2c.; Tarred Manila, 17c.; fine Tarred Manila Lath Yarn, 18 1-2c.

CAMPOR.—China is quoted 15c. gold (in bond).

ESSENTIAL OILS.—Aniseed is quoted $2.20; Cassia, 95c. gold (in bond).

FIRE CRACKERS.—The market is more active, and stocks are held very firmly; we quote extra No. 1 whole boxes, full count, $2.45 to $2.50, with no Golden Dragon to be had below the latter price; the sales embrace 1,000 boxes at $2.50, and about 10,000 do. on private terms.

GAMBIER.—The current quotation is $3.85 to 3.87 gold (duty free). HEMP.—The improved tone of the market for Manila noticed in our last report has been further strengthened, and though the market has been a little irregular by reason of the diversity of qualities placed on offer, an advance of half a cent per lb. in gold has been established, with sales of 1,000 bales at 9½c. to 10c.; 2,500 do., 10½c. to 10¾c.; 1,500 do., 10¾c.; and 500 do. Sorsagon 11, all gold, cash and short time. At the close the market is firm at 10½c. to 11c. gold, according to quality.

INDIGO.—Manila has continued quiet but steady without change in prices; the week's sales amount to about 30 cases at $1.10 to 1.25 currency.

PRESERVED GINGER.—China is quoted $3.50 currency (duty paid).

RHUBARB.—The quotation for China is 50c. to $1.25 currency (duty free).

RICE.—Both Carolina and East India are unchanged, a fairly active enquiry having been exhibited at the rates previously ruling. The sales of Rangoon have been 1,800 bags for home consumption at $7 to 7.25 currency, and 200 bags for export at $3.50 gold in bond.

SUGAR.—The business since our last has been on a moderate scale, the firmness of holders and the light offerings having somewhat restricted the volume of trade, but it must also be considered that the late free purchases have given refiners a good supply, and as they now hold all the stock they can accommodate with storage, &c., their wants, and consequently their purchases have been lighter than for some time past. The quietude, however, is no indication of weakness, for the market is firm, and quotations show a general advance of one-eighth of a cent per lb. The recent demand for Manila appears to be entirely satisfied, and there have been no transactions during the week.

SPICES.—The market for large parcels continues quiet, and in invoices we have only to notice the sale of 200 cases Nutmegs at a private price. The trade buy more freely, and the market has been pretty active. Sales have been made of Mace at $1.15; Nutmegs, 82c. to 84c.; Cassia, 31c. to 31½c.; Wild Cinnamon, in lots, 33c.; Pepper, 16½c. to 16¾c. for Singapore, and 16c. to 16½c. for Sumatra; Cloves, 11½c. to 12c., all gold.

TIN.—The market is at an entire standstill, owing to the exceptional firmness of holders, and no transactions have been effected; Straits is held for 33c., offers of 32½c. being refused, and Banca for 38c. to 38½c., gold.

THE HOLLAND AND JAVA STEAM LINE.—On the 5th inst. Messrs. John Elder and Co. launched from their shipbuilding yard at Fairfield, Govan, an iron screw-steamship, of 2,700 tons register and 400-horse power nominal, for the Stoomvaart Nederland Company. The vessel has been designed and constructed for that company's service between Holland and Java, via the Suez Canal, and is of the following dimensions:—Length between perpendiculars, 320 feet; breadth, 39 feet; depth moulded, 31 feet. In the equipment of the ship the latest improvements have been introduced, and nothing has been overlooked which will tend to the success of the vessel. Accommodation has been provided for 100 first class, 50 second, and a few third class passengers. She has great carrying capacity, with light draft of water. The engines, which are being supplied by the same firm, are upon their compound principle, with all the recent improvements. The vessel is named the Prins van Orange. Messrs. Elder and Co. have two other vessels on the stocks for the same company, 350 feet in length. The Prins van Orange is similar in every respect to the Willem III., launched from the same yard on the 8th March. The last named vessel was tried on the 5th inst. between the Cloch and Cumbræ lights to test her speed and consumption of fuel, and notwithstanding the belated weather the performance of the ship was highly satisfactory to all concerned. She will leave Greenock for Amsterdam to-morrow, from which port she is intended to sail to Java.

The P. and O. steamer Indus, built by Messrs. Denny Brothers, on the Clyde, had her trial trip at the measured mile, and attained a speed of 13.3 knots per hour, the engines working most satisfactorily.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT

AND PILLS.—DISEASES AND CASUALTIES incidental to youth may be safely treated by the use of these excellent medicaments according to the printed directions folded round each box and pot. Nor is this Ointment alone applicable to external ailments; conjointly with the Pills it exercises the most salutary influence in checking inflammations situated in the interior of the body. When rubbed upon the back and chest it gives the most sensible relief in asthma, bronchitis, pleurisy, and threatening consumption. Holloway's remedies are especially serviceable in liver and stomach complaints. For the cure of bad legs, all sorts of wounds, sores, and likewise scrofula and scorbatic affections, this Ointment produces a cooling and soothing feeling most acceptable to the sufferer.

PLAIN ENGLISH AND PIGEON ENGLISH.*

OUR readers are familiar with the nonsensical medley commonly used by foreigners to envelope rather than express the simplest ideas in conversation with the Chinese. They may, however, be surprised to find something very similar talked in Parliament, and by Her MAJESTY'S Ministers when speaking on affairs in China. Such, however, is the case, and, if it could be taken as an indication that the Government had so far changed their policy as to show half as much sympathy for our countrymen as they have shown for the Chinese we might not find much to cavil at in the new system. The fact is, however, that the present Ministerial jargon is as Chinese in sentiment as it is un-English in want of candour. Let our readers judge for themselves from the report of what Lord ENFIELD humorously calls his "answer" to Mr. MACFIE'S inquiry concerning the treatment of aliens in China. We give the report of the Parliamentary proceedings in another column, but the Under-Secretary's "explanation" is so short that we may be pardoned for reproducing it in this place also.

The facts are these. Mr. MACFIE, the Liberal member for Leith, a thoroughly earnest man, and a close thinker, whose most heartfelt wish it is to cement the connection between the mother country and her colonies and dependencies, asked a very plain and simple question about China in his place in Parliament—the only place, he it remarked, in which our slippery Government can be brought to book on any question. Mr. MACFIE asked a question about China (which we are the more indebted to him for putting since we believe he has no personal interests in that country)—a question which we have asked twice a week for the last month, and one which, if we are not very much mistaken, Lord GRANVILLE must have asked himself more frequently still. Mr. MACFIE asked the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs whether the British Government had yet received information concerning the Circular letter which the Chinese Government had addressed to the Foreign Ministers at Peking—a circular that expressed the deliberate intention of the Chinese Government to abrogate and ignore all the privileges of foreigners in China, which were obtained at so much cost by PORTINGER and ELGIN—a circular, the contents of which have long been perfectly well known to all the world except those who have charge of our interests in China—a circular which, as we also showed, had filled CHUNG HOW with apprehension that it would strike at the very root and purpose of his mission to the French—a circular which, manifestly copied from Prince GORTCHAKOFF'S recent note concerning the Black Sea, could only be considered as the Chinese ultimatum, and, unless promptly counteracted, the signal for another "little war"—a circular which, though the British Government are still "entirely ignorant" of it, has already borne significant fruit by tempting the King of Burmah to notify his intention to abrogate his treaties too—a circular, in a word, which all the world, except the Power most interested, are watching the effect of with various feelings, pro and con, but all with anxiety, and some with alarm.

Now mark the answer! In reply to Mr. MACFIE, the UN-

* We are quite aware that the regulation spelling of the word is pidgin, but, for the nonce, we must spell it here in English fashion, as conveying a meaning more applicable to present circumstances.

DER-SECRETARY rose, and stated that "no despatch or further information had been received by the Government, and they had therefore abstained from sending out any further instructions to their diplomatic representatives in China."

Now, we humbly submit that this answer is no answer at all. We have no sort of wish to impugn the veracity of the noble lord when he assures us that he has no information on a subject which he ought to be the first man in England to know all about. On the contrary, we believe him severely. True, rumour says that Mr. WADE sent the circular to London by the mail which arrived here two days before Mr. MACFIE put his question, and Lord ENFIELD does not hint the slightest reproach to Mr. WADE for not informing his chiefs of a crisis which he could not but consider most momentous. This complacent "Peer by courtesy" glibly assured the House that he "had no doubt that the Government's diplomatic representatives would perform their duty with firmness and judgment." His Lordship, however, took particularly good care not to state what that duty was. The forms of the House prevented Mr. MACFIE from pressing his inquiry, and he was obliged to be content with this miserable "begging the question," this sham ignorance, this mock confidence, this

"scilicet non vox."

—in a word, with the Pigeon-English of Lord ENFIELD'S reply.

LITERATURE.

Travels of a Pioneer of Commerce in Pigtail and Petticoats; or, an Overland Journey from China towards India. By T. T. Cooper, late Agent of the Chamber of Commerce at Calcutta. London: John Murray.

(SECOND NOTICE.)

Having "broken ground" with Mr. Cooper's very interesting and suggestive account of his late mission in a recent number, we now proceed to sum up, somewhat more exactly than we were able to do at the first opening of his volume, the course and result of his expedition.

A passage in both of the two lines of steamships plying between Shanghai and Hankow—of which Messrs. Russell and Co., and Messrs. Glover and Co. are the agents—having been placed at his disposal, Mr. Cooper preferred the offer of the latter firm, one of whose steamers happened to start at the time most convenient to him. Arrived at Hankow, Mr. Cooper found that the small gunboat lying off the British settlement, was, like many other important things under the present Ministry, "out of repair;" and the French Consul, M. Daboy, whose name should not be forgotten, having refused Mr. Cooper's request for the loan of the French gunboat, which had just arrived at Hankow, and therefore had not had time to be neglected as ours had been, our explorer would have had very little chance of pursuing his explorations further if it had not been for the prompt kindness of Mr. Gower, the local representative of the firm of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Co., who at once placed his fast-sailing yacht at Mr. Cooper's disposal. This vessel, however, failed to overtake Mr. Cooper's friends, and he was compelled to return to Hankow at considerable expense. Here, however, he found that the ungenerous conduct of M. Daboy had enlisted the sympathy of the English merchants of Shanghai on his behalf, and a subscription was raised, under the leadership of Messrs. Winchester and Hogg, to defray the expenses he had been put to. M. Daboy on this yielded to the advice of Viscount Brenier, his superior, and gave Mr. Cooper letters of introduction to various French missions.

This "very number one Chinaman," as the natives called Mr. Cooper when fairly induced with the pigtail and petticoats, finally left Hankow on the 4th January, 1868. His first course was across the plains of Hoopoh. At Chee-sien-sen he was warmly received, and he thus records his reflections on leaving:—

I could not help contrasting the reception my host had given me, a total stranger, and a foreigner, with that which he would probably have received at my hands, had he visited me in Shanghai, when, as is usual with us Englishmen, he would very likely have had to come into my office without the least polite encouragement from me, and have transacted his business standing, after which I should probably have dismissed him with a gesture of impatience. It seems a great pity that we Englishmen, being such a great commercial people, do not associate ourselves more with the people amongst whom we trade. In China we would do wisely to remember the old adage which tells us to "do in Rome as the Romans do," and to meet the Chinese more on a footing of equality.

From I-chang Mr. Cooper went to Chung-ching, finding several Chinese Christians at Chung, one of the prettiest towns on the Yang-tze, who received him kindly. At Sz-chuan he attended a theatrical performance, and for the first time saw females on the stage in China. Here he stayed at a hotel, which must have been rather a comical place, if we may judge from the following account of the manner in which the landlord treated some of his customers:—

About eight o'clock the cook, or man-of-all-work of the hotel, jumped on a table in the hall, and made an oration to the coolies:—"Lodgers, if any of you have not had enough to eat, speak at once; if any of you wish to take a hot bath, speak; if any of you want tea, speak now, for in half-an-hour the fires will be out, and you will not be able to get anything."

The following is an interesting sketch of missionary progress:—

The Sz-chuan mission can boast of one martyr bishop, Monseigneur Dufresse, whose successful labours as Vicar Apostolic were closed in 1814 by his decapitation in Chera-tu; while ten of the native priests perished under the hands either of the torturer or executioner during the four following years.

A more peaceful period commenced in 1822, and in the year 1839 the Christians in Sz-chuan were computed at 52,000, under the charge of two bishops, nine French and thirty native priests. Hue states that at the time of his visit this province counted nearly "100,000 Christians, whose numbers were obviously on the increase from year to year." I do not, however, think that at present the number amounts to 100,000; as to the annual increase, I am not able to give any precise statement.

They are recruited principally from the well-to-do middle class, although in the villages there are many little Christian communities whose members belong to the industrious peasant class. They at present enjoy complete toleration, and, indeed, command respect, while in Chung Ching the numbers and wealth of the converts give them, as a society, considerable weight.

At Kienchow, a fine walled city on the Lin Kiang, our traveller met with a disagreeable adventure. A military mandarin of high rank was coming the contrary way, in full procession, with a numerous retinue, and, though there was plenty of room for him to pass, ordered Mr. Cooper's bearers to leave the road, and go into a newly ploughed paddy field, and on meeting with a refusal, overturned the pioneer of commerce and his chair into the mire. Soon afterwards he met with a bridal procession, which gives occasion for the following explanation of a subject not generally known:—

To understand the equivoque of the go-between, it must be explained that Chinese women are very expert with the needle; and those who are rich enough generally possess a needle stone, a little article somewhat like a razor-strop. On one side they sharpen their needle, and on the other there is a piece of oiled cloth, on which they grease their needle, to keep it from rusting, and make it work smoothly. This little article is considered a necessary possession by all ladies. The poor women, however, who do not possess them, rub their needles on their noses, instead of the strop; hence the term "needle-stone," as applied to a woman's nose.

On the way from Chen-tu to Hsien ky our traveller passed through Satzow, a place extremely rich in minerals, coal, iron, lead, and copper, especially. The greatest source of wealth to the city and surrounding districts is, however, the brick tea, which gives employment to thousands of persons.

I never had the opportunity of witnessing the process by which the tea is made into the exceedingly hard bricks which find their way to Thibet; and so great is the jealousy with which the monopoly is guarded, that even bribes failed to procure permission to enter the warehouses where tea is packed for exportation. I am indebted to my landlord for the following imperfect description. The first quality is gathered in June or July, or shortly after the commencement of the summer rains in the end of May, when the leaf is about an inch long; when gathered it is spread in the sun till slightly withered, and then rolled with the hand until moist from the exudation of the sap. In this state it is rolled into balls about the size of a large teacup, and laid up until it ferments. It is then ready for the wooden brick-moulds, which are made with the ends movable, and fastened by pegs. The moulds, when filled, are dried over charcoal fires, until the tea is baked into a tough solid mass. When taken from the moulds the bricks are ready for delivery to the merchants. By them they are enveloped in peculiar yellow paper covers, bearing a Government stamp, and the trade mark of the exporter, and are packed in baskets four feet long, weighing about twenty pounds.

These baskets sell for about fifteen taels each, or four shillings and eightpence a pound, in Llassa, and the countries to the west of it, where this kind of brick tea is principally consumed. A second quality fetches about one shilling and sixpence a pound; and a very inferior sort, made entirely of twigs stuck together with rice water, sells for ninepence a pound. Mr. Cooper says this kind is only used at Ta-tsan-loo and its immediate neighbourhood; but we think our English readers will be able to recollect sometimes meeting with "tea" which corresponds remarkably with this description, and which finds ready purchasers in districts which certainly cannot be called the "immediate neighbourhood" of Ta-tsan-loo.

At this place Mr. Cooper became acquainted with the structure of a remarkable instrument much used by the devout Thibetans, and called a prayer cylinder. These cylinders are about four feet high and a foot in diameter, and are set to certain prayers by the Lama, who tells his beads during the performance with his disengaged hand. A highly popular prayer when Mr. Cooper was there was entitled "Om mani padme hum." We have not the slightest notion what it means, but the last word is singularly felicitous.

The people of Yunan implicitly believe that the plague of leprosy, to which they are very subject, visited their country simultaneously with the advent of foreigners.

We cannot afford space to follow Mr. Cooper minutely through his interesting description of the journey in Thibet. He went from Bathang to Atenze, the place where he was married unawares, as related in our former notice; then to Ting-lan, where he found a fearful insect, called the scorpion fly, which stung the mules instead of their riders, thereby causing considerable inconvenience to both parties by exciting the former to fling the latter. The "mandarin fly" would not be an inappropriate name for the next insect of this kind that is discovered indirectly—rather through the effect of its venom than the immediate smart of it.

On his way to Ya-tzow Mr. Cooper enjoyed the hospitality of a petty chief entitled Black Nose, whose polite offer to escort him to Talifoo he had the good sense to decline, having good reason to believe that the villain's heart was of the same colour as his nose—a circumstance not uncommon in this country—though, here, the tint of both organs, when they correspond, is usually red instead of black.

Ta-tsian-loo appears to have been the furthest place touched by Mr. Cooper previous to his return homewards. He had succeeded in penetrating 200 miles into Thibet, and had become convinced that the nature of the country, with its terrible mountains and snows, would prevent any lucrative trade being carried on between India and China by this route, and, on the 11th of November, 1869, he arrived again at Hankow, having been a year and ten months on his travels. If he did not accomplish all that he proposed to himself when he set out, he has certainly made some valuable additions to our knowledge of the strange countries which he explored, and has recorded his adventures in very graphic and entertaining, but perfectly unassuming style; and his present volume ought to become very popular reading.

INDIAN VERSUS CHINESE OPIUM.

(To the Editor of The London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—On the discussion of Indian finance a short time ago, it was stated in the House that, consequent on an anticipated fall in his receipts from opium in 1870, the Chancellor of India's Exchequer had deemed it necessary to increase the income-tax. Now, Sir, this was a measure exceedingly obnoxious to native merchants and others, and, by adding to existing discontent, was fraught with considerable prospective danger to the Empire. After all, moreover, it turned out that the Chancellor's fears in regard to a loss on opium revenue were groundless; for, instead of sending less opium to China, India sent more than she did the year before; and so, on the outturn, there was an increase instead of the reverse.

The grounds on which Sir Richard Temple proceeded were that China was cultivating the poppy very extensively; and it must follow that the product would compete injuriously with the Indian article—a position which those who have made the opium subject a speciality at once assailed; your present Correspondent, among them, then in Hong Kong, losing no time in writing to the Daily Press, one of the newspapers published in the colony, to the effect that there was hardly the shadow of a basis for such assumption by the Indian Chancellor and those who "crammed" him. The result proves the sagacity of that writing. Against an import in 1869 of 53,330 chests paying duty to the Chinese Government, in 1870, according to Imperial Customs returns before me, there were 58,381, or an increase of say 9½ per cent.; and while in 1869 the quantity of native grown opium brought into competition with Indian was known to be 433½ piculs, in 1870 the quantity exported from Hankow (the nearest consular port to the fields of Szechuen) was only 22 piculs, but 27½ cattiees of that being shipped in the last half of the year, so leading to the anticipation that next year there will be no market competition at all.

The long and the short of the matter is, that an old opium smoker will no more use native opium than an English strong beer-drinker will go to water if he can get the malt. The north of China is prolific in pears, but to the English palate the fruit bears a strong affinity to turnip; and it is only by strongly qualifying the stewed thing with some acid and sugar that it is possible to use China pears in puddings and pies. And just so of native opium;—it can only be used when strongly qualified with an insipidation of the Indian import, and will not be "piped" at all if Indian, Turkey, or Persian opium can be got in any way and at any cost.

Such being the actual state of the case, I do trust we shall see no more such freaks by Indian Chancellors of the Exchequer as the imposition of an increase to an obnoxious tax, because it is pecuniarily beneficial to a certain class of Indian speculators to succeed in creating an alarm; and it is also to be hoped that British Consuls in China will know better in future than, as Messrs. Medhurst and Mongan did, urge some means for lowering the price of the Indian drug in China in order that it may drive the native grown out of the market. Far better would it be to point out that if we abstain from sending opium to China the country can do without it; and that if we can create a sufficiency of revenue by any other means, it will be far more respectable and Christianlike than to do it by pandering to a people's sensuality.—I am, &c.,

Tau.

THE TIENTSIN MASSACRE.

(NEW YORK HERALD.)

A good deal of light has been thrown upon the frightful massacre of Christians at Tientsin, China, by the copious correspondence from that part of the world published lately in the Herald. Our readers have been informed both of the horrible details of that barbarous deed and the motive and feelings that prompted it. It would be hard to find even in uncivilised countries any act more savage and brutal than the murder at Tientsin last June of the ten Sisters of Charity, three priests, the French Consul, Vice-Consul, three Russians, and a large number of native Christian converts. Nor were the outrages perpetrated confined to subjects of France or Russia. The Protestant places of worship, and among them the American chapel, were attacked and more or less plundered and destroyed. It appears, too, that not only the mob, but the soldiers of the Governor-General's army also were active in this work of spoliation. Though the outrage seemed to have been aimed at the French especially, it was really against all Christians and foreigners. When the three Russians who were killed begged for mercy and hoped to save themselves on the plea that they were not French, the reply was, "No matter; we kill all foreigners." There appears to be no doubt that the outbreak at Tien-tsin was connected with a wide-spread conspiracy throughout a portion of the Chinese Empire, at least, against foreigners in general. The attack being made first upon the French, and the native hostility not being so pronounced against American, English or other foreigners, afford no reason to suppose that the foreigner of one nation is not as obnoxious to the Chinese as another. Indeed, the very cowardice and concealed duplicity made manifest in the outrage upon the French at a time when France was in trouble and supposed to be unable to defend her citizens abroad show what might be expected by other nations whenever the Chinese dare to show their teeth.

We had hoped, when Mr. Burlingame came here as Ambassador from China, that the Chinese were going to take a new departure in their intercourse and relations with foreigners, in accordance with the spirit and progress of the age. The appointment of an American citizen as the chief of the most important Embassy that ever left China was regarded by us as a great stride to that end, and full of promise for the future. The Government, people and press of the United States hailed with satisfaction that extraordinary mission, and this fact did much to break down objections and prejudices in Europe and to make the Embassy's path more easy with European governments. There was at first a strong feeling in some parts of Europe, and in England particularly, against making such treaties with China as Mr. Burlingame proposed. The leading English newspapers, responding to the sentiments of the old British party and opium traders in China and India, urged that a more liberal policy to the Chinese, as inaugurated by the Burlingame mission, would not make the Chinese more friendly, but would increase their arrogance and pretensions. This opinion was overruled, however, in a great measure after the American-Chinese treaty was made, and the Embassy arrived in Europe. The British Government and the other Governments of Europe followed the United States in the new liberal policy inaugurated. But the ink of the latest made treaties upon this new policy was hardly dry when the astounding information came of the Tientsin Massacre and of a probable extensive conspiracy in China to drive out foreigners and to deny them the privileges guaranteed by these treaties. Were the British right in their opinion of the incurable hostility and faithlessness of the Chinese? Were the American people and Mr. Burlingame wrong in their estimate of Chinese character and the results of the liberal policy established? The terrible event at Tientsin and the temper of the Chinese people tend to destroy the hope we had entertained.

The chief man of China, the Regent, Prince Kung, who is uncle of the young Emperor, is the same ruler that sent the Burlingame Embassy abroad, and appointed Mr. Burlingame the chief Ambassador. This indicated that he was a liberal minded and progressive man. The world believed him to be so. Mr. Burlingame and his associates proclaimed that everywhere. Are we to suppose, then, that Prince Kung has changed? It may be that he has not; that he still wishes to carry out treaty obligations, and to bring China into more free and close relations with the civilised Christian nations of the world. Yet how can we account for the Tientsin horror? It is known that at the time the Burlingame Embassy was sent abroad there was a strong party in China opposed to it; some of the highest mandarins were. This old China party were like the old Bourbons of France, the high Tories of England, the ultramontane Catholic hierarchy, and the old Pan Slavist Russian aristocracy. All these adhere to the past, cling to the exclusiveness of a former age, and pertinaciously resist any change or innovation. It is this old China party that rose and plotted against foreigners and Christians and committed the horrible crime at Tien-tsin, and, it is to be feared, by the aid or connivance of some of the high officials of the land. The brutal ruffians asserted their expectation of aid from the army of the Governor General of that part of China, and it is known the soldiers aided them in their work of destruction. One of the mandarins urged the rioters on in their horrible deeds. It is evident, therefore, that the Imperial Government either connived at the outrage or was powerless to prevent it.

When we consider that the Chinese Government is a perfect despotism, with its agents everywhere, and that it is kept pretty well informed of what is transpiring in the Empire, we cannot resist the impression that it knew of the gathering cloud that burst so dreadfully over the Christians at Tientsin. If so, a fearful responsibility rests upon it, and the great civilised Powers should demand full reparation for those outrages, with the punishment of the really guilty parties and of the Chinese officials, who participated in or connived at the outrage. They should demand, too, ample guarantees for the future. These demands should be made, indeed, if the Government had not a guilty knowledge of what was going to happen, because every Government is held responsible for the performance of its duty in affording protection to those on its soil and in fulfilling treaty obligations. It will not do to let a few miserable convicts or peasants be the scapegoats of higher criminals. Nor should the present occasion be permitted to pass without making a striking example—without teaching the Chinese Government and people that the great civilised nations of the world must be respected. The cause of France or of Russia in this matter is the cause of Christendom, of the civilised world, and of humanity. A decided and united effort should be made to make these semi-barbarians behave themselves, and to teach them that the world moves. While the great Christian Powers have no wish to interfere with the autonomy of China, its religion or form of government, the Chinese cannot be allowed to stop the wheels of progress. Justice to China in all its rights, and with regard to its independence and internal form of government will be accorded; but it has entered into the family of nations and must perform its duty to the rest of the world. Treaty obligations must be enforced and the interests of the progressive civilisation of the age must be secured. Our own Government, which was the first to inaugurate a Liberal policy towards China, and to show its friendship, should unite with the other great civilised nations in securing these objects. Whatever may be the troubles or faults of unhappy France, she should not be left to deal with the Chinese alone. England, Russia, Germany, Italy—all the nations of Europe—yes, even Turkey, with the United States, should make common cause in bringing the Chinese to a sense of their duty to the rest of the world, and to make them understand that civilisation must advance in the land of Confucius as everywhere else.

FUNERAL OF SIR JOHN HERSCHEL.

The remains of Sir John Herschel, whose death was briefly recorded in our last issue, were interred in Westminster Abbey on Friday last. The gathering to see the last earthly honours paid to his remains was very large. Some time before the Abbey doors were opened a crowd of persons, dressed for the most part in deep black, assembled in the hope of getting good places. About the time that the doors were opened, a hearse, followed by a mourning coach, arrived at the Abbey. This hearse conveyed the coffin, containing the remains, from the Charing-cross Station, where it had arrived by train from Collingwood, the residence of the deceased. Half an hour before the service began, the places set apart for the public were nearly all appropriated. The space in the choir set apart for the accommodation of the friends, relatives, and distinguished admirers of the deceased was well filled. Many of the most noteworthy of living scientific men were assembled there. In the Sacristy were grouped a body of Fellows of the Royal Society, of whom the most noteworthy were Professor Huxley, Dr. Gladstone, Mr. Lockyer, Professor Sylvester, and Dr. Carpenter. As much out of respect for the memory of the deceased as in compliance with the injunction of the Dean of Westminster, most of the privileged spectators were in mourning. But the rule was not followed as strictly as might have been desired. A considerable proportion of ladies appeared in coloured dresses. This piece of bad taste was the topic of whispered remark, and was strongly condemned. In no more pointed way could disrespect for the memory of the deceased, for the place and for the occasion, have been manifested. The contrast was the more striking between the gaudy attire of these ladies and the black silk dresses of the others. The black cloth hangings, around the pulpit, reading desk, and in other places, made the effect all the more sombre, and made the frequent patches of bright colour in the pews more objectionable. Punctually at the appointed hour the funeral service began. Entering at the west, the procession accompanying the coffin passed along the nave, through the choir, up to the altar rails. The coffin, which was of polished oak, was then placed upon the supports appointed to receive it. Meantime the organ pealed through the building, and the choir chanted the opening sentence of the beautiful and impressive Burial Service. The pall-bearers and those who formed the procession were nearly all men of note; many bore names which excite respect wherever the discoveries and achievements of science are known and appreciated. Foremost among them was the Duke of Devonshire, who is not only the representative of a great aristocratic house, but the Chancellor of a University which has given to science and to learning many and valuable hostages, among whom the deceased whose obsequies were being celebrated was neither the least remarkable nor the least beloved. A representative of France followed. This was the Duke de Broglie, who has more than an official claim to be present wherever homage is being rendered to any who have distinguished themselves by their learning and their industry. Other names, which have but to be mentioned to be treated with adequate respect, may be added to the list; such as those of General Sabine, Professor Airy, Sir Charles Lyell, Sir Henry Holland, and Sir John Lubbock. The faces of others hardly less worthy, if less famous, were easily recognised—such as Professor Stokes, Professor Adams, Sir C. Wheatstone, and Mr. W. R. Grove. While the coffin rested on the bier a psalm was chanted by the choir, and then, at the appointed place in the service, the procession was reformed, and moved down the choir towards the grave. This is in the vicinity of the spot where rests all that is mortal of Newton. Arrived at the grave, the coffin was uncovered and deposited at its brink, and the Dean of Westminster, in his earnest and impressive manner, completed the Burial Service. The funeral was conducted with appropriate and imposing simplicity. There was no ostentation, either in the trappings or the adjuncts. The coffin was plainly wrought, the material of oak, and the only ornament being a brass cross on the lid. On a small brass plate the following words were inscribed:—"Sir John F. W. Herschel, Bart., born 7th March, 1792; deceased 11th May, 1871." Many of our readers are doubtless aware that one of the daughters of the deceased saran is married to Mr. Wade, who is at present acting as Her Majesty's representative at Peking.

DESTRUCTION BY FIRE OF THE "WILLEM III."

We lately noticed the launch on the Clyde and subsequent trial trip of the steamer Willem III., intended as the pioneer vessel of the Nederland line between Holland and Java, via the Suez Canal. The enterprise has opened with a most unfortunate catastrophe, the fine new steamer having been wholly destroyed by fire.

In our Rotterdam correspondent's letter, which appears in the present issue, it is stated that the departure of the Willem III., which should have taken place last week, had been delayed. By advices received this morning we learn that the vessel sailed on Thursday last, the 18th inst., from Nieu Dieppe, with a general cargo and a large number of passengers, including 125 soldiers. About ten o'clock on the following night, the 19th, the vessel being then off the Isle of Wight, a fire was discovered on board. The passengers and that portion of the crew who had retired to rest hurried on deck, many only partially clad, ready to render any assistance in their power. Smoke was issuing from a passenger's cabin on the starboard side of the ship, in which were three children, who were rescued by the chief mate and another officer. The smoke increased in density with alarming rapidity, rendering it impossible to remain between decks. The pumps were set to work, and a hose was introduced through an aperture made by breaking the circular glass in the deck, by means of which the deck is lighted. The efforts that were made, however, to check the fire were without effect; and when it became evident that the ship was doomed the captain gave orders for the passengers and crew to leave the ship and take to the life boats, which had been lowered in readiness for use. Lights were shown, for the purpose of obtaining assistance. The pilot cutter Mary, John Coote master, and another pilot cutter, Greenham master, were cruising on their station off the "Owers," and about eleven P.M. they descried lights, as of a ship in distress, about eight miles from the "Owers," and going to the westward. There was a light wind from the N.W., and it was a fine clear night. The Mary, on reaching the ship, found the passengers and crews in the boats, and she received on board 114 persons. A French schooner came up afterwards, followed by the Scorpio, screw steamer, of London, W. J. Hall master, and these received on board the remainder of the passengers and crew. The fire continued to spread to every part of the vessel, and during the morning the masts fell. The passengers and crew, who have lost all save what they stood upright in, were conveyed to Portsmouth in the pilot cutters, and the Scorpio. It is a fortunate circumstance in this otherwise unfortunate event that no loss of human life has been caused by this rapid and complete destruction of a large steamship at sea, crowded, so to speak, with passengers. Many women and children, however, were landed at Portsmouth with their nightdresses on. Some were partly dressed, but with bare feet and without head covering. All, in fact, were just as they had escaped from the ship in the rush for life. All that belonged to them has perished in the ship. One gentleman and lady who were passengers on board, Germans, have recently been married, and were on their way to Batavia to settle there, taking with them all they possessed in the form of general stock to open a store there, to the value of £1,500. All this was lost, and was, most unfortunately for them, uninsured. They are now without means of any kind; nor is this a solitary instance of the kind among the unfortunate passengers. The pilot cutter the Mary, of Portsmouth, John Coote, Trinity pilot of only 24 tons, took on board no less than 114 persons, including 48 soldiers and their officers and families, belonging to the detachment going out to Batavia in the ship under contract with the Dutch Government, and 20 ladies and 12 children. Mr. Coote, the pilot of the Mary, states that about ten P.M. on Friday, the 19th, the Owers light-ship then bearing N.E., about eight miles distant from the cutter, white, red, and blue lights burnt in rapid succession, evidently as signals of distress from some ship, were seen to the southward. The wind was very light at the time from the N.W., but the cutter was at once kept away before it for the position where the signals were seen, the pilot's usual answering flare signal being at the same time made and kept repeated in answer. The cutter making but little way with the light wind, the boat was put ahead and manned by two of the crew, who towed the cutter for upwards of an hour, and until they reached the spot from which the signals had been made, and where for some time now the cutter's crew had seen that a large ship was burning furiously from stem to stern. Several lights were seen around the ship, and these proved to be lanterns in the ship's boats, which were lying off from the ship, with all the passengers and part of the crew in them. Those on board four of these boats—to the number already stated—were at once taken on board the Mary, and the remainder were directed by Coote to proceed to another vessel then seen bearing down to the burning ship. The Willem III. having troops on board, the master of the Mary was naturally afraid of an explosion from the magazines. Some of the passengers could speak to eight barrels of powder or ammunition having been thrown overboard by the captain's order, but no one could say what the total amount of ammunition shipped on board actually was, not even the ship's officers present. Under these circumstances, the cutter was kept as near to the burning ship as was consistent with the safety of those on board, to wait results and see if more life could be saved. The French schooner and the Scorpio steam-ship afterwards joined the Mary. Another pilot cutter was also in company, the Alarm, Greenham, master, ready to give any required assistance in saving the people, and a pilot was afterwards put on board the Scorpio from her, and piloted her into Spithead.

The Willem III. was towed to Spithead about noon on Saturday—the 20th—by the Cambria, a steam-tug, which had run down from the look-out station off St. Catherine's Point. As the fire was still burning in a large mass in the interior of the ship, all decks being burnt through, and the masts clean gone, she was towed upon the highest part of the shoals between Spithead and the entrance to Portsmouth Harbour, and there scuttled. Port Admiral Sir James Hope was soon alongside, and superintending energetically the measures being taken for the suppression of the fire. Staff Captain Moriarty, C.B., the Master Attendant of Portsmouth Harbour and Dockyard, was acting under Sir James Hope's directions, with the Camel and Pelter steam-tugs and dockyard fire-boats, and from the latter a continuous stream of water was poured into the ship up to noon yesterday (Sunday). The fire is not yet entirely extinguished, notwithstanding this continued wash of water through the iron hull of the ship, the remainder of the great mass of coals carried by the ship still retaining a "heart of fire" under the wreck above. As the ship lies now on the Spit shoals she presents a most extraordinary appearance. Her iron sides above the water line are bent out of all their original lines by the intense heat to which they have been subjected. On board the general view is still more extraordinary. All, forward and aft, from the stem to the taffrail rail, is one confused forest of tangled iron. Everything combustible is burnt right out; the iron deck beams are twisted out of their places, broken, and bent downwards as from some vast volcanic effect.

After the passengers and troops had been landed at Portsmouth on Saturday, the latter were mustered opposite the office of the Dutch Consul, the Chevalier Van den Bergh. They were only partly dressed, as they escaped from the ship; but all were cheerful, and their hurrahs rang out again and again as their officers came to the front, or a party of women and children, half-clad like themselves, passed by on landing from the vessel which had brought them to shore. By direction of Lieutenant-General Lord Templeton the soldiers have been allotted quarters in the Anglesca Barracks, Portsea. The general appearance and conduct of the soldiers and their officers at the muster-place were highly creditable to their training and discipline.

The fire appears to have been first discovered on board the ship in one of the state cabins. A child is said to have first seen the flames, and some other person found smoke in a large volume between decks. A hole was cut through the timber planking of the deck over the state room, and water in large quantities poured down; but from the moment of discovery the fire kept the mastery, and spread with astonishing rapidity through all parts of the ship. Some of the passengers speak of "pipes" connected with the engine-room passing through one of the state rooms uncovered and giving out great heat, and pointing to this by inference as the cause of the fire. This, however, cannot be accepted as anything more than mere surmise. The actual cause of the fire and the ship's loss can only be arrived at from the results of the usual official inquiry.

PARLIAMENT.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

MISSIONARY OPERATIONS IN CHINA.

(May 15th.) The Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Lord ENFIELD (in answer to a question from Mr. MACPHEE as to whether Her Majesty's Government have any information regarding contemplated restraints on missionaries and other aliens resident in China, and treatment of Christian converts there; and whether instructions how to act in such case have been sent to the representatives of Her Majesty's Government there) said no despatch or further information on the subject adverted to in the telegram from Shanghai, under date April 12, has as yet reached the Foreign-office, and no fresh instructions have in consequence been sent to our diplomatic representatives in China. Previous instructions have, however, prepared our officials how to act in any emergency or contingency that may arise, and we could safely rely upon their judgment and discretion in the execution of their duties.

(18th.) Lord E. CECIL asked the Home Secretary (Mr. Bruce) whether his attention had been drawn to a statement recently made by Dr. Letheby, before the Commissioners of Sewers, to the effect that 600 half-chests of so-called Moning Congou tea, described as composed of broken down and rotten leaves of tea and other plants mixed with earthy matter and iron filings, had been sold by public auction at the Commercial Sale-Rooms, Mincing-lane, during the last month. And whether, in view of a very similar sale having been made the subject of legal proceedings only last year, the right hon. gentleman proposed to do anything towards the protection of the health and pockets of all classes of Her Majesty's subjects, both by assisting to bring the present offenders to justice as well as by re-deeming the assurance given by him to the House last session that he would give the whole subject of adulteration his best consideration, in order to bring about an improvement of the existing law.

Mr. BRUCE said he had not had time to make proper inquiry into the facts of the cases, but, supposing them to be as represented, he saw no reason why the persons concerned should not be prosecuted by the Solicitor to the Excise. The second part of the question would be best considered when they came to deal with the report of the Royal Commissioners.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS.

BIRTHS

ANDREWS—On the 13th May, at Brooklands, Redhill, the wife of Arthur Andrews, Esq., of a daughter.
LUCAS—On the 15th May, at Richmond, Mrs. William Lucas, of a son.
STILL—On the 15th May, at Hillside-house, near Stroud, Gloucestershire, the wife of E. A. Still, Esq., of a daughter.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SPURIOUS TEA.

On the 16th inst. Dr. Letheby, the Medical Officer of Health for the City of London, brought before the notice of the Commissioners of Sewers the fact that a large quantity of spurious tea had been sold by public auction at the Commercial Sale-rooms in Mincing-lane in the course of last month, and produced various samples which had been obtained by one of the sanitary inspectors. He stated that they consisted of tea-dust and siftings, and of damaged leaves in a putrid condition, and were in fact precisely of the same description as the samples of "Maloo Mixture" which were the subject of legal proceedings in March, 1870. The so-called "Moning Congou" was composed of broken down and rotten tea-leaves which had already been used for beverage, and the "Orange Pekoe siftings" were made up of similar leaves, together with a large quantity of those of other plants. In the scented tea-dust there was a great proportion of earthy matter and iron-filings. The tea was sold to the extent of 600 half-chests, and the price realised was from five to seven farthings per lb. He had been informed that it was intended for country use, and that samples had been exposed for sale at Liverpool. He recommended that the matter should be referred to the Sanitary Committee, with a view to legal proceedings being instituted, and he added that a quantity of similar stuff was now on its way from Shanghai.

Mr. Deputy de Jersey suggested that the committee should at once confer with the Government, to obtain assistance, whereby this disastrous and dishonest traffic might be effectually stopped. Hitherto, he said, the committee alone had been almost powerless. Mr. Bedford remarked that a duty of 6d. on each pound imported must have been paid. The matter was then referred to the Sanitary Committee.

THE Reconstruction Committee of the Albert Life Assurance Company have issued a proposal as the basis of a plan for the reconstruction and arrangement of the affairs of the undertaking. It is suggested that the Albert assets of all kinds should be apportioned pro rata over all engagements on the books at the date of the stoppage, on the 14th August, 1869, and that those creditors who have a better debtor in any of the associated companies should look to such company for a supplemental dividend. The gross liability of the Albert estate can be ascertained, and a comparison with the available assets will give the dividend that estate will provide over all engagements. The Albert assets available for dividend are those in the hands of the liquidators, and such amounts as may be recovered from the shareholders or others in respect of calls and other liabilities. These assets were estimated by the provisional liquidators, in the plan of reconstruction prepared by them at the time of the stoppage, at £421,500. Until the actual amounts of liabilities and assets have been ascertained, it is impossible to estimate with any accuracy what dividend will be paid.

THE fortieth anniversary meeting of the Royal Geographical Society will be held this day in the hall of the University of London, when the farewell address on the Progress of Geography and Discovery, by Sir Roderick Murchison, who retires this year from the post he has so long filled, will be read to the members. His post is likely to be filled for the next presidential term of two years by Major-General Sir Henry Rawlinson.

ON the 19th inst. Messrs. Alexander Stephen and Sons launched from their works at Linthouse on the Clyde an iron screw-steamer of 300 tons, named the Dagupan. The vessel proceeds via the Suez Canal to Manila, where she is to be employed in river and coast traffic, having been specially constructed for such navigation in that climate.

VICE-ADMIRAL KELLETT, the Naval Commander-in-Chief on the China Station, will attain the age of sixty-five in October next, and he will, in consequence, have to be transferred to the Retired List, in accordance with the new regulations.

CAPTAIN S. T. BRIDGFORD, Royal Marine Artillery, has been appointed control officer for service with the Marine battalion at Yokohama, and he is in addition to perform the duties of superintending engineer.

It is stated that the tea growers in the south and south-west of the United States of America are extending their acreage so much that they claim that in a few years enough tea will be grown to supply the home demand.

SIR JOHN BOWRING has received from the King of the Belgians the Star of Grand Officer of the Order of Leopold.

GERMANY.

HAMBURG, May 16.

The German Parliament is still sitting, but the session will probably close before Whitsuntide. The chief debate of last week related to the Bill for the incorporation of Alsace-Lorraine as an integral part of the Empire of Germany; but though the subject gave rise to a great divergence of opinions as expressed by the different speakers, the Bill was passed without any amendments of importance, the only alterations being here and there in the redactional wording of some of the clauses. It is now declared a Province of the German Empire, but is to remain in an exceptional position for the space of three years, during which time it will be governed by a Governor-General appointed by the Crown, but under the responsibility of the Chancellor of the Empire. After the lapse of that period the Province will be entitled to elect its own representatives, according to the general elective law of Germany, who will have seat and voice in the great council of the nation like the other States composing the Empire. The inhabitants are to pay taxes during the three years of probation according to the will of the Emperor; but at the end of the period they will have to bear their share—according to their numbers—of the direct and indirect taxes levied for the army, navy, and other branches of the Imperial Service. They will then also be admitted as ordinary members of the Zollverein; but this privilege may be granted at an earlier period by an Imperial Decree and depends entirely on the will of the Emperor, who will probably be guided in that respect by the conduct of the inhabitants. Those who choose to volunteer for service in the German army or navy will be accepted; but it is only after the expiration of the three years that the laws governing the military system in operation in the rest of Germany will become obligatory on the inhabitants of Alsace-Lorraine.

Among the other subjects of importance discussed in the German Parliament was a resolution moved by Herr M. Wiggers, but withdrawn by him in favour of a similar one in an amended form by Herr Volk, for abolishing the present system of depositing caution-money as a guarantee of good conduct on the part of the printers and publishers of newspapers and periodicals. As the Government Commissioner maintained a dignified silence and took no part in the debate, it was easy to see that no opposition would be offered on the part of the Federal Council, and that the subject was to be decided by taking the sense of the House. On the division the resolution was passed by an overwhelming majority of 221 to 37 votes, as well as an amendment brought forward by Herr Brockhaus, the great publisher at Leipzig, expressing the hope that the proposed new press-law would be published some time before the Bill should be laid before Parliament, to allow the public a full opportunity to understand its contents and express their opinions of it in the newspapers.

Our transatlantic steam companies have suffered greatly from the war, having had to lie idle in port for several months, though fortunately none were captured by French cruisers. The Hamburg-American Company have declared a dividend of 7 per cent. for the last year (against 15 per cent. in 1869), and the North-German Lloyd at Bremen only 5 per cent., against 16 per cent. last year. It appears, however, likely that they will both make up for this falling off by the greatly-increased traffic of the present year, and the shares of both companies command a premium of 40 per cent. The two last weekly steamers from this port to New York carried out above two thousand passengers and full cargoes.

The Commission appointed last year for drawing up statistics of the Zollverein, whose labours were suddenly interrupted by the breaking out of the war, have now recommenced their sittings, their number being increased by delegates from Bremen and Baiden, the only two States not hitherto represented in the Commission. It is satisfactory to be able to state that the exports will take a prominent place in these commercial statistics, so that I hope to be in a condition for the future to give your readers some interesting particulars of this part of the trade that has hitherto been so totally suppressed that nothing on the subject was allowed to transpire, whilst the tables relating to the imports were as perfect as the most exacting could wish for.

According to Prince Bismark's explanations in Parliament there is not the remotest chance of the former Treaty of Commerce between Germany and France being reinstated as long as the present French Government remains in power, as they intend to follow the example of the United States, after the war, and tax their own people to the utmost and destroy their own commerce by high protection duties. But they will allow the Germans to trade with France on the same terms as the most favoured nations. The Treaty of Navigation will, however, come into operation as it was before the war.

The Government of Siam having repeatedly expressed a wish to have a German special representative accredited there without being obliged to employ the services of a merchant as Consul, as hitherto, Prince Bismark, on the recommendation of the Hamburg Chamber of Commerce, has acceded to the proposal, and placed the sum of $10,000 as the annual salary of a permanent German Consul at Bangkok on the estimates to be laid before Parliament.

The Emperor of Germany has granted his Chargé d'Affaires and Consul-General at Yokohama, Herr von Brandt, permission to accept and wear the decoration of a Knight Commander of the Imperial Order of Francis-Joseph, conferred on him by the Emperor of Austria.

COMMERCIAL.

The markets are still quiet, with but little alteration in the values. Of Tea the sales by importers consisted of only 409½ chests Congou, and a few hundred packages of Congou, Souchong, and Pekoe by the dealers. The only arrival was 1,000/16 chests Imperial, per Sea Bird, which, however, are not in the market, having been previously sold for delivery on arrival. Rice dull, and no transactions reported. Cassia Lignea has somewhat recovered from its late stagnation, and is in fair demand at 12 to 12½ sch. beo., paid. Pepper also commands more attention, some parcels of Singapore indirectly imported having been taken at 5½ sch. beo., and Penang at 5¼. Speller still totally neglected, and prices quite nominal.

SHIPPING.

Arrived: Sea Bird, from Hong Kong. Sailed: Frances, to Hong Kong; Cap Horn, to Macassar; Margot, to Yokohama; Aline, to Hong Hong; Paradies, to Singapore.

HOLLAND.

ROTTERDAM, May 17.

The members of the Second Chamber are still occupied with the debate on the Budget for Home affairs, and of course the principal topic is again this year what it has been for several years, the instruction law. The clerical party have brought up their old grievance that the neutral schools of the State have annihilated religious instruction, but all their endeavours have been unavailing. The Minister Thorbecke declared that he would maintain the law, though he should have an open ear for well founded grievances. The majority of the Chamber applauded this declaration, and therewith the matter dropped for the time; but it is tolerably certain that the instruction question will form the principal war cry at the forthcoming elections. The elections for the Provincial States, which took place last week, have not given a very favourable result for either Conservatives or Clericals. In most cases the old members were re-elected, and all the new members are Liberals, and the so-called "national" party has lost the battle.

Notwithstanding that it was advertised that the Willem III. would sail on the 15th from Texel for Java (via the Suez Canal), this steamer has not yet left that harbour. It seems that she is not quite ready; the delay, however, will be only for a few days. The line has been inaugurated with a splendid festival—a dinner and ball, with fireworks to wind up.

It is very extraordinary, but nevertheless it is a fact, that since we have been in direct communication by a telegraphic line with Java we do not get any news by that route from our colonies. Now and then, but very seldom, the arrival of a vessel is wired, but nothing else. The tariff seems to be too high for our papers to publish regular telegrams of markets and shipping as they used to do, when the only telegraphic communication was via Point de Galle.

It is still widely rumoured that Mr. London, the ex-Minister of the Colonial Department, will be the next Governor-General of Java.

Mr. H. M. Andree Witters, lately resident of Sourabaya, has been pensioned by the King.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

Hardly any alteration worth notice has taken place in the general features of the Produce market, the business done in which has been moderately active since my last report, and prices have continued upon the whole well maintained for most of our leading articles, whilst those of Cotton have advanced.

COFFEE.—A fair business has been doing in shipments of private importation at steady prices, but transactions from second hands in Trading Company's Java have been on a limited scale. Sales have been closed of 4,115 bales Java, ex Kortenaar; 2,056 bales do., ex Caprera; 166 do. Bali, ex County of Ayr; 163 bales do., ex Henrietta Geertruida; 3,175 bales Macassar, ex Vrachtoeker; 2,048 bales Java (WT cured), ex Henrietta Adriana; 217 bales Java, ex Auguste, at 32½c.; 452 bales do., ex Sirius, at 34½c.; 961 bales Java, ex Nestor; 365 bales Macassar, ex Catherina Elizabeth; 298 bales do., ex Elizabeth Jacoba; 1,356 bales Java, ex Noach III.; 634 bales do., ex Sophia Koningen der Nederlanden; 1,000 bales Pare pare, ex Elizabeth Jacoba, on secret terms. The Trading Company's May sale will be announced next Monday, to be held on the 31st inst.

SUGAR (RAW).—No transactions worth notice are to be reported, buyers keeping backward in anticipation of the forthcoming public sale, which will be held next Tuesday, at which 59,600 bales will be offered. The brokers' valuation of the Dutch standard are as follows:—No. 10 f.32; No. 11 f.33½; No. 12 f.34½; No. 13 f.36; No. 14 f.36½; No. 15 f.37½; No. 16 and 17 f.36; No. 18 f.37½.

TEA.—Sales have been closed at Amsterdam by private contract of 20 lots Java Souchong Bagelen, bought in at public auction on the 4th inst. The market exhibits a strong appearance, and the deliveries are progressing on a large scale.

RICE.—The demand remains slack, and prices are barely supported. Sales have been closed of 185 bags Java, ex St. Louis, at f.8½.

RATTANS.—The following shipments have found buyers, viz.: 55 piculs, ex Vrachtoeker; 100 piculs, ex County of Forfar; 140 piculs, ex County of Ayr; 129 piculs, ex Constantia; 75 piculs, ex Henrietta Geertruida.

COTTON.—A material improvement manifested itself in the tone of the market during the latter part of last week, when a pretty animated business was done in American on the spot, afloat, and for forward delivery at a gradual advance of 1½c. East India sorts have also been in request, but only a few parcels Dollerah spot have been disposed of.

INDIGO remains in the same position; 40 chests changed hands at unaltered prices.

HIDES continue to meet ready buyers. Sales have been closed by secret tender of several parcels imported per Henrietta Geertruida.

BANCA TIN.—A quiet tone continues to prevail for this article, in which but a retail business is being done, and prices tend downward. Banca has been selling at f.75½ for immediate delivery, Billiton, spot at f.75, and ex quay at f.74½.

ARRACK.—100 casks Batavia, floating, per L. J. Enthoven, and 18 casks Pasaroeng, ex Concurrent, were sold at secret prices.

SPICES keep firm. Sales have been closed here of 30 casks 72 casks and 1 case Nutmegs, 2 casks and 1 case Mace, ex Vrachtoeker, from Macassar.

JAVA TOBACCO.—Sales have been closed of 320 bales Java, head-mark BD; 79 do., D/Kawi; 264 do., Tripa Kawi; 379 do., S; 36 do., P; 118 do., B/R; 157 do., F; 235 do., W.P; 266 do., R/S; 106 do., W.P.S; 107 do., NT; 2,511 do., HL and NT, ex Maria Elisabeth.

SHIPPING.

DEPARTURES.—May 10, from Brouwershaven, for Batavia, Henrietta Adriana; 15, from Texel, for Batavia, Pieter Adolf.

PASSENGERS INWARD.—From Java, per Maria Elisabeth: Messrs. G. L. van Doornum and family; Mrs. Camphuynder and family.

PASSENGERS OUTWARD.—For Java, per Pieter Adolf: Messrs. A. H. Kramer and family; J. L. F. and P. W. A. E. C. Herdsieck; Miss M. W. and H. G. Kruseman.

FREIGHTS.—The Trading Company has chartered the following vessels to convey Government produce from Java:—To Amsterdam, per Pieter Adolf, C. Jaski, 449 lasts, f.74.90 freight; per Flevo, J. C. Strootman, 686 lasts, f.77 freight; per Neu Waterweg, J. van der Valk Dz, 744 lasts, f.77.29 freight; per Insulinde, J. H. J. Jollic, 516 lasts, f.77.42 freight. To Rotterdam, per Henrietta Adriana, A. F. Schuchard, 795 lasts, f.74.89 freight; per Utrecht, J. W. Moller, 1,063 lasts, f.75 freight; per Bastiaan Pot, J. van Roozendaal, 394 lasts, f.75.97 freight. To Dordrecht, per Dordrecht II., C. J. Rotgans, 408 lasts, f.76.49 freight. To Schiedam, per Antje, C. D. Julius, 452 lasts, f.75.97 freight.

Monetary and Commercial.

It will be seen from our "Home Intelligence" that spurious tea is again finding its way to the London market, it having been shown that a parcel of "Moning Congou," recently sold by public auction at the Commercial Sale Rooms in Mincing-lane, consisted of rotten tea leaves which have been already drawn, earthy matter, and iron filings. This stuff was sold to the extent of 600 half-chests, and the price realised was from five to seven farthings per lb. It is composed of the same material as the "Maloo Mixture," of which an unsuccessful attempt was made last year to prevent the sale by proceedings in the Police Court. We learn that the Committee to whom Dr. Lethby applied to put down the spurious tea traffic are helpless, and that without the assistance of the Government nothing could be done. Meanwhile, the "Moning Congou" is distributed amongst the traders, who best know how to get rid of it. It may be comforting to Londoners to hear that it is intended for country consumption, though we doubt whether the Provinces will receive the entire benefit of the preparation. Dr. Lethby mentions that there is another lot of similar rubbish on its way from Shanghai.

Tenders for £400,000 bills on India were received on the 17th inst. at the Bank of England. The amounts allotted were—to Calcutta, £355,600; and to Bombay, £44,400. The minimum price was fixed, as before, at 1s. 10½d. on all the Presidencies. Tenders on all the Presidencies at 1s. 10½d. will receive about 1 per cent.; above in full. An increased demand for the means of remittance is shown, compared with the last occasion.

With reference to the Bank Holidays Bill, which has just passed through Committee of the House of Lords, it seems that, from shortness of time, there is some doubt whether after all it may receive the Queen's Assent before the Whitsun holidays. It is greatly to be hoped, however, that every exertion will be made to pass the Bill into law in time to secure a day of rest for a large and deserving class of the community. The question does not solely affect bank clerks, since many merchants and others are obliged to attend business at the various holiday seasons, simply because the banks in the present state of the law must remain open.

The Falmouth, Gibraltar, and Malta Telegraph Company announce that messages for China are now sent by telegraph to Singapore, and are posted to Hong Kong, whence messages for Shanghai can be sent by cable by addressing them as follows:—"Shanghai, post Singapore, Hong Kong Cable," the instructions being charged for as part of the message.

At a meeting of the Hong Kong and China Gas Company (Limited), held on the 12th inst., a dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum was declared.

The amount of bullion by the P. and O. Company's steamer Delta, from Southampton, on the 13th inst., was, in silver, to Penang, £8,000; to Singapore, £10,000; to Hong Kong, £43,850; to Shanghai, £600; total in silver, £62,250.

BULLION AND SPECIE.

GOLD.—The Bank still continues to be the only purchaser of gold, and about £533,000 has been sent in since the 11th inst. With the exception of a withdrawal of £170,000, sovereigns, there is no demand whatever for export, and all immediate arrivals will also be taken thither.

SILVER.—During the past week we have received about £120,000 from the West Indies and New York; the market, however, has hardly varied, and the demand is chiefly for Holland. Prices remain as before at 60 3-16d. to 60½d. per oz. standard, the last quotation being for fine bars. Sycee continues to arrive from China, and this, with other Doré silver, is readily saleable, the former at 60½d. per oz. standard.

MEXICAN DOLLARS.—About £75,000 in value have been on the market during the week, and owing to the demand prices have improved again to 58½d. per oz. for the new, and 59½d. per oz. for the old coinage. The Khedive has taken £45,150, and the Delta £62,250 to China and the Straits.

EXCHANGE ON INDIA for Banks Drafts at 60 days' sight is 1s. 10½d. to 1s. 10½d. per Rupee. India Government Loan Notes: We quote 4 per Cents. 92½ to 92½; 5 per Cents. 100 to 100½; and 5½ per Cents. 107½ to 107½.

ARTICLES OF IMPORT.

TEA.

There has been a quiet tone prevailing in the market for most descriptions, the only exception being an improved demand for good common up to good medium black-leaf Congous, which show an advance of 1d. per lb. for the former, and 1d. per lb. for the latter, the supplies on offer being moderate. Foo-Chow Teas generally have been difficult of sale, whilst low qualities show no improvement, either in price or demand, being only saleable at public sale without reserve. On the 12th inst. 2,938 packages were sold without reserve, and on the 16th inst. 11,916 packages were offered, of which 7,526 packages were sold, all being printed without reserve. On making a comparison, we find that the stock is nearly 10,000,000 lbs. less than at the corresponding time last year, although the imports during the last four months exceeded those for the same period last year by more than 6,000,000 lbs., while the increase in home consumption in the same time is nearly 8,000,000 lbs. Encouraging as these figures must be to holders, it is satisfactory to notice the entire absence of any speculative feeling in the market, as there is at present a most ample stock of low-priced Tea of nearly all descriptions, and the demand for the better kinds will gradually diminish as the season for new Tea approaches.

Red-leaf Congous: Siftings have sold as low as 4½d. to 5½d. per lb. at public sale, showing a further slight decline. Broken-leaf kinds have also sold ½d. to ¾d. per lb. lower. Fair to good common have only been saleable to a moderate extent, at rather under previous prices. Fair qualities have also sold rather lower. In good to fine and finest there has been no change to report. Pak Lin kinds have been steady at former rates. Black-leaf kinds: Maloo Mixture has been sold at from 1½d. to 2½d. per lb. Low qualities from 7d. to 8½d. per lb. show a further reduction of ½d. to 1d. per lb. Clean common has been rather more in request from 10d. to 10½d. per lb. Good common has been sold to some extent for export at about 11½d. per lb., being ½d. per lb. advance. Fair to good medium kinds have been saleable at an improvement of ½d. to 1d. per lb. Good to fine are only in limited request, and prices show some weakness. In finest but little has been done; the supply in second hands is rather large. Amoy kinds have been dull of sale, even at the low prices current. In new-make Congous the few sales made have been at rather easier rates. Oolongs show no change. In Souchongs but little has been done, but prices remain much as before. Flowery Pekoes remain firm at former prices. Scented Teas: Canton Capers have been neglected, and it is difficult to get offers for the common to fair descriptions. Foo Chow kinds show no change. In Canton Orange Pekoes there has not been much doing, but quotations remain as before. Foo Chow kinds have been steady at former prices. [Uncoloured Japans have sold rather lower. Green Teas: There is no sign of improvement in the market. Common to medium grades continue to be realised at public sale without reserve at very low prices. Good qualities sell rather better, whilst the few fine to finest on offer command full prices. Canton kinds show no material alteration.

The following is from Messrs. Shepard, Harrison and Rehden's Circular. A firm tone has ruled in the market during the past fortnight, and owing to a scarcity of Congou from 1s. 2d. to 1s. 6d. per lb. an advance of fully ½d. per lb. can be quoted; good common to fair at 11½d. to 1s. 1½d. per lb. also shows an upward tendency; but ordinary to good common is still depressed and difficult of sale, imports of late being chiefly of this class, whilst the requirements for home use have been less than in former years. The total Export from China and Japan for season 1870-71 is given at 132,000,000 lbs., against 138,000,000 lbs. for 1869-70.

SILK.

Messrs. Kilburn, Kershaw, and Co. report as follows:—

The market continues very flat, and during the last week there have been occasional forced sales, at a reduction of 6d. to 1s. from the rates obtainable at the beginning of the month, but even at this decline buyers do not come forward at all freely, and thus we have a dragging market; consumption goes on well, however, the deliveries being exceedingly satisfactory. From the South of Europe the accounts of the progress of the crop are not unfavourable, but the moment is too early for information on this point to be of any value. The continuance of the revolution in Paris, and the consequent derangement of business with that city, seriously affects the Silk trade in Lyons and other towns in the South of France, and the general absence of demand for those districts is no doubt mainly the result of this disorganisation. There is a great scarcity of Asiatic Silk in Lyons, and considerable inquiry may fairly be looked for when the through route is again opened. Canton Silk shares in the general dullness at 16s. for fairly good market Tsatlee. Of Japans, sales can only be forced, and quotations are very irregular, and all but nominal.

According to a circular of Messrs. Arles Dufour and Co., of Lyons, the prolongation of the crisis in France has kept the silk market in that city in a state of extreme dullness, with an incessant decline in prices. Large stocks and lowering prices have caused European silk to be especially depressed, and business has been nearly brought to a stand. The prospects of the coming harvest are the main subject of attention. In Spain the rearing continues to progress satisfactorily, especially for original and reproduction Japan seed; native races promising but a poor turn-out. In France the worms are between the third and fourth stage, and give full satisfaction. Cocoons will be ready by the end of this month. In Italy this year's reeling is carried on on a very large scale, and has succeeded admirably. In the Levant the worms are reaching the fourth stage, and rearers look forward to a most satisfactory harvest.

The deliveries from 1st to 17th inst. were 1,715 bales China, 563 Canton, 393 Japan, and 218 Bengal. Total 2,889. Against in same period last year 2,033, 336, 355, and 248. Total 2,972.

COFFEE.

Following our last report of a week ago some improvement was manifested in the market for Ceylon, but it was only of a temporary character, and was entirely lost on the announcement of large supplies to be offered at public sale. Within the past few days public sales of both Plantation and Native have gone off without spirit, prices of the former of qualities below the value of 70s. being rather lower. The following are the latest prices paid. Plantation: triage 47s. to 54s., small 56s. to 60s., low middling to middling 70s. 6d. to 67s., good and fine middling 70s. to 74s. 6d., peaberry 75s. 6d. to 81s. Native: small 47s. 6d. to 48s. 6d., ordinary 51s. 6d., fine ordinary bought in at 56s. Privately about 150 casks Plantation Ceylon recently bought in have been sold at 62s. 6d. to 68s. Of 735 bags Bonthyn Singapore offered, 410 bags sold at 56s. to 57s., one lot bold brownish at 61s. 6d., peaberry at 56s. 6d.; 272 bags mixed pale and brown sold subsequently at 51s. 6d.

The landings, which consist almost wholly of Ceylon, are nearly twice the amount of the previous year, or 950 tons larger, and as the total deliveries exhibit no material difference, there is no longer a relative deficiency in the stock, the stocks in both years being almost exactly alike. The quantity of Ceylon Coffee afloat for Great Britain is estimated as follows:—Plantation, 321,243 cwt., against 297,857 cwt. at the corresponding date of 1870; Native 42,702 cwt., against 30,194 cwt. The quantity afloat for the Continent is 6,744 cwt. Plantation, against 9,499 cwt., and 2,076 cwt. Native, against 4,806 cwt. The quantity of Coffee landed in the nineteen weeks ended May 13, 1871, was, of Ceylon, 11,630 tons, against 9,733 tons during the corresponding period of 1870; of all descriptions, 19,859 tons, against 13,793 tons. The quantity entered for home consumption was, of Ceylon, 3,756 tons, against 3,866 tons; of all descriptions, 6,917 tons, against 6,652 tons. The quantity exported was, of Ceylon, 9,365 tons, against 7,728 tons; of all descriptions, 19,109 tons, against 12,745 tons. The stock on May 13 was, of Ceylon, 12,114 tons, against 12,003 tons; of all descriptions, 18,631 tons, against 18,615 tons.

SUGAR.

There has been a fair inquiry during the week, especially for Manila, prices for which exhibit an advance of 1s. to 1s. 6d. per cwt. Business has been somewhat restricted by the attitude of holders, who, as a rule, are demanding extreme prices. Manila: Early in the week the following public sales were effected: 3,000 bags Taal at 21s., 8,400 bags ditto at 21s. 6d., 1,700 bags Zebu at 21s., 2,660 bags low clayed at 23s. 6d. More recently 33,346 bags clayed (duty 4s.) at auction were chiefly bought in as follows: The cargo of 26,771 bags per Noranside bought in at 25s. 6d. to 26s., except 2,800 bags washed, which sold at 24s. to 25s.; 6,575 bags per Scythia bought in at 25s. Since the sale 21,660 bags ex. the former ship have been sold, good fair to good clayed at 25s. 3d. and 25s. 9d. Privately 3,640 bags unclayed Zebu have been sold at 22s., and 2,000 bags clayed at 25s. 3d. Penang: At public sale 1,300 baskets low quality sold at 19s. Java: Privately the cargo per Chetah, 3,716 baskets, sold at 32s. 6d.

Subsequently in auction 3,000 bags good Ilo Ilo unclayed (washed) sold at 23s. to 24s. Privately 12,900 bags unclayed Ilo Ilo sold at 23s., 8,000 bags Taal at 21s. 6d., and 4,400 bags clayed Manila (duty 4s. 9d.) at 26s., also 150 baskets low date Penang at 18s. 9d., 300 baskets at 19s. 6d. to 20s., 315 bags at 22s. and 310 bags Siam at 21s.

The greater part of the landings for the week consists of foreign descriptions, including 800 tons Manila, and the total shows an excess of 3,100 tons compared to last year's. Deliveries of Colonial exhibit an increasing tendency, but as those of foreign are less, the total is little in excess of last week, and only 400 tons larger than in 1870; the deficiency in the stock is again reduced, although still amounting to 14,000 tons. Stock, May 6, 59,877 tons, against 76,827 tons; stock, May 13, 1871, 61,379 tons, against 75,645 tons. The quantity of Sugar landed in the nineteen weeks ended May 13, 1871, was, of Penang, 306 tons, against 792 tons in the corresponding period of 1870; of Manila, Java and China, 10,946 tons, against 7,888 tons; the quantity entered for home consumption was, of Penang, 1,114 tons, against 957 tons; of Manila, Java, and China, 11,196 tons, against 9,139 tons. The quantity exported was, of Penang, 112 tons, against 37 tons; of Manila, Java, and China, 654 tons, against 1,490 tons. The stock on May 13 was, of Penang, 2,056 tons, against 2,118 tons; of Manila, Java, and China, 26,890 tons, against 33,049 tons.

CAMPBOR.—Has been in better request, and privately some 800 cases China have changed hands at 65s. to 67s. 6d. per cwt.; 100 cases at auction were retired, but subsequently quitted at the figures before named. Of Japan, 205 tubs were brought to sale, and quitted privately afterwards at 70s. per cwt.

COCA-NUT OIL.—Ceylon has been offering in somewhat larger quantities than of late, and is in consequence slightly lower, though there is a fair business doing; at public sale of 317 pipes offered 104 pipes sold at £39 15s. to £40 for usual quality, and at £40 15s. to £41 5s., chiefly at £41; for very fine, of 74 puncheons 29 sold at £40, and 45 hogsheads out of 99 hogsheads sold at £40 10s.

COIR GOODS.—There has been a steady demand at previous rates; at the last sales 43 tons Ceylon Yarn in dholls sold—common coarse to fair common at £24 to £25 10s., low middling at £28 10s. to £29, middling to fair £31 10s. to £34 10s.; 546 ballots (3 tons) Ceylon Fibre sold at £26 10s., sea damaged £25 15s., and 411 bundles bristle at £30 15s. to £31 10s.

CUTCH.—Holders have been less firm than of late, and have submitted to a decline of about 1s per cwt.; of 2,297 packages and 5 tons loose at public sale, one-fourth sold at 19s. to 19s. 3d. per cwt. for good Penang slightly mixed with burnt.

CARDAMOMS.—The offers have again been extensive, but have consisted entirely of Malabar description.

CUBERS.—The market has continued steady, and at a recent public sale, which embraced 297 bags, all were quitted at 25s. to 26s. per cwt. for good, and 21s. 6d. for grey and stalky.

DRAGON'S BLOOD.—Market steady; 6 cases reed at public sale retired; 16 cases lump offered and were mostly sold at 76s. to 85s. per cwt. for middling rather dull quality.

ESSENTIAL OILS.—Aniseed has been in rather better demand, with business done up to 8s. 7d. per lb., but at the close the market is quiet. Cassia is dull, with small sales at 4s. 5d.; 29 cases at auction retired, for which 4s. 3d. was bid. Nutmeg flat. Cinnamon very scarce, and wanted; of 3 cases at sale part sold at 1s. 1d. for common. Citronelle lower, and dull; 113 cases at auction, mostly sold at 2d. per oz. Lemon Grass, dull; large arrivals; of 130 cases at sale, about one-half sold; good at 2½d. to 2½d.

EBONY continues inactive, owing to absence of supply.

GALLS.—Market very dull for China, and 106 cases at auction retired. Japan scarce and firm at auction; 51 boxes realised 48s. per cwt. for fair quality.

GAMBER.—The market is quiet but steady; at auction 100 bales block were taken, and 730 bales partly sold at 17s. 6d. per cwt.; privately, 150 tons block have been sold at 15s. 9d. to 16s., and 20 tons cubes at 20s. per cwt. also. For arrival, 100 tons at 16s. 1½d., ex ship, all faults.

GUMS.—Benjamin: Sumatra 2nds firm, good qualities scarce; of 73 packages (chiefly low) at auction, a few cases fine 2nds sold at £10 10s., and half of the remainder sold at 80s. to 82s. 6d. per cwt. for fair 3rds; and 2s. 6d. to 5s. very inferior earthy and drossy. Siam is very low, and 25 cases at auction were placed, small tear in block at £13 to £14 10s. per cwt. Manila Copal is steady; the bulk of 287 cases offered found buyers at and after the sale at 37s. 6d. to 39s. 6d. per cwt.; for fair slightly drossy sorts to good clean hard. Damar is in good demand, of 239 cases good Batavia offered half sold at public sale at 64s. to 65s. per cwt. Gamboge steady; of 29 cases offered the bulk sold at £12 15s. to £14 for fair rather mixed with dark to good bright in pipe, partly run.

GUTTA-PERCHA is rather lower, being offered very freely, but a good inquiry prevails. In public sale 3,586 packages and 2 tons were offered, of which only a small proportion was quitted at 1s. 3d. to 2s. 0½d. per lb. for middling mixed barky and white to fair middling genuine. A little private trade in white sorts has been done at 1s. 2d. to 1s. 6d.

HEMP.—The market for Manila is still very inanimate; no auctions have been held, but privately some 500 bales have changed hands at late public sales; prices not reported, but known to be below the late current quotations.

HIDES.—At sale on the 18th inst. a good demand prevailed for East India kips, and nearly the whole of the quantity offered sold at ½d. advance on last sale's rates. Of 10,976 Penang and Singapore Ox and Cow offered 9,494 sold, light 6 to 7½ lb. at 7½d. to 9d., heavy 8½ to 10½ lb. at 6½d. to 7½d., extra 12½ to 16½ lb. at 7d. to 8½d., second small 3½ lb. at 9½d., thirds small 3½ to 4½ lb. at 6½d. to 7d., Calf 2½ lb. at 6d., thirds 6½ to 8½ lb. at 5½d. to 6½d., fourths 4½d.

HORNS.—In the recent monthly sales steady prices were generally maintained; 19 tons Siam were offered and withdrawn.

INDIA-RUBBER.—Only good qualities, which are in limited supply, meet ready sale; the auctions have embraced 50 baskets Singapore, sold at 1s. 10d. to 1s. 10½d. per lb. for good, and 26 baskets Penang, which were retired.

JAPAN WAX.—Holders are still firm, and continue to withhold their stocks from the market, so that there is little offering; 45 boxes at auction were retired, but small retail sales are reported of fine at 85s., fair at 80s. to 82s. 6d. per cwt.

MUSK.—Prices are steadily maintained, but a quiet tone still prevails, and the transactions have been too limited in extent to call for a report.

PLUMBAGO.—Ceylon attracts little attention, but prices remain steady. At auction of 331 barrels offered, part sold, small to middling lump at 17s. to 20s. 6d., chips at 12s. 6d. per cwt.

PEPPER.—Black has been steady, Singapore at 5½d.; Penang, 4½d. to 5d. for fair quality. At public sale 5,245 bags Singapore offered, and one-fourth sold 5½d. with 1 lot 5½d. for good; 5d. to 5½d. fair, little dusty; 4½d. to 4½d. ordinary dingy and dusty, of 852 bags Penang only one-fourth was quitted, the damaged portion at relatively full value. Privately about 1,800 bags sold at 4½d. to 5d. for Penang. White, shortly subsequent to our last, was very dull at 7½d., but afterwards the "bear" sellers had to buy, and large transactions resulted up to 7½d., a shade over being bid for a large quantity and refused; 7½d. per lb. has been paid for fair Penang, in auction; public sales have embraced 701 bags, of which about one-third sold.

RHUBARB.—The market for China is barely steady, about one-half of 198 cases at public sale were placed at 2s. 7d. to 2s. 9d. for well-trimmed medium root, good pinky fracture, and 1s. 11d. to 2s. 4d. rather more mixed, rougher exterior high dried realising 1s. 5d.

RATTANS.—Steady: 26,218 bundles at auction, chiefly sold at 3s. 3d. to 5s. per 100 canes.

RICE.—For Bengal there is a rather lively demand, and prices have ruled in favour of the sellers. Madras and soft grain kinds are still slow of sale. Transactions comprise, on the spot, 90,000 bags, low middling to very good white Bengal, 9s. 9d. to 12s. 6d.; fine Moonghy, 10s. 6d. to 10s. 9d.; ordinary to fine Ballam, 9s. 6d. to 10s. 9d.; Madras, 9s. 6d. to 9s. 9d.; Askoolie, 10s. 3d. ex quay; field Siam, 8s. 9d.; Necransie, 9s. 7½d.; and Rangoon, 9s. 3d. to 9s. 10½d. per cwt. Afloat, 2,000 tons Askoolie; May-June shipment, at 10s. ex quay; 850 tons new Rangoon, per steamer, at 11s. ex ship; and a cargo of Necransie, March sailing, at 9s. 9d. ex ship for this port.

SHELLS.—Market firm, and since the periodical auctions fully noticed in our issue of the 8th inst. no transactions have taken place.

SPICES.—Cassia Lignea: Rather lower prices are accepted, as new arrivals offer more freely; only moderate trade has been done privately, and 49 boxes damaged unworked sold at auction at 99s. per cwt.; 560 boxes of the new coarse China Cinnamon have been offered, and a very little sold at 10d. to 11d. per lb. Buds are very dull and lower; of 100 boxes at sale, one-fourth sold at £6 10s. per cwt. for good, showing 10s. decline. Cloves: Penang firm at the recently advanced prices; Amboyna dull; 181 bags at public sale retired. Cinnamon: Steady but rather quiet at previous value; the public sales have embraced only 37 bales and 258 bags Chips, of which part of the former only sold at previous value. Large sales are announced for the 22nd inst. Mace continues very firm, with very little offering. At public sale 17 cases Dutch offered, and retired very firmly. Nutmegs barely so active, and prices at public sale a shade easier; of 25 cases offered barely half found buyers, 79s. 2s. 6d.; 85s. 2s. 4d. to 2s. 5d.

SAGO.—Market somewhat improved, and rather more doing privately; of 769 bags and boxes at auction, one third sold at 15s. 6d. to 16s. per cwt. for fair to good small. Flour quiet; 1,694 bags retired at stiff prices.

SAPANWOOD.—There is rather less demand; of 74 tons Manila and Cebu at auction nearly half found buyers (the latter) at £7 to £8 12s. 6d. per ton for fair to very good bright sound wood.

STAR ANNISEEDS.—Market dull; 15 cases at auction all withdrawn.

STICKLAC continues firm and scarce; 19 cases at public sale held for high rates and retired.

SOR.—Moderate demand for China; 250 casks at public sale found buyers at 2s. per gallon.

TAPIOCA.—The market is steady; at auction the following parcels have been offered—709 bags Singapore, the bulk quitted; good at 2d. to 2½d. per lb., 461 bags Penang mostly sold at 2d. for good, and 491 bags Pearl mostly sold at 17s. to 18s. 6d. for fair medium rather dull to fine small. Flour quiet, and dull of sale, market being quite overstocked for present requirements; 170 bags at auction, half sold at 1½d. per lb. for good bright.

TURMERIC.—No transactions.

TIN.—The demand has further improved, and during the last few days has shown considerable activity; prices have advanced, and now rule as follows:—Straits, on the spot, £126 10s. to £127; afloat, £126; Banca, £129 10s. to £130; Billiton, £127 per ton.

VERMILION.—Prices for China are well maintained, but there is scarcely any business doing.

ARTICLES OF EXPORT.

METALS.

IRON.—Welsh: Rails, £6 15s. to £7; Bars, £6 10s. to £6 12s. 6d. Staffordshire Best: Bars, £7 15s. to £8 5s.; Nail Rods, £7 12s. 6d. to £7 17s. 6d.; Hoops, £8 15s. to £9; Sheets, £9 10s. to £10; Scotch, Pig No. 1, £2 16s. 6d. to £3 4s. 0d.; Swedes, Bars, Hammered, £10 to £10 10s.; Swedes, Steel in kegs, ½ and ¾ in., £14 to £14 15s.

YELLOW METAL.—Sheets, 4 by 4 ft., 6½d.; Sheathing and Rods, 6½d. to 7d. per lb.

TIN.—English Refined, £131 to £132. Tin Plates: Charcoal I C, per box, 28s. to 32s. 6d.; Coke, 24s. to 25s.

LEAD.—Pig, L.B., £19; W.B., £19 15s. to £20; do., other brands, £18 7s. 6d. to £18 10s.; Spanish, soft, ex ship, £18; Sheet, £18 15s., to £19; Shot, kegs, extra, £20 10s. to £21; White, do., £25 6s. to £26; Red do., £20 10s.

SPELTER.—Silesian, £17 10s. to £18; English, smelted from ores, £18 10s.

The following is from Messrs. French and Smith's Circular:—There is but a moderate business doing in metals. Iron steady; Rails in demand; Staffordshire Iron firm, with a fair inquiry; Scotch Pig Iron still advances. Copper dull; to make sales holders have to give way; Chili Bars are quoted £64 to £65, according to brands. Tin: English very firm at our quotations, with a tendency upwards. Lead firm. Spelter quiet.

MANCHESTER GOODS.

The Market has continued quiet and inanimate, and the general business transacted has been on a very limited scale. The increased sales, coupled with higher rates obtained in the Liverpool Cotton Market, have served for the present to check the downward tendency, and the values of most descriptions of Yarns and Goods remain unchanged from last week. The continued unfavourable advices from the East serve to make buyers for those markets act with great caution.

NEW YORK MARKET REPORT.—MAY 3.

—o—

TEA.

There continues a good demand for Green and Oolong, and prices remain steady. Japan has been in improved request, and is held generally with more confidence. The sales are 1,000 half-chests Oolong per Ada, 3,000 do. Green per Argonaut, Anglo-Saxon, and Nellie Abbott, 3,000 do. Oolong, 1,850 do. Green, and 1,700 do. Japan, vessels not named, and, rumoured, a parcel of fine Oolong to arrive. Quotations are unaltered.

COFFEE.—The current quotations for East India kinds are, Java Government bags, 18c. to 20c.; Java mats, 18½c. to 22c.; Singapore, 17c. to 18c.; Manila, 14c. to 15c.; Native Ceylon, 15½c. to 17c., showing no change from those of our last issue. The market for Brazil remains in the same sluggish state so long prevailing, there being a notable absence of demand, and in consequence extreme dullness; in prices, however, there is no change to notice, holders being indisposed to make further concessions; indeed, it is by no means certain that a lower range of values would induce any increase of activity, as the chronic trouble seems to be simply the absence of a demand from consumers in the interior. This is in part accounted for by the great dullness of trade through the country, and partly from the fact that the West is now largely supplied from the other Atlantic ports. The market for other kinds is very dull, and prices favour buyers, all grades being in good supply. Java is selling in a jobbing way at 19½c. to 19¾c. for pale, 20c. to 21c. for yellow, and 21½c. to 24c. (gold) for brown. Other descriptions of East India are inactive.

CAMPOR.—China is quoted 15c. gold (in bond).

ESSENTIAL OILS.—Aniseed is quoted $2.20; Cassia, 95c. gold (in bond).

FIRE CRACKERS have arrived freely, but the considerable receipts have little or no effect upon the market, which remains firm at $2.50 for best brands, whole boxes. The demand, however, is very moderate. Sales have been made of 1,500 boxes extra No. 1 at $2.50; 5,000 do., and 5,000 do., per Maori, before arrival, on private terms.

GAMBIER.—The current quotation is $3.85 to 3.87 gold (duty free).

HEMP.—Manila remains very firm at 10½c. to 11c. gold, being mostly held at the latter price, as the market has been quiet, and we only notice sales of 500 bales, per White Swallow, at 10½c., and 2,000 do., per E. A. Oliver, &c., 10½c. gold.

INDIGO.—The market is still very quiet, but prices generally are unchanged; we have only to notice sales in lots of 20 cases Manila at $1.05 to 1.20 currency.

PRESERVED GINGER.—China is quoted $3.50 currency (duty paid).

RHUBARB.—The quotation for China is 50c. to $1.25 currency (duty free).

RICE.—There is a steady good demand for home use, and the market remains firm, with an upward tendency in prices, and continued small supplies of Carolina. The sales are—1,100 bags Rangoon, in lots, $7 to $7.25; and 300 do., for export, on private terms.

SUGAR.—The market has presented no new features; those of moderate stock, light offerings, a steady good demand for home use, some speculative inquiry, and considerable strength and buoyancy, as before noticed, still being the ruling conditions of the market. The sales of East India have been 9,837 bags Manila, per Endeavour, at 8½; and 506 baskets Batavia, on terms not made public.

SPICES.—There has been more movement in invoices and lines, at the prices previously current; sales have been made of 53 cases Mace ex Knight of Snowden, 158 do. Nutmegs, 500 bales Cloves in bond for export, and 3,000 mats Cassia on terms not made public. There continues a fair jobbing demand, and the market generally is firm at the last quoted rates.

TIN.—The market for Pig remains in the same stagnant position, and in the almost entire absence of business, prices are in a great measure nominal. Straits is held at 32½ to 33 cents, and Banca 38 to 38½, all gold.

PORT OF AMOY.

SHIPOWNERS, AGENTS, and COMMANDERS are informed that the Dock Company's establishments at the above port afford every facility, at moderate charges, for REPAIRING and SPARRING VESSELS, cleaning and painting iron ships and steamers.

Their large Granite Dock has 286 feet length on the blocks, and at average spring tides can receive vessels of 16 to 17 feet draught. It has a caisson-gate and a powerful centrifugal steam pump, and an engineer's workshop fitted with lathes and tools, driven by steam; iron and brass foundries, boiler-makers' shop, a large smithy and carpenters and boat-builders' sheds. All superintended by resident Europeans.

Their two smaller GRANITE DOCKS can receive, at spring tides, vessels drawing 12 feet.

Spars, timber, and other Dockyard material kept in stock.

Quarters for officers and a DRY GODOWN for stores of vessels under repair.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

GOOD SPIRITS.—Every one has frequently experienced sudden personal changes from gaiety to gloom. The weather often receives the blame, when a faulty digestion is alone the cause of the depression. Holloway's Pills can be honestly recommended for regulating a disordered stomach, and improving digestion. They entirely remove the sense of fullness and oppression after eating. They clear the furred tongue, and act as a wholesome stimulant to the liver, and as a gentle aperient to the bowels. They healthfully rouse both body and mind. Holloway's Pills are the best known antidotes for want of appetite, nausea, flatulency, heartburn, languor, depression, and that apathy so characteristic of chronic derangement of the digestion.

Summary of News from the Far East.

JAPAN.

YOKOHAMA.

Dates extend to the 9th April. The outward mail from London of Feb. 10 arrived on April 1.

The following items are from the Japan Mail:—Vice Admiral Kellett has applied to the Admiralty for his squadron to be augmented in China and Japan. With the view of complying with his request, we understand that it is the intention of the Admiralty to commission one, or may be two, vessels for service on this station. This is unquestionably a most satisfactory precaution. England has large interests both in China and Japan, and while the navies of other Powers are in the main composed of large vessels, that of England is composed for the most part of gunboats and surveying vessels. The recent excitement evinced at Hong Kong during the Russian difficulty shows how some further protection is required in the Far East, and we trust that the vessels to be put in commission will be iron-clads of a size and construction able to cope with the powerful vessels at the command of other Powers.

It is with great regret we announce the death of Mr. Lemuel Lyon, the United States Consul at this port, which took place on the 6th April. The cause of death was softening of the brain and fever, probably partly induced by the anxieties caused by his dismissal from his Consulate in favour of Colonel Shepard. We have often been called upon to criticise Mr. Lyon's actions in an unfavourable manner, and although on public reasons the change we have alluded to was generally approved, Mr. Lyon was popular among the American portion of the community, by whom his death will be greatly regretted.

The new Imperial Mint at Osaka was opened by the Prime Minister on April 4 in the presence of a brilliant assemblage of ladies, a few high Japanese officials, most of the Foreign Ministers and Consuls, a goodly show of naval and military officers, and merchants, architects, engineers, journalists, and foreign and native Government employés. The first arrival was the Salamis, with Admiral Kellett on board, followed by the largest assemblage of vessels of war that has met at Kobe for some years. The French iron-clad Alma, and the U.S. corvette Alaska, with their Excellencies Mr. de Long, Mr. F. P. van der Hoeven, Dutch Minister, and Mr. Rodriguez Munoz, Spanish Minister, arrived in Kobe the same afternoon.

FOURTEEN DAYS LATER VIA SAN FRANCISCO.

The Pacific Mail Company's steamer arrived at San Francisco on 13th May, with dates from Yokohama to 22nd April, but the items telegraphed to the New York papers are of no interest.

It is said that Lieutenant Hawes, the Adviser to the Japanese Navy, has recommended the despatch of one of their men-of-war to England, calling at the intermediate ports.

NAGASAKI.

I last wrote per mail via San Francisco on the 16th inst. The mails of Jan. 20 and 27 reached here by the Pacific mail steamer Ariel on the 25th inst.

The meeting of the creditors of the estate of Glover and Co. took place as appointed, but had to be adjourned in order to investigate the accounts. The American steamer Yangtze, built at Shanghai some two or three years since, which left this port for Higo and Yokohama on the 20th inst., was wrecked about two hours afterwards; cargo is being brought up daily in a very damaged condition, consisting of Manchester piece goods, raw cotton, and sundries. The cotton is so much damaged that it is not worth putting under cover.

The movements of the men-of-war have been confined to the Ringdove and the Sobol going out for short cruises. The British brig Lunan, from London, with a general cargo, arrived on the 18th March; the British barque Lorton, with part of her cargo, laden at Hiogo, has also arrived here, and is engaged in shipping the remainder; her destination is London, but it is doubtful whether she will take any outside cargo. It is said that she will carry nearly a full cargo of tobacco; her rate of freight has not been made public, but it is understood to be £2 7s. 6d. per ton of 50 feet. Native coin has declined; nebulin is quoted 404 to 410 per $100. Exchange on London is nominally unchanged.

The North German barque Alida, which has laid so long in port, bound for London, while endeavouring to leave this harbour this morning, in charge of a pilot, came into collision with the North German barque Cadan, which sustained damage, by having her jibboom, &c., carried away. The Alida anchored again and remains in port, but will most likely resail again shortly.

Another correspondent writes:—The Yangtze, which went out about 10 p.m. on April 20, was wrecked the same night. She struck on a reef near Iki-Sima, some twenty miles from this, remained there five hours, was got off, and steered back for Nagasaki; but filling rapidly, her fires were nearly extinguished, and she was run on shore to save life, about eight miles from Nagasaki, at a point on the coast marked on the charts as Oho-Saki. A fair amount of cargo will be saved; but the steamer is a total wreck. It is understood that she was partly insured.

The Courier gives additional particulars:—It was five hours after the steamer struck on the rock before she could be got off. She then proceeded under 30 lbs. of steam, endeavouring to return to Nagasaki, but when within eight miles of that port she so filled with water that her fires were put out, and all that could be done was to beach her, so as to save life and as much property as possible. Captain Strandberg, with all on board, got safely ashore, and proceeded by land to Nagasaki. There the coasting steamer Argus was chartered to go down and save as much as possible. How far she was successful is not known, but the captain of the Oregonian reports, that as he passed the wreck on his way to this port, he saw that the ill-fated Yangtze had broken in two, so that now not all the skill in salvage of her builder and owner, Captain Catchelder, can save her.

CHINA.

—o— SHANGHAI.

Dates extend to April 13th; London Mail, French, of Feb. 17th arrived April 4th, and the English Mail of Feb. 24th arrived April 11th.

The following news is from the North China Herald:—

A short while ago we mentioned that the Chinese had addressed to the Foreign Ministers a despatch asking for a revision of the missionary question. A correspondent gives us the following sketch of its contents, for which we cannot vouch, but which we give pending further information. We have insisted for some time that the missionary question was one of the most pressing with which we should have to deal, and our readers will here see the proof.

"Female teachers, and, consequently, female schools, to be done away with, as interfering with the peace and retirement of Chinese social life.

"No Mission to be permitted to have more than forty-five converts, and these must be reported monthly to an official to be appointed in each locality for the purpose. Boys' schools are only to embrace the children of converts, and then under certain restrictions and limitations; these also to be reported monthly to a registrar.

"All teaching and preaching against Confucius and the received and cherished doctrines and ideas of the Chinese to be strictly prohibited.

"All missionaries to be treated as Chinese subjects, except at the open ports, and to be amenable to Chinese law in every respect, and to be obliged to conduct themselves towards officials in every way like the natives.

"A Christian convert to be nonsuited in a native lawsuit if a missionary interfere in his behalf.

"Mission establishments to be visited by regular officers, and no founding hospitals or asylums to be permitted.

"No women to be allowed to attend foreign religious services, and female missionaries to go home, or at least desist from work.

"In the event of another massacre occurring, the actual murderers only to be punished; no compensation allowed; and no city or district to be mulcted in consequence; land once confiscated not to be restored."

Many of these terms seem based on the charges alleged against missionaries as causes of the Tientsin Massacre; in fact, judging from the information before us, proposals more calculated to excite emphatic and angry rejection could hardly have been penned. A request that missionary teaching should cease altogether would have been simpler and less objectionable. That the receipt of this despatch created some excitement in diplomatic circles we can well believe, and our information says that it has called forth more than one strenuous reply. The Chinese Government have shown their hand at last, and given us a pretty good lesson in play. Hitherto, they have contented themselves with rejecting our claims for progress. Now, they turn the tables, and demand our retreat! Quem Deus vult perdere prius dementat. Foreign Governments will be obliged to take up the question now, whether they will or not.

Our correspondent also writes that persecution has occurred at I-chow, and the converts there, and the owners of the house rented by the American Mission, have been beaten,—as was done in the case of the Presbyterian Mission in Shanse last autumn—and that compensation which was asked for the Chinese who suffered in the Mission compound has been refused to the American Minister.

A Tientsin correspondent writes that no sooner was the Peiho frozen than every workman was withdrawn from the Protestant chapels which the Chinese had undertaken to rebuild, and despite all remonstrance nearly two months elapsed before work was resumed. At length the buildings have been completed, after a fashion, and formally handed over, but in such a condition that heavy expenses will be incurred in finishing them. Not a cash has yet been paid for furniture, the family of the Chinese watchman, who was murdered, or the losses of the ruined converts. There has been no end of correspondence on the questions involved, but very little else. The families of the rioters, who were executed were compensated liberally at once. The family of the keeper of one of the chapels, who was murdered (by mistake, too!) has not received a cash.

From Peking I hear of a very uneasy political feeling, and that a strong feeling of hostility to foreigners is shown by the people. Locally there is nothing particularly deserving of comment; but it is worthy of note that the additions to the Taku forts are being actually made. Dr. Macartney, the superintendent of the Nanking Arsenal, has come up, apparently to advise Li upon the projected changes. No doubt his peaceably-disposed masters will succeed in making the entrance to the Peiho more difficult than it is already, if that were at all necessary; but there are other ways of getting to Peking besides passing Taku. The prospect of good trade during the forthcoming year, as foreshadowed by the present demand, is extremely meagre. The steamers, however, seem to be doing a good business in conveying the plague of China, the so-called literati, to the North, for their examinations.

The Taoutai of Shanghai has issued the following proclamation forbidding Chinese merchants to send freight to inland cities on foreign vessels. The order is, we believe, called forth by an attempt which has been made to run a foreign lorcha to Soochow.

Tu, Inspector of Maritime Customs and Military Intendant of the Soochow, Sungkiang, and T'ai'sang circuit in the province of Kiangnan, raised by brevet ten grades, and honourably recorded ten times, issues the following proclamation:—

"Although foreign merchant vessels are allowed to trade at the several treaty-ports, it is at the same time expressly stated in the treaties that in case they go to any other place to carry on clandestine traffic both vessels and cargo shall be confiscated.

"The Taotai is informed that certain foreign vessels are attempting to take cargo and passengers to Soochow and other places in the interior, which is a direct violation of treaty stipulations. The Taotai is therefore writing to the foreign consuls asking them to investigate the matter and to deal severely with the offenders. Should any Chinese dare send goods to the interior in foreign vessels, thereby avoiding the payment of taxes and customs, such goods will be immediately confiscated and the senders prosecuted.

"This proclamation is issued informing merchants and others concerned that they must henceforth, as in duty bound, obey the law, and warning them that those daring again to secretly ship cargo for the interior in foreign vessels will be at once apprehended and severely punished. No clemency will be shown. Let each obey with trembling and oppose not. Special proclamation.

"T'ungchih, 10th year, 2nd moon, 12th day."

The Acting Chief Judge has delivered judgment in re Glover, Dow and Co.'s liquidation, upon a rule applied for by the French Municipal Council, to show cause why a decision made by him should not be reversed, and the claim of the applicants allowed to rank as a preferential one on the estate. The judge ruled that payments such as the so-called Droits sur les Wharfs are not in any sense local rates, and consequently the claim in respect of them is entitled in bankruptcy proceedings to no preference. Each party to bear their own costs.

Mr. Medhurst, H. B. M. Consul at Shanghai, has been invited to a farewell dinner at the Club, on the occasion of his departure for England.

The Courier learns that Mr. P. J. Hughes, who has been H. B. M. Consul at Kiukiang since the opening of that port in 1861, has been officially notified that he is transferred to Canton, vice Consul Robertson. Mr. Gregory, H. B. M. Vice-Consul at Tamsui, is said to be appointed to Kiukiang.

A new company has been formed to take over the premises known as the Hongkew Wharf—paid-up capital, Tls. 130,000, in 1,300 shares of Tls. 100 each, with power to increase to Tls. 150,000, by the issue of 200 more shares. The shares having been apportioned, a preliminary meeting was held on the 15th April, when Messrs. J. I. Miller, C. J. King, F. Porter, F. D. Barnes, and E. H. Lavers were elected directors.

The steamer Seagull, bound for Shanghai, had been arrested in Hong Kong at the suit of the owners of the steamer Niger, for a claim of £12,000 for services rendered in the Gulf of Suez. The Seagull struck a sunken rock, lost her screw, and the Niger towed her back 100 miles.

The Danish steamers Cella and Tordenskjold arrived at Woonung on the 30th March, having completed the laying of the cable hence to Hong Kong, and successfully united the two portions at a position off the island of Video. Tests applied to the cable at the point where it was joined proved it to be in perfect order throughout. We regret very much, however, to hear that it has since been broken near Hong Kong, probably by a junk's anchor. The Cella will be immediately despatched to repair it. In anticipation of its being soon opened to the public, Messrs. Reuter and Co.'s agent, we hear, is inviting subscriptions for a Commercial Telegram and Share Lists, to be supplied daily. One effect of this will probably be to lessen share speculation; no large margin can then exist between Hong Kong and Shanghai quotations.

We have very heartily to welcome a new contemporary. "Puck, or the Shanghai Charivari," is the title of a new comic newspaper, of considerable merit. In virtually declaring their intention to publish only as often as they have a good budget of matter, the projectors secure themselves against the danger which attends such publications in Shanghai, of exhausting the stock of local wit and chaff by too constant demand.

Capt. Hopkins, of the S.S. Danube, had a silk flag with yellow streamers presented to him by the Chinese students whom he is taking to Tientsin from Canton. The flag has some Chinese characters on it in black velvet, to the effect that the passengers are greatly pleased with the steamer and also with the Captain, whose courtesy they wish thus to acknowledge.

Mr. McLeavy Brown's resignation of the British Diplomatic service for the Chinese Customs is announced.

It is stated that Mr. Swinhoe has relieved Mr. Fittock at Ningpo, who comes home via San Francisco.

The Peking correspondent of the Courier, referring to the despatch which has been so long detained on its passage from Mr. Wade to Lord Granville, writes:—"At the date of my last note the Peking Cabinet were said to be busily occupied in the consideration of certain propositions relative to the operations of missionaries, &c. which, if adopted, might prevent all Yangchow riots and Tientsin massacres for the future. The result of these deliberations has been the presentation, it is said, of two memoranda, viz., to the French (Romish) and to the other ministers severally. Of the despatch of the Tsungli yamen relating to Romish missions I only know that it forbids orphanages and foundling hospitals, demands the deportation of the Sœurs de Charité, and the cessation of the special official powers assumed by the priests; but, doubtless, its character as a whole may be fairly judged by the companion document which deals with the work of Protestant organisations. I must premise by cautioning you that I do not pretend to give you a full and accurate, much less orderly or verbatim, statement. My authority is unquestionable, but I have neither seen a copy of the despatch, nor do we know the exact form it assumed. I hear, however, that it has been replied to already by the U.S. Minister, Mr. Low, and presumably by others. It is also reported that the whole was forwarded by the various legations to their respective governments three weeks ago."

The following is the resume forwarded by this correspondent, which confirms the account given above. These are the points:—

"That in future no communities shall be mulcted for injuries to Missions, only the villains who strike the blow shall be punished. That there shall be no compensation for confiscated property, or for destroyed buildings, lost furniture, &c.

"That all foreign ladies shall be sent home, such teachers being injurious to the peace and retirement of Chinese society; and no native women shall be allowed to attend meetings for worship.

"That missionaries in the interior, or elsewhere, shall have no ex-territorial privileges, but when summoned to the yamens, or having occasion to seek official aid, shall present themselves as a native would have to do (prostrate, &c.), and shall in all respects conform to native custom.

"That if a missionary take up the cause of a Christian convert who is proceeded against at law the Christian shall be at once punished as guilty on account of such interference.

"That all mission establishments shall be under supervision by officers appointed for the purpose, and that no foundling hospitals or girls' schools shall be allowed.

"That no heathen children shall attend mission schools.

"That a public registration office shall be established, in which all baptisms shall be noted, and the history, residence, and condition of the applicants recorded. And that no missionary shall receive more than forty-five converts!

"That Confucius shall not be reviled, nor the feelings of Confucianists insulted."

HONG KONG.

Dates are down to April 18. The London mail of Feb. 24 arrived on the 6th April, and telegrams to the 6th April had also been received on the 18th.

The following account, duly certified, of the average amount of bank-notes in circulation in Hong Kong during the month ending 31st March, 1871, had been published for general information:—

Banks.	Average amount.	Specie in reserve.
Oriental Corporation...	$286,370	$95,457
Chartered Mercantile of India, London, and China ...	501,069	200,000
Chartered of India, Australia, and China, ...	209,175	100,000
Hong Kong and Shanghai ...	1,723,330	600,000
Total ...	$2,719,944	$995,457

The telegraph between Hong Kong and Shanghai had been successfully laid, and some complimentary messages passed between the agent for the company at Shanghai and Major-General Whitfield, Lieutenant-Governor of this colony.

Kwok a-Sing, the prisoner in the Nouvelle Penelope case, was immediately rearrested on his being discharged by the Chief Justice at the Supreme Court, under a warrant of his Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor. What steps the authorities are going to take in regard to his ultimate disposal remains to be seen. He was in custody, but has not yet been brought before the magistrate. This man must entertain peculiar views on the working of English laws.

The following items are from the Overland Trade Report:—

The decision given with regard to the master of the steamer Don has been fully endorsed by the local Press, where the culpable carelessness of the master in going ahead full speed at night, and in a fog, with the knowledge that land was close at hand, has been severely commented upon. The Daily Press holds that both captain and owners have but their own carelessness to thank for the calamity, adding: "It may be a very great question whether those who have suffered loss through the wreck of the Don may not claim against her owners for the value of their cargo, on account of the gross negligence of the captain in navigating her, and of the owners, or their agents, in not having her properly armed."

The case of Wong Atick, the compradore to Messrs. Kirchner, Boger, and Co., who, as mentioned some time ago, was arraigned for pledging certain goods of the firm, and fraudulently converting their proceeds to his use, has been brought to a conclusion by the accused being sentenced to six months' imprisonment. Mr. Kirchner stated that, though on public grounds he was compelled to prosecute his compradore, he did not, in consideration of all the circumstances, hesitate to recommend him to the mercy of the Court; and hence the above comparatively light sentence was passed. The case points to the great necessity for caution, whenever arrangements are made for a quasi partnership with compradores, and, indeed, wherever their powers are extended beyond that merely of cashiers to the house.

The classes of the various schools in St. Saviour's College were examined on the 10th April by several European gentlemen interested in the success of Father Raimondi's institution. The Hon. Judge Ball presided, and was supported by Mr. Stewart, Inspector of Government schools. Monsignor Zanoli, Bishop of Hankow, was also present. The boys did credit to Mr. Terry, their teacher, and to the college.

On the following day the prizes were presented by H.E. the Lieutenant-Governor. H.E. was attended by Judge Ball, Dr. Dods, Mr. Overbeck, and others, while a fashionable assembly filled the large hall of the college, a goodly number of ladies being among the audience.

The Very Rev. Father Raimondi read the report for the year in referring to the two Portuguese schools, superior and inferior, the report states that, in addition to English and Portuguese lessons, "French, Spanish, Cantonese, and Mandarin are taught in separate classes. We (continues the report) look upon a knowledge of languages as an indispensable element now-a-days in education, and we are endeavouring to add German to our list; German trade and German influence is increasing so largely every day. We have added Mandarin with a view to training European boys for situations in the North of China and in Chinese official life, and I am happy to say we have now five students who speak it fluently." In these schools the average attendance is fifty-three, and as the boys are of different nationalities, the pupils "learn not only to read and write in tongues not their own, but acquire without effort the power to speak easily and freely. There are several boys who speak more than three languages; and there are even some not ten years old who can translate from English into Spanish, French, and Chinese, and do it tolerably well." At the conclusion of the reading of the report, the rev. gentleman thanked the Governor and the ladies and gentlemen present for their presence and encouraging support.

BANGKOK.

Dates extend to April 6th.

We learn from the Advertiser that the Customs' Circular recently published orders that the duty on imports must be paid at the time of entry. If there is a dispute on the value of imported goods, an approximate value will be made on the entry, and the duty on that value must be paid, subject to a settlement when the proper value has been ascertained. If the importer prefers paying the 3 per cent. duty in kind, he is at liberty to do so, but must communicate that desire when he makes his sight entry. Goods in dispute, and goods on which the importer desires to pay duty in kind, when circumstances prevent the opening of them on board the vessel or wharf, upon giving a guarantee, or security not less than three times the value of the duty as per sight entry, will be allowed to be discharged, on condition that they be opened [and examined] before a Custom-house officer, on an appointed day. Goods sold on board the ship must pay duty as they are being discharged. Cargo can be discharged only from sunrise to sunset.

Pilot J. Smith's house and lot were recently sold by authority of the United States Consul, and purchased, we learn, by Capt. T. A. Lyser, for a trifle more than 3,000 ticals. The children of the late Pilot J. Smith are under the guardianship of the United States Consul. One son is in Europe, and the other is in the United States of America. One daughter is in Singapore, the other is with Pilot Jacob Van Ess. The child born since the murder of Pilot J. Smith is in care of one of the American Missions. The commuted punishment of E. Chieu for the murder of her late husband Pilot J. Smith is rapidly expiring, and ere long she will be released.

The Siamese astrological and official new year would occur on the 13th April. The day before, the day of, and the day after the 13th, were to be special holidays. The temples were to be open to the inspection of foreigners on these days.

Namruang paddy is selling in Bangkok at 46 ticals per coyan of 3,280 kanans. At Ayuthia this paddy sold for 25 ticals per coyan of 2,400 kanans. At Chantaburee black pepper was selling for 11 ticals per picul; paddy, 12 ticals per coyan of 2,000 kanans; wood for sugar mills 5 ticals per 100 sticks; table rice at $\frac{1}{2}$ tical per bucket. At Rachaburee Namuan paddy was selling for 21 to 22 ticals per coyan of 2,050 kanans, and the same paddy was selling in Bangkok for 49 ticals per coyan of 3,280 kanans.

BORNEO.

SARAWAK.

We learn from the Sarawak Gazette that rumours are heard of an unsettled state of things on the upper part of the Rejang river. The Katibas Dyaks, whose long series of outrages led to the expedition of June last, in which a summary punishment was inflicted on the tribe, are reported to be again disturbing their neighbours.

H.H. the Rajah had returned from Simanggang and Lingga in the Resident's little steamer, which had been sent to meet him. The Lingga men were treated to a day's tuba fishing in their river during the Rajah's stay.

In the Supreme Court the Rajah has proposed some new regulations, with the view of turning to account the time of any person imprisoned for debt; any debtor who desires to work may, with the permission of the resident of the district and consent of the creditor, be allowed to do so, during the same hours and under the same restrictions and guard as the criminal prisoners, and, if he be an able-bodied man, will receive from the Government four dollars a month, two of which will go to his credit against his debt, and two will be paid to himself for his own disposal. Furthermore, it will be in the power of the Court, with the sanction of the creditor, to oblige the debtor to work, should he have a wife and family unprovided for, and in this case two dollars a month will be paid to his wife and children instead of to himself.

The Rajah had also given notice that, at the next meeting of the Supreme Council, he would bring forward some proposals to enable a law to be passed by which persons, professing different creeds, or no recorded creed, may contract a legal marriage by civil contract.

The gambling and arrack farms at Sibu were sold by public auction last month at an increase of 60 per cent.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

SINGAPORE.

Dates extend to the 26th April. On the 13th the Ellora arrived with the mail of March 10, and on the 21st the Provence came in with the French mail and London letters to the 17th idem.

We learn from the Straits Times that there was little of local interest during the fortnight to record. The criminal session closed on the 18th April, after having disposed of a larger number of cases than usual, many of them being for crimes of violence committed during the quarrel between Ghee Hin and Hok Hin kongsees. This being probably the last criminal session that Sir Benson Maxwell, the Chief Justice of the colony, will hold here, the Grand Jury presented a complimentary address to him, and the residents gave a ball and banquet at the Town-hall in honour of him and Lady Maxwell. Sir Benson goes home by the present mail, after labouring fifteen years in the Straits Settlements as Recorder and Chief Justice.

The same journal says the new Russian line of steamers between the Black Sea and China, via the Suez Canal, has sent out its pioneer vessel, the Tchihatchoff, which arrived here on the 18th inst., and sailed for China on the 20th. The establishment of this line may ultimately have a very material effect upon the English market; at present, however, it can do little more than supply the teas required for southern Russia, and will merely supplant the traffic overland between Russia and China. Though Russia may eventually receive all her tea by way of the Black Sea, the dreams of the projectors of the line of supplying all the cotton, coffee, spices and dye stuff for Eastern and South-eastern Europe from the Black Sea ports does not appear likely of realisation. If railway communication across the continent be demonstrated as the cheaper means of conveyance, the chances are more in favour of Italy and France reaping the harvest that will be gathered. But until Southern Europe is able to compete successfully with England in the cost and quality of its manufactures, there is no reason to fear any decline of her present prosperity.

The merchants had found serious ground for apprehension in a report that our nearest neighbour, H.H. the Maharajah of Johore, had issued an order that all the produce of his territory should be taken to New Johore for registration before being exported to Singapore. The Chamber of Commerce held a meeting on the subject, and there being reason to believe the report well-founded, a committee was appointed, who conferred with the Maharajah, and pointed out that such a course would seriously interfere with the freedom of the trade of this place, and, besides causing inconvenience to the planters and others, would unnecessarily increase the price of the produce. The Maharajah, we understand, denied having issued the order in question, but said it would be necessary for him to institute some measure which would protect his revenue, and at the same time obviate certain annoyances complained of by the planters themselves, who suffered serious loss and injustice from the Chinese contractors and joint associations here; he desired to avoid doing anything that might detract from the trade of this place or of Johore. The Committee have, we hear, made certain suggestions which will, it is believed, secure to the Maharajah what he desires, without in any way trammelling the export of produce from his territory. The details of this matter are not yet fully developed, but the Maharajah has promised to take the matter into consideration.

The result of the census taken on the 2nd inst., will probably not be known for some two months to come, though a large staff of clerks were steadily employed in sifting the returns and making up the books. The census officers are confident that the census of Singapore has been very successful, and that the return will not be far out of the way. We are looking forward with considerable interest to the publication of the figures.

The next, the formal opening of the Legislative Council, was fixed for the 13th May, but beyond the new draft of the Pensions ordinance, and the rival claims of the two new harbour railway companies, we have not heard of any matters of public interest to be brought before it at the outset.

Commercial Report.

IMPORTS.

YOKOHAMA.—Business in all manufactured goods had been dull throughout the fortnight, and but few transactions had been effected. Prices at the close exhibited general depression, and Grey Shirtings and Cotton Yarn had both declined in value, the quotations for those staples being:—G. E. Grey Shirtings, 7 lbs., 38 $\frac{1}{2}$ yards 39-in., per piece, \$2.40 to 2.42 $\frac{1}{2}$; 8 lbs. 4 to 8 lbs. 6 do., \$2.75 to 2.77 $\frac{1}{2}$; 9 lbs. do., 44 in., \$3.15 to 3.17 $\frac{1}{2}$. Cotton Yarn, No. 16 to 24, per picul, \$39 to 39.50; No. 28 to 32, \$42 to 42.50; No. 38 to 42, \$41.50 to 42.50.

HANKOW.—Owing to advices of large shipments and considerable arrivals holders were showing great anxiety to realise, and the market closed very weak. Grey Shirtings: 7 lbs. in moderate supply, and without change; 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. declined a mace for ordinary, and 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 6 candareens per piece for best "Eagles; large business, but dealers are so encumbered with the purchases which they have been tempted to make at the daily declining rates accepted by importers that to make sales even lower prices would have to be taken; small sales of heavy weights reported at a decline of 2 candareens. Quotations are Tls. 1.78 to 1.82 for 7 lbs., Tls. 1.96 to 2.05 for 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ lbs., and Tls. 2.40 to 2.50 for 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. White Shirtings: There is still but little doing in these. T-Cloths: Usual active inquiry at this season is still absent, and sales made are at slightly easier rates, though most holders are firm. Good 7 lb. Mexicans quoted at Tls. 1.60 to 1.65, and 8 lbs. Tls. 1.90 to 1.95 per piece. Drills: Only very small sales can be made. Fancy Cottons: Dyed goods of the various descriptions have been taken in small quantities at Quotations. Woollens and Worsteds: Favourite chops of Camlets have been freely dealt in at firm rates, but common goods have not commanded attention. Lastings: small sales. Quotations for Long Ells are purely nominal, not a single transaction being reported. Spanish Stripes: A fair demand exists for good assortments. Figured Orleans are asked for, and suitable goods meet with ready sale at full rates.

SHANGHAI.—The market for all classes of plain Cotton goods had been in a very unsatisfactory state during the fortnight, and a further decline in value had been established. 8½ lb. Grey Thirtings declined to Tls. 2.00 to 2.03 per piece for common chops and Tls. 2.07 to 2.08 per piece for Dewhurst's Eagles. 7 lb. freely taken at rather under former rates; business in the heavier qualities trifling in extent. White Shirtings, less active with a drooping tendency. Demand still chiefly on 64-reeds. T-Cloths 7 lb. best Mexican wanted; in the early part of the fortnight sales of Dewhurst's M. T.'s were effected at Tls. 1.58 to 1.60 per piece; although the same rates could not be obtained at the close a fair business was going on in the better classes of Mexican Cloths; common counts comparatively neglected; 6 lb. and 8 lbs. slightly easier, but dealt in to a considerable extent at quotations. Other Cotton goods without change. In Woollens no material alteration can be noted, but considerable transactions in Camlets and Figured Orleans had taken place, and the market closed firmly, with a fair inquiry. Quotations:—T-Cloths, 6 lbs., ordinary, Tls. 1.2 to Tls. 1.2.7 per piece; 7 lbs., do., Tls. 1.4 to Tls. 1.4.3; 6 lbs., Mexican, Tls. 1.4 to Tls. 1.4.7; 7 lbs., Tls. 1.5.2 to Tls. 1.6.5; 8 to 8½ lbs., Tls. 1.8.5 to Tls. 1.9.3; XX, Tls. 2.3; Camlets, SS, Tls. 11.1.5 to Tls. 11.8.5; Orleans, figured, 30 yards, Tls. 3.7.5 to Tls. 4.

HONG KONG.—Absence of demand, further excessive arrivals, combined with extreme anxiety on the part of some holders to realise stocks, had produced a feeling bordering on panic during the past fortnight, and relief was not looked for until there was a very decided falling off in shipments from the Home side. Prices must be considered nominal even at a decline which had been established.

SINGAPORE.—Messrs. Boustead and Co. report as follows:—39-in. Grey Shirtings, 8½ lbs., only in limited demand, and some holders having forced sales, declined to $2.45 to 2.47½. Stocks increasing. 7 lbs. very quiet, at $2.02½ to 2.05; 6 lbs. business retail at $1.70 to 1.75; 45-in. in very limited inquiry and lower, quotations being $2.40 to 2.45 for 8 lb., $2.70 to 2.75 for 9 lb., and $3 to 3.05 for 10 lb.; other weights quite neglected. 32 in. Grey T-Cloths: Business very moderate at a further decline in some weights. Present values, 4 lb., $1; 4½ lb., $1.07½; 5 lb., $1.20 to 1.25; 6 lb., $1.47½, and 7 lb., $1.70 to 1.75. 32-in. Grey Maddapollams are in no request, and quotations nominal; other Cotton goods dull, and few transactions reported. Woollen goods without improvement, and all descriptions neglected; trifling sales of 31½ lb. Scarlet Camlets at $15½, 9 lb. Scarlet Long Ells at $5.50, and 12 lb. at $7, and 5 lb. Assorted Bombazettes at $3. Grey Yarn: Limited inquiry for 40's at lower rates, sales at $11½ to 11½; 30's are also lower, small transactions at $104; 18's to 24's, inquiry limited at $89; 24's, $93. Glasgow Dye, 10 lb. $127½ to 130, and 12 lb. at $135 to 137½. Dark Green, less active, at $80 to 81. Imperial Red, $70 to 72. Orange, $70 to 71, and dull.

EXPORTS.

TEA.

YOKOHAMA.—The business of the fortnight had been limited to a few transactions only, and settlements for the fortnight had not exceeded 2,000 piculs, principally of good common and medium grades; these settlements had been made at prices as last quoted, and there was no change in quotations to be noted. Supplies meagre, and stock low and of an undesirable quality. The last Pacific Mail steamer took 181,799 lbs. for New York, and 160,698 lbs. for San Francisco. The Eastern Chief for New York was the only vessel loading.

SHANGHAI, HANKOW, KIUKIANG, AND FOOCHEW.—No business; the season at all these ports may be considered closed.

CANTON.—The only settlements which had transpired during the fortnight had been two trifling parcels of new season's thin flavour Congou, say 200 boxes and 40 half-chests, at Tls. 26, which were probably to fill some special order, and if taken as a criterion of the ideas of intending operators would tend to mislead the Chinese. Purchases of leaf in the country were being made at a material advance on the rates of last season, but the quality is generally reported as being favourable.

SILK.

YOKOHAMA.—During the fortnight a moderate amount of business had been done, resulting in the settlement of some 370 bales, of which about one-third were Brick Silks. Considerable quantities of hanks had been rejected, the inferiority of the quality, easing of the skeins, and general carelessness in the reeling of these Silks being more than ever apparent. Prices without change, but dealers appeared more anxious to realise.

SHANGHAI.—The following is from Messrs. C. J. Skeggs and Co.'s Circular:—The latest commercial telegrams from London report a revolution in Paris; Silk unsaleable. Prior to the receipt of the above news some 300 bales were settled at a proportion of Tls. 590 to 600 for chop 3rds, Tls. 525 for Red Peacocks, and some re-reeled Hainin of best quality, for America, at Tls. 610, thus showing a drop of Tls. 15 to 20 per picul on last mail's rates. Since then, however, dealers have evinced more anxiety to sell, and have submitted to a further reduction of Tls. 5 to 10; this, combined with a prospect of a fall in exchange, has induced many to adopt Silk as a means of remittance, and a further settlement of 400 to 500 bales has been made, making in all about 800 bales for the fortnight, 108 bales of which are for America. The stock, including Szechuen, is about 500 bales. The following are a few of the purchases:—Chopping, No. 3, 30s. 6d.; Koo Fong Sing, No. 3, 30s. 3d.; Tae Ho Changling, No. 3, 30s. 3d.; Dragon Chop, No. 3, 30s. 1d.; Cock and Worm, No. 3, 29s. 7d.; Old Lion Chop, No. 3, 26s. 11d.; Red Peacock, 27s. 2d.; medium and common Tsatlee, 24s. 4d. to 25s. 11d.; Kahing, Ting How, 27s. 5d.; Re-reeled Hainin, 27s. 5d. to 31s. 6d.; do. Tsatlee, 27s. 5d. to 28s. 5d.; Long-reel Tsatlee, 20s. 10d.; Hanchow Tsatlee, 24s. 10d.

JAVA AND STRAITS PRODUCE.

BATAVIA.—Arrack: f.87.50 per leaguer; small sales; stock reduced. Cloves: f.25 per picul; nominal. Coffee: Nominal. Hides: Cow, 30c. to 40c.; Buffalo, 21c. to 27c. per lb.; sales. India-rubber: f.100 to f.110 per picul; only small quantities came to market. Indigo: f.4.30 to f.4.50; first quality scarce. Mace: f.225 per picul; first quality saleable at quotation, second quality offered at f.190, third at f.180. Pepper: Black f.26 to f.26.50 per picul; sold at quotation. Tin: Billiton: An auction of 6,041 piculs, held on 7th April, averaged f.82 per picul.

SINGAPORE.—During the fortnight there had been a fair demand for most descriptions of produce and a moderate business had transpired, with but little alteration in quotations. Gambier in moderate demand and about 1,150 tons contracted for, chiefly at $2.95 per picul, a small quantity bought at $2.97½ and $3. Black Pepper, dealers asking $9.50 per picul. White Pepper in moderate inquiry, at a reduction; transactions limited. A good business in Pearl Sago; price had a downward tendency. Sago Flour weaker; fair demand, and moderate business. Tin in request; price firmer at the close. India-rubber in good demand; supplies readily taken up at high rates.

NOTICES TO MARINERS.

The following Notices have been issued by the Hydrographic department of the Admiralty:—

China Sea—Labuan.—Victoria Harbour Beacons.—Information has been received that the Beacon marking the Harbour shoal in Victoria harbour is placed near the centre of the shoal. Also, mariners are cautioned not to place confidence in the arrangement of the beacons as placed on the charts marking the approaches to Victoria harbour. Columbine beacon and the three beacons on the west side of the bank to the northward of Daat island do not exist.

Philippine Islands, Manila Bay.—Re-establishment of Rio Pasig Light.—With reference to Notice to Mariners, No. 96, dated 16th September, 1870, respecting the temporary discontinuance of the light on the North Mole of the River Pasig, information has been received that the light has been re-established in the same position. The light is a fixed red light, and in clear weather should be seen from a distance of eight miles. The illuminating apparatus is dioptric, or by lenses, of the sixth order.

Japan, Yedo Gulf Entrance.—Flashing Light on Cape Sagami.—The Japanese Government has given notice that from the 1st March, 1871, a light would be exhibited from a lighthouse recently erected on Cape Sagami, west side of the entrance of the Gulf of Yedo. The light is a flashing white light, showing a flash every ten seconds, visible seaward from E. by N. to S.W. ¼ W., a red sector of 16 deg. is added to cover the Plymouth rocks, extending from the last bearing to S.S.W. ¼ W. It is elevated 110 feet above the sea, and in clear weather should be seen from a distance of 16 miles. The illuminating apparatus is dioptric or by lenses of the second order. The tower, 36 feet high, is situated on Tsuruga-saki, in lat. 35 deg. 8 min. N., long. 139 deg. 41 min. E. All bearings are magnetic. Variation 3½ deg. westerly in 1871.

SARAWAK AND SAIGON.

"THE Commercial Reports received at the Foreign-office from Her Majesty's Consuls in 1869-70" have just been published in the usual form, but we think that the title-page is a slight misnomer, inasmuch as the reports to which we propose more particularly to refer now are those for the year 1869—not received in the year 1869-70, as the euphuistic phraseology of the Government might lead incautious readers to believe. The fact is that both these reports—the one from Sarawak, and the other from Saigon—are nearly a year-and-a-half behind time, and, but for the pertinacious way in which we have reminded the Foreign-office of the public anxiety to see them, we have some reason to think that the very existence of these documents might have been ignored to this day.

Taking Sarawak first we find that the trade in 1869 had vastly increased in comparison with 1868. The exports were in the former year £446,348, in the latter £734,174. The imports in the same space rose from £401,395 to £614,361. The coast trade also increased in similar proportion; and the outports did a steadily-increasing trade with one another and with Singapore and China. The Cinnabar mines, worked by the Borneo Company, are reported as "fairly started" (under date a twelvemonth ago), and the antimony mines as yielding good ore in fair quantities.

From Saigon Mr. Consul CASWELL reports that in 1869 the production of rice continued to increase considerably. The grain of this colony had even then begun to find its way to Europe. Mr. CASWELL's report would have been more valuable if he had given us any of the data of former years to compare with the last.

ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL PROCEEDINGS.

We have received the fortieth annual volume of the Journal of the Royal Geographical Society, a very valuable compendium of information, whose increased bulk and excellent illustrations bear witness both to the growing interest of the general public in recent discoveries and to the untiring zeal of the secretaries of the institution. The work before us is of course published mainly for the accommodation of subscribers, but we learn that it can be purchased by non-subscribers on application to Mr. Murray.

THE ALBERT LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

A meeting of the Albert Assurance Company policyholders was held at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, on the 23rd inst.—Mr. C. E. Lewis in the chair—for the purpose of considering the scheme for the reconstruction of the company which had been prepared by Mr. Charles E. Lewis, solicitor, preparatory to its being laid before the arbitrators, at the arbitrators' meeting, to be held on Friday next, to consider all the schemes for reconstruction that may then be submitted. The chairman stated that he regretted the small attendance, but he believed that his scheme was practicable, and would be beneficial to the large body of policyholders. He appeared before them simply as a policyholder. It was now two years since the suspension of the Albert Insurance, and nothing had been definitely done in the reconstruction. The scheme of the provisional official liquidator for certain reasons failed. A Bill would that day receive the Royal assent appointing Lord Cairns as arbitrator, who would be empowered to settle what should be done with the company, either by a reconstruction or the winding-up of its affairs and that of the affiliated companies. His lordship had intimated that on Friday next he would consider the two schemes of reconstruction—that of himself (Mr. C. E. Lewis) and the other of the reconstruction committee. As regarded reconstruction, he considered that it should be simple, equal—that was as equitable as possible. It should recognise any special claim of any creditor or policyholder; that all parties should not stand strictly upon their legal rights, but should be willing to make concessions for the general good, and that the company be reconstructed in a perfectly solvent state, so that there should be no future risk. The chairman then entered into full details as to his proposed scheme of reconstruction, and, as showing the vital importance of action being immediately taken, stated that since the stoppage of the Albert the death claims, which were then £70,000, had increased to over £300,000. The reconstruction committee had been invited to be present, so as to submit their scheme, which was totally different to any that had been submitted to the policyholders during the past twelve months, but they, through their solicitor, had declined to be present. A resolution was passed adjourning the meeting in order that the respective schemes might have the full consideration of the policyholders, the meeting expressing its opinion that the scheme of Mr. Lewis was deserving of the best consideration.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Each packet or tin is labelled—JAMES EPPS & Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, London. Epps's Cocoa is also prepared with condensed milk, and sold in tins, labelled Epps's Milky Cocoa.

THE VEXED OPIUM QUESTION.

We publish in another column a second letter from our esteemed correspondent TAU, to which, as well as his former communication, we beg our readers' attention. The question at issue is one of rapidly increasing and pressing importance as regards our future relations with both China and India; and TAU certainly puts his argument as pointedly and exhaustively as we believe that view of the question can be put; but while we fully sympathise with our correspondent in the disgust and shame which the opium traffic must excite in every candid mind, we totally dissent from most of his facts and all the conclusions he draws from them.

"TAU" makes a cardinal error in the very first fact which he assumes. He thinks that the obnoxious Indian Income-tax was imposed in order to cover an apprehended deficiency in the opium revenue. The fact is that the Income-tax was imposed not to supply any apprehended deficit at all, but absolutely to make good a deficit that was suddenly found to have actually occurred, owing to the gross bungling of the Financial Minister and his staff, who waste half the year in the Indian Capua, and pass the other half, which they vouchsafe to Calcutta, in trying to find out the blunders that have been committed in their absence. The Income-tax is always the first desperate remedy which a Finance Minister flies to whenever he is taken aback, because, in Parliamentary euphuism, "it is so very elastic." Of course, it always excites disgust and fraud, and nowhere so strongly as in India, because of the extreme repugnance of the native mind to direct taxation. But, to show TAU the full strength of our position, that there is no sort of connection between the Indian Income-tax and the Opium Revenue, we need only point to the fact that at the present moment, when the popular indignation requires the abolition of the Income-tax, no step whatever has been taken to supply the deficiency by touching the Opium duties. With what would be incredible folly in any other Government than our own, the Bombay Finance Minister proposed to supply the place of the Income-tax by levying a new tax on Native Feasts—an act of madness which, if it had passed into law, must have sown the seeds of another mutiny. Already the native papers were combining to sneer at the incompetence of "English Financiers" and to draw comparisons—unfortunately too true—between Mr. LOWE's insane attempt to tax matches in this country, and their own Ministers' way of "getting out of the Indian frying-pan into the fire," by the shameless Feast-tax, which we learn this morning has just been withdrawn with even more than Ministerial alacrity! We seldom enter fully into Indian affairs, because they seldom interest the great majority of our subscribers; but, in the present case, they cannot fail to see that not only does this explanation prove TAU to be entirely mistaken in his first assumption, but also that the present administration of Indian affairs is so bad as to form cause of the gravest anxiety to our friends in China. We only hope that the Indian Finance Committee of the House of Commons, now sitting, will promptly find means to extricate the Indian Exchequer from the muddle in which it has been ever since the retirement of Mr. LAING. Sir BARTLE FRERE was one of the first witnesses examined before the Committee. No Indian statesman is more experienced; none so universally respected by natives and Europeans alike; he is the PALMERSTON of India, and on the retirement of Earl MAYO, now, happily, not very far distant, we believe Sir BARTLE FRERE would be called to the Governor-Generalship by the united voice of the people, as Lord PALMERSTON was called to the Premier-ship, when English affairs had been muddled by the Whigs, as the only man who could retrieve the blunders of his predecessor, but that, unhappily, as a Bombay judge said the other day, "there is no public opinion in India." But we must not forget that our present business is with our friend TAU.

We will not detain our readers with a repetition of matters of fact concerning which, if they require to do so, they can refresh their memory by turning to the résumés of the Consular and other reports given in this journal within the last few weeks. We are quite willing to accept TAU's figures, though we must cry "Hold!" to his facts, because we know that he would not willingly deceive any one, not even himself, who seems to be the person most deceived in the present case. But here TAU errs in reasoning wrongly from a right standpoint, just as, in the instance before given, he erred in reasoning rightly from a wrong standpoint. Granted all his figures; the most he can show is that the quantity of opium sent to China from India has not fallen off in the average of the last few years. But the information, which none of our readers possess more than our correspondent, must tell him that the practice of opium smoking, &c., has increased almost incalculably in that space of time. Why, then, has not the demand for the Indian drug increased pari passu? We shall come to the moral aspect of the question presently; but the indisputable answer to this question, on the authority of Mr. MEDHURST and many others, is that the Indian drug is being superseded by the cultivation of the native drug, which is now spreading at the rate of many thousand acres per annum, and is very likely to be even legalised by the Chinese Government at no distant date. This being so, this question arises—"What are we to do to protect our opium revenue? Are we to submit to be undersold simply by continuing to tax our article so highly as we do, because it is acknowledged to be superior to the Chinese, in order that, if we must poison somebody, we may console ourselves with the reflection that we only poison those who can afford it—just as TATTERSALL's only ruins those who are worth plucking?" We are really amazed that TAU should, for a moment, advance so transparent a sophism; yet we have tried to read his letter to any other conclusion and we cannot. But surely he must see that the excuse for doing wrong, because you don't do it as extensively as you might, is no excuse at all. It is mere paltering with conscience. It reminds us of the damsel who admitted having had a baby, but pleaded in extenuation that "it was a very little one." Or, taking it on the ground that we diminish the guilt of selling a noxious drug by selling it dear, we are again reminded of TOBIN's hostess.

"Is not your wine a poison?"

"Yes; but—"

"But what?"

"I always give short measure, sir, and ease my conscience that way!"

But enough of this "It's naughty but it's nice" sort of plea. A thing must be right or wrong per se. As SHAKESPEARE says—

"Tis in ourselves that we are thus or thus, and we know, as well as TAU and every other honest man, that in the opium traffic we are sinning with our eyes open. This is a point on which every one is agreed. The only question is—"How can we wipe this accursed stain from the national honour without causing the immediate collapse of the Indian revenue, and endangering the very existence of our Indian Empire?" We confess ourselves unable to solve this problem off-hand, but we believe that a solution of it may be found in good time, if earnest minds unite to seek it out. One thing is certain—if we do not solve it, soon it will solve itself, and that to our great perplexity. We commend the inquiry to TAU, and, with thorough sincerity, hope he may succeed in answering it.

We understand that on receiving intelligence of the resignation of his locum tenens at Hong Kong the Rev. Canon BEACH immediately resigned the office of Colonial Chaplain, in order that no delay might be incurred in filling up the post, the state of his health rendering it inadvisable for him to return to the East before the end of the summer. The vacant appointment has, we believe, been accepted by the Rev. R. HAYWARD KIDD, M.A., Rector of St. Michael Coslany, Norwich, and Clerical Secretary of the Irish Society.

With reference to the Chinese Despatch, it is stated from Washington that the American Government has no advices from China other than the telegram from London, which was printed in the newspapers last month, and, therefore, in the absence of official information, has taken no action whatever on the subject.

TELEGRAMS have been received from Hong Kong announcing that the P. and O. steamer Australia will bring about 2,000 tons of the new season's tea from Hankow.

MANY among our readers will be gratified to learn that Admiral Sir HARRY KEPPEL and Admiral Sir GEORGE MILNE have been appointed Grand Commanders in the Order of the Bath.

TRIAL OF THE P. AND O. STEAMER "INDUS."

The new steamer Indus, built by Messrs. Denny and Bros., of Dumbarton, for the P. and O. Company, had her trial trip at the measured mile in Southampton Waters on the 25th inst., and attained a speed equivalent to 13½ miles per hour, with 57 revolutions, and drawing 18½ feet. The Indus is a handsome screw steamer, barque rigged, 2,205 tons register, with engines of 500-horse power, working up to 2,500; length, 360 feet; beam, 40 feet; depth of hold from spar deck, 35 feet. Besides accommodation for 140 first-class and 50 second-class passengers, she can carry over 2,000 tons cargo, with 700 tons coals, stores, baggage, bullion, mail-rooms, &c.

The saloon is simply elegant, and over 100 feet long. The companion and skylights are particularly large and airy. The cabins run the entire length of the main deck, and each one is furnished with a large port, which can be carried open in almost any weather, a great desideratum on the India and China line. The other comforts for passengers, including eight baths, have been well looked after and improved on. The ventilation is most complete, and punkahs are fitted above all the dining-tables. The deck accommodation is most complete, and includes the cabins for officers. The kitchen is fitted with Messrs. Benham's cooking apparatus, which has been found the most useful and efficient of all the many patents. There is one omission for the comfort of passengers, and that is a gentleman's deck saloon for smoking. The ice house will hold thirteen tons. Steam winches for cargo purposes and hoisting the coal clinkers are abundant. Coal shoots, to avoid the coal-dust, fire extinguishers, and indeed every late improvement, is to be found in the fitting of this truly magnificent steamer, which is a credit to the company and to the builders, and, we opine, will be found one of the most profitable steamers of all the large fleet of the company.

The company assembled on board to witness the trial included Mr. Hadow, the chairman of the Company, Admiral Sir Wm. Hall, Mr. Allen, Mr. Bayley, Capt. Engledue, Directors; Capt. Black, Superintendent at Southampton, Mr. Pinsent, Mr. Bethune, Capt. Jamieson, Capt. Curling, Capt. Weeks, Dr. Beattie, Mr. Peter Denny, the builder, and others. An excellent luncheon was served, and the toasts included success to the P. and O. Company and the new ship, coupled with the health of the builder, Mr. Denny, who responded in a humorous speech; the health of the Directors, who were complimented on their efficient management; Capt. Greaves, and officers of the Indus. The vessel returned into dock about five o'clock, after a most agreeable trip, enjoyed by all.

INDIAN VERSUS CHINESE OPIUM.

(To the Editor of The London and China Telegraph.)

SIR,—I beg to furnish a table of the quantity of opium taken by each port in China last year, my object in doing this being to show that at the very ports where native opium had been most seen the increase in import of Indian drug was most remarkable:—At Hankow no less than 42 per cent., at Tientsin 36. Of the total of 58,881 chests, too, it has to be stated that only 1,790 were from Persia or Turkey:—

Only at five out of the fourteen Consular ports, it will be seen, was the import less last year than the year before, and these may be thus commented on:—

Canton, 52 per cent. less, a difference undoubtedly owing to superior ability on the part of smugglers from the adjacent port of Hong Kong.

Amoy, close upon 60 per cent. less, and why it was so it is not easy for an outsider to say. It was certainly not owing to the conflict between native and foreign drug, for in his report for the quarter ending September Mr. Commissioner Hughes says:—

"There is very little if any native opium grown in the vicinity of Amoy. The only place where it is grown is Tung-ang, and the quality is poor; it is never consumed except when mixed with the foreign drug. Lately the cultivation of the poppy has greatly decreased, and rice and potatoes may now be seen where a few years ago only the poppy flourished."

At Foochow the import of foreign drug was about 6 per cent. less; the excessive war-tax of $125 per chest being enough to deter dealers from importing at all. At Tamsuy, in Formosa, there was a trifle less of import, the neighbouring Formosan port of Takow showing a larger increase.

The difference of a third less in the import at Niuchwang has to be ascribed to a lack of Sycee to purchase, and some that would have been placed on the market had to be taken elsewhere. On the whole, then, I have pretty conclusively shown, I think, that Indian opium has but little to fear in its competition with drug grown and made in China, and there can be no necessity for another sudden increase of the Indian income-tax. Not, however, that I would ignore the fact that during the last dozen years the Chinese of Szechuen, Hunan, Kansuh and Shansi have cultivated the poppy very extensively. Baron Richthofen, a gentleman engaged by foreign merchants to travel through certain parts of China and report on their capabilities for trade, in his letter of June last, says that in Kansuh and Shansi, although growth of the poppy is strictly prohibited by law, the plant is cultivated as openly and publicly as wheat—(fear for winking at the growth being the most prolific of yields to officials)—and what is a new feature in the history of opium is the circumstance of 90 per cent. of the local population being addicted to its use. To quote:—"It was asserted to me in several places in Shansi that ninety per centum of the adult male population are given to that vice, and that it is not uncommon amongst women. It is equally found in cities and villages, and spreads even largely among the labouring classes, which are still free from it in the south and in Manchuria. The population of whole towns are disfigured by haggard faces and staring eyes consequent on the use of opium."

What a horrible picture, and, as I say, a new feature in the history of opium—a new phase in the history of the country. Up to now, large as is the quantity of Indian opium used in China, it finds its way to a comparative few; in my opinion to not more than three or four millions of the three or four hundred millions of the population. The sum is easily worked. Let the quantity imported be placed at 60,000 chests (this is allowing only a small quantity for the Hong Kong smugglers); halve this to allow for decrease in boiling;—give a man half a mace a day, which is 2½ catties a-year (and the average of smokers do double that quantity), and the outturn is six and three-quarter millions, a very small proportion, as I say, to the hundreds of millions of the country—not two per cent., in fact (and I repeat I do not think more than one per cent. use Indian opium)—a vast contrast to the 90 per cent. of the provinces particularised, who, according to Richthofen, are given to the use of their native drug.

And what will be the result? Why, that as soon as this 90 per cent. become aware of the superior flavour of Indian opium they will rush after it as the tiger hastes for blood, so that there is likely to be a large increase in the use of Indian opium in China, and this even if we were to add to, instead of taking from, the present Indian charges.—I am, Sir, &c.,
TAU.

LICENSED GAMBLING AT HONG KONG.

(DAILY TELEGRAPH.)

There are gambling-houses in Hong Kong. To many people this announcement will be as deficient in novelty or interest as the celebrated remark of Mr. F.'s aunt, "There are milestones on the Dover-road;" but there is much more in these gambling-houses than the fact of their existence. They have been carried on under Government licence and authority. Can this be? Nothing wrong ever occurs in England. Industry and religion are our sole sources of delight. Epsom is a myth kept up by the newspapers to increase their circulation, and speculation in the City is nothing but a dream. At all events, whatever English vice exists is private, unprivileged, and unsanctioned, allowed but not licensed, tolerated to any extent, but not officially recognised. In fact, personal immorality here is something like the position of Dissent—known to flourish, yet not officially recognised by the advisers of the Crown. There is, some critics say, one exception—our public-house system. The law, according to Mr. Bruce, does give license, sanction, and recognition to places that are injuriously multiplied; and thus, out of the vice of excessive drinking, the State makes a direct profit. But in Hong Kong the British Governor has done what the Home Secretary could certainly not attempt. The native gambling-houses of Hong Kong have been licensed, recognised, and protected by the State; they are regulated in the most effective way, and under the British authority Chinamen gamble for hours day and night, pursuing their favourite vice with steady affection. If Mr. Bruce re-opened Crockford's and established other "hells" about the East and West End, or if he issued licences to a certain number of gaming-houses, giving them a monopoly, he would do here what a British Governor has done in Hong Kong. So it has been hitherto; but no, after all kinds of protests from all kinds of well-meaning gentlemen, the Home Government has at length interfered, and Sir Richard MacDonnell, the present Governor, has received orders to "put an end to the policy of licensing gambling-houses." Thus will a foul stain on the British escutcheon be removed; thus will the purity of the British flag be once more asserted; thus will there be no further association of the name or authority of the Sovereign with the terrible vice of gaming, which, in all countries and in all ages, has desolated so many homes and brought ruin on so many families.

Of course it would be high treason to assert that the advisers of the Crown and their Parliamentary supporters are entirely ignorant of the whole business. What cannot Parliament do? In the questions now before the House we notice one about the conveyance of linen in London cabs, a second about some local squabble in an Irish workhouse, and a third about that great Empire of the future—the Federation of the Leeward Islands, the situation of which "every schoolboy knows." On these topics Parliament is all-knowing and ever wise; and it can rule with practical genius every part of that British Empire on which the sun continually rises, but, strange to say, "never sets." Yet possibly there are some people who do not know everything, and therefore we may state a few facts. Hong Kong is a benighted little place, having no House of Lords or House of Commons, and it is ruled by a despot. The tyrant is an able, pleasant, and accomplished gentleman, Sir Richard MacDonnell, who has proved his governing power and administrative genius in more ways than one. For instance, soon after his arrival he discovered that the harbour of Hong Kong was the true "basis" of those piratical "naval operations" which in these seas are a terrible pest. Native ships came into the harbour and out of it, at their own not very sweet will; they had their exits and their entrances when and how they liked. European ships of all countries were registered and noted as to their coming and going, their names, cargoes, and destination; while the Chinese were chartered libertines; nobody asked them any questions—nobody interfered with their movements. The Governor saw in this established anarchy the probable source of all the piracy in the neighbouring seas, and he issued a decree announcing, that after a certain date, all Chinese ships were to be registered and to give the proper harbour authorities every information. The Chinamen declared that they would never submit to such an unheard-of restriction. The oldest British inhabitant of Hong Kong averred that any attempt to enforce the decree would end in rebellion, resistance, and destruction to the trade of Hong Kong. But, like the official in "The Critic," the "Governor was firm." The decree was issued. The Chinese sulked for a few days; then opportunities of profit prevailed, and they re-entered the harbour to comply with the regulations. From that day a great blow was struck at piracy and all kinds of crime upon the high seas; and the Chinese learnt the lesson, so useful to the Oriental mind, that their European master was not a man to give way before cajolery or threats. We state this fact as a kind of explanation in itself of the ordinance respecting gambling-houses. "The heathen Chinese is peculiar," as Mr. Bret Harte has observed; and in nothing is he so peculiar as in this, that gambling is with him, not so much a pleasant occupation as a kind of mania; he will gamble at every interval of leisure, and will make leisure when he can. Native gambling-houses were scattered all over Hong Kong. To put them down was utterly impossible, in face of the inveterate habits of the people; no police system, no espionage, could succeed in such a task. That broad fact is admitted by all. These houses were not only devoted to gambling; they were nests for all kinds of immorality and crime. Sir Richard MacDonnell issued a decree restricting their number, granting Government licences, putting them under police surveillance, making the keepers strictly responsible for order, and bringing them completely within the view and control of the law. The consequence has been a large decrease in local crime, and, as some say, a decrease in gambling itself.

An ordinary and diffident observer of the proceeding might well say that the Governor, accustomed to Chinese ways, serving on the spot, with a proved capacity for ruling men, probably knew best, and might be left to arrange so strictly local an affair. But the Colonial-office at home is not ordinary and not diffident. It has, therefore, instructed the Governor to put an end to the licensing system; so that there will again exist in Hong Kong scores, if not hundreds, of the old unlicensed houses, resorts of the worst characters, where the worst crimes can be plotted without any check from police supervision. As to the eradication of the vice, we might as well try to alter the shape of Chinese eyes; it exists, and we can only place it under check and control. Sir Richard MacDonnell's plan saved the colony from an immense amount of disorder and crime. It was natural to the Chinese to be so regulated and so ruled; for, poor creatures, they have no Magna Charta, Habeas Corpus, or Bill of Rights. There was no popular discontent, no native protest against despotism, no vast public meeting with Ah Sin in the chair, no stirring of "the great heart" of Hong Kong on this momentous question—not even a park railing disturbed. But, then, if Hong Kong was satisfied, there were gentlemen here who were not. What matter the good attained? "This, Sir, is a question of principle." The English Government may allow anything at all wicked, disgraceful, or foul to exist under its eyes or nose; but it never must give "official recognition" to anything impure. There are in London lanes where policemen dare not go by night; but then we are all right—they are not officially recognised. There are shameless women parading the streets, making a boast of their indecency; but then Mr. Bruce never honours them with even a wink of his official eye, although his other eye must have observed them very oft. There are houses where vice is a matter of system; yet, thank Heaven, a British Government, though it knows them all through the police, has never "officially recognised" them. There are noisome dens where the overcrowded poor breed fever and small-pox, and little beings that ought not to be called children; but then we can wash our hands of all responsibility, for we Pharisees have no official knowledge of those sins and sinners. The opposite system in Hong Kong has proved decidedly efficacious; but what is the use of our rule if we do not import the ways and manners of St. Pancras and Bermondsey into our Chinese dependency? Probably, if some day we conquer and annex China, our first care will be to apply to it all our local rating Acts, cut it up into parishes, plant a clergyman in every district, and insist upon trial by jury for every offence. Then, in some distant age, we may contemplate improved Chinamen with every form of native and imported vice still flourishing, and none officially recognised. Thus we shall, like true Britons and leading agents of civilisation, sweetly reconcile the principles of liberty and authority—the liberty of the subject to sin, and the right of authority to do nothing but collect taxes and punish criminals—when caught.

THE BURNING OF THE "WILLEM III."

The Committee at Lloyd's, as representing the underwriters of this steamship and her cargo, have given instructions for plugging the holes made in the hull of the ship for scuttling her, pumping the water out, and towing the hull into Portsmouth harbour, so soon as the fire has been effectually extinguished. This will be done with the consent and assistance of the Port Admiral and naval authorities at the port. When berthed in the harbour the ruins of the fire will be cleared out, everything of value not destroyed recovered, and the condition of the machinery and the iron shell of the ship below the water line ascertained. It is considered possible that a considerable portion of effects belonging to the unfortunate passengers and stored away in the lower parts of the ship may be recovered without much injury, except from the water that has been admitted into the ship to extinguish the fire. A large portion of the specie on board, equivalent to £18,000 English, has been recovered from the bullion room, and has been deposited at the Portsmouth Custom House, and there is no doubt the whole will be recovered when the water has been pumped out from the wreck, and a way cleared to the lower part of the room.

The passengers speak in very high terms of the coolness and energy displayed by the commander of the ship, Mr. E. Oort, on the discovery of the fire, and his subsequent care for their safety in sending them away from the ship to lie off in her boats when he began to doubt the possibility of obtaining a speedy mastery over the flames. Commander Oort declares the presence of the military on board to have been a most fortunate circumstance for the safety of the passengers. The crew of the ship had been but three days on board, the ship herself and all her fittings were new, and the difficulty of launching six new and heavy boats from a crowded ship, bursting into flames forward and aft in the middle of the night, would never have been got over, and the passengers safely placed in them, had it not been for the steadiness of the soldiers, and the courage of their commanding and the other officers accompanying them.

His Netherland's Majesty's paddle sloop Valk, Commander Clifford, has arrived in Portsmouth harbour from the Scheldt, to convey back to Nieu Dieppe the troops and specie landed at Portsmouth from the wreck.

LITERATURE.

—O—

The Phoenix gives us a good number for April, mainly by reason of the first and second papers. "Misawo, the Japanese Girl," is a most interesting translation by the Rev. S. C. Malan, vicar of Broadwindsor and prebendary of Sarum; and "Rambles among the Formosan Savages," by Mr. C. Carroll, is in his best style. We cannot help feeling, however, that the same writer's "Cure for Jealousy" is beginning to be so wire-drawn from month to month as to remind us of the adage which tells us that there are some remedies that are worse than the diseases they are supposed to cure. Mr. Hodgson's "Literature and Religion of the Buddhists" is continued with unabated interest. The few closing pages devoted to Reviews are amusing, as showing the editor's estimation of some of the current emanations of the London press. In his notice of a silly volume lately published under the title of "That Heathen Chinese," the reviewer thinks the following doggerel worth extracting. It refers to a Chinese card-sharp:—

"In his sleeves, which were long,
He had twenty-four packs,
Which was coming it strong,
Yet such were the facts;
And we found on his nails, which were taper,
What is frequent in tapers—that's wax."

We know not which to admire most, the poet's independent style of rhyme, the original talent he displays in the pun of the word "taper," or the simplicity of the Phoenix in extracting these lines and saying, in the next paragraph, that the other verses have a ring of genius about them.

The Report of the Commissioners appointed to Revise the Laws for the Collection and Assessment of Taxes in New York, 1871, republished by permission of the Cobden Club by Messrs. Ireland and Co. of Manchester, is an interesting and exhaustive little compilation, which the Committee are justified in hoping will possess an additional and practical interest at the present moment in connection with Mr. Goschen's measures relating to the local taxation of this country, at present under the consideration of Parliament.

CHARGE AGAINST THE "CALIPH."

At the Mansion-house Police Court, Mr. Alexander Hector, a merchant at 5, Barge-yard, Bucklersbury, has been summoned before Mr. Alderman Gibbons, at the instance of the Board of Trade, for an infringement of the 229th section of the Merchant Shipping Act, by refusing, in his capacity of owner of the ship Caliph, of London, to repay to the British Consul at Shanghai certain expenses which had been incurred by him in respect of providing necessary surgical and medical advice, with attendance and medicine, for one of the crew of the vessel, who sustained injury while in the discharge of his duty, together with charges for his subsistence until cured, and for bringing him to a port in the United Kingdom. The claim by the Board of Trade against the defendant was, according to the Consul's certificate, £41 3s. 4d. in all, and it was disputed by Mr. Hector on various grounds. Mr. F. W. Gardner, barrister, appeared to support the claim; Mr. Gibson was counsel for Mr. Hector. From the statements made by counsel and from evidence adduced, it seemed that the defendant's ship Caliph arrived at Shanghai in February, 1870, and that while she was lying in the harbour there the cook, George Lambert, sustained an injury to one of his eyes, which necessitated his removal to the hospital of the French Legation. The captain, Mr. Ritson, visited him there, and at his request gave him his discharge, he preferring to remain in the hospital and obtain the requisite treatment rather than to rejoin the ship, to which no medical officer was attached. The master paid him his wages, and settled the hospital charges up to the day on which the vessel left Shanghai. The man at that time appeared to be in good health, and merely wore a shade over his eye. He remained in the hospital 38 days, had medical treatment during 17 other days, and was kept in Shanghai for two months afterwards, when, being perfectly cured, he was sent home. The charges paid in respect of him by Mr. Medhurst, the Consul, amounted to £41 3s. 4d., and this sum he had returned in his accounts to the Board of Trade. Application was made by the Board to Mr. Hector for a repayment of the amount under the 229th section of the Act, under which owners are liable for such expenses as those incurred by the Consul, but he had declined to pay anything but £5 10s. 6d., being the passage money home. The present summons was then issued. It was a noticeable fact in the case that the man Lambert had died since his arrival in this country of another complaint.

For the defence it was urged, in effect, that it would be very hard to make the section applicable to a case like the present, where a man had been voluntarily discharged from the owner's service, and had ceased to have any connection with the vessel; that in the opinion of qualified people the cook was sufficiently well to rejoin his ship before she left port; and that the payments by the Consul were rash and extravagant in the extreme. The detention of the sailor in Shanghai two months after his discharge from the hospital was also complained of.

Mr. Alderman Gibbons said it would require very strong evidence to induce him to set aside the certificate of Her Majesty's Consul, seeing that the claim would not have been allowed except after full consideration, and that that officer had no personal object to serve in the matter. There was no foundation, so far as he could judge, for the imputation against the seaman of practising a fraud to enable him to remain on shore, and he was surprised at the line of defence taken. He decided that the claim had been fully established, and he ordered the defendant to pay the Board of Trade the sum demanded, viz., £41 3s. 4d., together with the cost of the summons.

ACCORDING to Messrs. Arles Dufour and Co., of Lyons, no material change has occurred in the Silk market of that city, the general belief in the impending defeat of the insurgents in Paris having been counterbalanced by the fears entertained respecting the intention of the French Government under M. Thiers to impose a heavy import duty upon all foreign raw silk, a proposal which would be so fatal to one of the most flourishing branches of the national industry that it was still hoped it would be withdrawn. The progress of the crop continued to attract attention. In Spain it appears to be equal to that of last year, with the difference that the proportion of native cocoons is much less, while the amount of Japanese is considerably increased. In France the silkworms are passing through their last and most critical stage, apparently with fair prospects. From Italy, also, the accounts seem satisfactory; and in Syria, according to a telegram of the 14th inst., the symptoms are excellent as regards Japanese sorts, while the native are rather backward.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Daily News writes that the first attack by the Versailles upon Paris was witnessed by the members of the Chinese Mission. They occupied (says the correspondent) two carriages near the bridge of Sevres, whence the head of the Celestial diplomacy here scanned through a field-glass the ruins of the south and west of Paris. I thought I could detect something approaching a chuckle on the face of the Secretary, who a few days previously asked me if I did not think the Chinese would henceforth be able to massacre with impunity intruding Jesuits in the flowery land.

THE Juno corvette, Captain J. K. E. Baird, which some time ago conveyed a detachment of Marines to China, was, by last accounts from Hong Kong, to be taken into dock to have her hull overhauled. Her boilers, which were only patched up before she left England, had been repaired at Hong Kong, and when her defects are made good she is to be placed on the strength of the China Squadron.

RAPID progress is being made with the works of the great tunnel under Mont Cenis. Communication from end to end has now been open for some little time, but there are still about seventy metres of the tunnel to complete in the centre and the permanent way to lay down. It is expected that the whole will be finished by the end of June.

The gunboat Curlew arrived at Gibraltar on the 10th inst., from England, and left on the 12th for China, via Suez Canal.

Foreign Intelligence.

HOLLAND.

ROTTERDAM, MAY 24.

You will remember that when Mr. Thorbecke took the reins of Government he declared that the reorganisation of our military system was the principal question to be resolved. The enormous success of the Prussians in France made it of the greatest urgency to reinforce our army and to extend our fortresses and other means of defence. Up to this moment nothing, however, has been done to realise that idea, except that more money is asked for. Our new Minister of War, Mr. Engelaart, has shown himself more a man of ideas than of action. Some measures taken by this Minister have created the greatest indignation amongst our officers. He maintains that officers should wear no other dress than their uniform, whilst it has always been allowed them to dress as ordinary gentlemen when not on service. He also prohibits officers writing to the newspapers to criticise military measures, and he orders that all officers and soldiers must perform attend Divine service. As I said, these and other vexatious measures have created much indignation. And now Mr. Engelaart is endeavouring to apply military discipline to our Members of Parliament. Some of them—who are likewise officers of the army—have dared to criticise the Legislative Acts of the Minister, who thereupon became so indignant that he ordered that the military members of the Chamber should refrain from uttering their opinion upon military matters. Of course he only made himself ridiculous by this course, but he became dangerous when he declared that he thought it contrary to the constitution that the organisation of the army should be ruled by the national law. Such a declaration from a colleague of Mr. Thorbecke! It seems quite certain that Mr. Engelaart will not be so fortunate as the ministers of Home Affairs and of the Naval Department whose budgets were approved of. On the contrary, it is more than probable that the War budget will be outvoted, and that the minister will resign, and be replaced by Mr. Booms, whose health is quite restored. The Conservatives are in the meanwhile speculating upon a Ministerial crisis, and are preparing accordingly.

Within a few days Parliament will deal with the treaty by which our Government sold our settlements on the West Coast of Africa to Great Britain. This transfer creates the greatest indignation, but I think the Chambers will ratify the treaty, because the transfer is already a matter of fact. I derive from the West African Herald of March 31 the following item, which proves plainly the fait accompli:—"His Excellency Sir Arthur B. Kennedy, the Governor-in-Chief of the West African Settlements, will be here in a few days, and on his arrival Elmina will be taken over by the British Government. Some vessels of war have been ordered here, to give effect to the ceremonies when the transfer takes place."

The greatest perturbation has prevailed here in consequence of the fate of the steamer Willem III. The greatest uncertainty prevails with regard to the cause of the fire, but the general opinion is that it must be ascribed to the spontaneous combustion of the red yarn, which was stowed, in common with the greater part of the cargo, in a hurry. Other rumours say that as soon as the steamer left the harbour the partitions of the cabins became so hot that some passengers were afraid that something was wrong. No attention, however, was paid to the complaints that perhaps the tubes were not in good order. The loss is very heavy not only for the Company but also for our insurance companies. It is said that the steamer was insured for an amount of f.800,000, and the cargo, consisting principally of cotton goods, butter, and other provisions, for f.1,400,000. The loss is the greater because a handsome reduction was allowed on the insurance premium because it was regarded that there was not so much likelihood of a disaster with this steamer as with a sailing vessel. The Government had about two millions of silver on board, besides a great quantity of opium. The second steamer of this company will arrive from England at Nieuwe Diep next month, and will sail shortly after. The following passengers were on board the Willem III.:—Messrs. P. Harting and family; F. Pahud and family; J. Rozer and family; C. Henckel and family; J. G. J. Bregman and family; P. van der Velden Erdbrinck; W. Wille and family; Z. van der Kleij; Jhr. F. W. Schmidt auf Altenstadt; H. Derks, J. Dykstra, R. H. van Olden, J. H. de Groot, E. C. Ruys and brother, H. Blume and family, A. R. de Wendt, H. J. J. Kempe, E. H. W. Wynmalen, W. F. Wesselink, M. J. C. Lucardie, A. P. Tadema, A. Mohr, V. Gantz, C. van Pabst and family, G. A. ter Linden, P. Soesman, H. G. M. M. and family, J. Hubert, Mrs. Blankert and family, Mrs. de Smidt Poulviquet, Miss M. A. C. Willink Ketjen and C. C. van Geuns, besides a detachment of 125 soldiers and the officers H. van Heyningen, O. F. W. J. F. von Lurdenfels and family, E. K. A. de Neve, H. Ovink, M. L. Ritsema.

The approaching elections begin to make a good deal of noise in the papers. Amongst the members who do not wish to be re-elected appears Jhr. de Casembroot. Mr. W. Wintgens is named as the candidate in order to fill this vacant seat. I think that the result of the elections will be that a good deal of "new blood" will be added to the Parliamentary corps.

As I told you some weeks ago rumours are current that Mr. J. Loudon was to be appointed Governor-General of Java. The Handelsblad now assures us that this appointment is a matter of fact, the King having already issued the decree. Mr. G. C. J. van Reenen, M.P., will replace Mr. Loudon as the Royal Commissary of the province of South Holland.

Mr. C. Castens has announced his third pamphlet upon the failure of the Maatschappij van Lufrenten. In this he will criticise the mode of liquidation proposed by the managers and approved of by the creditors and shareholders.

The Arnhemse Courant publishes a private correspondence from Batavia containing a good many ridiculous remarks upon the visit of the King of Siam to the Governor-General of Java. The Beaufort papers did not publish any of these details, so that the letter, which is amusing to the highest, has not obtained much credence.

The Netherlands Bank notifies a dividend for this year of f.230 per share.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

The demand for most of our leading articles of Colonial and Foreign Produce continues mainly confined to consumptive wants, but in concurrence with the forbearance of holders to press sales the same suffices to support prices. Sugar has assumed a firmer appearance, and the Trading Company's public sale, held here to-day, went off currently at advanced rates, whilst prices of Cotton, after having further improved a little, have again receded. A fair business has been doing in Coffee, and also in Java Tobacco. The Trading Company's May sale of Coffee was advertised yesterday.

COFFEE continues to be well supported, and regular sales are being made of shipments of private importations, offered in the market. The Trading Company's public sale will take place on the 31st inst., comprising 83,800 bags Java and Padang, stored in our different ports. Sales have been closed by private treaty of 1,356 bags Java ex Noach III., 634 b. ex Koningin der Nederlanden, 1,210 b. ex do., 800 b. Java, West India cured, ex Caprera; 990 b. Padang Paré paré, ex Elisabeth Jacoba; 376 b. Java, ex Alblasserwaard, 370 b. do., ex Sophia Koningin der Nederlanden; 624 b. Java, West Indian cured, ex do.; 1,876 b. Java, ex Noach III.; 2,300 b. Macassar, ex Elisabeth Jacoba; 253 b. do., ex Auguste; 887 b. do., ex County of Forfar; 109 b. Ball, ex Sirius, at f.27.

JAVA INDIGO.—About 70 chests have been disposed of from first hands at former rates. No alteration has taken place in the market.

HIDES.—A shipment of 1,849 Macassar Cows, ex Vrachtzoeker, offered here for sale by secret tender, has not been quitted, but a lot of 106 hides has since been sold out of the same at full prices. Sales by secret tender have been tried without success at Amsterdam of VSL 8,840 Samarang Cows, and EM and C 2,459 Buffaloes, ex Grefre Berg.

SUGAR.—Both raw and refined continues firm, but quiet, in the face of the Trading Company's public sale, which has taken place here to-day, and which has gone off with spirit at advanced rates. The result of the auction, in which 59,615 baskets Java were offered, was as follows:—

Standard sample.	Baskets.	Prices paid.	Average prices for good to fine.
			May, 1871.	March, 1871.
11	1,387	f.34½ to —	f.34½	f.34½
12	4,374	35 to f.36½	35½	36½
13	6,194	36½ to 37½	37	36½
14	6,776	37 to 38	37½	37½
15	4,801	37½ to 37½	37½	36½
16	5,647	37½ to 37½	37½	37½
17	5,489	37 to 37½	37½	37½

19	5,418	37 to 38½	37½	37½
20	2,506	37½ to 38½	38	39

According to these prices the value of the Dutch standard has been fixed by the brokers as follows, to which I add, for the sake of comparison, the currency established at the March sale:—

TEA continues to exhibit a firm appearance, but there is little stirring in the market. The cargo ex Windermere, recently arrived here from Foochow, will soon be offered for sale by public auction.

SPICES keep firm at late prices, but transactions are on a limited scale; 7 casks and 8 cases Mace, of private importation, found buyers here on secret terms, besides by secret tender at Amsterdam, 16 casks and 2 cases do., ex Elisabeth Jacoba.

RICE.—No change has occurred in this article. Sales have been closed of 7,952 bags Java, ex St. Antoine, at supposedly f.7½ to f.8½; 9,883 b. Java Table, ex Passaroan, at f.10½ to f.11½; 4,393 b. Kandanghauer and 5,775 Indromaye, ex Mora.

RATTANS.—The sales closed embrace 30 piculs ex Samarang, 100 do. ex Huydecoper, 200 do. ex Vier Gezusters, 76 do. ex Caprera, 320 do. ex Albert Victor, 175 do. ex Grondwet.

TOBACCO (JAVA).—A fair amount of business has been transacted by private contract, and by secret tender, viz.: 107 bales Java, headmark NT; 3,511 do., Krossok, HL, NT; 379 do., Kedirie/P; 245 do., W.; 180 do., Krossok; 1,412 do., O.; 140 do., O/D.; 500 do., PA, Malang, ex Nagasacki; 736 do., AS, Malang, KP; besides which several parcels of different sorts in second hands were put up, which nearly all passed the hammer at various prices.

BANCA TIN.—Some lots have changed hands at f.76; f.75 is paid or Billiton.

POSTSCRIPT.

ROTTERDAM, MAY 25.

Contrary to general opinion, the Budget of the Minister of War was approved of by the Second Chamber by 41 against 27 votes. The question of army reorganisation, however, was not decided. Such a large majority could not have been obtained if the Conservatives had not been foolish enough to demonstrate that, if this Budget was outvoted, the Chamber would consider it a vote of want of confidence, so that Mr. Thorbecke would have been obliged to resign. This was not the general wish, and consequently the Budget was approved of. In the meanwhile it is quite certain that Mr. Engelaar will be compelled to put his portfolio at the disposal of his Majesty, because the carrying of his Budget is not at all a personal victory for him. The Chamber subsequently spent some hours in the discussion of the Budget of the Colonial Department, which was eventually approved of by 55 against 8 votes. The principal declaration of the Minister was that the transfer of our settlements on the West Coast of Africa had not been completed, and that the vote of the Chamber on the Treaty was not at all an absolute certainty; also that he is not disinclined to revise the Royal decree enforcing the agrarian law in Java.

CASUALTIES.

A telegram received from Batavia, dated May 21, states that the Emily McNear (Amer.), Scott, from Cardiff to Hong Kong with coals, has been wrecked on Claps Island; crew saved.

The Borneo, Procter, which arrived at Boston, May 10, from Pasaroelang had experienced a hurricane, Jan. 18, 15 S., 91 E., which drove the vessel on her beam ends, carried away all her starboard bulwarks, sprung the rudder head, and shifted cargo.

The Sea Bird, Martin, which arrived at Hamburg May 2, from Macao, had met with stormy weather off the Cape of Good Hope, from Feb. 17 to 19, during which she strained, causing leakage, and some damage to cargo.

The Willem III. (Dut. str.), of and from Amsterdam for Batavia, with passengers, caught fire off the Isle of Wight at 10 P.M. 19th inst., crew and passengers saved; the vessel has been towed into Spithead, still on fire; the engineer reports that the cargo, valued at 200,000 guilders, is all destroyed; later advices state that the specie and one bale of shirtings had been recovered, and that the fire was nearly got under.
